Gutenberg Index of the Works of
RUSKIN*

By

JOHN RUSKIN

BY WEARE AND TYNE

TWENTY-FIVE LETTERS TO A WORKING MAN OF SUNDERLAND ON THE LAWS OF WORK

CONTENTS

	PAGE
Preface	ix
LETTER
I. Co-operation	1
The two kinds of Co-operation.—In its highest sense it is not yet thought of.
II. Contentment	4
Co-operation, as hitherto understood, is perhaps not expedient.
III. Legislation	7
Of True Legislation.—That every Man may be a Law to himself.
IV. Expenditure	11
The Expenses for Art and for War.
V. Entertainment	13
The Corruption of Modern Pleasure.—(Covent Garden Pantomime.)
VI. Dexterity	18
The Corruption of Modern Pleasure.—(The Japanese Jugglers.)
VII. Festivity	20

Of the Various Expressions of National Festivity.
VIII. Things Written	22
The Four Possible Theories respecting the Authority of the Bible.
IX. Thanksgiving	27
The Use of Music and Dancing under the Jewish Theocracy, compared with their Use by the Modern French.
X. Wheat-Sifting	32
The Meaning, and Actual Operation, of Satanic or Demoniactal Influence.
XI. The Golden Bough	38
The Satanic Power is mainly Twofold: the Power of causing Falsehood and the Power of causing Pain. The Resistance is by Law of Honor and Law of Delight.
XII. Dictatorship	41
The Necessity of Imperative Law to the Prosperity of States.
XIII. Episcopacy and Dukedom	45
The Proper Offices of the Bishop and Duke; or, "Overseer" and "Leader."
XIV. Trade-Warrant	51
The First Group of Essential Laws.—Against Theft by False Work, and by Bankruptcy.—Necessary Publicity of Accounts.
XV. Per-Centage	54
The Nature of Theft by Unjust Profits.—Crime can finally be arrested only by Education.
XVI. Education	59
Of Public Education irrespective of Class distinction. It consists essentially in giving Habits of Mercy, and Habits of Truth. (Gentleness and Justice.)
XVII. Difficulties	66
The Relations of Education to Position in Life.
XVIII. Humility	68

The harmful Effects of Servile Employments. The possible Practice and Exhibition of sincere Humility by Religious Persons.
XIX. Broken Reeds	73
The General Pressure of Excessive and Improper Work, in English Life.
XX. Rose-gardens	78
Of Improvidence in Marriage in the Middle Classes; and of the advisable Restrictions of it.
XXI. Gentillesse	83
Of the Dignity of the Four Fine Arts; and of the Proper System of Retail Trade.
XXII. The Master	88
Of the Normal Position and Duties of the Upper Classes. General Statement of the Land Question.
XXIII. Landmarks	93
Of the Just Tenure of Lands; and the Proper Functions of high Public Officers.
XXIV. The Rod and Honeycomb	101
The Office of the Soldier.
XXV. Hyssop	108
Of inevitable Distinction of Rank, and necessary Submission to Authority. The Meaning of Pure-Heartedness. Conclusion.

MODERN PAINTERS

VOLUME I.

PART I-II.

SYNOPSIS OF CONTENTS.

PART I.

OF GENERAL PRINCIPLES.

SECTION I.

OF THE NATURE OF THE IDEAS CONVEYABLE BY ART.

Chapter I., Introductory

- § 1. Public opinion no criterion of excellence, except after long periods of time. 1
- § 2. And therefore obstinate when once formed. 4
- § 3. The author's reasons for opposing it in particular instances. 5
- § 4. But only on points capable of demonstration. 5
- § 5. The author's partiality to modern works excusable. 6

Chapter II., Definition of Greatness in Art

§ 1.	Distinction between the painter's intellectual power and technical knowledge.	8
§ 2.	Painting, as such, is nothing more than language.	8
§ 3.	"Painter," a term corresponding to "versifier."	9
§ 4.	Example in a painting of E. Landseer's.	9
§ 5.	Difficulty of fixing an exact limit between language and thought.	9
§ 6.	Distinction between decorative and expressive language.	10
§ 7.	Instance in the Dutch and early Italian schools.	10
§ 8.	Yet there are certain ideas belonging to language itself.	11
§ 9.	The definition.	12

Chapter III.Of Ideas of Power

- § 1. What classes of ideas are conveyable by art. 13
- § 2. Ideas of power vary much in relative dignity. 13
- § 3. But are received from whatever has been the subject of power. 14
The meaning of the word "excellence."
- § 4. What is necessary to the distinguishing of excellence. 15
- § 5. The pleasure attendant on conquering difficulties is right. 16

Chapter IV. Of Ideas of Imitation

§ 1.	False use of the term "imitation" by many writers on art.	17
§ 2.	Real meaning of the term.	18
§ 3.	What is requisite to the sense of imitation.	18
§ 4.	The pleasure resulting from imitation the most contemptible that can be derived from art.	19
§ 5.	Imitation is only of contemptible subjects.	19
§ 6.	Imitation is contemptible because it is easy.	20
§ 7.	Recapitulation.	20

Chapter V., Of Ideas of Truth

§ 1. Meaning of the word "truth" as applied to art.	21
§ 2. First difference between truth and imitation.	21
§ 3. Second difference.	21
§ 4. Third difference.	22
§ 5. No accurate truths necessary to imitation.	22
§ 6. Ideas of truth are inconsistent with ideas of imitation.	24

Chapter VI., Of Ideas of Beauty

§ 1. Definition of the term "beautiful."	26
§ 2. Definition of the term "taste."	26
§ 3. Distinction between taste and judgment.	27
§ 4. How far beauty may become intellectual.	27
§ 5. The high rank and function of ideas of beauty.	28
§ 6. Meaning of the term "ideal beauty."	28

Chapter VII., Of Ideas of Relation

§ 1. General meaning of the term.	29
§ 2. ideas are to be comprehended under it.	29
§ 3. The exceeding nobility of these ideas.	30
§ 4. Why no subdivision of so extensive a class is necessary.	31

SECTION II., OF POWER.

Chapter I., General Principles respecting Ideas of Power

§ 1.	No necessity for detailed study of ideas of imitation.	32
§ 2.	Nor for separate study of ideas of power.	32
§ 3.	Except under one particular form.	33
§ 4.	There are two modes of receiving ideas of power, commonly inconsistent.	33
§ 5.	First reason of the inconsistency.	33
§ 6.	Second reason for the inconsistency.	34
§ 7.	The sensation of power ought not to be sought in imperfect art.	34
§ 8.	Instances in pictures of modern artists.	35
§ 9.	Connection between ideas of power and modes of execution.	35

Chapter II., Of Ideas of Power, as they are dependent upon Execution

§_1.	Meaning of the term "execution."	36
§_2.	The first quality of execution is truth.	36
§_3.	The second, simplicity.	36
§_4.	The third, mystery.	37
§_5.	The fourth, inadequacy; and the fifth, decision.	37
§_6.	The sixth, velocity.	37
§_7.	Strangeness an illegitimate source of pleasure in execution.	37
§_8.	Yet even the legitimate sources of pleasure in execution are inconsistent with each other.	38
§_9.	And fondness for ideas of power leads to the adoption of the lowest.	39
§_10.	Therefore perilous.	40
§_11.	Recapitulation.	40

Chapter III., Of the Sublime

- § 1. Sublimity is the effect upon the mind of anything above it. 41
- § 2. Burke's theory of the nature of the sublime incorrect, and why. 41
- § 3. Danger is sublime, but not the fear of it. 42
- § 4. The highest beauty is sublime. 42
- § 5. And generally whatever elevates the mind. 42
- § 6. The former division of the subject is therefore sufficient. 42

PART II. OF TRUTH.

