The Twins and How They Entertained the New Minister

Characters

Bobby and Betty, the twins. Rev. J. Jones, the minister.

Scene

A reception room. Enter Betty and the minister.

BETTY. (With a grown-up air.) There! Sit right down, and I'll see if Mamma's in. No, not that one, that's only for show. The leg's broken, and it aint got fixed yet. Take the Morris chair. That's the one sister's beaux always sit in. There, now you're all comfy. I'll tell Mamma you're here, if she's in.

REV. J. JONES. Tell her that I am making pastoral calls. I am—

BETTY. Yes, I know who you are. "I'm the new minister," you was a going to say, wasn't you?

BOBBY. (Entering.) 'Twas my turn to answer the doorbell, Betty Forrest. 'Taint fair! You just camp out in the hall to get ahead of me! You got the book agent, and the Mission Lady, and now you've got the minister. Course you'll beat!

REV. J. J. Beat?

BETTY. You can tell him, Bobby, while I go ask Mamma if she's in. Sometimes she's in when she isn't, and sometimes she isn't when she is, and the only way to be sure you won't get a whipping for telling it the wrong way, is to go ask her. She's in her room, I know, but maybe she isn't in. You tell him 'bout the new game, Bobby. (She runs out.)

BOBBY. It's what we call the Caller's game. Betty made it up. Betty's awful smart to think of new things. You see, Thursday afternoon is Christine's day out. Say, aint it funny to call an afternoon a day? And Mamma don't like to answer the bell herself, 'cause then she couldn't be out if she didn't want to see the one that rung it, so she made me and Betty do it, 'n course we hated to be bothered—you know callers are such a nuisance when you're busy playing, and Betty shirked and made me do it most all. So Daddy said if she didn't do her share, he'd bring home candy, and give it all to me, 'n then Betty she made up this game. We've each got a little book, and we put down which caller we answer the bell to and get a piece of candy for each caller, and if there's more candy than there is callers, we get two pieces for each one, and now Betty likes to answer it, and she gets the most candy every time.

BETTY. (Returning.) That's 'cause I'm smartest, Daddy says. He says, "Trust a woman to get the best of a man every time, be they ever so young."

REV. J. J. And what did Mamma say?

BETTY. She said, "Mercy me! The minister? I suppose I shall have to go down, or your Father won't like it." What are ministers made for?

REV. J. J. I think I must go. Tell your mother I was sorry not to meet her.

BETTY. But you got to see her. She'll be down soon as she puts on her hair and squeezes her feet into her new tango slippers.

BOBBY. Pa says it's foolish to try to put a number two shoe on a number four foot.

REV. J. J. (Rising.) I think I must go now.

BETTY. If you do, she'll spank me good, for letting you, after she said she was in. She told me to entertain you nicely till she came down.

BOBBY. I'll entertain him. Men like men. Do you play poker?

REV. J. J. Why no, do you?

BOBBY. No, I aint learned how yet, but I thought you might teach me. This cunning little table is a card table, and the cards are in this little drawer. (Takes them out.) And these pretty round things are the chips.

BETTY. They look more like Tiddledy Winks. They use 'em 'stead of money, 'cause Mamma won't let 'em play for money. That's gambling.

BOBBY. They pay the money down town, next day. I know, 'cause I was with Daddy when he did, and he gave me a quarter not to tell Mamma. 'Sides, Mamma plays Bridge and that's just as bad, Daddy says.

REV. J. J. Would they like you to tell me this?

BETTY. P'raps not, but you won't tell, will you? It's right to tell the minister bad things, 'cause he'll forgive you if you pay him something, and you can do it over again. That's the way Christine does. She's a Catholic. Are you?

REV. J. J. No indeed, my dear.

BOBBY. (Who has gone out, re-enters with a bottle and glass.) Have some wine? Daddy always entertains this way. It's a fine flavor. I drank a bit from the bottom of a glass once, and 'twas awful good, but Mamma was mad about it.

