PREFACE

This little book has been prepared for the use of English-speaking students who wish to get a practical knowledge of the Portuguese language. The plan of Professor Edgren's Brief Spanish Grammar has been followed, in many respects almost literally. Many Portuguese grammars have been consulted, but the ones most freely drawn from are the thirteenth edition of João Ribeiro's Grammatica Portuguesa, published at Rio de Janeiro in 1907, and the twenty-sixth edition of the Nova Grammatica Portuguesa by Bento José de Oliveira, published at Coimbra in 1904.

It is not claimed that there is much that is new or original in the work. The author has simply endeavored to follow the best Portuguese grammarians, and his own observations and experience with the language, in an effort to make it readily accessible to English-speaking students and in as compact a form as possible. It has been kept in mind that such a work, in order to be useful, must keep practical points in view even at the expense of the erudite and more scholarly features of the language. The book is purely elementary; those who require a thorough knowledge of the philologic and philosophic features of the tongue should consult the more pretentious works.

Near the end of the volume a few short examples are quoted from several of the best Portuguese authors. These examples are taken partly from Brazilian and partly from Portuguese writers.

It may be well to say here that the idea one often hears expressed to the effect that the Portuguese of Brazil is not good Portuguese is altogether erroneous. It is true that one hears purely local terms and expressions in various parts of Brazil,^[1] but so he does in Portugal and, for that matter, in all languages and in every other part of the world. The language used by the educated Brazilians is just as correct in the main as that used by the educated Portuguese. The difference between the Portuguese spoken in Brazil and that spoken in Portugal is similar to the difference between the English of North America and the English of England—one about which the foreigner need not seriously concern himself.

Portuguese is a remarkably phonetic language, and one accustomed to the difficulties of the English, or even of the French, must be impressed with the comparative simplicity of its spelling. Examples of the chief orthographic difficulties are given at paragraph 13, pages 21-22. Those who are interested in this subject should consult the scholarly work of A. R. Gonçalves Viana entitled Ortografia Nacional, published at Lisbon in 1904. Of late years there has been some agitation in favor of orthographic reform, and the Brazilian Academy promulgated in 1907 certain rules which, if followed, would still further tend to simplify spelling. These rules, however, do not appear to have been taken seriously as yet. The Brazilian scholar who has given most careful and most practical attention to this matter of Portuguese spelling is Professor M. Said Ali, of Rio de Janeiro. He has published a Vocabulario orthographico in which rules for greater simplicity are laid down, and the words about which there is any question are all given. The spelling given by Professor Said Ali has been followed in the present work. In cases where two spellings have been or are used, cross-references are made in the vocabulary.

The chief object of this book is to encourage and facilitate the study of the Portuguese language and literature by English-speaking people. It is not a little remarkable that the language has not been cultivated more by English and American scholars.^[2] It is generally regarded as the most Latin of all the Latin tongues, and it certainly is a virile one, and has a “classic solemnity that distinguishes it from all other living languages.”^[3] In addition, the literary, historical, and philological treasures of the Portuguese commend it to the thoughtful attention of scholars the world over, while the increasing commercial importance of Portuguese-speaking nations entitle it to respectful consideration and study for commercial, political, and diplomatic reasons.

For many corrections and valuable suggestions the author gratefully acknowledges his indebtedness to the able Brazilian historian, Capistrano de Abreu, and to the distinguished grammarian, Professor Said Ali, who have kindly read the manuscript. For any errors, oversights, or other shortcomings of the work, however, these gentlemen are in no way responsible.

J. C. BRANNER.

[2] Sir Richard Burton makes this comprehensive remark about the popular Anglo-Saxon idea of the Portuguese: “As a rule we dislike the language because it is nasal, and we have a deep-rooted and most ignorant idea that Portuguese, the most Latin of all the neo-Latin tongues, is a ‘bastard dialect of Spanish.’” (Burton’s Highlands of Brazil, I, 15.)

PORTUGUESE GRAMMAR

THE PORTUGUESE LANGUAGE

The Portuguese language^[4] was evolved principally from the popular Latin spoken in the Portuguese part of the Spanish peninsula after the Roman conquest in the second century before Christ. Only a few words of the former Celtic dialects spoken there were preserved in the later Portuguese. The subsequent Gothic invasion also introduced a few words of Germanic origin, while the religious life of the people led to the introduction of certain words of Greek origin.

In the eighth century the Moors invaded the Spanish peninsula, and for several hundred years occupied portions of that region. This long contact of the Moors with the inhabitants of Portugal naturally resulted in the introduction into the Portuguese language of a good many words of Semitic origin; most of these words have as a prefix the Arabian article al, such as algodão, cotton; alfinete, pin. It was during the long Gothic and Arabian occupancy that the Latin spoken in western Spain appears to have gradually taken on the form of a distinct language that was spoken the whole length of the region now known as Portugal.

The oldest-known documents in the Portuguese language date from the last quarter of the twelfth century—about the time the Portuguese monarchy was founded. It was only in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries, however, that it became a literary language, and took on permanent form.

A few words were introduced from the French and others from the Provençal, while translations from the Latin introduced many words and idioms from that language, partly, it is supposed, through the pedantry of the translators. The Spanish language, on account of its literary vogue, and on account of the proximity of its people and the similarity of the two tongues, necessarily reacted upon the Portuguese. This vogue was so marked that during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries many Portuguese authors wrote in Spanish. The explorations of the Portuguese navigators into the newly discovered parts of the world led to the importation of some foreign words, and, at the same time, carried colonists and established the language in Asia, Africa, and South America.

In the sixteenth century the first Portuguese grammars were published by Fernão de Oliveira and João de Barros, and these works materially helped to fix the language.

It is said that of the living languages of Latin origin the Portuguese most closely resembles the Latin. This is due to the fact that Portugal, on account of its geographic position, has not been affected by contact with the rest of the world so much as Italy, France, and Spain.

In recent years, however, the increased facilities for international communication, the demands of commerce and the requirements of various enterprises and technical industries, and the spread of interest in certain sports have caused the introduction of words from various foreign tongues. In many cases the foreign words themselves have been adopted but in others the words have been more or less modified.

I. SOUNDS AND ACCENTS

ALPHABET

1. The Portuguese alphabet is the same as the English except that it contains no w.

Following are the Portuguese names of the letters together with their approximate pronunciations.

LETTERS	PORTUGUESE NAMES	PRONUNCIATIONS WITH ENGLISH VALUES
a	a	ah
b	be	bay (short) ^[5]
c	ce	say (short) ^[5]
d	de	day (short) ^[5]
e	é	ay (as ea in health)
f	effe or fê	éffe or fay
g	ge or ji	hjay (hj = French j) ^[5]
h	agá	agáh
i	i	ee
j	jóta	hjóta (hj = French j) or zh
k	ka	kah
l	elle or lê	élle ^[6] or lay
m	emme or mê	émme ^[6] or may
n	enne or nê	énne ^[6] or nay

o	ó	o (as in nor)
p	pe	pay (short) ^[5]
q	que	kay (short) ^[5]
r	erre or rê	érre ^[6] or ray
s	esse or si	ésse ^[6] or see
t	te	tay (short) ^[5]
u	u	oo (as in poor)
v	ve	vay (short) ^[5]
x	xiz or xê	shiz or shay
y	ypsilon	ypsilon
z	ze	zay (short) ^[5]

NOTE.—The letter w is only used in the foreign words in which it occurs. It is called doubleú, very much as in English.

PRONUNCIATION

2. Vowels.—For the most part the vowels are pronounced separately, so that each one forms a syllable. The only exceptions to this rule are the nasal diphthongs.

The sounds of the vowels are characterized as long, short, open, close, and nasal.

SOUNDS OF THE VOWELS

PHONETIC VALUES		APPROXIMATING THE ENGLISH	EXAMPLES
a	long	a in farther	sofá

short	u in but	boca, festa
nasal		manso

The a-sounds differ in quantity rather than quality.

e open	ea in health	café (so accented)
close	a in table	sello (sometimes accented, as mercê)
short (or mute) ^[7]	e in winter	caracter
nasal	ai in paint	pente ^[8]
i long	ee in bee	frío
short	i in it	quási
nasal	i in pin	injusto
o open	o in not	pó (so accented)
close	o in note	boa, avô (so accented)
short (or mute) ^[9]	o in block	locação, cravo
nasal	o in long	pómpa
u long	ue in blue	perú
short	oo in boot (only shorter)	tríbu
nasal	oo in room	túmba

u is silent when preceded by q and followed by e or i: aqui (pr. akee).

y is pronounced ee as if it were i long; it is nasal when followed by m, as tympano. Y is much used in Brazil in words of Tupy origin, as Ivahy, Apody.

3. Diphthongs.—It is customary to regard as pure diphthongs such vowel combinations as ae in pae, ai in vai, au in pau, ei in lei, eo in deo, eu in breu, oe in heroe, iu in viu, oi in boi, ui in fui. It is to be noted, however, that these combinations are pronounced, not as single sounds, but as if the letters were sounded separately yet with a slight abbreviation from the full values of the separate vowels.

The true diphthongs are known in Portuguese as the nasal diphthongs. These are ãe as in mãe, ão as in mão, õe as in põe, ũi as in muíto. (Muito, however, is a unique case.)

4. Nasal Sounds.—There are nasal sounds for most of the vowels. These are indicated either by the nasal diphthongs or by the single vowels followed by m or n, as tão or tam, bem, sim, bom, um. These words are pronounced as if they ended with an English ng in which the g is not heard. Tão is pronounced nearly as if written towng with the ng sound omitted or cut short. Bem is pronounced as if written beng, but without the g being sounded; um as if written oong but omitting the g sound.

All syllables ending in em, en, im, in, õ, om, on, um, and un have the nasal sound whether at the end of a word or followed by a consonant.

5. Consonants.—The consonants not mentioned here are pronounced as in English.

b is silent in subdito, subject (pronounced as if written súdito), and in subjeitar, an old form of sujeitar.

ç with the cedilla (cedilha) is soft as in French. The cedilla is used to soften the sound of c before a, o, and u: calças (pr. as if written cálsas).

c is silent when followed by t or c: activo (pr. as if written ativo), acção (pr. as ação). Except convicto, pacto, fricção, convicção.

ch has the sound of sh in she: chá (pr. as if written shah); before consonants and in words of Greek origin it has the sound of k: Christo (pr. as Krísto).

g is hard before a, o, and u in all cases; before e, i, and y it has the sound of the French j: gelo (pr. as if written hjelo).

When g would ordinarily precede e or i, u is added before those vowels in order to give or preserve the hard sound: entregar, to deliver, has entregue for the past participle, thus preserving the hard g sound.

g when followed by n is silent: in the words signal (as if sinal) and signalar and words beginning with assign: as assignar, assignatura.

h has no sound of its own in Portuguese; it is not a letter, properly speaking, but an etymological mark or sign. It has a value, however, in connection with c, l, n, and p, which see.

j is pronounced as in French, like g in midge.

lh is pronounced like lli in million. In writing and printing these two letters belong to the syllable whose vowel follows and must be kept together. The syllables of cordilheira are cor-di-lhei-ra; of filha they are fi-lha.

m at the end of a word or syllable is nasal. Bem is pronounced as if spelled beng, but without the final g-sound; bemdito (pr. bengdeeto, but with the g silent).

In some words the m is apparently silent on account of the nasal sound: damno (pr. as if written dánno).

n never ends a word in Portuguese except irman, sister, iman, magnet, hyphen, colon, and certain antiquated forms like christan for christã;^[10] when it precedes final s it is nasal.

nh is sounded like ni in union, that is like the Spanish ñ, the Italian gn, or the French gn: banho, bath, lenha, firewood. In syllabication these two letters, when so pronounced, always belong with the vowel that follows them: lenha is divided le-nha.

There are a few words, however, which are compounded of the prefix an or in, in which the nh is not so pronounced or written: such as anhydro, inhabil, inhalar, inhibir, inhumano.

p is silent before t: prompto (pr. as if spelled prónto); escripto (pr. as if written escríto). Except that the p is pronounced in captar, raptar, optar, repto, and mentecapto. In exempção also the p is silent (pr. izensão).

q is always followed by u, and always has the sound of k. Qu varies somewhat: before a and o the u is sounded, as quando (pr. kwándo); but before e and i the u is used with the q only for the purpose of producing or preserving the k sound and is therefore not heard: quer (pr. ker); aqui (pr. akee).

EXCEPTIONS: the u is sounded in consequencia, frequente, equestre, antiquíssimo. It is also allowable to sound the u in questão.

r has two sounds: when it begins a word, or is double, it is rolled as in French or Spanish: río, érro; in other positions it is pronounced by striking the tongue lightly against the roof of the mouth almost as if pronouncing the letter d: arara (pr. nearly as if spelled adada but with the d approaching the English r-sound). Except: that the single r is rolled after l, m, n, s: honrar, tenro, genro, Henrique, melro, chilrar.

s has the soft or hissing s-sound, and that of soft z. It has the z-sound when it stands between vowels: rosa, casa (pr. as if spelled róza, cáza). Except in cases of compound words where it has the s-sound.

It has the soft s-sound in most other cases.

th has the sound of t: theoria is pronounced as if written teoria.

w is used only in foreign words and should be pronounced as in the language from which those words are taken.

x has several sounds as follows:

1. like the English ks in words ending in ex, ix, and ux, fixar and its compounds and derivatives, flexão and related words such as flexibilidade and sexo, fluxo, maximo, and lexicologia (index and appendix are pronounced índes and appéndes in addition).