SECTION I.

GENERAL PRINCIPLES RESPECTING IDEAS OF TRUTH.

Chapter I., Of Ideas of Truth in their connection with those of Beauty and Relation

- § 1. The two great ends of landscape painting are the representation of facts and thoughts. 44
- § 2. They induce a different choice of material subjects. 45
- § 3. The first mode of selection apt to produce sameness and repetition. 45
- § 4. The second necessitating variety. 45
- § 5. Yet the first is delightful to all. 46
- § 6. The second only to a few. 46
- § 7. The first necessary to the second. 47
- § 8. The exceeding importance of truth. 48
- § 9. Coldness or want of beauty no sign of truth. 48
- § 10. How truth may be considered a just criterion of all art. 48

Chapter II., That the Truth of Nature is not to be discerned by the Uneducated Senses

- § 1. The common self-deception of men with respect to their power of discerning truth. 50
- § 2. Men usually see little of what is before their eyes. 51
- § 3. But more or less in proportion to their natural sensibility to what is beautiful. 52
- § 4. Connected with a perfect state of moral feeling. 52
- § 5. And of the intellectual powers. 53
- § 6. How sight depends upon previous knowledge. 54
- § 7. The difficulty increased by the variety of truths in nature. 55
- § 8. We recognize objects by their least important attributes. Compare Part I. Sect. I. Chap. 4. 55

Chapter III., Of the Relative Importance of Truths:—First, that Particular Truths are more important than General Ones.

- § 1. Necessity of determining the relative importance of truths. 58
- § 2. Misapplication of the aphorism: "General truths are more 58 important than particular ones."
- § 3. Falseness of this maxim, taken without explanation. 59
- § 4. Generality important in the subject, particularity in the predicate. 59
- § 5. The importance of truths of species is not owing to their 60 generality.
- § 6. All truths valuable as they are characteristic. 61
- § 7. Otherwise truths of species are valuable, because beautiful. 61
- § 8. And many truths, valuable if separate, may be objectionable in 62 connection with others.
- § 9. Recapitulation. 63

Chapter IV., Of the Relative Importance of Truths:—Secondly, that Rare Truths are more important than Frequent Ones

- § 1. No accidental violation of nature's principles should be 64 represented.
- § 2. But the cases in which those principles have been strikingly 65
exemplified.
- § 3. Which are comparatively rare. 65
- § 4. All repetition is blamable. 65
- § 5. The duty of the painter is the same as that of a preacher. 66

Chapter V., Of the Relative Importance of Truths: —Thirdly, that Truths of Color are the least important of all Truths

- § 1. Difference between primary and secondary qualities in bodies. 67
- § 2. The first are fully characteristic, the second imperfectly so. 67
- § 3. Color is a secondary quality, therefore less important than form. 68
- § 4. Color no distinction between objects of the same species. 68
- § 5. And different in association from what it is alone. 69
- § 6. It is not certain whether any two people see the same colors in things. 69
- § 7. Form, considered as an element of landscape, includes light and shade. 69
- § 8. Importance of light and shade in expressing the character of bodies, and unimportance of color. 70
- § 9. Recapitulation. 71

Chapter VI. Recapitulation

- § 1. The importance of historical truths. 72
- § 2. Form, as explained by light and shade, the first of all truths. Tone, light, and color, are secondary. 72
- § 3. And deceptive chiaroscuro the lowest of all. 73

Chapter VII., General Application of the Foregoing Principle

§ 1.	The different selection of facts consequent on the several aims at imitation or at truth.	74
§ 2.	The old masters, as a body, aim only at imitation.	74
§ 3.	What truths they gave.	75
§ 4.	The principles of selection adopted by modern artists.	76
§ 5.	General feeling of Claude, Salvator, and G. Poussin, contrasted with the freedom and vastness of nature.	77
§ 6.	Inadequacy of the landscape of Titian and Tintoret.	78
§ 7.	Causes of its want of influence on subsequent schools.	79
§ 8.	The value of inferior works of art, how to be estimated.	80
§ 9.	Religious landscape of Italy. The admirableness of its completion.	81
§ 10.	Finish, and the want of it, how right—and how wrong.	82
§ 11.	The open skies of the religious schools, how valuable. Mountain drawing of Masaccio. Landscape of the Bellinis and Giorgione.	84
§ 12.	Landscape of Titian and Tintoret.	86
§ 13.	Schools of Florence, Milan, and Bologna.	88
§ 14.	Claude, Salvator, and the Poussins.	89
§ 15.	German and Flemish landscape.	90
§ 16.	The lower Dutch schools.	92
§ 17.	English school, Wilson and Gainsborough.	93
§ 18.	Constable, Callcott.	94
§ 19.	Peculiar tendency of recent landscape.	95
§ 20.	G. Robson, D. Cox. False use of the term "style."	95
§ 21.	Copley Fielding. Phenomena of distant color.	97
§ 22.	Beauty of mountain foreground.	99
§ 23.	De Wint.	101

§ 24.	Influence of Engraving. J. D. Harding.	101
§ 25.	Samuel Prout. Early painting of architecture, how deficient.	103
§ 26.	Effects of age upon buildings, how far desirable.	104
§ 27.	Effects of light, how necessary to the understanding of detail.	106
§ 28.	Architectural painting of Gentile Bellini and Vittor Carpaccio.	107
§ 29.	And of the Venetians generally.	109
§ 30.	Fresco painting of the Venetian exteriors. Canaletto.	110
§ 31.	Expression of the effects of age on Architecture by S. Prout.	112
§ 32.	His excellent composition and color.	114
§ 33.	Modern architectural painting generally. G. Cattermole.	115
§ 34.	The evil in an archæological point of view of misapplied invention, in architectural subject.	117
§ 35.	Works of David Roberts: their fidelity and grace.	118
§ 36.	Clarkson Stanfield.	121
§ 37.	J. M. W. Turner. Force of national feeling in all great painters.	123
§ 38.	Influence of this feeling on the choice of Landscape subject.	125
§ 39.	Its peculiar manifestation in Turner.	125
§ 40.	The domestic subjects of the Liber Studiorum.	127
§ 41.	Turner's painting of French and Swiss landscape. The latter deficient.	129
§ 42.	His rendering of Italian character still less successful. His large compositions how failing.	130
§ 43.	His views of Italy destroyed by brilliancy and redundant quantity.	133
§ 44.	Changes introduced by him in the received system of art.	133
§ 45.	Difficulties of his later manner. Resultant deficiencies.	134
§ 46.	Reflection of his very recent works.	137
§ 47.	Difficulty of demonstration in such subjects.	139

SECTION II.

OF GENERAL TRUTHS.

