Meat Cookery Pointers

Roasts may be seasoned before, during or after cooking, since salt penetrates only to about ½ inch.

Boned and rolled roasts require approximately 10 minutes per pound more cooking time than roasts with the bone left in.

Pot-roasts, Swiss steaks, “birds,” chops and other cuts cooked by braising should be browned slowly in order to retain the attractive brown color during cooking.

Steaks, chops and patties broiled at moderate temperatures require only one turning during cooking.

Meat cuts cooked in liquid increase in weight and are juicier if they are allowed to cool in the cooking liquid and under refrigeration.

Low temperature cookery yields 10 to 30 per cent more meat to serve.

Meat that is overcooked shrinks more, is less palatable, less attractive and more difficult to carve.

Searing does not seal in meat juices but actually increases cooking losses.

Turning meat occasionally during panbroiling insures even cooking throughout the cut.

TO ROAST

1. Season with salt and pepper.
2. Place meat fat side up on rack in open roasting pan.
3. Insert meat thermometer.

4. Do not add water. Do not cover. Do not baste.
5. Roast in a slow oven (300° F. for beef, veal, lamb, and smoked pork; 350° F. for fresh pork).
6. Roast to desired degree of doneness.

TO BROIL

1. Set oven regulator for broiling.
2. Place meat 2 to 3 inches from heat.
3. Broil until top of meat is brown.
4. Season with salt and pepper.
5. Turn meat and cook until done.
6. Season and serve at once.

TO PANBROIL

1. Place meat in heavy frying-pan.
2. Do not add fat. Do not add water. Do not cover.
3. Cook slowly, turning occasionally.
4. Pour fat from pan as it accumulates.
5. Brown meat on both sides.
6. Season. Serve at once.

TO BRAISE

1. Brown meat on all sides in fat in heavy utensil.
2. Season with salt and pepper.
3. Add small amount of liquid, if necessary.
4. Cover tightly.
5. Cook at low temperature until tender.

TO COOK IN LIQUID
Stews—Large Cuts

1. Brown meat on all sides in own fat or lard, when desirable.
2. Season with salt and pepper.
3. Cover with liquid, cover kettle, cook below boiling point until tender.
4. Add vegetables just long enough before serving to be cooked.

TO PANFRY

1. Brown meat on both sides in small amount of fat.
2. Season with salt and pepper.
3. Do not cover.
4. Cook at moderate temperature until done, turning occasionally.
5. Remove from pan and serve at once.

Meat Cookery Pointers

Pot-roasts, other braised dishes and stews may be conveniently cooked in a moderate oven (300° F. to 350° F.)

Meat cubes are browned for a brown stew; browning is omitted if a light stew is preferred.

A roast meat thermometer is inserted so the bulb reaches the center of the largest muscle but does not rest in fat or on bone.

Cooked meat should be stored closely covered in the coldest part of the refrigerator.

All meat is tender if cooked by the correct cookery method.

Steaks and chops for broiling should be cut at least an inch thick.

Panbroiling is a convenient method for cooking thin beef or lamb steaks, chops or patties and smoked ham slices, bacon and Canadian-style bacon.

Roasts are more easily carved if the meat is allowed to “set” 20 to 30 minutes before carving.

For ease in carving, have the back bone loosened on beef rib and pork loin roasts before cooking.

A roast meat thermometer registers the internal temperature or degree of doneness of a roast.

Beef Cuts and Cooking Methods

Beef Blade Pot-Roast

ROAST: Standing ribs; rolled ribs; rump (high quality) and loaf.

BROIL: Rib, club, tenderloin (filet mignon), T-bone, porterhouse, sirloin and top round steaks and patties.

PANBROIL: The same cuts as prepared by broiling. Cuts cooked by this method are cut thinner than those cooked by broiling.

PANFRY: Thin rib, club, tenderloin (filet mignon), T-bone, porterhouse and sirloin steaks; patties and brains.

BRAISE: Pot-roasts—arm, blade, rump (bone in and boneless); arm, blade, round and flank steaks; short ribs; plate; brisket; cross cut shanks; heart; kidney; brains and liver.

COOK IN LIQUID (Large cuts and stews): neck; shank; heel of round; plate; brisket; short ribs; corned beef; stew meat; heart; kidney; tongue; brains and sweetbreads.

Other Facts About Beef

The quality and tenderness of beef cuts are the two factors which determine the cooking method used in their preparation. Tender cuts cooked by roasting, broiling and panbroiling may be served rare, medium or well done. Less tender cuts cooked by braising, panfrying or in liquid should be cooked well done. Some beef is marketed as corned beef and some as dried beef to provide flavor variety. Frozen beef cuts may be stored at 0° F. or lower, 6 to 12 months.

