SCENE I.

SCENE: It may represent a schoolroom, hall or campus, to suit the convenience. Entrances right and left or one entrance will be sufficient.

FLORENCE and VIVIAN enter, arms entwined around each other's waists, whispering eagerly. They wear yellow badges with black letters. EFFIE, a little girl of eleven or twelve, comes tiptoeing up behind, pounces on the entwined arms and cries "Boo!" Girls jump and shriek slightly, then confront EFFIE indignantly.

FLORENCE. Effie Warren, you're a perfect little nuisance!

EFFIE (mimicking her). Florence Dennis, you're a perfect big nuisance!

VIVIAN. How long had you been there behind us?

EFFIE. Not under two seconds and not exceeding two hours, Miss Vivian. Sorry I cannot tell any closer, but I left my watch at home on the piano, and two hundred miles is a bit too far to run before prayer time.

FLORENCE. Did you hear what we said?

EFFIE. Don't you wish you knew?

VIVIAN. Did you, Effie?

EFFIE. What'll you give me not to tell, Miss Mason?

FLORENCE. A box of chocolates.

EFFIE. Goody! Then I won't tell. But when will you give it to me?

VIVIAN. Run away, Effie. Florence doesn't carry chocolates to prayers.

EFFIE. I suppose not. "I shall be obliged to confiscate these, young ladies (very primly), although it distresses me very much to be obliged to do so."

Oh, Florence, what's your badge for? S. O. M. F. Is it a new society, and can't I join?

FLORENCE. Yes, Effie, it's a new society. No, you can't join.

EFFIE Why can't I?

VIVIAN. You are much too young and giddy (frivolous, I should say) to understand the high motives and lofty ideals of the S. O. M. F. You don't even know who Socrates was.

EFFIE No; but I know he's nothing to do with your society or you'd never have mentioned his name. I'm not quite a baby, Miss Vivian, if my dresses aren't down to my ankles. My ankles aren't so big I'm ashamed to show 'em, either! S. O.—Society Of—oh, I'll find out your old secret yet!

FLORENCE. Effie, you're a perfect terror. (Calling.) Betty! Betty!

Enter BETTY.

BETTY. Oh, what is it?

FLORENCE. If you have any faint remnant of regard for that small sister of yours, rescue her before I fall upon her with evil intent and commit a fell and awful murder with malice aforethought.

BETTY. Justifiable homicide, I should call it. What's the kidlet been doing now?

EFFIE (indignantly). Kidlet yourself, Bettina Warren! Oh, Betty, you've got a badge, too! Do tell me what S. O. M. F. means. I'm dying to know!

Enter LILLIAN.

LILLIAN. Cheer up, Effie, we'll all come to the wake.

Enter MAUDE and BEATRICE, arms entwined.

MAUDE. To whose wake?

BEATRICE. Are any of you girls going to commit suicide? If so, count me out. I positively decline.

BETTY. It's only my small sister here—no one that counts.

EFFIE. Don't I? You may find out yet, Miss Bettina. You think you're so grown-up!

LILLIAN. What you dying of, Effie? Unrequited affection for the butcher's boy?

EFFIE. No, nor for the Professor's boy, either.

MAUDE. Good for you, Effie! Oh, Lil!

LILLIAN. Saucy little bunch! Betty, why don't you make that kid behave?

EFFIE. Kid yourself! I'd like to see her try it!

BETTY. I would not. Effie's dying of unrequited curiosity, Lil.

BEATRICE. Did you ever hear of Mother Eve, Effie?

EFFIE. Yes, I have! And of Pandora, and Meddlesome Matty, and Curious Carrie, and Bee Mortimer, and so on.

FLORENCE. Effie, you'll surely be an old maid, your tongue is so sharp.

EFFIE. Hope I will. I wouldn't marry one of those soft, squashy, mushy academy boys you girls are so soft on for anything. I'd rather have a cat and a parrot. They know something, anyway. And I'm going to find out what those letters stand for. S. O.—Society Of—M—Monkey—F—Fools.

GIRLS (in chorus). The idea!

BETTY. You're a first rate guesser, Effie. You don't want to be a monkey fool, do you?

EFFIE. Oh, I'll guess it right yet. You see!

BETTY. I do believe she will, girls. She's a perfect terror at finding out things she ought not to know.

VIVIAN. An investigating mind, hey?

FLORENCE. Look out, Vivian! If Miss Dunham hears you say “hey” she’ll give you another imposition.

VIVIAN. Who cares for Old Dunham? I’ll say “hey” when I please, and straw, too, for all her!

BEATRICE. Say, girls, I met her this morning and she put out her left hand to stop me—you know her way.

EFFIE (mimicking). Just so!

BEATRICE. Exactly, Effie. And she said, “Isn’t that a rather conspicuous badge, Miss Mortimer?”

MAUDE. What did you say, Bee?

BEATRICE. I looked down at it as if I was just being introduced to it, and answered modestly, “Is it, Miss Dunham?” Then she read the letters slowly, but with as much curiosity as Effie here, and said, “S—O—M—F—Society of Moonlight Flirts.” (GIRLS shriek with laughter.)

LILLIAN. Pretty good for Dunham. Oh, why hadn’t we thought of that?

VIVIAN. Really, that’s a great name.

FLORENCE. Beats ours all hollow.

BETTY. That’s even better than Effie’s “Monkey Fools.”

MAUDE. Better join forces with Dunham, Effie, and ferret out that secret.

BEATRICE. You might call yourselves the “S. O. C. P.,” Effie.

EFFIE. What’s that?

BEATRICE. Society of Curious Pryers.

EFFIE. Thanks. I shan’t join forces with the enemy, but I’m going to find out what those letters stand for, and don’t you forget it. You’d better tell me and let me join.

MAUDE. Well, you see, Effie, the membership is limited to seven—the mystic number.