Chapter I., Of Truth of Tone

- § 1. Meanings of the word "tone:"—First, the right relation of objects in shadow to the principal light. 140
- § 2. Secondly, the quality of color by which it is felt to owe part of its brightness to the hue of light upon it. 140
- § 3. Difference between tone in its first sense and aerial perspective. 141
- § 4. The pictures of the old masters perfect in relation of middle tints to light. 141
- § 5. And consequently totally false in relation of middle tints to darkness. 141
- § 6. General falsehood of such a system. 143
- § 7. The principle of Turner in this respect. 143
- § 8. Comparison of N. Poussin's "Phocion." 144
- § 9. With Turner's "Mercury and Argus." 145
- § 10. And with the "Datur Hora Quiet." 145
- § 11. The second sense of the word "tone." 146
- § 12. Remarkable difference in this respect between the paintings and drawings of Turner. 146
- § 13. Not owing to want of power over the material. 146
- § 14. The two distinct qualities of light to be considered. 147
- § 15. Falsehoods by which Titian attains the appearance of quality in light. 148
- § 16. Turner will not use such means. 148
- § 17. But gains in essential truth by the sacrifice. 148
- § 18. The second quality of light. 148
- § 19. The perfection of Cuyp in this respect interfered with by numerous solecisms. 150
- § 20. Turner is not so perfect in parts—far more so in the whole. 151
- § 21. The power in Turner of uniting a number of tones. 152

Chapter II., Of Truth of Color

§ 1.	Observations on the color of G. Poussin's La Riccia.	155
§ 2.	As compared with the actual scene.	155
§ 3.	Turner himself is inferior in brilliancy to nature.	157
§ 4.	Impossible colors of Salvator, Titian.	157
§ 5.	Poussin, and Claude.	158
§ 6.	Turner's translation of colors.	160
§ 7.	Notice of effects in which no brilliancy of art can even approach that of reality.	161
§ 8.	Reasons for the usual incredulity of the observer with respect to their representation.	162
§ 9.	Color of the Napoleon.	163
§ 10.	Necessary discrepancy between the attainable brilliancy of color and light.	164
§ 11.	This discrepancy less in Turner than in other colorists.	165
§ 12.	Its great extent in a landscape attributed to Rubens.	165
§ 13.	Turner scarcely ever uses pure or vivid color.	166
§ 14.	The basis of gray, under all his vivid hues.	167
§ 15.	The variety and fulness even of his most simple tones.	168
§ 16.	Following the infinite and unapproachable variety of nature.	168
§ 17.	His dislike of purple, and fondness for the opposition of yellow and black. The principles of nature in this respect.	169
§ 18.	His early works are false in color.	170
§ 19.	His drawings invariably perfect.	171
§ 20.	The subjection of his system of color to that of chiaroscuro.	171

Chapter III., Of Truth of Chiaroscuro

- § 1. We are not at present to examine particular effects of light. 174
- § 2. And therefore the distinctness of shadows is the chief means of expressing vividness of light. 175
- § 3. Total absence of such distinctness in the works of the Italian school. 175
- § 4. And partial absence in the Dutch. 176
- § 5. The perfection of Turner's works in this respect. 177
- § 6. The effect of his shadows upon the light. 178
- § 7. The distinction holds good between almost all the works of the ancient and modern schools. 179
- § 8. Second great principle of chiaroscuro. Both high light and deep shadow are used in equal quantity, and only in points. 180
- § 9. Neglect or contradiction of this principle by writers on art. 180
- § 10. And consequent misguiding of the student. 181
- § 11. The great value of a simple chiaroscuro. 182
- § 12. The sharp separation of nature's lights from her middle tint. 182
- § 13. The truth of Turner. 183

Chapter IV., Of Truth of Space:—First, as Dependent on the Focus of the Eye

- § 1. Space is more clearly indicated by the drawing of objects than by their hue. 185
- § 2. It is impossible to see objects at unequal distances distinctly at one moment. 186
- § 3. Especially such as are both comparatively near. 186
- § 4. In painting, therefore, either the foreground or distance must be partially sacrificed. 187
- § 5. Which not being done by the old masters, they could not express space. 187
- § 6. But modern artists have succeeded in fully carrying out this principle. 188
- § 7. Especially of Turner. 189
- § 8. Justification of the want of drawing in Turner's figures. 189

Chapter V., Of Truth of Space:—Secondly, as its Appearance is dependent on the Power of the Eye

- § 1. The peculiar indistinctness dependent on the retirement of objects from the eye. 191
- § 2. Causes confusion, but not annihilation of details. 191
- § 3. Instances in various objects. 192
- § 4. Two great resultant truths; that nature is never distinct, and never vacant. 193
- § 5. Complete violation of both these principles by the old masters. They are either distinct or vacant. 193
- § 6. Instances from Nicholas Poussin. 194
- § 7. From Claude. 194
- § 8. And G. Poussin. 195
- § 9. The imperative necessity, in landscape painting, of fulness and finish. 196
- § 10. Breadth is not vacancy. 197
- § 11. The fulness and mystery of Turner's distances. 198
- § 12. Farther illustrations in architectural drawing. 199
- § 13. In near objects as well as distances. 199
- § 14. Vacancy and falsehood of Canaletto. 200
- § 15. Still greater fulness and finish in landscape foregrounds. 200
- § 16. Space and size are destroyed alike by distinctness and by vacancy. 202
- § 17. Swift execution best secures perfection of details. 202
- § 18. Finish is far more necessary in landscape than in historical subjects. 202
- § 19. Recapitulation of the section. 203

SECTION III., OF TRUTH OF SKIES

Chapter I., Of the Open Sky.

§ 1.	The peculiar adaptation of the sky to the pleasing and teaching of man.	204
§ 2.	The carelessness with which its lessons are received.	205
§ 3.	The most essential of these lessons are the gentlest.	205
§ 4.	Many of our ideas of sky altogether conventional.	205
§ 5.	Nature, and essential qualities of the open blue.	206
§ 6.	Its connection with clouds.	207
§ 7.	Its exceeding depth.	207
§ 8.	These qualities are especially given by modern masters.	207
§ 9.	And by Claude.	208
§ 10.	Total absence of them in Poussin. Physical errors in his general treatment of open sky.	208
§ 11.	Errors of Cuyp in graduation of color.	209
§ 12.	The exceeding value of the skies of the early Italian and Dutch schools. Their qualities are unattainable in modern times.	210
§ 13.	Phenomena of visible sunbeams. Their nature and cause.	211
§ 14.	They are only illuminated mist, and cannot appear when the sky is free from vapor, nor when it is without clouds.	211
§ 15.	Erroneous tendency in the representation of such phenomena by the old masters.	212
§ 16.	The ray which appears in the dazzled eye should not be represented.	213
§ 17.	The practice of Turner. His keen perception of the more delicate phenomena of rays.	213
§ 18.	The total absence of any evidence of such perception in the works of the old masters.	213
§ 19.	Truth of the skies of modern drawings.	214

§ 20. Recapitulation. The best skies of the ancients are, in quality, 215 inimitable, but in rendering of various truth, childish.

Chapter II., Of Truth of Clouds:—First, of the Region of the Cirrus.

§ 1.	Difficulty of ascertaining wherein the truth of clouds consists.	216
	Variation of their character at different elevations. The three
§ 2.	regions to which they may conveniently be considered as	216
	belonging.
§ 3.	Extent of the upper region.	217
§ 4.	The symmetrical arrangement of its clouds.	217
§ 5.	Their exceeding delicacy.	218
§ 6.	Their number.	218
§ 7.	Causes of their peculiarly delicate coloring.	219
§ 8.	Their variety of form.	219
§ 9.	Total absence of even the slightest effort at their representation,	220 in ancient landscape.
§ 10.	The intense and constant study of them by Turner.	221
§ 11.	His vignette, Sunrise on the Sea.	222
§ 12.	His use of the cirrus in expressing mist.	223
§ 13.	His consistency in every minor feature.	224
§ 14.	The color of the upper clouds.	224
§ 15.	Recapitulation.	225