NOTE.—There are, however, some local differences in the pronunciation of some of these words: flexão properly pronounced fleksão, in Bahia is pronounced flechão.

2. like s when followed by c, t, or p: extenso, excepto (pr. as if esténso, escépto).

3. like z when preceded by e and followed by a vowel or by h and a vowel: exemplo (pr. ezémplo); exercito (pr. ezército); exhausto (pr. ezausto).

4. It is like ss or ç in trouxe, anxiedade, syntaxe, defluxo.

5. At the beginning of words, and in places other than those mentioned above, it is pronounced like the English sh; most cases fall under this rule: xarope (pr. as if sharópe); exministro (pr. as if written eijminístro); baixo (pr. báisho); lixo (pr. leesho).

DIALECTICAL

6. In certain parts of Portugal one hears many pronunciations that are purely dialectical. In Minho for example the people generally say binho instead of vinho, wine, and sordado instead of soldado, soldier. In Traz-os-Montes they say tchapeo for chapeo, hat, tchave for chave, key, djente for gente, folks; the caipiras or backwoodsmen of the state of São Paulo in Brazil have a similar pronunciation which was probably introduced from Portugal.^[11] See the example quoted in the exercise at page 166.

In Portugal as a rule the quantity of the short syllables is perceptibly shorter than in Brazil. Sobrado, perigo, and pessoa are so pronounced in full in the latter country, while in Portugal they are commonly pronounced s'brado, p'rigo, and p'ssoa. The d is pronounced in Brazil nearly as it is in the English language, but in Portugal it frequently has a strong resemblance to the English th in these, so that desde in Portugal sounds very like thézthy, and dedo, like dáytho, the th being soft like that in though.

7. Slang.—Like other languages Portuguese has its slang words or expressions; such words and expressions are called calão, gíria, or geringónça. Some of them are not Portuguese but simply fantastic expressions; for the most part, however, they are the ordinary words of the language used in some figurative or special sense. For example, estar na bagagem literally means to be in the baggage, but it is a slang expression used in regard to a person who is behindhand, or who is a slow coach. Mandachuva, one who orders the rain, is slang equivalent to the American expression political boss.^[12]

ACCENT MARKS

8. The cedilla is used with c to show that that letter has the soft c sound.

The tilde (~) is used to show that the vowel over which it is placed is a nasal. It is only used over a and o.

The acute accent (´) and the circumflex (^) are used:

1. To show the position of the tonic accent, especially in homonyms where there is a chance of mistaking one word for another, as esta, this, and está, it is; séria, serious, and sería, would be.

2. To indicate contractions: em relação á (for a a) idéa, with regard to the idea.

NOTE.—The omission of the accent sometimes entirely changes the meaning of a sentence; for example, matar a sede means to quench one's thirst, while matar á sede means to kill with thirst. In the second sentence the á is a contraction of the preposition a, by or with, and the article a, the.

3. To indicate what are called open (´) and close (^) sounds of the vowels e and o: café, mercê, paletó, avô.

TONE ACCENT

(See Exercise III, page 121)

9. Tone accent is a matter of so much importance in Portuguese that it is often quite impossible to understand the spoken language when the accents are improperly placed. Take as an illustration the word sabia: the accent may make it sábia, a learned woman, sabía, I knew or he knew, or sabiá, the Brazilian robin.

This kind of a case is not exceptional. In speaking the language, therefore, it is of the utmost importance that the accent be properly placed.

The tone accent always falls on one of the last three syllables. There is an apparent exception to this rule in the enclitic monosyllables which are joined to certain other words, as digo-lhe, I tell you; gosta-lo, to like it. In these instances the addition of this enclitic does not change the position of the accent even when it falls on the syllable preceding the antepenult. Example: fála-se-lhes.

a. There are no short and compact rules for guidance in the placing of the tone accent, and to almost every rule formulated there are many exceptions. The greatest number of words have it on the penult; fewest have it on the antepenult. The following suggestions may be found useful. For the accents of verbs see the models at § 107, pages 72-75.

b. The following words take the accent on the final syllable:

1. Those ending in the nasal diphthongs:

ão, ^[13] except bénção, frángão, órfão, and órgão;

ãos;

ães;

ões.

2. Words ending in

i, except álcali, espermacéti, quísi;

l, except words of Latin origin ending in ilis, as dócil, fácil, hábil, útil, and those ending in vel: amável,

agradável, crível, nível;

im;

r, except assúcar, cadáver, câncer, caráter, éther, júnior, mártir, néctar, súlphur, and a few foreign words like repórter and revólver;

u, except tribú;

y, except júry, tílbury;

z.

c. The following have the accent on the penult:

1. Erudite forms from the Greek ending in ia: as democrácia, geología, philosophía, autopsía,^[14] etc. Except the following which take it on the antepenult: comédia, polícia, encyclopédia, geodésia, estratégia, necromância, farmácia.

2. Words ending as follows:^[15]

-uo	melifluo, exc. amúo
-uria	penuria
-usculo	maiusculo

e. There is a natural tendency in Portuguese to avoid placing the accent as far back as the antepenult; so much so that words thus accented are called esdrúxulos, a word of Italian origin (sdrúcciolo, slippery) which is used figuratively in Portuguese to mean odd, strange, extravagant. The esdrúxulos are few in number and are nearly all erudite forms.

QUANTITY

10. The tonic or accented vowels are always long; the atonic or unaccented ones are generally short: útil, agradável.^[16]

SYLLABICATION

(See Exercise IV, page 123)

11. In syllabication,

a. Diphthongs cannot be separated.

b. Monosyllables cannot be divided.

c. The consonant combinations lh, nh, rh, and ph cannot be separated from each other or from the following vowels with which they form syllables: ma-nhã, ba-ta-lha, phi-lo-so-phí-a.

d. A consonant between vowels belongs with the second one: na-ríz, bár-ba-ro.

e. G and q followed by u remain with the vowel that follows: guin-das-te, qual-quer.

f. Double consonants are separated: bel-lo, af-fli-cto.

g. Mute letters, c in ch, t in th, g in gn, t in ct, t in pt, go with the following vowel: ar-chi-tec-tu-ra, pan-the-is-mo, si-gnal, fru-cto, ca-pti-vo, ex-em-pto.

h. In nasal syllables m and n generally belong with the preceding vowel: bem-di-to, man-so, dan-sar.

i. But when m is followed by n both of these letters belong with the following vowel: so-mno, da-mno.

j. Compound words are divided according to their elements: sub-stan-ti-vo.

CAPITAL LETTERS

12. The rules for capitals are the same in general as in English; except that adjectives derived from proper names and eu, I, are not written with capitals save for some other reason such as at the beginning of a sentence: francez, French; inglez, English. This rule is not invariable, however, and one sees the proper adjectives sometimes with the capital and sometimes without. The use of the capital in such cases is regarded by some authors as more strictly the Portuguese custom.

In addressing persons as Senhor, Senhora, Vossa Senhoria, Vossa Santidade, etc., it is the custom to begin these words with capitals. But capitals are not used when a person is referred to without the name, as o sr. engenheiro tomou conta da estrada.

ORTHOGRAPHY

13. Portuguese orthography is remarkably phonetic, and after a little practise one can usually spell correctly words heard for the first time. The etymology of the words, however, is not lost sight of, though some writers adhere more closely to the etymology while others tend toward phonetic simplification.

The only exceptions to the phonetic writing of vowel sounds are:

1. That unaccented o is generally pronounced like u short, as bonito (pr. as if bonítu).

2. Unaccented e is often pronounced like i short, as doce (pr. as if dóci).

a. The following will serve as examples of words spelled in different ways. For present purposes either spelling may be regarded as correct.

ETYMOLOGICAL SPELLING	PHONETIC SPELLING	MEANING
apprender	aprender	to learn
aproximar	aproximar	to approach
charidade	caridade	charity
commigo	comigo	with me
dicto	dito	said
edade	idade	age
egreja	igreja	church
eschola	escola	school
escripto	escrito	written
logar	lugar	place

There are also many antiquated forms found in old books such as:

he for é	is
hum, huma for um, uma	a or one
sam for são	are

b. It is to be expected that the spelling of the present day should differ considerably from that of the sixteenth century, but aside from these differences one finds certain variations (called syncretic forms) that often puzzle the beginner. These come chiefly from the equivalence of the diphthongs ou and oi. The following is a list of the most common syncretic forms. Either form is allowable.

LIST OF COMMON SYNCRETIC FORMS

açoute	açoite	whip-lash
cousa	coisa	thing
couro	coiro	leather
doudo	doido	crazy
dous	dois	two
lousa	loisa	paving slate
mouta	moita	coppice
noute	noite	night
ouro	oiro	gold
thesouro	thesoiro	treasure
vindouro	vindoiro	future

c. On the whole the tendency is toward the phonetic spelling, a tendency that has lately received much fresh impulse. These variations, however, are not to be regarded as license to spell words in any way.^[17]

FOOTNOTES:

[5] In these words the ay is not drawn out; for example the day has the sound of day in Friday.

[6] These words take the tonic accent on the first syllable; the final e is short.

[7] Unaccented e at the beginning or end of a word and before s and a has the phonetic value of i short: bréve = brevi; estúma = istúma; egual = igual; veádo = viádo; leão = lião.

[8] The e is nasal when followed by n, as in desenho, tenha, bens; it also sounds as if written ei when followed by j, as desejo, igreja, seja, veja, etc., which are pronounced as if written deseijo, etc.

[10] It has lately been proposed in favor of orthographical reform that short final syllables now ending in ã shall be written an, as iman, firman, orphan, and the long ones shall end with the ã, as irmã, manhã, and allemã.

[11] Julio Ribeiro, Grammatica Portuguesa, 9-10.

[12] A giria Brasileira, "Brazilian Slang," is the title of an interesting little book published at Bahia in 1899 by an able Brazilian scholar.

[13] It was formerly the custom to write the final syllable of the third person plural of the first conjugation ão, thus ámão, amávão, amarão, amarião. In these cases the accent does not fall on the final ão except in the future amarão. It is now the custom to end these words in am, reserving the ão, for the future which is accented according to the rule.

[14] In Rio de Janeiro they say autópsia.

[15] This list might be extended, but the exceptions become too numerous for convenience.

[16] Professor Said Ali kindly adds the following important note regarding this rule: When the tonic vowel is followed by c, f, p, rr, ss, or t, it is short. Compare bote, bode; mato, medo; faca, vaga.

[17] The most comprehensive study of modern Portuguese orthography is Ortografia nacional, simplificação e uniformização sistemática das ortografias portuguesas. Por A. R. Gonçalves Viana. Lisboa, 1904.

II. ARTICLES

DEFINITE ARTICLE

(See Exercise V, page 125)

14. The definite article has gender and number to agree with its noun.

	MASCULINE	FEMININE	ENGLISH
Singular	o	a	the
Plural	os	as	the

The Spanish form of the definite article is used in two instances: El-Rei, the King, and Eldorado.

15. Contractions.—The articles combine with certain prepositions as follows:

a. a, to, combines with the different forms of the article making ao, á, aos and ás, to the.

b. de, of, combines with them forming do, da, dos, and das, of the.

c. em, in, combines with them to form no, na, nos, and nas, in the (instead of em o, em a, etc.).

d. per, by, combines with them forming pelo, pela, pelos, and pelas, by the. Polo and pola are antiquated forms.

USE OF THE DEFINITE ARTICLE WITH PREPOSITIONS

Singular		Plural
MASC.	FEM.	MASC.	FEM.
a	to	ao	á	aos	ás	to the

de	of	do	da	dos	das	of the em	in	no	na	nos	nas	in the per	by	pelo	pela	pelos	pelas	by the

16. Syntax of the Definite Article.—The definite article is used as a determinative: o menino, the boy; o bom, the good.

It is used before certain proper geographical names, especially those of rivers, mountains, seas, etc.: a França, France; o Téjo, the Tagus; o Andes, the Andes; o Atlantico, the Atlantic.

In Brazil this rule is not universally followed. The names of the states of Parahyba and Bahia are used with the feminine article, while the article is not generally used with the names of the states of Pernambuco, Alagôas, Sergipe, São Paulo, Santa Catherina, Minas Geraes, and Mato Grosso.

It is used familiarly before the names of persons: onde está o João? where is John?; o Guimarães chegou, Guimarães has come.

It is used before pronouns and possessive adjectives: o meu chapeo, my hat; a tua vontade, thy will. In this case the article may be omitted in familiar style. It is also omitted in speaking of one's kin, as meu pai, my father, not o meu pai, unless emphasis is required, when it is used.

It is inserted before nouns used in a general sense where in general, all, every may be understood: o ouro é mais precioso que a prata, gold is more precious than silver.

It is used to indicate time and season: às duas horas, at two o'clock; no inverno, in winter.

It is used before nouns of weight and measure: dois milreis o kilo, o metro, two milreis a kilo, a meter.

It is used before the names of languages: estudando o portuguez, studying Portuguese; entendo o francez, I understand French.

It is used after verbs denoting possession: estou com as mãos sujas, my hands are soiled; tem os olhos pretos, he (or she) has black eyes.

It is used after todo in both numbers: todo o homem é mortal or todos os homens são mortaes, all men are mortal.

It is used before certain titles: O Senhor Costa, O Coronel Sampaio.

It is omitted before the titles Sua Majestade, His Majesty; Vossa Alteza, Your Highness; Vossa Senhoria.

It is omitted before numerals used as titles: Carlos quinto, Charles the fifth.

It is omitted with appositional nouns: é filho do Coronel, he is the son of the colonel.