EFFIE (counting badges). Betty, one; Maude, two; Lil, three; Bee, four; Floss, five; Vivian, six; Effie, seven. That just makes it.

VIVIAN. But Dorothy's to be number seven, Effie.

EFFIE. Pooh! I saw Dorothy this morning, myself, and she hadn't a sign of a badge.

FLORENCE (taking badge from book). Well, she'll have this one when I see her again.

EFFIE. Oh, give it to me, Floss—do!

FLORENCE. I can't Effie, truly. It's promised to Dorothy.

EFFIE. Make me number eight, then.

BETTY. No. That will spoil it. Go get up a society of your own with Hazel and Helen and Marjorie.

FLORENCE. I'll paint your badges, Effie, and never ask what the letters stand for.

EFFIE. Can't switch me off that way. I'm going to find out about that S. O. M. F. of yours, and I'm going to join. You'll see! (Snatches badge from FLORENCE'S hand and runs off with it. GIRLS start to chase her.)

Enter MISS DUNHAM.

MISS DUNHAM (putting out left hand). Stay, young ladies, the chapel is in the other direction.

LILLIAN. But—

MISS DUNHAM. No excuses, please. The bell has rung for prayers.

MAUDE. Mayn't I—

MISS DUNHAM. If you mean may I not, Miss Atherton, say so.

MAUDE. May I not—

MISS DUNHAM. Certainly not. Whatever you wish to do, you must wait until after prayers. (BETTY attempts to sneak off but is promptly recalled.) Miss Warren, I shall report you for insubordination and you will do one hundred lines after school.

FLORENCE (aside). Oh, ye gods and little fishes!

MISS DUNHAM. Miss Dennis, I shall report you for profanity. I have remarked before on your flippant manner of conversation. Two hundred lines, please. Come, young ladies, we'll all be late to prayers. (Ushers them all before her in opposite direction to that taken by EFFIE.)

When all have disappeared EFFIE re-enters, pins on badge and capers around.

EFFIE. S. O. M. F.—Society of—that much is easy. M—Monkey—Moonlight—Morning—Midnight—oh, I bet that's it. Society of Midnight. F—Fools—Flowers—Feasters. Oh, ho! I've got it. S. O. M. F.—Society of Midnight Feasters! Bee got a box from home yesterday. Well, you can just bet little Effie's going to join and attend the first meeting. Now to learn where it's to be.

Enter HAZEL.

HAZEL. Hurry up, Effie; you'll be late to prayers. (Sees badge.) Why, Effie Warren, where'd you get that?

EFFIE (softly). Don't be inquisitive, Hazel. That's the badge of a new society within this Select Seminary for Young Ladies.

HAZEL. Well, you don't belong. It's for the big girls.

EFFIE. Doesn't this look like it? My sister's a member.

HAZEL. So's mine, but she wouldn't even tell me what S. O. M. F. stood for. (Coaxingly.) Won't you, Effie dear?

EFFIE. The idea, Hazel Dennis! Don't you know I musn't? It wouldn't be honorable. I'm surprised at you!

HAZEL. H'm! Think you're awful big, don't you? I know your old password, anyway.

EFFIE. Bet you don't!

HAZEL. Well, I do. I heard Vivian tell Floss. She said: "Tonight in Lil and Bee's room, at the witching hour. Open sesame—Bx!" So there, now! Seems as if you might have found an English word instead of that Russian thing.

EFFIE. Well, I don't know what they meant at all. Our password is not Russian at all, but English. You're way off. There goes second bell.

HAZEL. Aren't you coming?

EFFIE. Not just now. (HAZEL runs out.) Bx! That's Russian for box, I suppose. And tonight at midnight! I'll be there. Oh, yes. Won't it be fun to see the girls' faces! Here goes for chapel. (Runs out.)

CURTAIN.

SCENE II.

SCENE: A bedroom in a boarding school. One door, may be either right, left or center, to suit convenience of stage. A box couch at one side, a bed at the other. A table near center with a motley collection of food upon it. FLORENCE, VIVIAN, LILLIAN, BEATRICE and MAUDE sitting around in various schoolgirl positions. BEE jumps up and begins to re-arrange table. LILLIAN is seated near door. A light knock heard. She opens door a crack. BETTY hisses "Bx!" and is admitted.

FLORENCE. Why wear such a sad and solemn face, Bettina?

BETTY. I can't find Effie anywhere.

FLORENCE. I can, then.

BETTY. Oh, where is she, Floss? I was in the library, reading up for my essay, and stayed overtime. Of course the omnipresent Dunham had to meander down the corridor as I was hiking for my room, and I got an impo.

VIVIAN. You'd have got two, Betty mine, if the very precise and proper Dunham had heard you make use of that very expressive and slangy verb "to hike."

BETTY. Well, when I got to my room Effie wasn't there. I thought she was hiding and hunted everywhere. But she just wasn't there.

FLORENCE. Had you looked in mine you'd have found her in bed with Hazel. I room with you tonight. I got permission from Mrs. Waterman herself to exchange for tonight.

BETTY. How?

FLORENCE. In ways best kept secret. An' ye love me, ask me no questions, I pray thee.

BEATRICE. Where's the dragon, Betsy Bobbet? Do you know?

BETTY. Sound asleep in her room, I suppose.

MAUDE. Kindly let her remain there.

BETTY. If she only will, Maudie. I shan't drag her forth.

LILLIAN. All here. Time for initiation. Bring the prisoner forward.

VIVIAN and MAUDE go behind a screen and come out leading DOROTHY, who is blindfolded. They place her before LILLIAN.

LILLIAN. Sisters in mystery, behold before you the aspiring maiden who rashly dared to seek admittance to our select circle.

DOROTHY. I never, Lil Norton. You invited me yourself.