REV. J. J. Put it back, my boy. I never drink. Ministers never do.

BETTY. My, how thirsty you must get! What do you do when you've been eating salt fish?

REV. J. J. I don't care for salt fish.

BOBBY. Neither do we, but we eat a lot of it when we're saving up for a party.

BETTY. Can you dance the tango?

REV. J. J. No, I don't dance.

BETTY. That's too bad. Let me show you how. It's just as easy! Come on. (Tries to drag him up.)

REV. J. J. No, I don't care to dance.

BETTY. I won't call you awkward, really. You do it so, you know, (illustrates) but dancing's no fun alone, you know. You need a girl to hug. If you learn with me you can do it with the big lady girls, the ones that you like best, you know.

BOBBY. He don't dance with 'em, he plays tag.

REV. J. J. Oh no, my boy.

BOBBY. Mamma said so. Daddy said that all the girls were chasing you, and Mamma said she guessed that you could do your share of the chasing, all right.

BETTY. I know what you like—fast horses, don't you?

REV. J. J. Well, I have a horse, of course—

BETTY. Yes, a real spanker! And a narrow buggy to take the girls to ride. Say, do you hold 'em in, when you go over the “thank you marms” and take toll? Daddy said he bet you did. He always used to. He calls it taking toll when he makes me pay him for candy with kisses. I s'pose the girls would be afraid to say no to a minister, but sometimes I say no to Daddy, just to tease him, and he calls me a little flirt, and takes 'em just the same.

REV. J. J. Indeed. How old are you, little girl?

BETTY. I'm eight, 'n so's Bobby. We're twins, but I'm the smartest and the prettiest. Daddy says so. Mamma's great for bargains, when she's shopping, 'n when she bought me, Bobby was throwed in. She didn't need a boy, at all, but 'twas a bargain, you know. She bought a five dollar waist yesterday for four dollars and ninety-five cents. Can you play the piano?

REV. J. J. No, can you?

BETTY. I can play the scale, and “Tell Aunt Rhody,” and when I'm as big as you, I shall play all the notes. You can't do much, can you? Is that why you're a minister?

BOBBY. No, it's 'cause it's an easy way to earn your living. Daddy said so. Just stand up in a pulpit and scold the people when they dassn't talk back, and have some men pass round plates to get money for you. They don't dare not to 'cause folks is looking. Once Daddy put in a five dollar gold piece by mistake, and he swore about it when he got home.

BETTY. Yes, and last Sunday I put in my chewing gum by mistake and he spanked me 'cause I swore about it when I got home. He said "Darn!" was naughty for a girl to say. Why is it?

REV. J. J. Because—

BETTY. Oh, I didn't 'spect you to tell me. I don't like to be preached at. Have you got any s'criptions with you?

REV. J. J. Prescriptions? I'm not a druggist, nor a physician.

BOBBY. Sub ones, she means. Mamma don't like 'em. She hates begging ministers. She always signs, you know, 'cause she must, but she can't afford to give away a whole dollar, or even half a one, 'cause her clothes are awful 'sensive, and the dressmaker bothers her awfully with bills. Oh, wouldn't you like a cigar? (Takes a cigar case from a stand and passes it.)

REV. J. J. No indeed. I never smoke, and I hope you never will.

BOBBY. Oh yes I will. It's lots nicer than chewing. Just you try. Or are you 'fraid it will make you sick? It did me, when I tried it, but I'm going to try a cigarette next time. Taint so strong. P'raps you better.

BETTY. You better not. Maybe your Mamma wouldn't like it. Mamma spanked Bobby.

REV. J. J. My dear boy, I sincerely hope—

BOBBY. Mamma's coming.

BETTY. We've entertained you good, haven't we? We haven't told anything we ought to not, have we? 'Cause if we have, we'll get spanked and sent to bed, when you're gone.