(For demonstrative pronouns having the same forms as the definite articles see § 65c. and § 87.)

INDEFINITE ARTICLE

(See Exercise VI, page 126)

17. The indefinite article has gender and number to agree with its noun.

	MASCULINE	FEMININE	ENGLISH
Singular	um	uma	a, an ^[18]
Plural	uns	umas	some

18. Contractions.—The indefinite article combines with em in forming num, numa, nuns, and numas (in place of em um, etc.).

It also combines with de, of, forming dum, though this is generally written d'um.

The old form of the indefinite article was hum, huma, etc. The indefinite article has a negative form nenhum, none, which still retains the h that one often sees in the old forms.

a. Syntax of the Indefinite Article.—The indefinite article always precedes its noun or its substantive adjective, as uma pessoa, a person; um desconhecido, an unknown person.

b. The indefinite article is omitted:

1. Before predicative nouns denoting what a person is: seu amigo é general, his friend is a general; elle assentou praça, he enlisted.

2. After verbs of possession or denoting condition: estou com fome, I am hungry; tenho bom apetite, I have a good appetite.

3. After various indefinites, outro, tal, certo, tanto, semelhante, etc.: tal dia, tal noite, such a day, such a night; foi sem dizer palavra, he went without saying a word.

4. After an exclamatory que: que bella noite, what a fine night.

FOOTNOTES:

[18] The indefinite article um, uma, should not be confused with the cardinal number which has the same form in the singular (see page 50) but has no plural.

III. NOUNS

INFLECTION

19. Portuguese nouns have no case forms; they distinguish in form only between singular and plural.

PLURAL FORMATION

20. The plural is formed by adding s to the singular: amigo, friend, pl. amigos; casa, house, pl. casas.

To this rule there are the following exceptions:

1. Final m changes to n before the final s: homem, man, pl. homens.
2. Final ix and ex change to ice before the final s: index, pl. indices; appendix, pl. appendices.
3. Final r and z add e before the final s: mar, sea, pl. mares; cruz, cross, pl. cruzes.
4. Final al, ol, and ul are changed to aes, oes, and ues: sal, salt, pl. saes; dedal, thimble, pl. dedaes; anzol, fish-hook, pl. anzoes; paul, swamp, pl. paues.

Except that consul, mal, cal, real (money) have for plurals consules, males, cales, and reis.

5. Final el is changed to eis: papel, paper, pl. papeis; anel, ring, pl. anneis. Mel, honey, becomes either meis or meles.

6. Final il, when the word has the acute accent, is changed to is: barril, barrel, pl. barris; funil, funnel, pl. funis.

When, however, the word has the grave accent the final il is changed to eis: dócil, docile, pl. doceis; fóssil, fossil, pl. fósseis.

a. Nouns ending in ão form the plural in three ways:

1. Most nouns ending in ão change ão to ões: acção, acções.

2. A few add s to the singular: these are mão, irmão, pagão, orfão, orgão, sotão, temporão, vão, zangão.

3. A few others change ão to ães: escrivão, notary, pl. escrivães. These are alemão, cão, capellão, capitão, catalão, charlatão, deão, ermitão, escrivão, guardião, pão, sacristão, tabellião.

b. Nouns ending in s have the same form in the plural: o pires, os pires, the saucers; o caes, os caes, the quays. Except Deus, cos, and simples (drug) become deuses, coses, simplices.

c. When the accent of a word ending in ão is grave, the plural is always in ãos: órgão, organ, pl. orgãos; and similarly benção, blessing; accordão, sentence of a court; sotão, attic.

21. Plurals Only.—Many nouns are used only in the plural. Such are algemas, fetters

alviças, rewards

annaes, annals

arredores, environs

calças, trousers

calendas, calends

ceroulas, drawers

confins, confines

completas, complin

exequias, funeral rites

expensas, costs

ferias, holidays

manes, shades

matinas, matins

nonas, nones

nupcias, nuptials

trevas, darkness

viveres, provisions

22. Compound Words.—Compound words generally have the plural form for the final word when one of the components has an adverbial sense: salvo-conducto, pl. salvo-conductos; linguas neo-latinas, neo-Latin languages; jornaes luso-brasileiros, Portuguese-Brazilian journals; guarda-sol, sunshade, pl. guarda-soes; contra-veneno, antidote, pl. contra-venenos.

a. Compound words take the plural in both parts when they both represent functions belonging to the noun: surdo-mudo, deaf-mute, pl. surdos-mudos.

b. As in English some nouns are plural but are used only in a singular sense: Montes Claros fica na planicie, Montes Claros is on the plain.

Compound words united by de usually take the plural in the first part only: flor-de-lis, pl. flores-de-lis.

c. Plural nouns that take the article, however, are used in the plural: os Alpes ficam na Suissa, the Alps are in Switzerland; os Estados Unidos fizeram guerra, the United States made war.

23. Varied Meanings.—Some names change their meaning with the change of number. These correspond to similar changes that take place in the English language as illustrated by the words iron and irons, liberty and liberties.

SINGULAR	MEANING	PLURAL	MEANING
bem	well, good	bens	property
côrte	court	côrtes	congress, tribunals
dote	dowery	dotes	accomplishments
ferro	iron	ferros	shackles
filho	son	filhos	children (or sons)
honra	honor	honras	solemnities
letra	letter	letras	literature
liberdade	liberty	liberdades	impertinence
molhado	wet	molhados	groceries
pai	father	pais	parents
parte	part	partes	parties (judicial)

secco	dry	seccos	dry-goods
zelo	zeal	zelos	jealousy

GENDER OF NOUNS

(See Exercise VIII, page 128)

24. Gender is grammatical, and all nouns are either masculine or feminine. ^[19]

The gender of words is sometimes determined by meaning and at other times by termination.

There are no rules covering all cases, and there are many exceptions to those given below.

25. Masculine.—The following are masculine:

1. Nouns denoting males and their offices and occupations: o homem, the man; o cavallo, the horse; juiz, judge; pai, father.

NOTE.—In the names of animals having two genders the masculine form is generally used to designate the species: o lobo, the wolf.

2. Nouns not implying sex distinction and ending in á (a with acute accent) sofá, tafetá, chá (except a pá, shovel or spade).

é (except chaminé, fé, galé, maré, ré, sé).

i (except lei, law, grei, flock).

o (short or mute). This does not refer to the ending ão.

ó (accented o) for the most part. The following, however, are feminine: enxó, adz; mó, millstone; avó, grandmother; filhó, cake; ilhó, eyelet.

m (except ordem, order, and those ending in gem).

r (except colher, spoon; côr, color; dôr, pain; flôr, flower).

s (except those used only in the plural and ending in as: andas, arrhas, cocegas, and a few in es: preces, ephemerides).

3. Nouns ending in ote and ume are generally masculine.

Examples: dote, chicote, lume, costume, betume.

4. Infinitive verbs are masculine when used as substantives: o andar do cavallo, the gait of the horse.

5. Masculine are the names of seas, rivers, lakes, and mountains, of the letters of the alphabet, of the numbers, the months, the points of the compass, and the notes in music.

26. Feminine.—The following are feminine:

a. Nouns denoting females and their names and occupations: a vacca, the cow, mãe, mother, costureira, seamstress, rainha, queen.

b. NOTE.—In cases of sex distinction there are generally two forms, as moço, young man, moça, young woman, poeta, poet, poetisa, poetess. There are, however, some words which have the same form for both genders, such as martyr, jovem, and tigre, which may be either masculine or feminine.

c. In some cases there is no masculine form of a noun: rã, frog, abelha, bee, formiga, ant, aguia, eagle, onça, panther, cobra, snake, truta, trout, mosca, fly. When it becomes necessary in such cases to indicate sex, it is done by use of the word macho, male, or femea, female; o salmão macho, the male salmon, or a onça femea, the female panther; o corvo macho, the male crow.

d. Nouns not implying sex distinction ending in:

a or ã. Except dia, day, mappa, map, and words from the Greek ending in ma: aroma, clima, climate, diploma, dogma, emblema, idioma, poema, thema, problema, symptoma, epigramma.

ude, as virtude. Except alaude, ataude, açude, almude, grude.

gem. Except pagem, page, and selvagem, savage, which may be of either gender.

27. Common Terminations.—The following terminations are common to both genders: Words ending in az Masc. alcatraz, ananaz, anthraz, cabaz, cartaz, gaz, lilaz, rapaz.

Fem. paz, tenaz.

ez Masc. arnez, convez, freguez, jaez, mez, pez, revez, xadréz.

Fem. altivez, honradez, fez, mudez, pequenhez, rapidez, redondez, rez, solidez, surdez, tez, timidez, torquez, vez.

iz Masc. almofariz, giz, matiz, nariz, paiz, pleuriz, tapiz, verniz.

Fem. buíz, cerviz, cicatriz, codorniz, matriz, perdiz, raiz, sobrepelliz.

oz Masc. albernoz, algoz, aljaroz, arroz, cadoz, coz, retroz.

Fem. foz, noz, voz.

uz Masc. alcaçuz, alcatruz, arcabuz, capuz, cuzcuz, lapuz, obuz.

Fem. cruz, luz.

e Masc. broche, café, carcere, codice, corte, dente, epitome, tapete, traquete, valle, vertice.

Fem. arte, ave, chave, corte, crise, fé, fome, libré, lide, nave, neve, ponte, ralé, rede, saude, sé, sebe, sede, sege, torre, torrente.

ão Masc. I. Augmentatives, even though derived from feminine original.
Examples: caixão (caixa), portão (porta), mulherão (mulher).

II. Those in ão and not derived from words of the third declension of the Latin: coração, grão, sabão, siphão, trovão.

Fem. Words so ending derived from words of the third declension in the Latin: acção, constituição, dicção, execução, feição, instituição, legião, lentidão, mansidão, multidão, opinião, rebellião, região, resolução, servidão, solidão, união. (But pão from panis and sermão from sermo are both masculine.)

28. Nouns of Opposite Sex. (See Exercise IX, page 129.)—Nouns denoting individuals of opposite sex may be either related, unrelated, or identical. They are

a. Related when the feminine form is derived from the masculine either

I. By adding a to the masculine form:

auctor, author auctora, authoress cantor, singer (male) cantora, singer (female)

inglez , Englishman	ingleza , Englishwoman
senhor , gentleman	senhora , lady

NOTE.—A few nouns in r have two feminine forms, as lavrador, lavradora, or lavradeira; cantor, cantora, or cantatriz. There is also a tendency to change final or to eira, as trabalhador, trabalhadeira.

II. By changing final o or e to a, as hospede , guest (male)	hospeda , guest (female)

mano , brother	mana , sister
mestre , teacher (male)	mestra , teacher (female)
moço , young man	moça , young woman
parente , kinsman	parenta , kinswoman

III. By changing the terminal to inha, essa, eza, neza, ola:

barão , baron	baroneza , baroness
conde , count	condessa , countess
gallo , cock	gallinha , hen
hespanhol , Spaniard	hespanhola , Spanish woman
principe , prince	princeza , princess

b. Related but irregular forms of nouns of opposite sex are the following:

MASCULINE	FEMININE
avô , grandfather	avó , grandmother
dom , sir, lord	dona , lady
frade , friar (ant. freire)	freira , nun
ladrão , thief	ladra , woman thief
perú , turkey-cock	perua , turkey-hen
rapaz , lad	rapariga , girl

rei, king

rainha, queen

réo, defendant

ré, female defendant

c. Unrelated when not derived from the same word:

boi, ox

vacca, cow

cavallo, horse

egua, mare

genro, son-in-law

nora, daughter-in-law

pai, father

mãi, mother

d. Identical when the same word may be of either gender:

camarada (m. or f.), companion.

jovem (m. or f.), a young man or young woman

guia, guide

sentinella, sentinel

29. Closely Similar Related Nouns.—The Portuguese contains many nouns that are related in form and meaning, yet distinct in sex and significance. Following are some of these words:

MASCULINE

barco

bodo

caneco

cantharo

carreiro

cerco

cesto

cevo

chuço

cimo

cinto

corno

fabrico [\[20\]](#)

folho

fosso

friso

fruto

gorro

grito

horto

jarro

lanço

lenho

madeiro

marujo

pago

poço

porto

ramo

ribeiro

rio

sacco

saio
sapato
tacho
taleigo
trilho
troco
vallo
veio

The feminine forms differ only in ending in a instead of o.

In each case these nouns contain the same fundamental idea, but the sense of the feminine form is more general, while that of the masculine is more specific. For example fruta is used for fruit in general, while fruto refers to one kind of fruit; madeiro is one kind of madeira (wood), and bago is one kind of a baga (berry).^[21]

30. Similar Unrelated Nouns.—There are other words that bear a similar resemblance to each other, but which have no genetic relations and have widely different meanings. Such are:

MASCULINE	MEANING	FEMININE	MEANING
banho	bath	banha	lard
barro	clay	barra	bar (of stream)
caso	case	casa	house
espinho	thorn	espinha	spinal column (but espinhas de peixe, fish-bones)
escolho	cliff	escolha	choice
peito	breast	peita	bribe
prato	plate	prata	silver
queixo	jaw	queixa	complaint
solo	soil	sola	sole leather

The same word sometimes occurs as a noun, adjective, or verb; in such cases the nature of the word is indicated by the context.