LILLIAN. Does the rash prisoner dare to speak unbidden? Guard—the penalty. (FLORENCE passes a bottle of pepper sauce.) Put out thy bold and audacious tongue, varlet.

DOROTHY. I shan't.

VIVIAN. You must, Dorothy.

MAUDE. Oh, go ahead, Dot. She's put us all through this before.

DOROTHY (hesitatingly). Well, what is it?

BETTY. Fire—liquid fire.

BEATRICE. 'Twon't hurt you, Doto.

DOROTHY. Well—(puts out tongue, draws it back. Does it several times. At last LILLIAN succeeds in putting pepper sauce on it. DOROTHY covering mouth with hands.) Whew! That burns like—

BEATRICE. Water—only water, I assure you. Drawn from the northeast corner of the deepest well in Byfield.

LILLIAN. If the taste doesn't appeal to you, don't answer this august tribunal with back talk. Now for your kittychasm. Answer promptly and respectfully. What is your father?

DOROTHY. A doctor.

LILLIAN. Her father is the undertaker's partner, girls.

DOROTHY (indignantly). No such thing!

LILLIAN. Don't the undertaker bury the ones he kills for him?

DOROTHY. The idea, Lil Norton! He doesn't kill people.

LILLIAN. Then all his patients recover?

DOROTHY. Well, no, of course, not all.

LILLIAN. Then they die?

DOROTHY. Sometimes, of course.

LILLIAN. Then don't try to hide from us who his partner is. Perhaps in your town they don't bury the doctor's victims. Do they cremate them, or mummify them, or simply pickle them?

DOROTHY. Don't, Lil. That's horrid! They bury them, of course.

LILLIAN. Oh, you perceive, friends, that the culprit has acknowledged that the learned doctor does have victims. Here is a serious question for you. Shall we admit the daughter of a murderer to our learned and elegant society?

DOROTHY. If you are going to insult my father, Lil Norton, I don't want to join your old society.

LILLIAN. Is the candidate getting touchy? Smooth her ruffled feelings, guards. (GIRLS smooth DOROTHY vigorously.)

DOROTHY. There! That will do. My feelings aren't ruffled any more.

LILLIAN. Drop the candidate's paternal parent with a sharp thud. (BEE drops a book.) He is dropped. We will proceed. Miss Mason, you may take up the cross-examination.

VIVIAN. Does your mother ever wash her face?

DOROTHY. Of course.

VIVIAN. Is it seemly, sisters, to admit to our circle the daughter of a washerwoman?

DOROTHY. My mother isn't a washerwoman, Vivian Mason!

VIVIAN. Please confine your statements to the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. Are we to understand that your mother never washes her face?

DOROTHY. Of course she does. She isn't a pig.

VIVIAN. Will the ladies please make a mental note of the candidate's last statement for future reference? Her mother isn't a pig! Then we are to understand that your mother, being neither a pig nor a woman, is a man? How passing strange! Does she wear a beard?

DOROTHY. No, she doesn't, and she isn't a man.

VIVIAN. Third person, singular number, neuter gender. Miss Dennis, your turn.

FLORENCE. How old is your grandmother's cat?

DOROTHY. She hasn't got a cat.

FLORENCE. So the poor old lady can't afford to keep a cat! Does she reside in the poorhouse, or has she a tumble-down hovel of her own?

DOROTHY. Neither.

FLORENCE. You don't mean that she's a beggar on the the street, I hope?

DOROTHY. No, I don't.

FLORENCE. Then please tell this assembly exactly how and where she does live.

DOROTHY. She doesn't. Both my grandmothers died years ago. One before I was born. The other immediately after.

FLORENCE. Oh, Dot, were you as homely as that? She killed her own grandmothers. I've no more to ask. Proceed with the inquisition, Miss Mortimer, while I recover from the effects of the shock. A pickle, please.

BEATRICE. No; no pickles yet. The smelling salts are—somewhere. (To DOROTHY.) When and where were you born?

DOROTHY. In Boston, May 1, ——. (Insert date to fit age of girl taking the part.)

BEATRICE. What day of the week?

DOROTHY. Sunday.

BEATRICE. Ladies, she's a Sabbath breaker. Very poor taste, to say the least, to work the stork express on Sunday. The hour of the day?

DOROTHY. Really, I don't know. Does it matter?

BEATRICE. Does it matter? Certainly it matters. If you can't tell when you were born, you can't prove you were born at all, and if, like Topsy, you "just grewed," you certainly cannot be admitted to this select society, every member of which was born.

DOROTHY (laughing). Don't be silly, Bee! Of course I was born.

BEATRICE. Were you present at the occasion?

DOROTHY. Sure! But I don't remember much about it.

BEATRICE. Was your mother present?

DOROTHY. I suppose she was.

BEATRICE. Suppose! Write to her immediately and ask her if you were born. She may know, and it is very essential. Miss Warren, it is your turn.

BETTY. Let us drop family matters, since they appear so disgraceful, and find out if the candidate's mental achievements are such as entitle her to admission to our select association. Can you read?

DOROTHY. I think so.

BETTY (putting a book in her hand). Read this, please, aloud, slowly, and with expression. Begin at the place marked and read seven paragraphs. (DOROTHY attempts to pull bandage from eyes. GIRLS prevent her.)

DOROTHY. I can't read with this on my eyes!

BETTY (taking book). I feared it. Ladies, the candidate, by her own admission, cannot read. Can you write?

DOROTHY. Yes, I can do that blindfold, I think.

BETTY. Very well. Here are pencil and paper. Write your name, please, if you know it. Also the name of this delightful Alma Mater of ours. (DOROTHY starts to write. GIRLS jog her elbow and move her paper around.)

DOROTHY. I can't write if you girls—

GIRLS (in chorus). She can't write! She can't write! She said so!