Chapter III., Of Truth of Clouds:—Secondly, of the Central Cloud Region

- § 1. Extent and typical character of the central cloud region. 226
Its characteristic clouds, requiring no attention nor thought for § 2. their representation, are therefore favorite subjects with the old 226 masters.
- § 3. The clouds of Salvator and Poussin. 227
- § 4. Their essential characters. 227
- § 5. Their angular forms and general decision of outline. 228
- § 6. The composition of their minor curves. 229
- § 7. Their characters, as given by S. Rosa. 230
- § 8. Monotony and falsehood of the clouds of the Italian school generally. 230
- § 9. Vast size of congregated masses of cloud. 231
- § 10. Demonstrable by comparison with mountain ranges. 231
- § 11. And consequent divisions and varieties of feature. 232
- § 12. Not lightly to be omitted. 232
- § 13. Imperfect conceptions of this size and extent in ancient landscape. 233
- § 14. Total want of transparency and evanescence in the clouds of ancient landscape. 234
- § 15. Farther proof of their deficiency in space. 235
- § 16. Instance of perfect truth in the sky of Turner's Babylon. 236
- § 17. And in his Pools of Solomon. 237
- § 18. Truths of outline and character in his Como. 237
- § 19. Association of the cirrostratus with the cumulus. 238
- § 20. The deep-based knowledge of the Alps in Turner's Lake of Geneva. 238
- § 21. Farther principles of cloud form exemplified in his Amalfi. 239

- § 22. Reasons for insisting on the infinity of Turner's works. Infinity is almost an unerring test of all truth 239
- § 23. Instances of the total want of it in the works of Salvator. 240
- § 24. And of the universal presence of it in those of Turner. The conclusions which may be arrived at from it. 240
- § 25. The multiplication of objects, or increase of their size, will not give the impression of infinity, but is the resource of novices. 241
- § 26. Farther instances of infinity in the gray skies of Turner. 242
- § 27. The excellence of the cloud-drawing of Stanfield. 242
- § 28. The average standing of the English school. 243

Chapter IV.,Of Truth of Clouds:—Thirdly, of the Region of the Rain-Cloud.

- § 1. The apparent difference in character between the lower and central clouds is dependent chiefly on proximity. 244
- § 2. Their marked differences in color. 244
- § 3. And in definiteness of form. 245
- § 4. They are subject to precisely the same great laws. 245
- § 5. Value, to the painter, of the rain-cloud. 246
- The old masters have not left a single instance of the painting of
- § 6. the rain-cloud, and very few efforts at it. Gaspar Poussin's 247 storms.
- § 7. The great power of the moderns in this respect. 248
- § 8. Works of Copley Fielding. 248
- § 9. His peculiar truth. 248
- § 10. His weakness, and its probable cause. 249
- § 11. Impossibility of reasoning on the rain-clouds of Turner from engravings. 250
- § 12. His rendering of Fielding's particular moment in the Jumieges. 250
- § 13. Illustration of the nature of clouds in the opposed forms of smoke and steam. 250
- § 14. Moment of retiring rain in the Llanthony. 251
- § 15. And of commencing, chosen with peculiar meaning for Loch Coriskin. 252
- § 16. The drawing of transparent vapor in the Land's End. 253
- § 17. The individual character of its parts. 253
- § 18. Deep-studied form of swift rain-cloud in the Coventry. 254
- § 19. Compared with forms given by Salvator. 254
- § 20. Entire expression of tempest by minute touches and circumstances in the Coventry. 255

§ 21.	Especially by contrast with a passage of extreme repose.	255
§ 22.	The truth of this particular passage. Perfectly pure blue sky only seen after rain, and how seen.	256
§ 23.	Absence of this effect in the works of the old masters.	256
§ 24.	Success of our water-color artists in its rendering. Use of it by Turner.	257
§ 25.	Expression of near rain-cloud in the Gosport, and other works.	257
§ 26.	Contrasted with Gaspar Poussin's rain-cloud in the Dido and Æneas.	258
§ 27.	Turner's power of rendering mist.	258
§ 28.	His effects of mist so perfect, that if not at once understood, they can no more be explained or reasoned on than nature herself.	259
§ 29.	Various instances.	259
§ 30.	Turner's more violent effects of tempest are never rendered by engravers.	260
§ 31.	General system of landscape engraving.	260
§ 32.	The storm in the Stonehenge.	260
§ 33.	General character of such effects as given by Turner. His expression of falling rain.	261
§ 34.	Recapitulation of the section.	261
	Sketch of a few of the skies of nature, taken as a whole,
§ 35.	compared with the works of Turner and of the old masters. Morning on the plains.	262
§ 36.	Noon with gathering storms.	263
§ 37.	Sunset in tempest. Serene midnight.	264
§ 38.	And sunrise on the Alps.	264

Chapter V., Effects of Light rendered by Modern Art.

§ 1. Reasons for merely, at present, naming, without examining the particular effects of light rendered by Turner. 266

§ 2. Hopes of the author for assistance in the future investigation of them. 266

SECTION IV.

OF TRUTH OF EARTH.

Chapter I., Of General Structure

- § 1. First laws of the organization of the earth, and their importance in art. 270
- § 2. The slight attention ordinarily paid to them. Their careful study by modern artists. 271
- § 3. General structure of the earth. The hills are its action, the plains its rest. 271
- § 4. Mountains come out from underneath the plains, and are their support. 272
- § 5. Structure of the plains themselves. Their perfect level, when deposited by quiet water. 273
- § 6. Illustrated by Turner's Marengo. 273
- § 7. General divisions of formation resulting from this arrangement. Plan of investigation. 274

Chapter II., Of the Central Mountains

- § 1. Similar character of the central peaks in all parts of the world. 275
- § 2. Their arrangements in pyramids or wedges, divided by vertical fissures. 275
- § 3. Causing groups of rock resembling an artichoke or rose. 276
- § 4. The faithful statement of these facts by Turner in his Alps at Daybreak. 276
- § 5. Vignette of the Andes and others. 277
- § 6. Necessary distance, and consequent aerial effect on all such mountains. 277
- § 7. Total want of any rendering of their phenomena in ancient art. 278
- § 8. Character of the representations of Alps in the distances of Claude. 278
- § 9. Their total want of magnitude and aerial distance. 279
- § 10. And violation of specific form. 280
- § 11. Even in his best works. 280
- § 12. Farther illustration of the distant character of mountain chains. 281
- § 13. Their excessive appearance of transparency. 281
- § 14. Illustrated from the works of Turner and Stanfield. The Borromean Islands of the latter. 282
- § 15. Turner's Arona. 283
- § 16. Extreme distance of large objects always characterized by very sharp outline. 283
- § 17. Want of this decision in Claude. 284
- § 18. The perpetual rendering of it by Turner. 285
- § 19. Effects of snow, how imperfectly studied. 285
- § 20. General principles of its forms on the Alps. 287
- § 21. Average paintings of Switzerland. Its real spirit has scarcely yet been caught. 289

Chapter III., Of the Inferior Mountains

- § 1. The inferior mountains are distinguished from the central, by being divided into beds. 290
- § 2. Farther division of these beds by joints. 290
- § 3. And by lines of lamination. 291
- § 4. Variety and seeming uncertainty under which these laws are manifested. 291
- § 5. The perfect expression of them in Turner's Loch Coriskin. 292
- § 6. Glencoe and other works. 293
- § 7. Especially the Mount Lebanon. 293
- § 8. Compared with the work of Salvator. 294
- § 9. And of Poussin. 295
- § 10. Effects of external influence on mountain form. 296
- § 11. The gentle convexity caused by aqueous erosion. 297
- § 12. And the effect of the action of torrents. 297
- § 13. The exceeding simplicity of contour caused by these influences. 298
- § 14. And multiplicity of feature. 299
- § 15. Both utterly neglected in ancient art. 299
- § 16. The fidelity of treatment in Turner's Daphne and Leucippus. 300
- § 17. And in the Avalanche and Inundation. 300
- § 18. The rarity among secondary hills of steep slopes or high precipices. 301
- § 19. And consequent expression of horizontal distance in their ascent. 302
- § 20. Full statement of all these facts in various works of Turner.—Caudebec, etc. 302
- § 21. The use of considering geological truths. 303
- § 22. Expression of retiring surface by Turner contrasted with the work of Claude. 304