31. There are still other words that are spelled precisely alike, but differ from each other in gender and in meaning. Following are some of these words:

o capital	principal (money)	a capital	chief city
o crisma	ointment	a crisma	sacrament of confirmation
o cura	curate	a cura	cure
o guarda	warder	a guarda	care
o lingua	interpreter	a lingua	tongue
o lente	lecturer	a lente	lens
o sota	groom	a sota	queen (at cards)

QUALIFYING SUFFIXES

32. Suffixes are extensively and effectively used to modify and extend the meaning of nouns and adjectives, and even of verbs. In these cases the meaning of the parent word is carried over in some modified form to the new word. It should be noted, however, that these suffixes do not have, as a rule, such exact meanings as do the prefixes. Most of the suffixes are directly from the Latin, while ista, isme, ite, and izar are from the Greek. Only the more important of them can be mentioned here.

EXAMPLES

TERMINATION	ORIGINAL WORD	MEANING	WITH SUFFIX	MEANING
-ada	limão	lemon	limonada	lemonade
	marmelo	quince	marmelada ^[22]	marmalade

-agem	mulher	woman	mulherada	a lot of women
	baixo	low	baixada	low ground
	faca	knife	facada	a knife cut
	homem	man	homenagem	homage
	vassalo	vassal	vassalagem	vassalage
-al	café	coffee	cafezal	field of coffee

(The z in cafezal is for the sake of euphony.)

-ado	banana	banana	bananal	field of bananas
	milho	corn	milhoral	field of corn
	consul	consul	consulado	consulate
-cida	rei	king	regicida	king-killer
-aria	formiga	ant	formicida	ant-killer
	cavallo	horse	cavallaria	cavalry
	porco	hog	porcaria	filth
-ario ^[23]	botica	apothecary's shop	boticario	apothecary
-eiro-a ^[24]	mina	mine	mineiro	miner
	chá	tea	chaleira	teakettle (or kettle)

(The l in chaleira is for euphony.)

-ense	Brasil	Brazil	brasiliense	Brazilian
-ez	França	France	francez	French
-eza	rico	rich	riqueza	riches
	pobre	poor	pobreza	poverty
-ude	quieto (adj.)	quiet	quietude (n.)	quietude

-udo		This suffix expresses abundance or intensity, as cabeça	head	cabeçudo	big-headed, pig-headed
	beiço	lip	beiçudo	thick-lipped
-or	orar	to orate	orador	orator
	falar	to talk	falador	talker
	trabalhar	to work	trabalhador	laborer

33. Many other suffixes are so nearly like forms in English that they will be recognized, such as those ending in ficar corresponding to the English fy: clarificar, to clarify, purificar, to purify, classificar, to classify; others ending in mente corresponding to the English ending ly, as grandemente, grandly, claramente, clearly, escuramente, darkly; and in ista corresponding to the English ist, as capitalista, a capitalist, dentista, socialista, etc. Many words ending in orio correspond approximately to English words ending in ory: consistorio, repertorio. Many endings in ico correspond to the English ending ic, as artístico, simbólico; many in avel, evel, and ivel correspond to the English endings able and ible, as notavel, veneravel, indelevel, risivel, terrivel. The termination ivo often corresponds to the English ive, as instrutivo, executivo.

34. The infinitives of verbs are often used as plural nouns: dizer, to say, os dizeres, the sayings; poder, to be able, os poderes, the powers.

AUGMENTATIVES

35. Augmentatives are formed by the addition of the suffixes ão, arão, aça, anha, az, azio, and ona as here illustrated.

ORIGINAL	MEANING	AUGMENTATIVE	MEANING
casa	house	casarão	big house
monte	hill, heap	montanha	mountain
mulher	woman	mulheraça	big woman
porta	door	portão	gate
rapaz	boy	rapagão	big fellow

rato	rat	ratão	big rat
nariz	nose	narigão	big nose

a. An additional augmentative effect is produced by giving a masculine ending to a feminine noun: mulherão, an enormous woman or an amazon.

b. The augmentatives sometimes convey an idea of ridicule or irony. For example, ratão is used as a slang expression for a queer fellow.

DIMINUTIVES

(See Exercise XI, page 131)

36. Diminutives are formed by the use of the following suffixes:

SUFFIX	ORIGINAL	MEANING	DIMINUTIVE	MEANING
-inho-a	livro	book	livrinho	little book
-zinho-a	mão	hand	mãozinha	little hand
-eto-a	folha	leaf	folheto	pamphlet
-ito-a	mosca	fly	mosquito	gnat
-ote	camara	room	camarote	cabin (on ship)
-ola	fazenda	estate	fazendola	a small farm
-ulo-a	corpo	body	corpusculo	molecule
-ino-a	pequeno	small	pequenino	very small (boy)
-ete	pobre	poor	pobrete	rather poor
-ilho	cinto	belt	cintilho	hat-band
-im	camara	room	camarim	dressing room (of theater)
-ella	costa	side	costella	rib
-ejo	lugar	place	lugarejo	small town
-isco	chuva	rain	chuvisco	drizzling rain

37. A still further arbitrary diminutive effect is produced by a repetition or drawing out of the syllables of the usual diminutives, as pequenininho or pequeninozinho, very, very small.

38. Another class of diminutives includes certain proper names. These, however, do not always imply smallness, but they are used as terms of endearment or compassion and as nicknames. The names for José are: Zé, Zezé, Zéca, Zezinho, Josezinho, Zequinho, Júca, Juquinha, Jóca, Cazuzo, Zuza, Zuca, Zuzu; for Francisco are used: Chico, Chiquinho, Chichi, Francisquinho, and Francisquito; for Anna are used: Anninha, Anninhas, Annazinha, Naninha, Nicota, Annicota, Annica, Annóca, Nanóca, Anniquita, Naná, Ná, and Nazinha; for João they are Janjão, Joãozinho, Jóca, Joanninho, Noca; for Maria they are Mariquinha, Maroca, Mariasinha, Marica, Mariquita.

FOOTNOTES:

[19] Neuter Gender.—Strictly speaking there is no neuter gender in Portuguese, but certain words have been called neuter (and also common gender) by some grammarians. Such forms are the impersonal definite pronouns isso, isto, aquilo, and tudo. The cardinal numerals also have no gender except um úma, dois duas, and those compounded of cento as duzentos-as, trezentos-as.

[20] The accent in this case is also changed from fabríco to fábrica.

[21] Julio Ribeiro in his Grammatica Portuguesa, page 84, says that the feminine form of several of these words indicates always an increase of volume or size.

[22] This word has been adopted into the English language with a meaning very different from its original one which was a preparation from the quince.

[23] -ario is the erudite form of -eiro; many of the words so ending correspond to the English termination ary, as secretario, santuario, vocabulario.

[24] This ending is especially useful and is easily managed. It corresponds in part to the English ending er as illustrated in the words bank, banker, but it has a wider application in Portuguese, as for example: pedra, stone, pedreira, stone quarry, pedreiro, quarryman, and sometimes stone mason; sapato, shoe, sapateiro, shoemaker. The common names of many trees are similarly derived from the names of their fruits: pécego, peach, pecegueiro, peach-tree; coco, the coco-nut, coqueiro, the coco-palm.

IV. ADJECTIVES

(See Exercise XII, page 132)

39. The adjectives have gender, number, and degree of comparison.

a. They agree in gender and number with their nouns; mulher sensata, a sensible woman, homens velhos, old men.

b. When mesmo and proprio are used in connection with a pronoun they must agree with the noun so represented. Eu mesmo or eu mesma according as the speaker is masculine or feminine.

c. When there is more than one noun, the adjective usually agrees with the last one: desejos e virtudes puras, pure aims and (pure) virtues.

d. When the nouns have different numbers the adjective is generally plural: os soldados e o seu chefe cheios de coragem, the soldiers and their leader, full of courage.

e. There may be a plural noun with singular adjectives expressing parts as, as grammaticas portugueza, franceza e ingleza.

PLURAL

40. Adjectives form their plurals like nouns: bonito, handsome (f. bonita), pl. bonitos (f. bonitas); facil, easy, pl. faceis. (For the various plural endings see §.20.)

FEMININE

41. Adjectives have the feminine in a, or remain unchanged according to the following rules:

a. Adjectives with the masculine ending in o change that vowel to a: bello, fine, f. bella.

b. Adjectives ending in ão either drop the o: as são, f. sã, or change the ão to ona as chorão, chorona; sabichão, sabichona; valentão, valentona.

c. Adjectives ending in r (except particular, singular, and comparatives which are unchanged) add a: encantador, charming, f. encantadora.

d. Proper adjectives ending in z and l add a: francez, f. franceza, French; hespanhol, f. hespanhola, Spanish.

e. Those ending in eu change to ea: hebreu, f. hebreia, Hebrew (but judeu becomes judia and sandeu becomes sandia). Those ending in u add a: cru, f. crua; nu, f. nua.

f. Other adjectives have the same form in both genders: facil, m. f., easy; feliz, m. f., happy; azul, m. f., blue; melhor, m. f., better; cortez, m. f., courteous; prudente, m. f., prudent; ruim, m. f., bad.

g. The following, however, are irregular:

MASCULINE	FEMININE	MEANING
bom	boa	good
mau	má	bad

COMPARISON

42. The regular comparative adjectives are formed by placing mais, more, or menos, less, before the positive: escuro, dark, mais escuro, darker, or menos escuro, less dark.

43. The relative superlative is formed by placing the definite article before the comparative form: o mais escuro, the darkest.

44. The absolute superlative is derived directly from the Latin and has the termination imo. The precise formation varies according to the termination of the positive from which it is derived:

I. When the positive ends in al, il, r, or u, add issimo: natural, naturalissimo; habil, habilissimo; singular, singularissimo; cru, cruissimo.

II. When the positive ends in vel, that ending becomes bilissimo: notavel, notabilissimo.

III. When the positive ends in om or um, the m is changed to n before the final issimo: bom, bonissimo; commum, communissimo.

IV. When the positive ends in ão, that termination becomes anissimo: são, sanissimo; but christão, christianissimo.

V. When the positive ends in az, iz, oz, the final z is changed to c before the issimo: audaz, audacissimo; feliz, felicissimo; veloz, velocissimo.

VI. When the positive ends in e or o these terminations change to issimo: excelente, excelentissimo; alto, altissimo.

a. Positives ending in co and go change those letters to qu and gu before issimo in order to retain the hard sounds: rico, riquissimo; vago, vaguissimo.

b. The following are exceptional absolute superlative forms derived from Latin roots:

acre	acerrimo
amigo	amicissimo
aspero	asperrimo
celebre	celeberrimo
christão	christianissimo
cruel	crudelissimo
difficil	difficillimo
doce	dulcissimo
facil	facillimo
fiel	fidelissimo
frio	frigidissimo
livre	liberrimo
misero	miserrimo
nobre	nobilissimo

pobre	pauperrimo (coll. pobrissimo)
sabio	sapientissimo
sagrado	sacratissimo
salubre	saluberrimo
similhante	simillimo

TABLE OF COMPARISON

POSITIVE	COMPARATIVE	ABSOLUTE SUPERLATIVE	RELATIVE SUPERLATIVE
alto , high	mais alto , ^[25] higher	altissimo , highest	o mais alto , the highest grande , great	mais grande ^[26]	grandissimo	o mais grande
secco , dry	mais secco	sequissimo	o mais secco

c. In colloquial Portuguese certain superlative forms are used to strengthen an expression or statement, as mesmíssima coisa, precisely the same thing. (See § 93.) One even hears such expressions as coisíssima nenhuma, not the slightest thing, though, strictly speaking, a noun does not admit of such comparison. Portuguesíssimo is sometimes used to mean very thoroughly Portuguese.^[27]

d. The absolute superlative may also be expressed by the use of various adverbs, mui or muito, very, bastante, quite, or summamente, exceedingly.

e. The relative superlative takes de, of: o mais valente de todos, the bravest of all.

f. Comparatives of superiority or inferiority take que, de que and do que, than: mais bello do que a rosa, more beautiful than the rose. Certain other comparatives take de: ha mais de vinte annos, menos de uma legua, more than twenty years ago, less than a league.

g. The forms maior, greater, menor, smaller, peior, worse, melhor, better, are followed by que: maior que a serra, bigger than the mountain; but the forms superior, inferior, interior, and exterior take a, to, instead of que: ele é inferior a seu irmão, he is inferior to his brother.

IRREGULAR COMPARISONS

45. Several irregular adjectives derive their comparative and their absolute superlative forms directly from the Latin, but the relative superlative is formed in the usual way by placing o, the, before the comparative.

bom , good	melhor ^[28]	otimo	o melhor
mau , bad	peior ^[28]	pessimo	o peior
grande , great	maior ^[29]	maximo	o maior
alto , high	superior	supremo	o superior
baixo , low	inferior	infimo	o inferior
muito , much	mais		o mais
pequeno , small	menor ^[29]	minimo	o menor
pouco , little	menos		o menos

AUGMENTATIVE AND DIMINUTIVE ADJECTIVES

46. Augmentative and diminutive adjectives are formed like augmentative and diminutive nouns: novo, new, novinho, quite new. (For rules, see § 35, 36.) The adjectives, like the nouns, are often used as terms of endearment. Bonitinho from bonito, pretty, is often used to mean quite pretty, very pretty, or pretty little dear.

SYNTAX OF NOUNS AND ADJECTIVES

47. In general the noun precedes the adjective: homem trabalhador, a working man.

48. This order may be inverted: mau signal or signal mau, a bad sign. This inversion, however, is not arbitrary, but is determined by emphasis, the rule for which cannot be fully stated but must be acquired by observation and practise.

49. In general the adjective precedes when it denotes a quality which necessarily belongs to the noun, and when the adjective and noun might almost be regarded as a compound word.

50. The adjective follows when it denotes a quality to which especial attention is directed; but when the attention is to be directed to the noun, and the adjective is of minor importance, the adjective precedes the noun.