BETTY (taking pencil). Sad, sad indeed! Do you know your letters?

DOROTHY. Probably not, according to you. You're worse than Miss Dunham.

BETTY. Try. Say your letters for the ladies, dear.

DOROTHY. A, b, c, d, e—

BETTY. Hold on! That isn't the way!

DOROTHY. Well, z, y, x, w—

BETTY. No, no! Say them correctly.

DOROTHY. Alpha, Beta, Gamma, Delta—

BETTY. What gibberish! Say them in English.

DOROTHY. I did, but you wouldn't let me go on.

BETTY. Begin again.

DOROTHY. A, b, c—

BETTY. No, no!

DOROTHY. Well, how shall I say 'em?

BETTY. One at a time.

DOROTHY. All right. A.

BETTY. Correct. Proceed.

DOROTHY. B.

BEATRICE. Yes? What do you want?

DOROTHY. I didn't want you. C.

BETTY. See what?

DOROTHY. A lot of idiots, I should say. D.

MAUDE. That's what she calls Bert, I suppose. Her dee boy.

DOROTHY. Oh, dry up, Maude. E.

BETTY. I regret to say that the candidate doesn't know her letters. She hasn't given the definition of A yet.

DOROTHY. Well, what is the definition of A?

BETTY. I am asking questions, not answering them. One more trial. Can you define A?

DOROTHY. No, I can't and I don't want to.

BETTY. I am overcome at the thought of such ignorance. Miss Atherton may finish the kittychasm.

MAUDE. Can you do arithmetic? Add one cat, two dogs, three bears and a lion.

DOROTHY. Seven animals.

MAUDE. Wrong.

DOROTHY. One, then—the lion.

MAUDE. That's not addition; that's subtraction.

DOROTHY. No, because they'd all be added to the lion.

MAUDE. Wrong. The correct answer is, a big row. Can you do multiplication? Do you know your times table?

DOROTHY. I think so.

MAUDE. How many times have you been kissed?

DOROTHY. What a question?

MAUDE. I will make it simpler. How many times were you kissed by a—er—young man? Bert, for instance?

DOROTHY. The idea, Maude Atherton! I shan't answer another question.

MAUDE. The defendant pleads guilty. The last question is answered. Kneel. (DOROTHY kneels.) Look up. (DOROTHY does so. LILLIAN throws water in her face Dorothy gasps. GIRLS laugh. Another laugh is heard.)

LILLIAN. What was that?

BEATRICE. What?

BETTY (pointing). Girls, look!

All look. See EFFIE peeping from raised lid of box couch. As they rush toward her she throws it back and jumps out.

BEATRICE. Effie Warren, you dreadful child. How did you get here?

EFFIE. Been here all the time. Came while you and Lil were squeezing lemons in the dressing-room. Sorry to disturb you before the initiation was over, but you asked such a heap of foolish questions, and its stuffy in there. Besides, I was hungry. (Makes a dive for the table, grabs a cream cake and a pickle and begins to munch.)

BEATRICE. Effie Warren, you go straight back to your room!

EFFIE. If I do I'll send Miss Dunham up here.

LILLIAN. Effie, you wouldn't be so mean!

EFFIE. I would if you were mean enough to turn me out without my share of the spread.

BEATRICE. Your share! Well, I call that cool. You weren't invited.

EFFIE. Perhaps not, but I'm a member of the S. O. M. F., which means Society of Midnight Feasters, and I know the password—Bx! See my badge?

BETTY. Oh, Effie, you're a regular Paul Pry. What shall we do, girls?

BEATRICE. Eat and decide afterward. See the young gourmand stuff.

EFFIE. Yes, it's a first rate spread. (All begin to eat. Intersperse remarks such as "Pass the pickles," "Isn't this great," etc. The knob of the door rattles loudly. All pause in dismay.)

VOICE (from without). Miss Norton! Miss Mortimer! Young ladies. (No response.) Miss Norton! Miss Mortimer! (Loud rapping.) Open this door!

(A pause.) Do you intend to obey? Very well, I shall fetch Mrs. Waterman.
(Steps recede.)

BEATRICE. Scoot, girls, quick!

BETTY. We don't dare. She's probably waiting a little way down the corridor.

LILLIAN. What shall we do?

FLORENCE. You and Lil get into bed quick. The rest of us will hide. Effie, you're little and spry, you blow out the candle and unlock the door. Then get back into your former hiding place.

EFFIE. All right.

LILLIAN and BEE scramble into bed, DOROTHY and BETTY hide behind screen, FLORENCE, VIVIAN and MAUDE dive under bed. EFFIE unlocks door, calmly fills her hands and apron with goodies and gets into the box couch. Someone knocks twice, then door opens and MRS. WATERMAN enters.