BOBBY. If we have, don't you tell. Be a good sport, and don't tattle. Here comes Mamma.

BETTY. And she's got her new dress on. We've entertained him, Mamma!

(Minister rises, as lady enters room, hand outstretched.)

THE OLD DISTRICT SCHOOL

A Farce In Two Acts (New Version)

Book by Wm. Danforth

Music arr. by Geo. F. Rosche

This is a burlesque on the district school of 100 years ago. Ezekiel Simpkins, the teacher, is the central character. His costume is a tight Prince Albert coat, with brass buttons, or a worn and faded "claw-hammer" coat; colored vest, cut low; stock collar, with large black tie; trousers, "high-water," with a patch of other color on one knee; well-worn shoes. Bald gray wig and "side" whiskers. The costumes of the pupils are in keeping with those of the teacher.

The characters all read their lines from the book, so that there is very little to be memorized and for this reason this work can be prepared in a very short time. Price, postpaid, 50 cents per copy.

THE VISION OF HENSEL

An Evening with the old Songs

The Old Songs of Childhood, Youth, Love, War and Home

Libretto by Ellan N. Wood

There is no friend like an old friend and after all there are no songs we love quite so much as the old ones. This Cantata furnishes a beautiful medium for the introduction of the old songs which we all know and love. There is just enough libretto to the work to form a continuous chain of thought throughout, and we know of no Cantata that will afford such a pleasing entertainment at such a small expenditure of labor. The book is well worth its price if only to secure this fine collection of old home songs. Full of sentiment, humor and pathos and decidedly new and fresh in construction. Price, 30 cts. per copy, postpaid; $3.00 per doz., not prepaid; add 3 cts. per copy for postage.

A New Tickler for your Funny Bone

“CUPID AND THE CHORISTER”

—or—

“Herr Lover’s Dilemma”

A Musical Entertainment In One Act

Libretto by H. MacDONALD BARR

Music by CARL F. PRICE

The most interesting, mirth-provoking entertainment which we have been privileged to see or hear in recent years.

It goes right to your funny bone with a new kind of tickle.

It provides a whole evening of the finest fun without for an instant suggesting the vulgar or commonplace. There is a laugh in every line of the libretto and a lilt to every brace of music which makes it irresistible. The spell cannot be broken by the fall of the curtain for the oft repeated strains of “Love is the way to spell Living” are sure to echo and re-echo long after the entertainment is over.

This entertainment is easily within the ability of the ordinary church choir with augmented chorus. Special costumes are needed by only three or four characters, the chorus being in ordinary dress. No elaborate stage setting is necessary, a neat platform with an adjoining room, or with a door, being the only requisites for its presentation. A piano should be on the platform.

THE STORY

Professor Herr Lover has written a cantata, the rehearsal of which he is to conduct. He has proposed marriage to the leading soprano, Ledgoline Topsee, but she is afraid he lacks the quality of patience, and plans, with the aid of her friends who compose the cast, to utilize the rehearsal to test him in that respect. After tolerating a series of aggravating interruptions and delays on the part of the singers, he at last gives away to a burst of angry passion, only to discover what he has lost by so doing. By a clever surrender, however, he turns defeat into victory, and the affair ends happily.

This play given by your Church Choir, Young People's Society or Ladies' Aid will prove a financial success beyond your fondest dream. Someone will give this in your vicinity. Why not be the first and reap the benefit for your church or Society?

The price is 75 cents per copy with a small license fee for privilege of public performance for profit, but we have a special proposition to offer for its first appearance in each city or town. If interested, write for particulars with prospectus.