51. The following cases illustrate the difference in meaning due to the position of the adjective:

boa noite, good night

noite boa, a fine night

certo dia, a certain day

dia certo, a fixed day

certo relógio, a certain clock

relógio certo, a clock that keeps good time

pobre homem, poor man!

homem pobre, a man who is poor

bom anno, a prosperous year

anno bom, New Year

santa casa, a hospital

casa santa, a sacred house

nosso padre, our priest

padre nosso, the Lord's prayer

simples homem, a mere man

homem simples, a plain man grande homem, an eminent man

homem grande, a large man

a. In the cases cited the expressions are readily translatable, but in many instances the distinctions do not admit of such brief definitions. In the following cases the English translation given is inadequate and explanations are required that cannot be given briefly:

altos ceos and ceos altos, high heavens;
santos padres and padres santos, holy fathers;
primeira causa and causa primeira, first cause;
longos dias and dias longos, long days.

52. In certain cases inversions are not allowed. In the following instances, for example, the words must be in the order given as if they were compounds:

Deus padre, God the father;
estrella fixa, a fixed star;
mão direita, the right hand;
deputado federal, federal deputy (congressman); Ilustrissimo Senhor, Most illustrious Mr. —;
codigo civil, the civil code.

53. The words pouco, little, and muito, many, much, when used as adjectives usually precede their nouns: poucas cousas, a few things; ha poucos dias, a few days ago; muito barulho, much noise.

54. The adjectives hungry, thirsty, sleepy, and cold, are expressed by the use of estar com and the nouns meaning hunger, etc.: estou com fome, sede, somno, frio, I am hungry, thirsty, sleepy, cold.

FOOTNOTES:

[25] Alto has also an irregular comparative superior.

[27] A. R. Gonçalves Viana, Ortografia Nacional, page 167.

[28] The comparatives mais bom and mais mau are sometimes used, but they are falling into disuse.

[29] The expressions o mais pequeno, the smallest, and o mais alto, the highest, are also used; mais grande and mais pequeno are comparatives often used colloquially instead of maior and menor, but they are not good Portuguese.

1001	mil e um (or uma)

2000 dois (or duas) mil

1,000,000 um milhão

56. The cardinal numbers have the same form for both genders except in the cases of um, uma, one; dois, duas, two; and those ending in centos or centas.

57. The cardinal numbers are often used in place of the ordinals, especially to denote the days of the month except primeiro, the first, as: hoje é sete, to-day is the seventh; pagina vinte, page twenty; seculo dezoito for decimo oitavo seculo, the eighteenth century.

58. Except when used in place of the ordinals the cardinals always precede the noun: ha vinte dias, twenty days ago.

THE ORDINALS

59. The ordinal numbers are variously derived:

1. By the use of the suffix eiro: primeiro, first; terceiro, third.
2. From the Latin forms: segundo, second; sexto, sixth.
3. By the use of the suffix esimo:^[31] vigesimo, twentieth; centesimo, hundredth.
 - a. The ordinals have gender and number like other adjectives.
 - b. The ordinals are used either as nouns or as adjectives: um sexto, a sixth, or uma sexta parte, a sixth part. Um segundo, however, is not used for a half, nor um terceiro, for a third, when fractions are meant. (See "Fractions," § 61.)

- 1 primeiro, first
- 2 segundo, second
- 3 terceiro, third, etc.

- 90 nonagesimo

100 centesimo

60. Inflection.—Of the cardinals um, dois, and multiples of cento (duzentos, f. duzentas) are treated as adjectives.

The ordinals are all treated as adjectives, except as indicated at § 59b.

61. THE FRACTIONS

metade: metade do dinheiro, half of the money

$\frac{1}{2}$ meio or meia: meia hora, half an hour

$\frac{1}{3}$ terço or terça: uma terça parte

$\frac{2}{3}$ dois terços or duas terças partes

$\frac{1}{4}$ um quarto or uma quarta parte

$\frac{3}{4}$ tres quartos

$\frac{1}{5}$ um quinto

$\frac{1}{6}$ um sexto

$\frac{1}{7}$ um setimo

$\frac{1}{8}$ um oitavo

$\frac{1}{9}$ um nono

$\frac{1}{10}$ um decimo

a. In the reading of fractions above tenths the suffix avo (derived from the term oitavo) is used to express the divisor.

$\frac{1}{11}$ um onze avo or a undecima parte

$\frac{9}{11}$ nove onze avos

$\frac{1}{12}$ um doze avo

$\frac{1}{20}$ um vinte avo

$\frac{13}{20}$ treze vinte avos

$\frac{41}{54}$ quarenta e um cincoenta e quatro avos

$\frac{1}{100}$ um centesimo

$\frac{1}{1000}$ um millesimo

62. MULTIPLICATION

The word vez, time, is used with the cardinal numerals to express multiplication: uma vez or simples, once; duas vezes, twice; tres vezes, three times, etc. Example: tres vezes tres são nove, three times three are nine.

a. These expressions are also used: dois tantos, twice as many; tres tantos, three times as many; outros tantos, as many more.

b. Proportionals:

duplice, double

dobrado,

dobro,

duplo,

triple, triple

triplice,

triplicado,

triplo,

tres dobrado,

tres dobro,

quadruplo, quadruple

decuplo, tenfold

centuplo, a hundred fold

uma duzia, a dozen

vintena,	a score
centenares,	hundreds
milhares,	thousands
multiplo,	many times

63. NUMERAL SUBSTANTIVES

Cento, a hundred, mil, a thousand, milheiro, thousand, the fractions and the proportional numbers are treated as substantives.

64. IDIOMS

The following are illustrations of idioms in common use in connection with the numerals.

Que horas são, what time is it?

São tres e um quarto, it is quarter past three.

É uma hora, it is one o'clock.

Faltam vinte para tres (colloq.), it lacks twenty minutes of three.

A quantos estamos hoje do mez? what day of the month is it?

Hoje é dia quinze or hoje é quinze, this is the fifteenth.

Quantas leguas são d'aqui á cidade? how many leagues is it from here to the city?

São duas, it is two.

Que idade tem o senhor? how old are you? (literally, what age has the gentleman?)

Tenho vinte e tantos annos, I am twenty odd years old.

Oito dias, a week (literally, eight days).

Quinze dias, a fortnight (literally, fifteen days).

Ha vinte annos, twenty years ago, also these twenty years.

Ha cousa de vinte annos, some (about) twenty years ago.

Ha duas horas, two hours ago, and these two hours.

D'aqui a quinze dias, a fortnight hence.

The days of the week are numbered from Monday to Friday as follows:

Domingo	Sunday
Segunda-feira	Monday
Terça-feira	Tuesday
Quarta-feira	Wednesday
Quinta-feira	Thursday
Sexta-feira	Friday
Sabbado	Saturday

FOOTNOTES:

[30] The word conto which formerly meant a million in counting is only used with reis: um conto de reis, a thousand milreis.

[31] The s in simo from vigesimo onward is pronounced like s, not like z.

VI. PRONOUNS

PERSONALS

65. There are the usual three personal pronouns, but in Portuguese the third person is generally used in place of the second in direct address, with the exceptions noted below. Strictly speaking there is no declension in Portuguese; the personal pronouns, however, retain, in all persons, so many traces of their Latin declensions that they have the appearance of being declined, and are so given by some grammarians. The objective forms vary according as they are used with or without prepositions.

SUBJECT FORMS			OBJECTIVE FORMS
			WITHOUT PREPOSITIONS	WITH PREPOSITIONS
1st per.	eu	I	me	mim or me, migo	me
	nós	we	nos	nós, nosco	us
2d per.	tu	thou	te	ti or te, tigo	thee
	vós	you, ye	vos	vós, vosco	ye
3d per.	elle, ella	he, she, it	o, a, lo, la, ^[32]lhe	elle, ella	him, her, it
	elles, ellas	they	os, as, los, las, ^[32]lhes	elles, ellas	them
	(reflexive)		se	si or se, sigo	themselves

a. Lhe, lhes, to him, to her, to it, to them are always indirect or dative forms.

b. O, a, lo, la, os, as, los, and las are always direct objective or accusative forms.

c. Those used with prepositions admit of any preposition, except that when the preposition is com, with, the forms migo, tigo, nosco, vosco, and sigo only are used, as commigo, with me, comtigo, with thee, etc.

d. Elle, ella, etc., with the preposition de, of, are contracted to delle, della, etc.; with em, in, they are contracted to nelle, nella, etc.

66. Use of the Third Person.—In address, the third person is commonly used except to close friends, relatives, children, and domestics when tu may be employed. Persons may be addressed, according to circumstances, as Vossa Excellencia, Your Excellency, Vossa Senhoria, Your lordship, Vossa mercê, Your mercy, your grace, Você, a common abbreviation of Vossa mercê, but one to be used only in cases of extreme familiarity, or as Senhor, Mr., and Senhora, madam, or Mrs.

a. Until one becomes familiar with the use of these terms the safest rule is to use Senhor and Senhora.

b. In writing, these words are abbreviated as indicated at § 147.

c. Ordinarily eu, I, is not used as in English, but is sometimes placed before or even after the verb for the sake of emphasis or clearness. The same is true of tu, thou, elle, he, ella, she, nos, we. Para ti sonhava eu sonhos de gloria, for thee I dreamed dreams of glory.

d. Vos, you, is only used in very formal discourses, and as a vocative in prayers, etc. It is not used colloquially as in English. (See § 66.) Tu, thou, is also used as a vocative.

REFLEXIVE PERSONAL PRONOUNS

67. Reflexive.—The reflexive forms of the personal pronouns are:

me, a mim me, to me

te, a ti thee, to thee

se, a si himself, to himself

nos, a nós us, to us

vos, a vós you, to you

se, a si themselves, to themselves

THIRD PERSON

Singular and Plural

Direct object se himself, herself, itself, themselves.

Indirect object si, se to himself, herself, itself, or themselves

comsigo with himself, herself, itself, themselves

68. Duplication.—Duplication is common in classic Portuguese. By its use attention is redirected to an idea. Que me importa a mim a gloria? In what does glory concern me? or what is glory to me? Aconteceu-me a mim, it happened to ME.

Such expressions do not admit of literal translations into English.

69. Syntax of the Personal Pronouns. ^[33]—The personal pronouns are used both as direct and indirect objects:

Direct: elle me reprehendeu, he reprehended me.

Indirect: elle me deu o livro, he gave me the book.

70. The same thing occurs with the other pronouns, except that in the third person the indirect object is expressed by lhe, while the direct is o, a, os, and as.

Direct: reprehendeu-o, he reprehended him.

Indirect: deu-lhe o livro, he gave him (or her) the book.

71. The direct object is used after transitive verbs, the indirect after intransitives: vi-o, I saw him, obedeci-lhe, I obeyed him (or her).

72. The pronouns me, te, se, lhe, nos, vos, and o are called proclitic, mesoclitic, or enclitic according as they precede, are inserted within, or follow the verb.

a. They precede the verb (are proclitic):

1. In negative sentences: não me fale; não o creio.
2. In phrases depending upon que, o qual, quem, cujo:
quem o chamou; a mulher que se ama.
3. In certain popular expressions: Deus me livre; o diabo te leve.
4. When used with the conjunctions que, porque, and pois que, the rule has many exceptions.

b. They are inserted in the verb between the stem and termination (are mesoclitic) in the future indicative and conditional: dir-lhe-ei, I will tell him, instead of direi-lhe; dir-se-ia, instead of diria-se, it would be said.

c. They always follow the verb (are enclitic) at the beginning of a phrase: resta-me agradecer-lhe; diga-me; faça-me o favor.

d. In the mesoclitics and enclitics the pronoun is separated from the verb by a hyphen or hyphens.

e. The enclitics do not affect the position of the accents of the verbs.

73. When two pronouns come before a verb, the subject precedes: mandou que tu lhe entregasse o livro, he directed that you should give him the book.

74. Se and si refer to the subject: Pedro falou de si, Pedro spoke of himself. Você quer tudo para si, you want everything for yourself. Leve a espingarda consigo, take the gun with you. (For the use of the reflexive pronoun with verbs see § 126.)

75. Comparison.—After terms of comparison the nominative pronoun is used: mais serio que eu, more serious than I.

POSSESSIVES

76. The possessive pronouns are inflected like adjectives and agree in gender and number with the object possessed. They all take a in the feminine and s in the plural.

POSSESSIVE PRONOUNS

Singular		Plural
MASCULINE	FEMININE	MASCULINE	FEMININE	ENGLISH
meu	minha	meus	minhas	my, mine
teu	tua	teus	tuas	thy, thine
				his, her, hers
seu	sua	seus	suas	its, their theirs
nosso	nossa	nossos	nossas	our, ours
vosso	vossa	vossos	vossas	your, yours

77. Inasmuch as the third person is used in direct address, seu, sua, seus, and suas are generally used in place of vosso, etc., for your and yours: a casa é sua, the house is yours.

78. Possession is also expressed by the use of a preposition as a casa é d'elle, the house is his; a casa é d'elles, the house is theirs.

79. The place of the possessive is before the noun as in English: meu cavallo, my horse.

80. In certain cases the possessive placed after the noun is equivalent to the personal pronoun with de: noticias tuas (de ti), news of (about) you. Important distinctions of this kind are illustrated by the example: saudades tuas means saudades for you, while tuas saudades means the saudades you have for some one else.

81. Possessives are not used with parts of the body as in English: cortou-me o braço, he cut my arm, is used instead of cortou meu braço. In some cases the possessives are omitted as in English, as: venho de casa is used instead of venho de minha casa, I come from home; vou para casa, I am going home.