§ 23.	The same moderation of slope in the contours of his higher hills.	304
§ 24.	The peculiar difficulty of investigating the more essential truths of hill outline.	305
§ 25.	Works of other modern artists.—Clarkson Stanfield.	305
§ 26.	Importance of particular and individual truth in hill drawing.	306
§ 27.	Works of Copley Fielding. His high feeling.	307
§ 28.	Works of J. D. Harding and others.	308

Chapter IV., Of the Foreground

- § 1. What rocks were the chief components of ancient landscape foreground. 309
- § 2. Salvator's limestones. The real characters of the rock. Its fractures, and obtuseness of angles. 309
- § 3. Salvator's acute angles caused by the meeting of concave curves. 310
- § 4. Peculiar distinctness of light and shade in the rocks of nature. 311
- § 5. Peculiar confusion of both in the rocks of Salvator. 311
- § 6. And total want of any expression of hardness or brittleness. 311
- § 7. Instances in particular pictures. 312
- § 8. Compared with the works of Stanfield. 312
- § 9. Their absolute opposition in every particular. 313
- § 10. The rocks of J. D. Harding. 313
- § 11. Characters of loose earth and soil. 314
- § 12. Its exceeding grace and fulness of feature. 315
- § 13. The ground of Teniers. 315
- § 14. Importance of these minor parts and points. 316
- § 15. The observance of them is the real distinction between the master and the novice. 316
- § 16. Ground of Cuyp. 317
- § 17. And of Claude. 317
- § 18. The entire weakness and childishness of the latter. 318
- § 19. Compared with the work of Turner. 318
- § 20. General features of Turner's foreground. 319
- § 21. Geological structure of his rocks in the Fall of the Tees. 319
- § 22. Their convex surfaces and fractured edges. 319
- § 23. And perfect unity. 320

- § 24. Various parts whose history is told us by the details of the drawing. 321
- § 25. Beautiful instance of an exception to general rules in the Llanthony. 321
- § 26. Turner's drawing of detached blocks of weathered stone. 322
- § 27. And of complicated foreground. 323
- § 28. And of loose soil. 323
- § 29. The unison of all in the ideal foregrounds of the Academy pictures. 324
- § 30. And the great lesson to be received from all. 324

SECTION V.

OF TRUTH OF WATER.

Chapter I., Of Water, as Painted by the Ancients

§ 1.	Sketch of the functions and infinite agency of water.	325
§ 2.	The ease with which a common representation of it may be given. The impossibility of a faithful one.	325
§ 3.	Difficulty of properly dividing the subject.	326
§ 4.	Inaccuracy of study of water-effect among all painters.	326
§ 5.	Difficulty of treating this part of the subject.	328
§ 6.	General laws which regulate the phenomena of water. First, The imperfection of its reflective surface.	329
§ 7.	The inherent hue of water modifies dark reflections, and does not affect right ones.	330
§ 8.	Water takes no shadow.	331
§ 9.	Modification of dark reflections by shadow.	332
§ 10.	Examples on the waters of the Rhone.	333
§ 11.	Effect of ripple on distant water.	335
§ 12.	Elongation of reflections by moving water.	335
§ 13.	Effect of rippled water on horizontal and inclined images.	336
§ 14.	To what extent reflection is visible from above.	336
§ 15.	Deflection of images on agitated water.	337
§ 16.	Necessity of watchfulness as well as of science. Licenses, how taken by great men.	337
§ 17.	Various licenses or errors in water painting of Claude, Cuyp, Vandevelde.	339
§ 18.	And Canaletto.	341
§ 19.	Why unpardonable.	342
§ 20.	The Dutch painters of sea.	343
§ 21.	Ruysdael, Claude, and Salvator.	344
§ 22.	Nicolo Poussin.	345
§ 23.	Venetians and Florentines. Conclusion.	346

Chapter II., Of Water, as Painted by the Moderns

- § 1. General power of the moderns in painting quiet water. The lakes of Fielding. 348
- § 2. The calm rivers of De Wint, J. Holland, &c. 348
- § 3. The character of bright and violent falling water. 349
- § 4. As given by Nesfield. 349
- § 5. The admirable water-drawing of J. D. Harding. 350
- § 6. His color; and painting of sea. 350
- § 7. The sea of Copley Fielding. Its exceeding grace and rapidity. 351
- § 8. Its high aim at character. 351
- § 9. But deficiency in the requisite quality of grays. 352
- § 10. Variety of the grays of nature. 352
- § 11. Works of Stanfield. His perfect knowledge and power. 353
- § 12. But want of feeling. General sum of truth presented by modern art. 353

Chapter III., Of Water, as Painted by Turner

- § 1. The difficulty of giving surface to smooth water. 355
- § 2. Is dependent on the structure of the eye, and the focus by which the reflected rays are perceived. 355
- § 3. Morbid clearness occasioned in painting of water by distinctness of reflections. 356
- § 4. How avoided by Turner. 357
- § 5. All reflections on distant water are distinct. 357
- § 6. The error of Vandewelde. 358
- § 7. Difference in arrangement of parts between the reflected object and its image. 359
- § 8. Illustrated from the works of Turner. 359
- § 9. The boldness and judgment shown in the observance of it. 360
- § 10. The texture of surface in Turner's painting of calm water. 361
- § 11. Its united qualities. 361
- § 12. Relation of various circumstances of past agitation, &c., by the most trifling incidents, as in the Cowes. 363
- § 13. In scenes on the Loire and Seine. 363
- § 14. Expression of contrary waves caused by recoil from shore. 364
- § 15. Various other instances. 364
- § 16. Turner's painting of distant expanses of water.—Calm, interrupted by ripple. 365
- § 17. And rippled, crossed by sunshine. 365
- § 18. His drawing of distant rivers. 366
- § 19. And of surface associated with mist. 367
- § 20. His drawing of falling water, with peculiar expression of weight. 367
- § 21. The abandonment and plunge of great cataracts. How given by him. 368

§ 22.	Difference in the action of water, when continuous and when interrupted. The interrupted stream fills the hollows of its bed.	369
§ 23.	But the continuous stream takes the shape of its bed.	370
§ 24.	Its exquisite curved lines.	370
§ 25.	Turner's careful choice of the historical truth.	370
§ 26.	His exquisite drawing of the continuous torrent in the Llanthony Abbey.	371
§ 27.	And of the interrupted torrent in the Mercury and Argus.	372
§ 28.	Various cases.	372
§ 29.	Sea painting. Impossibility of truly representing foam.	373
§ 30.	Character of shore-breakers, also inexpressible.	374
§ 31.	Their effect how injured when seen from the shore.	375
§ 32.	Turner's expression of heavy rolling sea.	376
§ 33.	With peculiar expression of weight.	376
§ 34.	Peculiar action of recoiling waves.	377
§ 35.	And of the stroke of a breaker on the shore.	377
§ 36.	General character of sea on a rocky coast given by Turner in the Land's End.	378
§ 37.	Open seas of Turner's earlier time.	379
§ 38.	Effect of sea after prolonged storm.	380
§ 39.	Turner's noblest work, the painting of the deep open sea in the Slave Ship.	382
§ 40.	Its united excellences and perfection as a whole.	383

SECTION VI.