MRS. WATERMAN. Lillian! Beatrice! (No answer. She lights lamp and looks around her, advances to bed, holds lamp high.) Lillian! Beatrice! (Still no answer. GIRLS appear to be asleep. She gives a quick glance behind screen, then seats herself near table, occasionally glaring at or beneath the bed. Talks aloud to herself.) Well, I think Miss Dunham must have been mistaken as to the number of voices she heard. No one here but Beatrice and Lillian and they sound asleep. I suppose their brains are weary from over study. (Looks at table.) I suppose this is the contents of Beatrice's box. Spread out to see how much show it would make, I presume. A midnight feast, Miss Dunham seemed to think, but this seems hardly touched. I believe I'll try a glass of that lemonade. How prodigal of Beatrice to make up so much at once. Doesn't she know it won't be nearly so good in the morning? (Pours out lemonade and sips it.) Delicious, I'm sure, and I believe a slice of that cake would be nice. (Takes it and tastes.) Ah, what an excellent cook Mrs. Mortimer is and what a delicate, refined little lady. I'm glad she has brought up her daughter to be sensible and keep her goodies for morning, when they'll be digestible. I told Miss Dunham she was mistaken. Beatrice and Lillian are both too fond of me to grieve me by such a flagrant breach of rules. I told her she might go to bed and I'd go the rounds and see who was missing. It seems unnecessary now, however. (BETTY gives a slight cough, immediately suppressed. MRS. MORTIMER looks toward bed.) There, Lillian has taken cold again. Her chest is so delicate. She must take a bottle of cod liver oil, I think. I'll give her some in the morning. These things ought not to remain here, they'll attract the rats. Let me see, there's that clothes hamper. I'll pack them in that and take them to my room for safe keeping. I presume Beatrice will be asking permission to have a party tomorrow afternoon or evening. Let's see. I believe I can guess whom she will ask, even. Betty and Maude, Florence and Vivian and Dorothy. "We are Seven," and where one is, behold the other six. Dear girls, I wonder if they know how truly I have their interests at heart, and how well I love them all. (Packs basket, commenting on food. As she rises from packing last of it, her eyes meet EFFIE's, peeping out from couch. EFFIE dodges back, MRS. W. advances, lifts cover and motions her to get out.) Why, Effie Warren! This is a surprise. How did you come in there?

EFFIE. I hid when I heard you coming.

MRS. W. But how came you here at all? What are you doing in a room belonging to two large girls, when those two girls are abed and asleep?

EFFIE. Well, they didn't want me and I just came.

MRS. W. And you have been eating Bee's goodies! Oh, what a pig! Did Bee give any of these to you?

EFFIE. No'm, but—

MRS. W. What do we call it when one person takes another's goods without their knowledge or permission?

EFFIE. Truly, I wasn't stealing, Mrs. Waterman. The idea! I wouldn't! Besides they did know.

MRS. W. And said you might?

EFFIE. N—no. But it wasn't stealing.

MRS. W. Robbery, then, if you like that any better. A little girl who forces herself on those who do not wish her company is very bold and forward, indeed. How much have you eaten, Effie?

EFFIE. Two cream cakes, three tarts, two pickles, a hunk of nutcake, a piece of pie, some macaroons. I guess that's all.

MRS. W. I should hope so. Come with me to my room and have a dose of castor oil, and then go back to bed with Hazel as quickly as possible.

EFFIE. I don't need any castor oil, Mrs. Waterman.

MRS. W. Indeed you do, after eating all of that in the middle of the night. Here, help me carry this hamper. (They go out and close door. GIRLS come out from hiding places.)

VIVIAN. Oh, I'm so cramped. Floss and Maude did crowd so!

MAUDE. Crowd! I was way at the back, being crowded. 'Twas Floss.

FLORENCE. Well, I was right in front and I was sure she could see me.

DOROTHY. And Betty coughed.

LILLIAN. Yes, and I'll have to take cod liver oil to cure it.

BEATRICE. Do you suppose she'll make you?

LILLIAN. Of course. I can't say it was Betty, can I? Besides, she has been saying I ought.

BETTY. Girls, she knew we were there!

DOROTHY. I believe she did!

MAUDE. And talked for our benefit.

FLORENCE. Made us feel pretty small, too. I'm glad she got Effie, anyway. She did feel so big at getting the best of it.

BETTY. Say, girls, let's make a clean breast of it and tell her we're sorry. (Tears off badge.) No more midnight feasts for me!

BEATRICE. Nor me. Girls, S. O. M. F. is disbanded.

FLORENCE. And nobody had a feast after all but that troublesome little Effie.

VIVIAN. And she'll pay for hers.

BETTY. Indeed she will. No one can coax, hire, threaten or force her to take castor oil at home.

BEATRICE. She was a little tramp, though, and never tattled a bit. Stood her sermon like a little martyr. Let's change our society to one where we needn't sneak, and let Effie join.

FLORENCE. So we will. Now, girls, let's run, and in the morning we'll 'fess. We do think a lot of Mrs. Waterman, and we'll prove it.

VIVIAN. Think of her sending Dunham to bed. She'd have delighted in dragging us out one by one.

LILLIAN. Yes, and we'd have been defiant and saucy and in no end of a mess.

DOROTHY. And have done it all over as soon as possible, whereas now—

BEATRICE. Now we solemnly promise to abjure midnight feasting for a year and a day. Unpin badges. (All do so.) March around and lay them on table. (All do so.) I hereby declare the S. O. M. F. disbanded and solemnly bury the regalia. (Opens top drawer of bureau, puts badges in and covers them, then closes drawer.) Goodnight, sisters in mystery. (The girls all go out but LILLIAN and BEATRICE.)

BEATRICE (as curtain falls). I expected she'd feel my pulse to see if I was feverish, my face burned so while she talked.

LILLIAN. And to think Effie was the only active member of the S. O. M. F. after all!

CURTAIN.

Denison's
Vaudeville Sketches
Price, 15 Cents Each, Postpaid.

Nearly all of these sketches were written for professionals and have been given with great success by vaudeville artists of note. They are essentially dramatic and very funny; up-to-date comedy. They are not recommended for church entertainments; however, they contain nothing that will offend, and are all within the range of amateurs.

DOINGS OF A DUDE.—Vaudeville sketch, by Harry L. Newton; 2 m., 1 f. Time 20 m. Scene: Simple interior. Maizy Von Billion of athletic tendencies is expecting a boxing instructor and has procured Bloody Mike, a prize fighter, to “try him out.” Percy Montmorency, her sister’s ping pong teacher, is mistaken for the boxing instructor and has a “trying out” that is a surprise. A whirlwind of fun and action.

FRESH TIMOTHY HAY.—Vaudeville sketch, by Harry L. Newton; 2 m., 1 f. Time 20 m. Scene: Simple rural exterior. By terms of a will, Rose Lark must marry Reed Bird or forfeit a legacy. Rose and Reed have never met and when he arrives Timothy Hay, a fresh farm hand, mistakes him for Pink Eye Pete, a notorious thief. Ludicrous lines and rapid action.