82. At the same time the bold use of the possessive is occasionally emphatic: estou na minha casa, I am in my own house; deixa-me com a minha dôr, leave me with my grief.

83. The possessive seu, sua, seus, suas, his, her or your, is used also idiomatically and colloquially to express uncertain value or quantity: tem seus vinte annos, he (or she) is about twenty years old.

The possessives may be replaced by various forms of the personal pronouns, and sometimes such expressions are considered more elegant.

(For the use of the article before possessives see § 16.)

DEMONSTRATIVES

(See Exercise XVII, page 137)

84. The demonstrative pronouns may be used either with or without their nouns. When used with them they precede the nouns, agreeing with them in gender and number.

Singular		Plural
este	esta	estes	estas	this esse	essa	esses	essas	these
aquelle	aquella	aquelles	aquellas	that, those

85. Isso, isto, and aquillo are neutral forms of the demonstratives used to refer to a preceding idea, expression, or subject, and may be regarded as equivalents of essa cousa or essas cousas, esta cousa, aquella cousa. They have neither feminine nor plural forms, nor are they used to refer to persons or animals.

86. The difference between este and esse in their various forms is that the first is used to refer to that which is near the speaker, while the second refers to that which is near the person addressed.

87. The forms o, a, os, as, are identical with the definite articles in forms, sounds, and origins. They are used as the equivalents of aquelle, aquella, aquelles, aquellas when followed by a determining expression: a provincia de Minho é a que tem mais vegetação entre as de Portugal.

Literally, the province of Minho is that which has most vegetation among those of Portugal.

88. When these forms are preceded by the preposition a they combine with it forming ao, aos, á, and ás as do the definite articles. Preceded by em they similarly form no, na, nos, nas, and preceded by per they form pelo, pela, pelos, and pelas.

DETERMINATIVES

89. The determinatives have gender and number except tal which has no gender distinction:

Singular		Plural
outro	outra	outros	outras	other mesmo	mesma	mesmos	mesmas	same, self
tanto	tanta	tantos	tantas	so many, as many tal	tal	taes	taes	such

Outrem is an invariable form meaning outra pessoa or outras pessoas.

90. The demonstrative pronouns este, esse, aquela, etc., with outro form est'outro, ess'outro, aquell'outro with the corresponding feminine and plural forms.

91. Um e outro (literally one and other), means both.

92. Mesmo means same and self as here illustrated: a mesma cousa, the same thing; o mesmo homem, the same man. It is used in connection with the personal pronouns to mean self: eu mesmo, I myself, ella mesma, she herself; elles mesmos, they themselves, etc.

It is also used in such expressions as é mesmo, that is true, it is just so.

93. Mesmissimo is an augmentative form of mesmo meaning precisely or exactly the same; é a mesmissima cousa, it is precisely the same thing.

Um tal means such a one. Que tal? how is this? what do you think of this? Tal qual means just so. É tal qual, it is just so, it is just as you say; não ha tal, it is not true, it is no such thing; não ha tal lugar, there is no such place.

94. Fulano de tal is a name used for any fictitious person; it is often equivalent to the English John Doe or to Mr. What's-his-name. Fuão, Beltrano, and Sicrano are similarly used.

INTERROGATIVES

(See Exercise XVIII, page 138)

95. The interrogatives are:

que? o que?	what?
quem?	who?
qual?	which?
que homens?	what men?
quem é?	who is it?
qual d'elles?	which of them?

It is not considered elegant nowadays to begin an interrogation with o que. Que tem? what have you? (Not o que tem?)

RELATIVES

(See Exercise XIX, page 139)

96. Of the relative pronouns quem refers to persons only; the other forms refer to either persons or things. They are que,	who, what, that (no gender)

quem,	who, whom
qual, pl. quaes,	which

cujo, f. cuja, pl. cujos, cujas, whose

97. O que, o qual, a qual, os quaes, and as quaes, literally, the which, mean what or that. These latter forms are used when the antecedent needs to be made clear or prominent. A gloria de Deus a qual não se póde escurecer, the glory of God which cannot, etc. O livro que está lendo, the book you are reading; but o livro da bibliotheca o qual está lendo, the book of the library (the) which you are reading.

98. Where quem would follow sem, o qual is used instead for the sake of euphony: sem o qual não deve, without which you should not.

99. Cujo is equivalent to do qual, and is followed immediately by the object possessed: O soldado cujo cavallo foi morto, the soldier whose horse was killed.

a. Cujo without antecedent and the object possessed is a classic but archaic form of expression: cujo é esta casa? whose house is this? Instead one would now say: de quem é esta casa? Literally, of whom is this house?

INDEFINITE

(See Exercise XX, page 140)

100. The indefinite pronouns may be classified as nouns or adjectives.

a. The nouns are:

al (invariable), something else, the rest. (But little used.)

alguem (invariable), some one

algo, something, anything

nada (invariable), nothing

nenhum (f. nenhuma, pl. nenhuns), neither ninguem (invariable), no one qualquer, pl. quaes-quer, either, whichever quemquer, anybody

tudo (invariable), all uns, f. umas, some

b. Algo when used as a pronoun refers to things and means alguma cousa. It is sometimes used as an adverb meaning algum tanto: elle está algo doente, he is somewhat ill.

c. Tudo is a neutral form of todo. When followed by que it requires the definite article: tudo o que ele disse.

d. Nenhum may be used with an affirmative sense, and is equivalent to qualquer in the expression mais que nenhum, more than any one.

e. A negative is strengthened by doubling the negation: não sei nada, I know nothing; não diz nada, he says nothing.

f. The adjectives are:

algum (f. alguma, pl. alguns, algumas), some, no cada (um, uma); cada qual (sing. only), each, every certo (f. certa, pl. certos, -as), certain muito (f. -a, pl. muitos, -as), many outro (f. outra, pl. outros, -as), other pouco (f. -a, pl. poucos, -as), few, little quanto (f. -a, pl. quantos, -as), how much, how many, as much as tanto (f. -a, pl. tantos, -as), so much todo (f. -a, pl. todos, -as), all, every

g. Quanto is used in correlation with tanto to mean as much as. Faço tanto quanto qualquer outro, I do as much as any one else. Quanto pagou? how much did you pay? Quantas vezes foi lá? how often did you go there? Quanto antes, as soon as possible.

h. Todo with the article means the whole; without the article it means every; toda cidade, every city; toda a cidade, all of the city. It is sometimes used as an adverb but retains its gender for the sake of euphony: ella está toda molhada.

i. Em quanto means while. Espera em quanto eu tiro uma vista, wait while I take a view.

j. Cada qual and cada um have approximately the same meaning. Cada qual stands next to the verb, however, cada um does not: cada um dos soldados andava or cada qual andava, each (of the soldiers) walked.

101. When a proposition has a negative sense either algum may be placed after, or nenhum before the noun:

or	homem algum poderá saber nenhum homem poderá saber	no man shall know
----	---	-------------------

The first sentence is more emphatic than the second.

102. Certain idiomatic expressions have meanings analogous to those of the indefinite pronouns:

seja quem for	be who it may seja qual for
fosse quem fosse	whoever it might be quem quer que fosse
quem quer que seja	whoever it may be o que quer que é

a. De and de que are often used in the sense of something; tenho de que comer e de beber, I have something to eat and to drink.

b. The expression não ha de que used in reply to obrigado, muito obrigado, etc., is equivalent to the English not at all or the French pas de quoi.

FOOTNOTES:

[32] These are from the Latin pronoun illo and are not to be confused with the definite article which has the same forms. There is a tendency to avoid the use of o, so that one often hears such expressions as va chamar elle instead of va chama-lo; or visitar-lhe instead of visita-lo. A Brazilian scholar observes: “assim o pobre o vai perdendo terreno.”

[33] Some grammarians make a sort of bugbear of the position of the pronouns. This is due in part, at least, to the somewhat different usages in Portugal and Brazil. In Portugal, for example, they would say: espero que me faça o favor, I hope you can do me the favor, and não se lembrou do recado, he did not remember the message; while in Brazil they might use these identical expressions or they might say espero que faça me o favor and não lembrou-se do recado. However, aside from the simple rules here given, the position of the pronoun is a matter of phonetics rather than of rules of grammar.

VII. VERBS

103. The Portuguese verbs are either transitive or intransitive, reflexive, or impersonal. They have voice, mood, tense, number, and person.

CONJUGATIONS

104. The verbs have three conjugations which are distinguished by the endings of the infinitives.

EXAMPLE

	ENDING	INFINITIVE	MEANING
First conjugation:	-ar	andar	to walk
Second conjugation:	-er	receber	to receive
Third conjugation:	-ir	punir	to punish

105. Regular and Irregular Verbs.—Those verbs which are conjugated like one of the three types are called regular; those which are not so conjugated, or lack some of the parts, are called irregular verbs.

GENERAL TERMINATIONS OF THE REGULAR VERBS

106. The following are the terminations of all the forms of the regular verbs. These are to be added to the roots of the verbs, except in the cases of the future and conditional of the indicative where the infinitive is used as the root.

OBSERVATIONS ON THE REGULAR VERBS

108. Formerly the third person plural of the indicative present of the first conjugation ended in ão; now it is written am; only the future indicative retains the ão ending except in short words where the ão is the predominant sound as são, dão, hão.

The following changes (a. to g.) are required by the necessity of preserving the hard or soft sounds.

Verbs ending in

a. car change the c to qu before e: arrancar, pret. arranquei, pres. sub. arranque; ficar, pret. fiquei.

b. gar change the g to gu before e: apagar, apague; jogar, jogue; cegar, pret. ceguei; julgar, pret. julguei.

c. ger and gir change the g to j before o and a: abranger, abranjo; fugir, fujo, fuja.

d. guer and guir drop the u before a and o: erguer, ergo; distinguir, distingo (except arguir).

e. çar drop the cedilla before e: alcançar, alcance.

f. cer change c to ç before a and o: adoecer, adoeço, adoeça.

g. In the third conjugation verbs that have u in the final syllables change it to o in the present:

consume,	3d per.	consome
destruo,	” ”	destroe
acudo,	” ”	acode
fujo,	” ”	foge
cuspo,	” ”	cospe
engulo,	” ”	engole
tusso,	” ”	tosse
bulo,	” ”	bole
cubro,	” ”	cobre
subo,	” ”	sobe
sumo,	” ”	some

Analogous changes are made in the first person of the present indicative of the following: dormir becomes durmo; servir, sirvo; seguir, sigo; impedir (formerly impido, now) impeço.

AUXILIARY VERBS

109. The principal auxiliary verbs are ter, to have, and haver, ser, and estar, to be. These verbs, however, are not used exclusively as auxiliaries, while other verbs are often used as such, especially andar and ir, to go, and vir, to come. Ando procurando uma casa, I am looking for a house.

a. Ter and haver when used with an infinitive require the preposition de: tenho de escrever, or hei de escrever, I have to write. In such uses of these verbs, ter shows that the thing is done by necessity, as temos de morrer, we must die; while haver is used to indicate that it will be done with certainty, or the resolution to do it.

Ter sometimes means to have in the sense of possession, as tenho um cavalo, I have a horse; teve razão, he had reason or he was right, but it is also used as an auxiliary verb just as it is in English.

b. These particular auxiliaries are often used in place of the regular future forms of the verbs: hei-de ir for irei, ha-de ir for irá, etc. The hyphen is not always used before the de; it may be written ha de ir.

c. In the use of haver with the preposition de the latter is joined to the verb form: hei-de escrever; hão-de dizer.

d. In general ter is used more than haver.

e. When andar is used as an auxiliary it is either followed by the present participle of another verb or by a and the infinitive, and conveys the idea that the subject of the first verb constantly practises the action implied by the second: José anda vadeando or José anda a vadear means that Jose is idling constantly.

f. The verbs ir and vir followed by the present participle of another verb expresses the gradual realization of the action of the second verb: vou acabando, I am gradually finishing, I am nearing the end.

g. The verb ir followed by the infinitive expresses immediate future action: vou passear, I am going to take a walk.

h. Haver is generally defined as meaning to have, but in the third person it is more nearly equivalent to the verb to be. For example: não ha agua, there is no water; houve um temporal, there was a storm; se houvesse tempo, if there were time.

i. Ser means to be in a permanent sense: sou Americano, I am an American. It is used as an auxiliary, but only in the passive voice: a terra é cultivada, the land is cultivated.^[38]

j. Estar means to be, in a transitory or temporary sense: estou aqui, I am here; estou com fome, I am hungry; estou doente, I am ill; but sou doente means I am ill beyond recovery, that is, I am an invalid. Estou cego, I am blind (temporarily); sou cego, I am blind (permanently).

k. Estar is sometimes used to indicate nearness in point of time where ser indicates remoteness, as ele está morto means he has just died, whereas ele é morto implies that he died long ago. Sometimes either ser or estar can be used with equal propriety as: é claro que or está claro que, it is evident that...

l. The verb estar followed by the preposition a or para and an infinitive means that the action of the second verb is to take place shortly: Carlos está para casar, Charles is on the point of marrying; o vapor está a partir, the steamer is about to start.

m. Estar a indicates an act in process at the time of the remark: ha mais de meia hora está aquele menino a chorar, for more than half an hour that boy has been crying.

n. Vir followed by the preposition a and an infinitive expresses the same idea as would be expressed by the second verb and por fim: estas palavras veem a significar or estas palavras por fim significam, in the end these words mean, or these words amount to.

o. The English auxiliary do has no equivalent in Portuguese.