OF TRUTH OF VEGETATION.—
CONCLUSION.

Chapter I., Of Truth of Vegetation

§ 1.	Frequent occurrence of foliage in the works of the old masters.	384
§ 2.	Laws common to all forest trees. Their branches do not taper, but only divide.	385
§ 3.	Appearance of tapering caused by frequent buds.	385
§ 4.	And care of nature to conceal the parallelism.	386
§ 5.	The degree of tapering which may be represented as continuous.	386
§ 6.	The trees of Gaspar Poussin.	386
§ 7.	And of the Italian school generally, defy this law.	387
§ 8.	The truth, as it is given by J. D. Harding.	387
§ 9.	Boughs, in consequence of this law, must diminish where they divide. Those of the old masters often do not.	388
§ 10.	Boughs must multiply as they diminish. Those of the old masters do not.	389
§ 11.	Bough-drawing of Salvator.	390
§ 12.	All these errors especially shown in Claude's sketches, and concentrated in a work of G. Poussin's.	391
§ 13.	Impossibility of the angles of boughs being taken out of them by wind.	392
§ 14.	Bough-drawing of Titian.	392
§ 15.	Bough-drawing of Turner.	394
§ 16.	Leafage. Its variety and symmetry.	394
§ 17.	Perfect regularity of Poussin.	395
§ 18.	Exceeding intricacy of nature's foliage.	396
§ 19.	How contradicted by the tree-patterns of G. Poussin.	396
§ 20.	How followed by Creswick.	397
§ 21.	Perfect unity in nature's foliage.	398
§ 22.	Total want of it in Both and Hobbima.	398
§ 23.	How rendered by Turner.	399

§ 24.	The near leafage of Claude. His middle distances are good.	399
§ 25.	Universal termination of trees in symmetrical curves.	400
§ 26.	Altogether unobserved by the old masters. Always given by Turner.	401
§ 27.	Foliage painting on the Continent.	401
§ 28.	Foliage of J. D. Harding. Its deficiencies.	402
§ 29.	His brilliancy of execution too manifest.	403
§ 30.	His bough-drawing, and choice of form.	404
§ 31.	Local color, how far expressible in black and white, and with what advantage.	404
§ 32.	Opposition between great manner and great knowledge.	406
§ 33.	Foliage of Cox, Fielding, and Cattermole.	406
§ 34.	Hunt and Creswick. Green, how to be rendered expressive of light, and offensive if otherwise.	407
§ 35.	Conclusion. Works of J. Linnel and S. Palmer.	407

Chapter II., General remarks respecting the Truth of Turner

- § 1. No necessity of entering into discussion of architectural truth. 409
- § 2. Extreme difficulty of illustrating or explaining the highest truth. 410
- § 3. The positive rank of Turner is in no degree shown in the foregoing pages, but only his relative rank. 410
- § 4. The exceeding refinement of his truth. 411
- § 5. There is nothing in his works which can be enjoyed without knowledge. 411
- § 6. And nothing which knowledge will not enable us to enjoy. 412
- § 7. His former rank and progress. 412
- § 8. Standing of his present works. Their mystery is the consequence of their fulness. 413

Chapter III., Conclusion.-Modern Art and Modern Criticism

- The entire prominence hitherto given to the works of one artist
- § 1. caused only by our not being able to take cognizance of 414 character.
- § 2. The feelings of different artists are incapable of full comparison. 415
- § 3. But the fidelity and truth of each are capable of real comparison. 415
- § 4. Especially because they are equally manifested in the treatment 415 of all subjects.
- § 5. No man draws one thing well, if he can draw nothing else. 416
- § 6. General conclusions to be derived from our past investigation. 417
- § 7. Truth, a standard of all excellence. 417
- § 8. Modern criticism. Changefulness of public taste. 418
- § 9. Yet associated with a certain degree of judgment. 418
- § 10. Duty of the press. 418
- § 11. Qualifications necessary for discharging it. 418
- § 12. General incapability of modern critics. 419
- § 13. And inconsistency with themselves. 419
- § 14. How the press may really advance the cause of art. 420
- § 15. Morbid fondness at the present day for unfinished works. 420
- § 16. By which the public defraud themselves. 421
- § 17. And in pandering to which, artists ruin themselves. 421
- § 18. Necessity of finishing works of art perfectly. 421
- § 19. Sketches not sufficiently encouraged. 422
- § 20. Brilliancy of execution or efforts at invention not to be tolerated 422
in young artists.
- § 21. The duty and after privileges of all students. 423
- § 22. Necessity among our greater artists of more singleness of aim. 423
- § 23. What should be their general aim. 425

§ 24. Duty of the press with respect to the works of Turner.

 END OF THE PROJECT GUTENBERG EBOOK INDEX OF THE PROJECT GUTENBERG WORKS OF JOHN RUSKIN ***

Updated editions will replace the previous one—the old editions will be renamed.

Creating the works from print editions not protected by U.S. copyright law means that no one owns a United States copyright in these works, so the Foundation (and you!) can copy and distribute it in the United States without permission and without paying copyright royalties. Special rules, set forth in the General Terms of Use part of this license, apply to copying and distributing Project Gutenberg™ electronic works to protect the PROJECT GUTENBERG™ concept and trademark. Project Gutenberg is a registered trademark, and may not be used if you charge for an eBook, except by following the terms of the trademark license, including paying royalties for use of the Project Gutenberg trademark. If you do not charge anything for copies of this eBook, complying with the trademark license is very easy. You may use this eBook for nearly any purpose such as creation of derivative works, reports, performances and research. Project Gutenberg eBooks may be modified and printed and given away—you may do practically ANYTHING in the United States with eBooks not protected by U.S. copyright law. Redistribution is subject to the trademark license, especially commercial redistribution.

START: FULL LICENSE

THE FULL PROJECT GUTENBERG™ LICENSE

PLEASE READ THIS BEFORE YOU DISTRIBUTE OR USE THIS WORK

To protect the Project Gutenberg™ mission of promoting the free distribution of electronic works, by using or distributing this work (or any other work associated in any way with the phrase “Project Gutenberg”), you agree to comply with all the terms of the Full Project Gutenberg License available with this file or online at www.gutenberg.org/license.

Section 1. General Terms of Use and Redistributing Project Gutenberg electronic works

1.A. By reading or using any part of this Project Gutenberg electronic work, you indicate that you have read, understand, agree to and accept all the terms of this license and intellectual property (trademark/copyright) agreement. If you do not agree to abide by all the terms of this agreement, you must cease using and return or destroy all copies of Project Gutenberg electronic works in your possession. If you paid a fee for obtaining a copy of or access to a Project Gutenberg electronic work and you do not agree to be bound by the terms of this agreement, you may obtain a refund from the person or entity to whom you paid the fee as set forth in paragraph 1.E.8.

1.B. “Project Gutenberg” is a registered trademark. It may only be used on or associated in any way with an electronic work by people who agree to be bound by the terms of this agreement. There are a few things that you can do with most Project Gutenberg electronic works even without complying with the full terms of this agreement. See paragraph 1.C below. There are a lot of things you can do with Project Gutenberg electronic works if you follow the terms of this agreement and help preserve free future access to Project Gutenberg electronic works. See paragraph 1.E below.