GLICKMAN, THE GLAZIER.—Vaudeville sketch, by Harry L. Newton and A. S. Hoffman; 1 m., 1 f. Time 25 m. Scene: Simple interior. Charlotte Russe, an actress, is scored by a dramatic paper. With “blood in her eye” she seeks the critic at the office, finds no one in and smashes a window. Jacob Glickman, a Hebrew glazier, rushes in and is mistaken for the critic. Fun, jokes, gags and action follow with lightning rapidity. A great Jew part.

THE GODDESS OF LOVE.—Vaudeville sketch, by Harry L. Newton; 1 m., 1 f. Time 15 m. Scene: Simple exterior. Aphrodite, a Greek goddess, is a statue in the park. According to tradition a gold ring placed upon her finger will bring her to life. Knott Jones, a tramp, who had slept in the park all night, brings her to life. A rare combination of the beautiful and the best of comedy. Novel, easy to produce and a great hit.

HEY, RUBE!—Monologue, by Harry L. Newton; 1 m. Time 15 m. Reuben Spinach from Yaptan visits Chicago for the first time. The way he tells of the sights and what befell him would make a sphinx laugh.

IS IT RAINING?—Vaudeville sketch, by Harry L. Newton; 1 m., 1 f. Time 10 m. Otto Swimmorebeer, a German, Susan Fairweather, a friend of his. This act runs riot with fun, gags, absurdities and comical lines.

MARRIAGE AND AFTER.—Monologue, by Harry L. Newton and A. S. Hoffman; 1 m. Time about 10 m. A laugh every two seconds on a subject which appeals to all. Full of local hits.

ME AND MY DOWN TRODDEN SEX.—Old maid monologue, by Harry L. Newton; 1 f. Time 5 m. Polly has lived long enough to gather a few facts about men, which are told in the most laughable manner imaginable.

AN OYSTER STEW.—A rapid fire talking act, by Harry L. Newton and A. S. Hoffman; 2 m. Time 10 m. Dick Tell, a knowing chap. Tom Askit, not so wise. This act is filled to overflowing with lightning cross-fires, pointed puns and hot retorts.

PICKLES FOR TWO.—Dutch rapid-fire talking act, by Harry L. Newton and A. S. Hoffman; 2 m. Time 15 m. Hans, a German mixer. Gus, another one. Unique ludicrous Dutch dialect, interspersed with rib-starting witticisms. The style of act made famous by Weber and Field.

THE TROUBLES OF ROZINSKI.—Jew monologue, by Harry L. Newton and A. S. Hoffman; 1 m. Time 15 m. Rozinski, a buttonhole-maker, is forced to join the union and go on a “strike.” He has troubles every minute that will tickle the ribs of both Labor and Capital.

WORDS TO THE WISE.—Monologue, by Harry L. Newton; 1 m. Time about 15 m. A typical vaudeville talking act, which is fat with funny lines and rich rare hits that will be remembered and laughed over for weeks.

Updated editions will replace the previous one—the old editions will be renamed.

Creating the works from print editions not protected by U.S. copyright law means that no one owns a United States copyright in these works, so the Foundation (and you!) can copy and distribute it in the United States without permission and without paying copyright royalties. Special rules, set forth in the General Terms of Use part of this license, apply to copying and distributing Project Gutenberg™ electronic works to protect the PROJECT GUTENBERG™ concept and trademark. Project Gutenberg is a registered trademark, and may not be used if you charge for an eBook, except by following the terms of the trademark license, including paying royalties for use of the Project Gutenberg trademark. If you do not charge anything for copies of this eBook, complying with the trademark license is very easy. You may use this eBook for nearly any purpose such as creation of derivative works, reports, performances and research. Project Gutenberg eBooks may be modified and printed and given away—you may do practically ANYTHING in the United States with eBooks not protected by U.S. copyright law. Redistribution is subject to the trademark license, especially commercial redistribution.

THE FULL PROJECT GUTENBERG™ LICENSE

PLEASE READ THIS BEFORE YOU DISTRIBUTE OR USE THIS WORK

To protect the Project Gutenberg™ mission of promoting the free distribution of electronic works, by using or distributing this work (or any other work associated in any way with the phrase “Project Gutenberg”), you agree to comply with all the terms of the Full Project Gutenberg License available with this file or online at www.gutenberg.org/license.

Section 1. General Terms of Use and Redistributing Project Gutenberg electronic works

1.A. By reading or using any part of this Project Gutenberg electronic work, you indicate that you have read, understand, agree to and accept all the terms of this license and intellectual property (trademark/copyright) agreement. If you do not agree to abide by all the terms of this agreement, you must cease using and return or destroy all copies of Project Gutenberg electronic works in your possession. If you paid a fee for obtaining a copy of or access to a Project Gutenberg electronic work and you do not agree to be bound by the terms of this agreement, you may obtain a refund from the person or entity to whom you paid the fee as set forth in paragraph 1.E.8.

1.B. “Project Gutenberg” is a registered trademark. It may only be used on or associated in any way with an electronic work by people who agree to be bound by the terms of this agreement. There are a few things that you can do with most Project Gutenberg electronic works even without complying with the full terms of this agreement. See paragraph 1.C below. There are a lot of things you can do with Project Gutenberg electronic works if you follow the terms of this agreement and help preserve free future access to Project Gutenberg electronic works. See paragraph 1.E below.