Santa's Rescue

Two mysterious pieces of paper fall into the hands of the children, one being found by the BOYS and one by the GIRLS. The meaning of the inscription on each remains a mystery until it is discerned that by placing the papers together they have the message that the "Old Witch" of the North has captured "Santa" and holds him in an ice prison at the North Pole. Of course there could be no "Merry Christmas" without their "patron saint", so guided by the "Fairy Godmother" they start for the North Pole to rescue him. The "Old Witch" endeavors to block the rescuers' way by the assistance of "Old Zero" and the "Snow Fairies" but when they learn that the snow drifts they are piling up are to aid in keeping "Santa" from his usual Christmas activities they get the "Sunbeam Fairies" to come to their aid and melt the snow, while they bind with a frozen cord the "Old Witch," who is found indulging in a nap which she takes only once every hundred years. With the "Old Witch" powerless and in their control the Rescue of Santa is an easy matter.

Tho' belated somewhat by his enforced stay at the North Pole, the children are glad to become his "aides" in spreading a "Merry Christmas" through all the world. This is a very clever plot, well worked out, and will make a decided hit for the Christmas season. 4 Boys and 5 Girls with any number of Fairies. Time about 1 hour. Price 25 cents.

F A R C E S

Time about 15 minutes. Price 10 cents.

Section 2. Information about the Mission of Project Gutenberg

Project Gutenberg is synonymous with the free distribution of electronic works in formats readable by the widest variety of computers including obsolete, old, middle-aged and new computers. It exists because of the efforts of hundreds of volunteers and donations from people in all walks of life.

Volunteers and financial support to provide volunteers with the assistance they need are critical to reaching Project Gutenberg's goals and ensuring that the Project Gutenberg collection will remain freely available for generations to come. In 2001, the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation was created to provide a secure and permanent future for Project Gutenberg and future generations. To learn more about the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation and how your efforts and donations can help, see Sections 3 and 4 and the Foundation information page at www.gutenberg.org.

Section 3. Information about the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

The Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation is a non-profit 501(c)(3) educational corporation organized under the laws of the state of Mississippi and granted tax exempt status by the Internal Revenue Service. The Foundation's EIN or federal tax identification number is 64-6221541. Contributions to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation are tax deductible to the full extent permitted by U.S. federal laws and your state's laws.

The Foundation's business office is located at 41 Watchung Plaza #516, Montclair NJ 07042, USA, +1 (862) 621-9288. Email contact links and up to date contact information can be found at the Foundation's website and official page at www.gutenberg.org/contact

Section 4. Information about Donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

Project Gutenberg™ depends upon and cannot survive without widespread public support and donations to carry out its mission of increasing the number of public domain and licensed works that can be freely distributed in machine-readable form accessible by the widest array of equipment including outdated equipment. Many small donations ($1 to $5,000) are particularly important to maintaining tax exempt status with the IRS.

The Foundation is committed to complying with the laws regulating charities and charitable donations in all 50 states of the United States. Compliance requirements are not uniform and it takes a considerable effort, much paperwork and many fees to meet and keep up with these requirements. We do not solicit donations in locations where we have not received written confirmation of compliance. To SEND DONATIONS or determine the status of compliance for any particular state visit www.gutenberg.org/donate.

While we cannot and do not solicit contributions from states where we have not met the solicitation requirements, we know of no prohibition against accepting unsolicited donations from donors in such states who approach us with offers to donate.

International donations are gratefully accepted, but we cannot make any statements concerning tax treatment of donations received from outside the United States. U.S. laws alone swamp our small staff.

Please check the Project Gutenberg web pages for current donation methods and addresses. Donations are accepted in a number of other ways including checks, online payments and credit card donations. To donate, please visit: www.gutenberg.org/donate.

Section 5. General Information About Project Gutenberg electronic works

Professor Michael S. Hart was the originator of the Project Gutenberg concept of a library of electronic works that could be freely shared with anyone. For forty years, he produced and distributed Project Gutenberg eBooks with only a loose network of volunteer support.

Project Gutenberg eBooks are often created from several printed editions, all of which are confirmed as not protected by copyright in the U.S. unless a copyright notice is included. Thus, we do not necessarily keep eBooks in compliance with any particular paper edition.