1.C. The Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation (“the Foundation” or PGLAF), owns a compilation copyright in the collection of Project Gutenberg electronic works. Nearly all the individual works in the collection are in the public domain in the United States. If an individual work is unprotected by copyright law in the United States and you are located in the United States, we do not claim a right to prevent you from copying, distributing, performing, displaying or creating derivative works based on the work as long as all references to Project Gutenberg are removed. Of course, we hope that you will support the Project Gutenberg mission of promoting free access to electronic works by freely sharing Project Gutenberg works in compliance with the terms of this agreement for keeping the Project Gutenberg name associated with the work. You can easily comply with the terms of this agreement by keeping this work in the same format with its attached full Project Gutenberg License when you share it without charge with others.

1.D. The copyright laws of the place where you are located also govern what you can do with this work. Copyright laws in most countries are in a constant state of change. If you are outside the United States, check the laws of your country in addition to the terms of this agreement before downloading, copying, displaying, performing, distributing or creating derivative works based on this work or any other Project Gutenberg work. The Foundation makes no representations concerning the copyright status of any work in any country other than the United States.

1.E. Unless you have removed all references to Project Gutenberg:

1.E.1. The following sentence, with active links to, or other immediate access to, the full Project Gutenberg License must appear prominently whenever any copy of a Project Gutenberg work (any work on which the phrase “Project Gutenberg” appears, or with which the phrase “Project Gutenberg” is associated) is accessed, displayed, performed, viewed, copied or distributed:

This eBook is for the use of anyone anywhere in the United States and most other parts of the world at no cost and with almost no restrictions whatsoever. You may copy it, give it away or re-use it under the terms of the Project Gutenberg™ License included with this eBook or online at www.gutenberg.org. If you are not located in the United States, you will have to check the laws of the country where you are located before using this eBook.

1.E.2. If an individual Project Gutenberg electronic work is derived from texts not protected by U.S. copyright law (does not contain a notice indicating that it is posted with permission of the copyright holder), the work can be copied and distributed to anyone in the United States without paying any fees or charges. If you are redistributing or providing access to a work with the phrase “Project Gutenberg” associated with or appearing on the work, you must comply either with the requirements of paragraphs 1.E.1 through 1.E.7 or obtain permission for the use of the work and the Project Gutenberg trademark as set forth in paragraphs 1.E.8 or 1.E.9.

1.E.3. If an individual Project Gutenberg electronic work is posted with the permission of the copyright holder, your use and distribution must comply with both paragraphs 1.E.1 through 1.E.7 and any additional terms imposed by the copyright holder. Additional terms will be linked to the Project Gutenberg License for all works posted with the permission of the copyright holder found at the beginning of this work.

1.E.4. Do not unlink or detach or remove the full Project Gutenberg License terms from this work, or any files containing a part of this work or any other work associated with Project Gutenberg.

1.E.5. Do not copy, display, perform, distribute or redistribute this electronic work, or any part of this electronic work, without prominently displaying the sentence set forth in paragraph 1.E.1 with active links or immediate access to the full terms of the Project Gutenberg License.

1.E.6. You may convert to and distribute this work in any binary, compressed, marked up, nonproprietary or proprietary form, including any word processing or hypertext form. However, if you provide access to or distribute copies of a Project Gutenberg work in a format other than “Plain Vanilla ASCII” or other format used in the official version posted on the official Project Gutenberg website (www.gutenberg.org), you must, at no additional cost, fee or expense to the user, provide a copy, a means of exporting a copy, or a means of obtaining a copy upon request, of the work in its original “Plain Vanilla ASCII” or other form. Any alternate format must include the full Project Gutenberg License as specified in paragraph 1.E.1.

1.E.7. Do not charge a fee for access to, viewing, displaying, performing, copying or distributing any Project Gutenberg works unless you comply with paragraph 1.E.8 or 1.E.9.

1.E.8. You may charge a reasonable fee for copies of or providing access to or distributing Project Gutenberg electronic works provided that:

- You pay a royalty fee of 20% of the gross profits you derive from the use of Project Gutenberg works calculated using the method you already use to calculate your applicable taxes. The fee is owed to the owner of the Project Gutenberg trademark, but he has agreed to donate royalties under this paragraph to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation. Royalty payments must be paid within 60 days following each date on which you prepare (or are legally required to prepare) your periodic tax returns. Royalty payments should be clearly marked as such and sent to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation at the address specified in Section 4, "Information about donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation."
- You provide a full refund of any money paid by a user who notifies you in writing (or by e-mail) within 30 days of receipt that s/he does not agree to the terms of the full Project Gutenberg™ License. You must require such a user to return or destroy all copies of the works possessed in a physical medium and discontinue all use of and all access to other copies of Project Gutenberg™ works.
- You provide, in accordance with paragraph 1.F.3, a full refund of any money paid for a work or a replacement copy, if a defect in the electronic work is discovered and reported to you within 90 days of receipt of the work.
- You comply with all other terms of this agreement for free distribution of Project Gutenberg™ works.

1.E.9. If you wish to charge a fee or distribute a Project Gutenberg™ electronic work or group of works on different terms than are set forth in this agreement, you must obtain permission in writing from the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation, the manager of the Project

Gutenberg™ trademark. Contact the Foundation as set forth in Section 3 below.

1.F.

1.F.1. Project Gutenberg volunteers and employees expend considerable effort to identify, do copyright research on, transcribe and proofread works not protected by U.S. copyright law in creating the Project Gutenberg™ collection. Despite these efforts, Project Gutenberg™ electronic works, and the medium on which they may be stored, may contain “Defects,” such as, but not limited to, incomplete, inaccurate or corrupt data, transcription errors, a copyright or other intellectual property infringement, a defective or damaged disk or other medium, a computer virus, or computer codes that damage or cannot be read by your equipment.

1.F.2. LIMITED WARRANTY, DISCLAIMER OF DAMAGES - Except for the “Right of Replacement or Refund” described in paragraph 1.F.3, the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation, the owner of the Project Gutenberg™ trademark, and any other party distributing a Project Gutenberg™ electronic work under this agreement, disclaim all liability to you for damages, costs and expenses, including legal fees. YOU AGREE THAT YOU HAVE NO REMEDIES FOR NEGLIGENCE, STRICT LIABILITY, BREACH OF WARRANTY OR BREACH OF CONTRACT EXCEPT THOSE PROVIDED IN PARAGRAPH 1.F.3. YOU AGREE THAT THE FOUNDATION, THE TRADEMARK OWNER, AND ANY DISTRIBUTOR UNDER THIS AGREEMENT WILL NOT BE LIABLE TO YOU FOR ACTUAL, DIRECT, INDIRECT, CONSEQUENTIAL, PUNITIVE OR INCIDENTAL DAMAGES EVEN IF YOU GIVE NOTICE OF THE POSSIBILITY OF SUCH DAMAGE.

1.F.3. LIMITED RIGHT OF REPLACEMENT OR REFUND - If you discover a defect in this electronic work within 90 days of receiving it, you can receive a refund of the money (if any) you paid for it by sending a written explanation to the person you received the work from. If you received the work on a physical medium, you must return the medium with your written explanation. The person or entity that provided you with the defective work may elect to provide a replacement copy in lieu of a refund. If you received the work electronically, the person or entity providing it to you may choose to give you a second opportunity to receive the work electronically in lieu of a refund. If the second copy is also defective, you may demand a refund in writing without further opportunities to fix the problem.

1.F.4. Except for the limited right of replacement or refund set forth in paragraph 1.F.3, this work is provided to you 'AS-IS', WITH NO OTHER WARRANTIES OF ANY KIND, EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY OR FITNESS FOR ANY PURPOSE.