1.C. The Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation (“the Foundation” or PGLAF), owns a compilation copyright in the collection of Project Gutenberg electronic works. Nearly all the individual works in the collection are in the public domain in the United States. If an individual work is unprotected by copyright law in the United States and you are located in the United States, we do not claim a right to prevent you from copying, distributing, performing, displaying or creating derivative works based on the work as long as all references to Project Gutenberg are removed. Of course, we hope that you will support the Project Gutenberg mission of promoting free access to electronic works by freely sharing Project Gutenberg works in compliance with the terms of this agreement for keeping the Project Gutenberg name associated with the work. You can easily comply with the terms of this agreement by keeping this work in the same format with its attached full Project Gutenberg License when you share it without charge with others.

1.D. The copyright laws of the place where you are located also govern what you can do with this work. Copyright laws in most countries are in a constant state of change. If you are outside the United States, check the laws of your country in addition to the terms of this agreement before downloading, copying, displaying, performing, distributing or creating derivative works based on this work or any other Project Gutenberg work. The Foundation makes no representations concerning the copyright status of any work in any country other than the United States.

1.E. Unless you have removed all references to Project Gutenberg:

1.E.1. The following sentence, with active links to, or other immediate access to, the full Project Gutenberg License must appear prominently whenever any copy of a Project Gutenberg work (any work on which the phrase “Project Gutenberg” appears, or with which the phrase “Project Gutenberg” is associated) is accessed, displayed, performed, viewed, copied or distributed:

This eBook is for the use of anyone anywhere in the United States and most other parts of the world at no cost and with almost no restrictions whatsoever. You may copy it, give it away or re-use it under the terms of the Project Gutenberg™ License included with this eBook or online at www.gutenberg.org. If you are not located in the United States, you will have to check the laws of the country where you are located before using this eBook.

1.E.2. If an individual Project Gutenberg electronic work is derived from texts not protected by U.S. copyright law (does not contain a notice indicating that it is posted with permission of the copyright holder), the work can be copied and distributed to anyone in the United States without paying any fees or charges. If you are redistributing or providing access to a work with the phrase “Project Gutenberg” associated with or appearing on the work, you must comply either with the requirements of paragraphs 1.E.1 through 1.E.7 or obtain permission for the use of the work and the Project Gutenberg trademark as set forth in paragraphs 1.E.8 or 1.E.9.

1.E.3. If an individual Project Gutenberg electronic work is posted with the permission of the copyright holder, your use and distribution must comply with both paragraphs 1.E.1 through 1.E.7 and any additional terms imposed by the copyright holder. Additional terms will be linked to the Project Gutenberg License for all works posted with the permission of the copyright holder found at the beginning of this work.

1.E.4. Do not unlink or detach or remove the full Project Gutenberg License terms from this work, or any files containing a part of this work or any other work associated with Project Gutenberg.

1.E.5. Do not copy, display, perform, distribute or redistribute this electronic work, or any part of this electronic work, without prominently displaying the sentence set forth in paragraph 1.E.1 with active links or immediate access to the full terms of the Project Gutenberg License.

1.E.6. You may convert to and distribute this work in any binary, compressed, marked up, nonproprietary or proprietary form, including any word processing or hypertext form. However, if you provide access to or distribute copies of a Project Gutenberg work in a format other than “Plain Vanilla ASCII” or other format used in the official version posted on the official Project Gutenberg website (www.gutenberg.org), you must, at no additional cost, fee or expense to the user, provide a copy, a means of exporting a copy, or a means of obtaining a copy upon request, of the work in its original “Plain Vanilla ASCII” or other form. Any alternate format must include the full Project Gutenberg License as specified in paragraph 1.E.1.

1.E.7. Do not charge a fee for access to, viewing, displaying, performing, copying or distributing any Project Gutenberg works unless you comply with paragraph 1.E.8 or 1.E.9.

1.E.8. You may charge a reasonable fee for copies of or providing access to or distributing Project Gutenberg electronic works provided that:

- You pay a royalty fee of 20% of the gross profits you derive from the use of Project Gutenberg works calculated using the method you already use to calculate your applicable taxes. The fee is owed to the owner of the Project Gutenberg trademark, but he has agreed to donate royalties under this paragraph to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation. Royalty payments must be paid within 60 days following each date on which you prepare (or are legally required to prepare) your periodic tax returns. Royalty payments should be clearly marked as such and sent to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation at the address specified in Section 4, "Information about donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation."
- You provide a full refund of any money paid by a user who notifies you in writing (or by e-mail) within 30 days of receipt that s/he does not agree to the terms of the full Project Gutenberg™ License. You must require such a user to return or destroy all copies of the works possessed in a physical medium and discontinue all use of and all access to other copies of Project Gutenberg™ works.
- You provide, in accordance with paragraph 1.F.3, a full refund of any money paid for a work or a replacement copy, if a defect in the electronic work is discovered and reported to you within 90 days of receipt of the work.
- You comply with all other terms of this agreement for free distribution of Project Gutenberg™ works.

1.E.9. If you wish to charge a fee or distribute a Project Gutenberg™ electronic work or group of works on different terms than are set forth in this agreement, you must obtain permission in writing from the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation, the manager of the Project

Gutenberg™ trademark. Contact the Foundation as set forth in Section 3 below.

1.F.

1.F.1. Project Gutenberg volunteers and employees expend considerable effort to identify, do copyright research on, transcribe and proofread works not protected by U.S. copyright law in creating the Project Gutenberg™ collection. Despite these efforts, Project Gutenberg™ electronic works, and the medium on which they may be stored, may contain “Defects,” such as, but not limited to, incomplete, inaccurate or corrupt data, transcription errors, a copyright or other intellectual property infringement, a defective or damaged disk or other medium, a computer virus, or computer codes that damage or cannot be read by your equipment.