IRREGULAR VERBS

110. Some of the irregular verbs are so nearly regular that they are omitted from the following reference list of the verbs most commonly regarded as irregular. Such are verbs ending in ahir and air. These follow the succeeding models in the Present Indicative and Subjunctive but are otherwise regular.

Sahir, to go out	Esvair, to disperse
INDICATIVE PRESENT	INDICATIVE PRESENT
saio	esvaio
saes	esvais
sae	esvae
sahimos	esvaimos
sahis	esvais
saem	esváem
SUBJUNCTIVE PRESENT	SUBJUNCTIVE PRESENT
saia	esvaia
saías	esvais
saia	esvaia
saiâmos	esvaiâmos
saiaes	esvaiaes
saiam	esváiam

a. NOTE.—The verbs sahir, cahir, and their compounds are generally written with h in those forms in which the sa and ca are followed by accented i or ir, in which cases the h is used to indicate that the a and i do not form diphthongs.

b. Verbs ending in uzir take uz instead of use in the third person of the present indicative: produzir, to produce, produz; reluzir, to shine, reluz.

In the same way are conjugated the compounds: advir, avir-se, contravir, convir, desavir, intervir, sobrevir.

VARIABLE PARTICIPLES OF REGULAR VERBS

114. Many verbs that are otherwise regular have two forms of the past participle. These participles are not always interchangeable, however, as will be seen from the following examples:

Naquelle tempo já meu irmão era morto, at that time my brother was already dead.

Naquelle tempo já meu irmão tinha morrido, at that time my brother had already died.

Muitos povos eram sujeitos a Roma, many people were subject to Rome.

Roma tinha sujeitado muitos povos, Rome had subjected many people.

In general when a verb has two forms of the past participle one of them is commonly used in the active voice and the other in the passive voice as in the examples above; some of them, however, are used in either voice, though preference is generally given to the short forms: ele tem gasto, pago, ganho. It should be observed that one form is regular and the other irregular or rather contracted.

115. List of Verbs having Two Forms of the Past Participle.—[In this list (a.) indicates that the preceding form is used in the active voice, (p.) that it is used in the passive, (a. and p.) that it is used in both voices.]

submergir,	to submerge	submergido	submerso

DEFECTIVE VERBS

(See Exercise XXVI, p. 146)

119. In addition to those already mentioned in the list of irregular verbs, the following verbs are defective:

advir

colorir

descommedir-se

emollir

I. empedernir

These verbs are used only in the forms in which the i of the infinitive occurs.

extorquir

fallir

florir

renhir

retorquir

II. Precaver, to prevent, fremir, to roar, and soer, to be accustomed, are only used in the forms in which the roots precav, frem, and so are followed by e or i: precaves, precavia.

THE SUBJECTS OF VERBS

120. In the main verbs agree with their subjects in number and person as they do in English, but such a general rule is not always applicable in Portuguese. The following rules cover the most important cases in which there is a departure from English usage.

a. In case of compound subjects the verb may be plural as in English, as o sol e a lua são brilhantes; but in certain cases it is singular, as follows:

b. It is singular when a gradation is emphasized: una palavra, um gesto, um olhar bastava.

c. It is singular when an enumeration ends with tudo, nada, nenhum, ninguém or cada um. O ouro, os diamantes, e as perolas tudo é terra e da terra.

d. It is singular when the compound subject follows the verb: passará o céu e a terra. In case of proper names it is considered better for the verb to be plural: do mesmo pal nasceram Esau e Jacob.

e. Infinitives and phrases take the verb in the singular: perdoar erros e engrandecer bons intentos é de espirito generoso.

f. In case of contrasts the verb is plural: amar, agravar, e empecer não se compadecem.

g. The following have the verb either singular or plural indifferently: um e outro, nem um nem outro, mais de um. Um e outro quer morrer. Um e outro fugiram.

h. In certain idiomatic expressions singular subjects appear to have plural verbs. (1) Nos é que somos patriotas. In this sentence nos é que may, however, be regarded as an adverbial expression. Some grammarians regard it as analytically equivalent to que nós somos patriotas é (facto). (2) Tudo são trevas; o mundo são homens.

i. Similarly a first person may be used with a verb of the third person: eu é que digo adeus, it is I who say good-bye.

j. When one subject is in the first person and another is of the second or third, the verb is first person plural. Eu e tu temos, the eu and tu being equivalent to nós. Nem eu nem vós sabemos como nasce amor, literally, neither I nor you, (that is, we) do not know how love begins.

k. When one subject is in the second person and another is in the third, the verb is second person plural. Tu e Carlos estaes bons, you and Carlos are good.

121. Impersonal Verbs.^[56]—(See Exercise XXVII, page 147.) Impersonal verbs are used only in the third person. The English impersonal it is not separately expressed in this impersonal use.

Examples: ha homens sabios, there are wise men; houve festas, there were feasts (festivities); faz calor, it is warm; faz uma semana hoje, it is a week to-day; é facil, it is easy; é justo, it is just; é bem que, it is well that; é preciso, it is necessary; são duas horas, it is two o'clock; dizem, they say. Other forms especially characteristic of the Portuguese, but used in various tenses, are:

acontece, it happens

apraz-me, it pleases me

basta, it is enough

carece, it is necessary, there is need that chega, that will do

convem, it is well, it suits

cumpre, it is necessary: cumpre dizer-o, it must be said

custa, it costs: custa dormir, it is hard to sleep

dar-se, to happen: deu-se esse facto, this is what happened é, era, foi, etc., from ser (§ 109), it is, was, etc.

faz, fazia, fez, from fazer (§ 112), it is, was, etc.

fica, it remains, rests, is, etc., as fica combinado, it is agreed ha, havia, houve, from haver (§ 109), there is, there are,

there was, there has been importa, it matters

parece, it seems

praz-me, it pleases me, I am pleased

urge, it is urgent

resta, it remains

a. There are also the usual forms expressing operations of nature, such as chove, it rains.

b. The impersonal verbs are often used in the passive voice, as alli se vive sem desejo, there one lives without desire; diz-se que, it is said that; precisa-se de um criado, a servant is wanted.

122. Prepositions Required by Verbs.—Some verbs are followed by certain prepositions, such as a, até, com, de, em, para, por, sobre, in their various forms. Some of these usages correspond to the English, but most of them do not. Only a few of the cases where the usage differs from English are given here.

a. A, to, of, is used after perguntar, proibir, and perdoar: perguntou ao medico, he asked the physician; proibiu ao moço, he forbade the youth. Eu perdôo a quantos me fizeram mal, I forgive all those who have ill used me. A is used with the infinitive when it is the object of a verb, as explained at § 123d.

b. The use of a after querer determines the meaning of the verb: querer a alguma pessoa is to esteem or love some one, while querer alguma coisa is to desire something.

c. Até, to, at, is used after chegar and ir: fui até a cidade, I went as far as the city.

d. Com, with, is used after estar, to be, ter, to have, and casar, to marry; estou com fome, I am hungry; estou com frio, I am cold; fui ter com elle, I went to have an interview with him; casou com a filha de T, he married the daughter of T.

e. De, of, is used after:

aproveitar-se, to improve the opportunity

cessar, to cease

depende, to depend

deixar, to leave

gostar, to like

morrer, to die

precisar, to need

and after certain reflexive forms, such as,

lembrar-se, to remember

esquecer-se, to forget

and verbs implying motion from. Examples:

Gosto de café, I like coffee

Morre de fome e de frio, he is dying of hunger and cold

Deixa de asneiras, stop your folly

Lembrou-se da ocasião, he remembered the occasion

For de before an infinitive objective, see § 123f.

f. Classic writers use de with several other verbs, such as, d'esta agua não beberei, I shall not drink of this water;

d'este pão não comerei, I shall not eat of this bread.

g. Em, in, is used after estar: o dono está em casa? is the proprietor at home?

h. Para, for, to, is used after certain verbs implying motion towards: ir, partir, vir, buscar, olhar, and deitar:

Vou para casa, I am going home

Partiu para Lisboa, he has gone to Lisbon

Olhe para cá, look this way

A janella deita para o rio, the window opens toward the river

i. NOTE.—On the other hand several verbs which in English are followed by prepositions do not require prepositions in Portuguese. Such are:

Agradecer, to thank for: agradeço-lhe o presente, I thank you for the present.

Almoçar, to breakfast on: almoçou peixe, he breakfasted on fish.

Calçar, to put on (the feet): calcei chinellas, I put on slippers.

Cear, to sup on: ceou cha, he supped on tea.

Falar, to speak of: falou politica, he talked about politics.

Subir, to climb up: subiu a serra, he climbed up the mountain.

Vestir, to put on: vesti o paletó, I put on the coat.

OBJECTS OF VERBS

123. The objects of verbs differ in the following respects from usages in English:

a. When the direct object of a verb is a person or living being, that name is preceded by the preposition a, to, especially when it is necessary to distinguish the object from the subject. Ama a Deus, love God; a Pompeu venceu Cesar, Cæsar overcame Pompey; elle subjugou ao tigre, he overcame the tiger. But when the object is an animal other than man the a, to, may be omitted as subjugou o tigre.

b. When the direct object precedes the verb or when ambiguity is possible, the preposition a, to, precedes the object: vence o dia á noite or á noite vence o dia, day overcomes night.

c. When the direct object is one of the pronouns mim, ti, si, elle, a, nos, vos, elles, and os they are preceded by the preposition a: elle os colheu a mim e não a ti.

d. When the direct object is an infinitive the following verbs take the preposition a: aprender, começar, ensinar, principiar. Example: ensinou a falar.

e. These verbs, when followed by the infinitive denoting the beginning of action, require a: começar, deitar, entrar, meter, desatar, botar. Começou a escrever, he began to write; deitaram a fugir, they began to flee.

f. When the direct object of a verb is an infinitive, certain of these verbs when signifying the beginning, continuation or cessation of action, take de before that infinitive. These verbs are: acabar, arrancar, cessar, começar, continuar, deixar, tomar, travar. Example: acabou de escrever, he has done writing; comecei de (or a) almoçar, I began to breakfast.

SPECIAL USES OF VERBS

124. a. To express existence in its various phases, besides estar and ser, many verbs are used. Some of these are here illustrated: acho-me doente, literally, I find myself ill; sinto-me envelhecido, literally, I feel myself grown old; viu-se empobrecido, literally, he saw himself impoverished; anda alegre, literally, he goes joyous, that is, he is happy.

b. Certain verbs are combined to express movement and perception: ouvi cantar, I heard (him) sing; vi sair, I saw (him) go out; mandei fazer, I ordered made; fiz concertar, I had (it) mended.

c. When a participle is used as an adjective it is often followed by de: cercada e ornada de flores, surrounded and decorated with flowers. This is especially true of the verbs acompanhar, seguir, preceder, cercar, forrar, cobrir, pintar, fazer, vestir.

Some grammarians explain the use of de in these instances as part of elliptical phrases.

PERIPHRASTIC VERB PHRASES

125. The Portuguese has periphrastic active, and passive verb phrases formed by the aid of auxiliaries. (See auxiliaries § 109).

a. Periphrastic active phrases are made by placing the required forms of ter, to have (see page 79), before the perfect participle masculine singular of the main verb: tenho escrito a carta, I have written the letter.

tenho escrito, I have written tens escrito, thou hast written tem escrito, he (she) has written temos escrito, we have written

b. Periphrastic passive phrases are formed by the use of ser or estar, to be, and the participle of the main verb which must agree with the subject. (See notes on ser and estar on page 78.)

Tenho sido transportado, I have been carried

José foi morto, Jose was killed

Maria estava molhada pela chuva, Maria was wet by the rain

c. The active voice is often used where the passive would be used in English. Mandou preparar o jantar, he ordered dinner to be prepared. Mandei trazer um livro, I ordered a book to be brought. É de suppor, é de ver, é de crer are all translatable only in passive forms.

d. Progressive phrases are formed by the use of estar, to be, ficar, to remain, ir, to go, and some others with the present participle of the main verb. Estou fallando, I am speaking; fica sabendo que —, know that —.

REFLEXIVE VERBS

126. The reflexive verbs are conjugated by connecting the reflexive pronouns me, te, se, nos, and vos with the verb: não me metto nisto, I do not meddle in this affair; vá se deitar, go lie down; vá se embora, go away:

a. A certain force and grace are sometimes imparted by the use of reflexive forms even when the verb is intransitive. Ella morre de tristeza, she is dying of grief, is grammatically correct, but ella se morre de tristeza is a more expressive way to say the same thing owing to the attention called to the subject by the use of se.

b. Certain verbs are much used in the reflexive sense: queixar-se, to complain, and arrepender-se, to repent, are used only in the reflexive forms; despedir-se, to take leave, and calar-se, to hush, are used in both the active and reflexive forms, but the active forms have different meanings.

c. Neuter or impersonal reflexives with me, se, etc., are much used: me dizem or dizem-me, they tell me; me parece or parece-me, it seems to me.

d. The reflexive verbs do not take as objects the pronouns o, a, os, as.

IMPERATIVE AND SUBJUNCTIVE

127. Colloquially the imperative is not so much used as the subjunctive which is used in its place. Thus fale (subj. pres.) com ella would be used in place of fala (imper.) com ella, speaking to her; the latter is regarded as less polite, possibly because fala has tu (understood) as its subject, while fale has for its subject o Senhor, você, etc. For the same reason tenha paciência (subj.), have patience, is used in place of tem paciência (imper.).^[57] Preste (not presta) atenção, pay attention.

a. It is especially to be noted that when there is a negative the subjunctive should be used instead of the imperative: não deva, you ought not (not não deve); não me fale (subj.), don't talk to me (not não me fala, imperative).

b. One of the most common errors in Portuguese is the use of the present indicative in place of the imperative (or subjunctive). The following are examples: Traz-me um copo d'água, should be traze-me (or traga-me) um copo d'água, fetch me a glass of water; diz a seu pai que, should be dize a teu pai (or diga a seu pai) que, tell your father that; traduz este carta, should be traduza esta carta, translate this letter.