1.F.5. Some states do not allow disclaimers of certain implied warranties or the exclusion or limitation of certain types of damages. If any disclaimer or limitation set forth in this agreement violates the law of the state applicable to this agreement, the agreement shall be interpreted to make the maximum disclaimer or limitation permitted by the applicable state law. The invalidity or unenforceability of any provision of this agreement shall not void the remaining provisions.

1.F.6. INDEMNITY - You agree to indemnify and hold the Foundation, the trademark owner, any agent or employee of the Foundation, anyone providing copies of Project Gutenberg™ electronic works in accordance with this agreement, and any volunteers associated with the production, promotion and distribution of Project Gutenberg™ electronic works, harmless from all liability, costs and expenses, including legal fees, that arise directly or indirectly from any of the following which you do or cause to occur: (a) distribution of this or any Project Gutenberg work, (b) alteration, modification, or additions or deletions to any Project Gutenberg work, and (c) any Defect you cause.

Section 2. Information about the Mission of Project Gutenberg

Project Gutenberg is synonymous with the free distribution of electronic works in formats readable by the widest variety of computers including obsolete, old, middle-aged and new computers. It exists because of the efforts of hundreds of volunteers and donations from people in all walks of life.

Volunteers and financial support to provide volunteers with the assistance they need are critical to reaching Project Gutenberg's goals and ensuring that the Project Gutenberg collection will remain freely available for generations to come. In 2001, the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation was created to provide a secure and permanent future for Project Gutenberg and future generations. To learn more about the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation and how your efforts and donations can help, see Sections 3 and 4 and the Foundation information page at www.gutenberg.org.

Section 3. Information about the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

The Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation is a non-profit 501(c)(3) educational corporation organized under the laws of the state of Mississippi and granted tax exempt status by the Internal Revenue Service. The Foundation's EIN or federal tax identification number is 64-6221541. Contributions to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation are tax deductible to the full extent permitted by U.S. federal laws and your state's laws.

The Foundation's business office is located at 41 Watchung Plaza #516, Montclair NJ 07042, USA, +1 (862) 621-9288. Email contact links and up to date contact information can be found at the Foundation's website and official page at www.gutenberg.org/contact

Section 4. Information about Donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

Project Gutenberg™ depends upon and cannot survive without widespread public support and donations to carry out its mission of increasing the number of public domain and licensed works that can be freely distributed in machine-readable form accessible by the widest array of equipment including outdated equipment. Many small donations ($1 to $5,000) are particularly important to maintaining tax exempt status with the IRS.

The Foundation is committed to complying with the laws regulating charities and charitable donations in all 50 states of the United States. Compliance requirements are not uniform and it takes a considerable effort, much paperwork and many fees to meet and keep up with these requirements. We do not solicit donations in locations where we have not received written confirmation of compliance. To SEND DONATIONS or determine the status of compliance for any particular state visit www.gutenberg.org/donate.

While we cannot and do not solicit contributions from states where we have not met the solicitation requirements, we know of no prohibition against accepting unsolicited donations from donors in such states who approach us with offers to donate.

International donations are gratefully accepted, but we cannot make any statements concerning tax treatment of donations received from outside the United States. U.S. laws alone swamp our small staff.

Please check the Project Gutenberg web pages for current donation methods and addresses. Donations are accepted in a number of other ways including checks, online payments and credit card donations. To donate, please visit: www.gutenberg.org/donate.

Section 5. General Information About Project Gutenberg electronic works

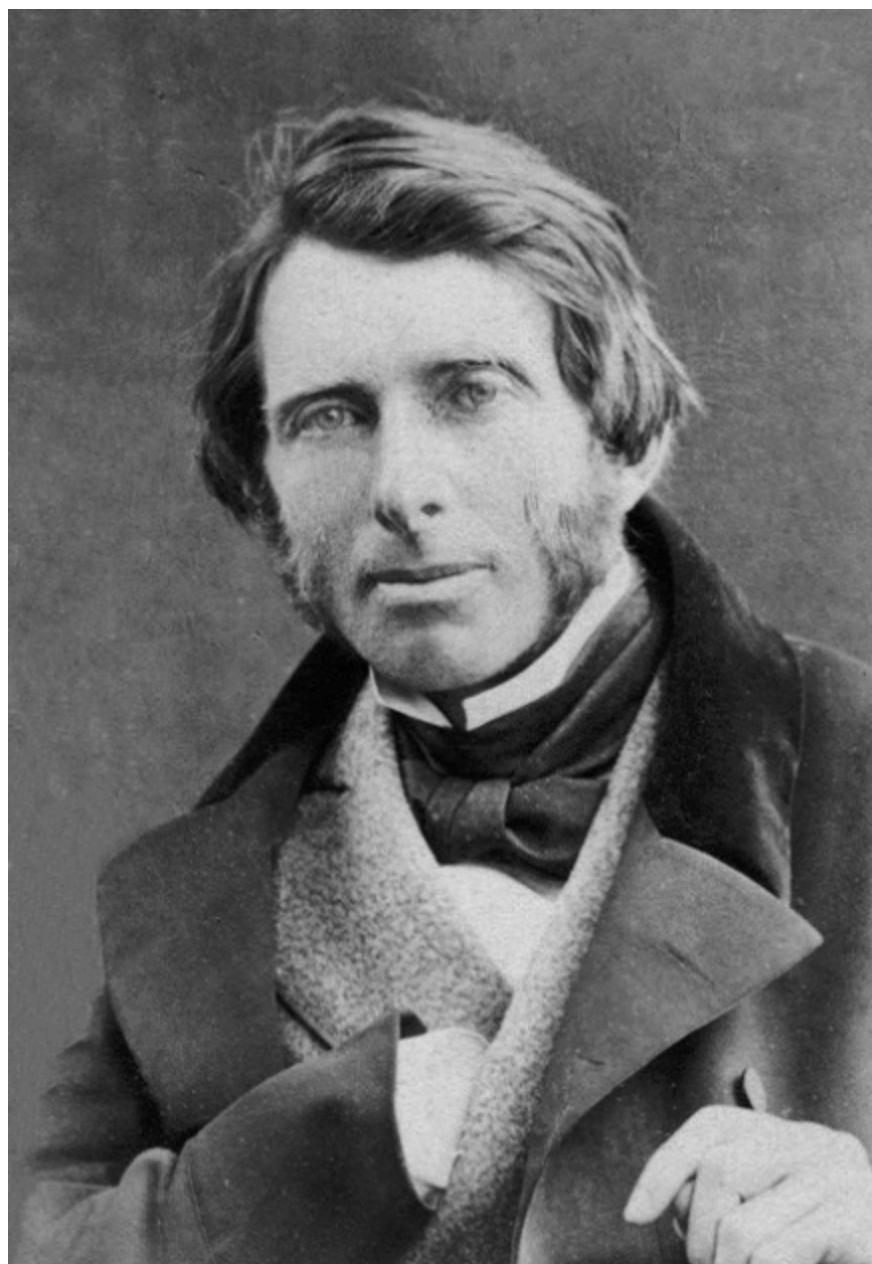

Professor Michael S. Hart was the originator of the Project Gutenberg concept of a library of electronic works that could be freely shared with anyone. For forty years, he produced and distributed Project Gutenberg eBooks with only a loose network of volunteer support.

Project Gutenberg eBooks are often created from several printed editions, all of which are confirmed as not protected by copyright in the U.S. unless a copyright notice is included. Thus, we do not necessarily keep eBooks in compliance with any particular paper edition.

Most people start at our website which has the main PG search facility: www.gutenberg.org.

This website includes information about Project Gutenberg, including how to make donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation, how to help produce our new eBooks, and how to subscribe to our email newsletter to hear about new eBooks.