1.F.2. LIMITED WARRANTY, DISCLAIMER OF DAMAGES - Except for the “Right of Replacement or Refund” described in paragraph 1.F.3, the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation, the owner of the Project Gutenberg™ trademark, and any other party distributing a Project Gutenberg™ electronic work under this agreement, disclaim all liability to you for damages, costs and expenses, including legal fees. YOU AGREE THAT YOU HAVE NO REMEDIES FOR NEGLIGENCE, STRICT LIABILITY, BREACH OF WARRANTY OR BREACH OF CONTRACT EXCEPT THOSE PROVIDED IN PARAGRAPH 1.F.3. YOU AGREE THAT THE FOUNDATION, THE TRADEMARK OWNER, AND ANY DISTRIBUTOR UNDER THIS AGREEMENT WILL NOT BE LIABLE TO YOU FOR ACTUAL, DIRECT, INDIRECT, CONSEQUENTIAL, PUNITIVE OR INCIDENTAL DAMAGES EVEN IF YOU GIVE NOTICE OF THE POSSIBILITY OF SUCH DAMAGE.

1.F.3. LIMITED RIGHT OF REPLACEMENT OR REFUND - If you discover a defect in this electronic work within 90 days of receiving it, you can receive a refund of the money (if any) you paid for it by sending a written explanation to the person you received the work from. If you received the work on a physical medium, you must return the medium with your written explanation. The person or entity that provided you with the defective work may elect to provide a replacement copy in lieu of a refund. If you received the work electronically, the person or entity providing it to you may choose to give you a second opportunity to receive the work electronically in lieu of a refund. If the second copy is also defective, you may demand a refund in writing without further opportunities to fix the problem.

1.F.4. Except for the limited right of replacement or refund set forth in paragraph 1.F.3, this work is provided to you 'AS-IS', WITH NO OTHER WARRANTIES OF ANY KIND, EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY OR FITNESS FOR ANY PURPOSE.

1.F.5. Some states do not allow disclaimers of certain implied warranties or the exclusion or limitation of certain types of damages. If any disclaimer or limitation set forth in this agreement violates the law of the state applicable to this agreement, the agreement shall be interpreted to make the maximum disclaimer or limitation permitted by the applicable state law. The invalidity or unenforceability of any provision of this agreement shall not void the remaining provisions.

1.F.6. INDEMNITY - You agree to indemnify and hold the Foundation, the trademark owner, any agent or employee of the Foundation, anyone providing copies of Project Gutenberg™ electronic works in accordance with this agreement, and any volunteers associated with the production, promotion and distribution of Project Gutenberg™ electronic works, harmless from all liability, costs and expenses, including legal fees, that arise directly or indirectly from any of the following which you do or cause to occur: (a) distribution of this or any Project Gutenberg work, (b) alteration, modification, or additions or deletions to any Project Gutenberg work, and (c) any Defect you cause.

Section 2. Information about the Mission of Project Gutenberg

Project Gutenberg is synonymous with the free distribution of electronic works in formats readable by the widest variety of computers including obsolete, old, middle-aged and new computers. It exists because of the efforts of hundreds of volunteers and donations from people in all walks of life.

Volunteers and financial support to provide volunteers with the assistance they need are critical to reaching Project Gutenberg's goals and ensuring that the Project Gutenberg collection will remain freely available for generations to come. In 2001, the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation was created to provide a secure and permanent future for Project Gutenberg and future generations. To learn more about the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation and how your efforts and donations can help, see Sections 3 and 4 and the Foundation information page at www.gutenberg.org.

Section 3. Information about the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

The Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation is a non-profit 501(c)(3) educational corporation organized under the laws of the state of Mississippi and granted tax exempt status by the Internal Revenue Service. The Foundation's EIN or federal tax identification number is 64-6221541. Contributions to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation are tax deductible to the full extent permitted by U.S. federal laws and your state's laws.

The Foundation's business office is located at 41 Watchung Plaza #516, Montclair NJ 07042, USA, +1 (862) 621-9288. Email contact links and up to date contact information can be found at the Foundation's website and official page at www.gutenberg.org/contact

Section 4. Information about Donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

Project Gutenberg™ depends upon and cannot survive without widespread public support and donations to carry out its mission of increasing the number of public domain and licensed works that can be freely distributed in machine-readable form accessible by the widest array of equipment including outdated equipment. Many small donations ($1 to $5,000) are particularly important to maintaining tax exempt status with the IRS.

The Foundation is committed to complying with the laws regulating charities and charitable donations in all 50 states of the United States. Compliance requirements are not uniform and it takes a considerable effort, much paperwork and many fees to meet and keep up with these requirements. We do not solicit donations in locations where we have not received written confirmation of compliance. To SEND DONATIONS or determine the status of compliance for any particular state visit www.gutenberg.org/donate.

While we cannot and do not solicit contributions from states where we have not met the solicitation requirements, we know of no prohibition against accepting unsolicited donations from donors in such states who approach us with offers to donate.

International donations are gratefully accepted, but we cannot make any statements concerning tax treatment of donations received from outside the United States. U.S. laws alone swamp our small staff.

Please check the Project Gutenberg web pages for current donation methods and addresses. Donations are accepted in a number of other ways including checks, online payments and credit card donations. To donate, please visit: www.gutenberg.org/donate.

Section 5. General Information About Project Gutenberg electronic works

Professor Michael S. Hart was the originator of the Project Gutenberg concept of a library of electronic works that could be freely shared with anyone. For forty years, he produced and distributed Project Gutenberg eBooks with only a loose network of volunteer support.

Project Gutenberg eBooks are often created from several printed editions, all of which are confirmed as not protected by copyright in the U.S. unless a copyright notice is included. Thus, we do not necessarily keep eBooks in compliance with any particular paper edition.

Most people start at our website which has the main PG search facility:
www.gutenberg.org.

This website includes information about Project Gutenberg, including how to make donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation, how to help produce our new eBooks, and how to subscribe to our email newsletter to hear about new eBooks.