Veal Cuts and Cooking Methods

Veal Cutlets

ROAST: Ribs; arm and blade roasts; rolled and cushion-style shoulder; crown roast; loin; rump; leg; breast and loaf.

BROIL: Liver; kidneys; sweetbreads and brains. Veal steaks, chops and patties are best cooked by braising or panfrying since these two methods supply fat which is lacking in veal because it comes from a young animal.

PANBROIL: Veal steaks, chops and patties are not panbroiled for the same reason that they are not broiled.

PANFRY: Arm and blade steaks; rib and loin chops; kidney chops; sirloin steak; round steak (cutlets); city chicken; mock chicken legs; patties; liver; kidney; sweetbreads and brains.

BRAISE: Arm and blade steaks; rib and loin chops; kidney chops; breast; riblets; sirloin steak; round steak (cutlets); heel of round pot-roast; hind shank; city chicken; mock chicken legs; cubes; patties; heart; kidneys; brains and sweetbreads.

COOK IN LIQUID: Riblets; shank; heel of round; stew meat; heart; kidneys; tongue; brains and sweetbreads.

Other Facts About Veal

The mild appealing flavor of veal is brought out by proper cookery. Since veal comes from a young animal and, consequently, lacks fat, it is often desirable to place bacon or salt pork slices over veal roasts before cooking. All veal is cooked well done. Frozen veal cuts may be stored at 0° F. or lower, 6 to 9 months.

Versatile Ground Meat Works Menu Magic

Ground meat is the basis for a great variety of popular dishes. It's a top favorite, from savory sausage patties for a hearty breakfast to a glamorous meat loaf for a festive dinner party. Whatever the menu, the economy, simplicity of preparation and versatility in serving explain the universal appeal of ground meat to homemakers.

Ground beef, veal, pork or lamb, or a combination of these, provides a meat dish for every taste. With the meat as the foundation of the recipe, other ingredients are often added to introduce flavor variety.

SEASONINGS TO CHOOSE. Basic proportions for the more common seasonings are 1 teaspoon salt, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon pepper and 2 to 4 tablespoons chopped onion for each pound of meat. Sage, thyme, marjoram, cayenne pepper, celery salt, Chili powder, curry powder, paprika, mustard, cloves and nutmeg are some of the commonly used herbs and spices. When experimenting with new combinations, it is advisable to use these seasonings cautiously until the proportions which have the greatest flavor appeal are discovered. A good rule to follow is $\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon per pound of ground meat for the stronger seasonings, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon per pound of ground meat for the more mild seasonings.

OTHER INGREDIENTS TO ADD. Toasted or plain enriched white, whole wheat or rye bread; cracker crumbs; and rolled oats, rice or other cereals may be combined with the ground meat. Grated or mashed potatoes or carrots, peas, and grated apple are also occasional ingredients. The proportion of these foods added to the ground meat may vary but should be kept relatively small for the best meat flavor. Enough liquid—milk, water, vegetable juices, soup stock, canned or cooked tomatoes, tomato catchup—will be needed to moisten the mixture, and egg is necessary to hold the ingredients together. 21

WAYS TO SERVE. Meat loaves and meat balls are perhaps the most usual ways in which ground meat mixtures are served. To add variety, the meat mixture may be baked in large or individual ring molds, muffin pans, or in various shapes for individual loaves. Potatoes, green peppers, onions, egg plant and squash are a few of the vegetables that lend themselves to a meat stuffing. Ground meat and vegetable combinations are often prepared as fritters. Ground meat mixtures (principally meat with herbs or spices for seasoning) appear on the menu as meat patties; meat sauces for macaroni, spaghetti, noodles and rice; meat drumsticks; fillings for meat pies or tarts; toppings for meat shortcakes, and as favorite casserole dishes.

Lamb Cuts and Cooking Methods

Lamb Shoulder Chops

ROAST: Rolled and cushion-style shoulder; crown roast; loin roast; boneless sirloin; leg; breast and loaf.

BROIL: Shoulder, rib, loin and English chops; steaks; patties; liver and kidneys.

PANBROIL: The same cuts as prepared by broiling. Cuts cooked by this method are cut thinner than those cooked by broiling.

PANFRY: Shoulder chops; rib and loin chops; steaks; patties; liver and kidneys.

BRAISE: Shoulder chops; breast; riblets; steaks; neck slices; shanks and cubes.

COOK IN LIQUID: Neck; riblets; shanks; stew meat; hearts and kidneys.

Other Facts About Lamb

Lamb comes from a young animal and practically all cuts may be cooked by roasting, broiling or panbroiling. These cuts may be served medium or well done. Lamb neck, shanks and breasts should be braised or cooked in liquid until well done. The “fell” or paper-like covering, should not be removed from the leg of lamb because the leg, with “fell” on, will roast in less time, hold its shape better and be juicier; the “fell” is removed from chops and steaks. Lamb, at its best, should be served hot or cold ... never lukewarm. Frozen lamb cuts may be stored at 0° F. or lower, 6 to 9 months.

1.F.

1.F.1. Project Gutenberg volunteers and employees expend considerable effort to identify, do copyright research on, transcribe and proofread works not protected by U.S. copyright law in creating the Project Gutenberg™ collection. Despite these efforts, Project Gutenberg™ electronic works, and the medium on which they may be stored, may contain “Defects,” such as, but not limited to, incomplete, inaccurate or corrupt data, transcription errors, a copyright or other intellectual property infringement, a defective or damaged disk or other medium, a computer virus, or computer codes that damage or cannot be read by your equipment.

YOU AGREE THAT YOU HAVE NO REMEDIES FOR NEGLIGENCE, STRICT LIABILITY, BREACH OF WARRANTY OR BREACH OF CONTRACT EXCEPT THOSE PROVIDED IN PARAGRAPH 1.F.3. YOU AGREE THAT THE FOUNDATION, THE TRADEMARK OWNER, AND ANY DISTRIBUTOR UNDER THIS AGREEMENT WILL NOT BE LIABLE TO YOU FOR ACTUAL, DIRECT, INDIRECT, CONSEQUENTIAL, PUNITIVE OR INCIDENTAL DAMAGES EVEN IF YOU GIVE NOTICE OF THE POSSIBILITY OF SUCH DAMAGE.

Section 2. Information about the Mission of Project Gutenberg

Project Gutenberg is synonymous with the free distribution of electronic works in formats readable by the widest variety of computers including obsolete, old, middle-aged and new computers. It exists because of the efforts of hundreds of volunteers and donations from people in all walks of life.

Volunteers and financial support to provide volunteers with the assistance they need are critical to reaching Project Gutenberg's goals and ensuring that the Project Gutenberg collection will remain freely available for generations to come. In 2001, the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation was created to provide a secure and permanent future for Project Gutenberg and future generations. To learn more about the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation and how your efforts and donations can help, see Sections 3 and 4 and the Foundation information page at www.gutenberg.org.

Section 3. Information about the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

The Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation is a non-profit 501(c)(3) educational corporation organized under the laws of the state of Mississippi and granted tax exempt status by the Internal Revenue Service. The Foundation's EIN or federal tax identification number is 64-6221541. Contributions to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation are tax deductible to the full extent permitted by U.S. federal laws and your state's laws.

The Foundation's business office is located at 41 Watchung Plaza #516, Montclair NJ 07042, USA, +1 (862) 621-9288. Email contact links and up to date contact information can be found at the Foundation's website and official page at www.gutenberg.org/contact

Section 4. Information about Donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

Project Gutenberg™ depends upon and cannot survive without widespread public support and donations to carry out its mission of increasing the number of public domain and licensed works that can be freely distributed in machine-readable form accessible by the widest array of equipment including outdated equipment. Many small donations ($1 to $5,000) are particularly important to maintaining tax exempt status with the IRS.

The Foundation is committed to complying with the laws regulating charities and charitable donations in all 50 states of the United States. Compliance requirements are not uniform and it takes a considerable effort, much paperwork and many fees to meet and keep up with these requirements. We do not solicit donations in locations where we have not received written confirmation of compliance. To SEND DONATIONS or determine the status of compliance for any particular state visit www.gutenberg.org/donate.

While we cannot and do not solicit contributions from states where we have not met the solicitation requirements, we know of no prohibition against accepting unsolicited donations from donors in such states who approach us with offers to donate.

International donations are gratefully accepted, but we cannot make any statements concerning tax treatment of donations received from outside the United States. U.S. laws alone swamp our small staff.

Please check the Project Gutenberg web pages for current donation methods and addresses. Donations are accepted in a number of other ways including checks, online payments and credit card donations. To donate, please visit: www.gutenberg.org/donate.

Section 5. General Information About Project Gutenberg electronic works

Professor Michael S. Hart was the originator of the Project Gutenberg concept of a library of electronic works that could be freely shared with anyone. For forty years, he produced and distributed Project Gutenberg eBooks with only a loose network of volunteer support.

Project Gutenberg eBooks are often created from several printed editions, all of which are confirmed as not protected by copyright in the U.S. unless a copyright notice is included. Thus, we do not necessarily keep eBooks in compliance with any particular paper edition.

Most people start at our website which has the main PG search facility:
www.gutenberg.org.

This website includes information about Project Gutenberg, including how to make donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation, how to help produce our new eBooks, and how to subscribe to our email newsletter to hear about new eBooks.