THE SUBJUNCTIVE AND THE INDICATIVE

128. In certain dependent sentences the subjunctive or the indicative is used according to circumstances. When the fact is doubtful the subjunctive is used, otherwise the indicative:

É incerto que venha, it is uncertain about his coming.

É certo que vem, it is certain that he is coming.

Não conheço pintor que faça este quadro, I know no painter who could make this picture.

Não conheço o pintor que fez este quadro means: I do not know the painter who made this picture.

129. When the adverb talvez, perhaps, precedes a verb it should be subjunctive; when it follows the verb, it should be indicative: talvez seja isso exacto, or isso é talvez exacto, perhaps this (or it) is so.

130. Certain idiomatic expressions use the subjunctive with the indefinite and relative pronouns as explained at § 102.

131. Similarly the subjunctive is used with como: seja como for, be that as it may.

132. The subjunctive is sometimes used in the sense of a conjunction: estão ao alcance de todos os que as buscam, seja como estudo, seja como curiosidade (HERCULANO). They are within the reach of all who seek them whether for study or (as a mere matter of) curiosity.

PERSONAL INFINITIVE

133. The personal infinitive is an inflected form of the infinitive. It is found in the oldest Portuguese writings, and it is likewise different in use from anything in any other language.^[58] Its use is best explained by examples:

Impersonal: comprei este livro para estudar, I bought this book (for me) to study.

Personal: comprei este livro para estudardes, I bought this book for you to study. O nosso mestre está contente por sabermos a lição, our teacher is pleased because we know the lesson. Ficou surprehendido de não estarem os soldados devidamente em ordem, he was surprised that the soldiers were not duly in order. É preciso comprarmos, it is necessary to buy (that we buy).

FOOTNOTES:

[34] On the ending am and ão see § 9b foot-note and § 108.

[35] On the ending am and ão see § 9b foot-note and § 108.

[36] The English perfect tense is represented by the imperfect and preterit of the Portuguese, and the discriminate use of these tenses in the Portuguese is one of the greatest difficulties for English speaking persons.

[37] Some grammarians call this the gerund.

[38] For its use in expressing the time of day see § 64.

[39] For meanings see § 109.

[40] Ser is an auxiliary only in the passive voice. It is called a mixed verb on account of its being made up of different verbs: sou, somos (Lat. sum, etc.); era, eramos (Lat. eram); fui, fomos (Lat. fui); serei, seria, seja (Lat. sedere).

[41] Contracted to hemos, heis.

[42] This was formerly written he.

[43] Formerly written sam.

[44] See note on page 71 on the conditional and pluperfect.

[45] Contracted to hia, etc.

[46] Some grammarians regard por and its compounds as a fourth conjugation.

[47] In these forms Bento José de Oliveira in his Nova Gramatica Portuguesa, ed. of 1904, uses u instead of o, os:—puseste, pusera, pusesse.

[48] In these forms Bento José de Oliveira in his Nova Gramatica Portuguesa, ed. of 1904, uses u instead of o, os:—puseste, pusera, pusesse.

[49] This is really a defective verb made up of parts of three different verbs: ir, irmos, irdes, etc., from the Latin ire; vou, vaes, vão, etc. from the Latin vadere; fui, fosse, fôr, etc., from fui of the verb ser.

[50] Remir and redimir are forms of the same verb.

[51] The form morto is usurped from the verb morrer, to die.

[52] Pagado is now quite antiquated.

[53] Grammarians often give escrevido here as a regular participle from escrever, but as a matter of fact the word is not used.

[54] Used only in the compound form desabrido.

[55] Sepulto used only in compound form insepulto.

[56] These verbs are sometimes called “unipersonal” in Portuguese, for their forms are not always confined to the third person. For example, haver, ser, and fazer and others have all the persons.

[57] One often hears tenha a paciencia, which is correct when the sentence has a complement, as tenha a paciencia de ler esta carta.

VIII. THE INDECLINABLES

ADVERBS

(See Exercise XXXII, page 152)

134. Adverbs may be single words as bem, well, logo, ^[59] presently, cedo, early.

a. Or they may be adverbial phrases such as the following:

a miudo, repeatedly ante-hontem, day before yesterday
as cegas, blindly
as escuras, darkly
até aqui, thus far
a toda hora, hourly
a torto e direito, right and left a vista, at sight
com effeito, indeed
d'aqui a pouco, shortly d'aqui em diante, henceforth de dia, by day
de longe, afar
de noite, by night
de nenhuma sorte, by no means de perto, near by de repente, suddenly de chofre, suddenly, unexpectedly de tarde, in the afternoon
de vez em quando, from time to time em fim, finally em seguida, one after another em vão, in vain
hoje em dia, nowadays (popular) para sempre, forever

pelo menos, at least por baixo, below
por cima, above
por em quanto, meantime pouco mais ou menos, a little more or less quando muito, at most

b. The following are composite forms: depois (de and pois), afterwards; quiça, perhaps, (abbreviation of quem sabe, who knows); tambem (tão and bem), also; tampouco or tão pouco. Example: ele não quiz e eu tão pouco, he didn't want it, and neither did I.

c. Many adverbs are formed by adding mente to a feminine adjective. The mente is usually to be translated by the English ending ly; escuramente, darkly; propriamente, properly.

d. When two or more adjectives ending in mente follow each other this termination is used with the last and is understood for the others: justa e propriamente, justly and properly.

e. Some adverbs have the same forms as the masculine adjectives: such are alto, baixo, barato, certo, claro, conforme, and muito: falar baixo, to speak low; comprou barato, he bought cheaply.

f. Que is an adverb when used to modify an adjective, and can be substituted by como, quão or quanto: que bella é a noite, how fine the night is.

g. Eis, best translated behold, is a demonstrative adverb: eis Lisboa! behold Lisbon! Eis o homem! behold the man! Eis que, eis-aqui, eis-ahi, and eis-alli are all used in directing attention. With the objective of the personal pronouns it forms enclitics: eil-o, eil-os, see him, see them.

h. Adverbs are sometimes used after certain verbs where English requires adjectives. These verbs are: estar, ficar, permanecer, sair, continuar. The following expressions are good Portuguese: Este negocio parece-me bom or parece-me bem, this business seems to me to be good. Estou bem or estou bom (or boa), I am well. Está bem, he is well off (financially).

135. a. Special cases.—Aqui, here, in this place, is associated with the first person. Por aqui, this way; d'aqui, hence, d'aqui a tres dias, three days hence; d'aqui em diante, henceforth, from now on.

b. Cá, here, is also associated with the first person: vem cá, come here. It is also used with the first person for emphasis: eu cá me entendo, I (here) know what I am about.

c. Ahi is associated with the second person and refers to a fixed place near the speaker: bote ahi, put it just there.

d. Ali is associated with the third person and refers to a more distant and fixed place.

e. Muito when used in comparisons may mean either very or too; muito longe may be either very far or too far, according to the context.

f. Sim, yes, is used after que in indirect discourse to mean so or just so; creio que sim, I believe so; acho que sim, I find it so, or I think so.

g. Sim and não as replies are rarely used alone, but in polite conversation are accompanied by Senhor or Senhora.

h. Where yes would be used in English, in Portuguese the verb used is ordinarily repeated or é is used. Está pronto? Are you ready? Estou, I am. Viu o vapor? Did you see the steamer? Vi, or vi-o, I saw it.

i. Nada is sometimes used as an emphatic no, as explained in § 136.

j. Mesmo is used for emphasis in connection with the adverbs ahi, aqui, etc.: ahi mesmo, in that very spot.

k. D'ahi por diante or d'ahi em diante, from that time on.

l. Lá em cima, up there; lá em baixo, down there.

m. Aonde, where, whither, indicates motion toward, and donde, whence, motion from a place; onde estou, donde venho, e aonde vou, where I am, whence I come, and whither I go.

n. Para onde, whither; para baixo, downward; para traz, backward.

o. Por onde, which way; por baixo, beneath; por detraz, behind.

p. The English ago is expressed by the use of the impersonal verb ha, from haver (§ 109): ha um anno, a year ago.

q. Just, and just now are expressed by the use of the verbs acabar and chegar, and by the adverbs ainda agora: as acabou de jantar, he has just dined; and ainda agora jantou, he has just now dined. Agorinha, a diminutive form of agora, now, is similarly used and shortens the time past.

r. There is expressed by ali (or alli), lá, and acolá. Lá and acolá are associated with the third person, and refer to places distant but not precise. Bote lá, put it there, i. e., somewhere there. Digo a um vae acolá, e elle vae; e a outro vem cá, e elle vem, I say to one go there and he goes, and to another come here and he comes.

s. It often happens that a single English word can be rendered in Portuguese only by an adverbial phrase; such are somewhat and somewhere. Um tanto indisposto, somewhat ill; em alguma outra parte, somewhere else.

Algures is sometimes, but not often, used for somewhere.

136. The adverbs of simple negation are:

não, no, not: não estudei, I have not studied nem, neither, nor: nem um nem outro, neither the one nor the other nunca, never: nunca vi, I have never seen: nunca mais, never more jámais, never: nunca jámais o saberá, you will never know it

nada, nothing. (Though commonly a noun this word is sometimes used as an adverb of emphatic negation: vai a cidade? are you going to the city? Nada! decidedly not!)

The expression pois não, literally, why not, is sometimes an affirmative, equivalent to certainly, but it is sometimes a negative. The meaning in these cases is determined by the intonation.

Pois sim is similarly an affirmation or negation according to intonation.

137. Double or Emphatic Negative.—Two negatives are used for the purpose of strengthening the negation, and are not, as in English, equivalent to an affirmative. Não sei nada disso, I know nothing about it, is correct Portuguese; likewise are such expressions as não sei não; não tenho nada; não ha nada; não conheço ninguém; não devemos nunca.

138. There is no special arrangement of words for asking a question. That a question is asked is indicated colloquially by the tone of the voice, or, when written, it is shown by the use of the interrogation mark. Este livro é meu may mean is this book mine? in which case the interrogation mark would be used, or it may mean this book is mine.

There are certain words, however, which in themselves sometimes, but not always, imply questions, such as quanto or quanta, how much; quantos or quantas, how many; porque, why or because; como, how or as, and qual, which. The expression não é assim? is it not so? and não acha? don't you find it so? refer to a preceding sentence or idea and are equivalent to the French n'est-ce pas? or the German nicht wahr?

PREPOSITIONS

139. Prepositions are either single, as a, to, até, until; or they are prepositional phrases: cerca de, about, antes de, before (in time).

The prepositions de and a are used in connection with direct objects as explained § 122, 123.

a. De follows certain adjectives:

capaz de, capable of: ele é capaz de chegar a qualquer hora, he is liable to arrive at any time

cego de, blind: cego de um olho, blind in one eye

cego de raiva, blind with rage

dependente de, dependent upon digno de, worthy of doente de, ill with or of distante de, distant from facil de, easy to proprio de, proper to, or for proprio para,

b. Similarly de follows certain participles used as adjectives (see § 124c), such as pintado de verde, painted green

vestida de seda, dressed in silk

c. De is also used idiomatically in such expressions as estar de pé or em pé, to stand up; ir de chinellas, to go in one's slippers.

d. The preposition de is much used in certain idiomatic phrases and sentences, such as chorar de prazer, to weep for joy; morrer de fome, to die of hunger; fazer de tolo, to act the fool; responder de não, to say no; chamar de ladrão, to call one a thief.

e. The preposition de, of, often drops the e and takes an apostrophe when followed by a word beginning with a vowel: d'este, of this, for de este; d'aquelle, of that; they are also written deste and daquelle, with elle it forms delle.

f. When the preposition de is followed by the definite article, the two words unite and are written and pronounced do, da, dos, das (in place of de o, etc.). (See § 15b.)

140. The preposition em, in, is similarly combined with the definite article forming no, na, nos, nas, as explained at § 15c, and with este, esse, and aquelle forming neste, nesse, and naquelle.

141. The preposition a, to, has so many and such varied uses that it seems best to give a list of them:^[60]

A, to, is used to express:

a. The place to or toward which, with the idea of returning: ir a praça, to go to the square.

b. The place where or near which: estar á porta, to be at the door; situado a beira-mar, situated at the seaside.

c. Distance, measure of place and time: a tiro de bala, a gunshot away; a tres kilometros, three kilometers away.

d. End or purpose: trabalhar a bem da patria, to work for the good of the country; deu-lhe o vinho a provar, he gave him the wine to test.

e. Material: pintar a oleo, to paint in oil; bordar a ouro, to embroider with gold.

f. Time in which: partir ao meio dia, to leave at noon.

g. Future time near at hand expressed with the infinitive: está a chegar, he is about to arrive.

h. Length of time: d'aqui a dez dias, ten days hence.

i. Manner: obra feita a pedaços, work done by bits; a pé, afoot; a cavallo, horseback; a nado, (by means of) swimming.

j. Distribution and succession: dois a dois, two by two; gota a gota, drop by drop.

k. Means, instrument, cause: matar á fome, to kill with hunger; ás punhaladas, with dagger thrusts; cantar á viola, to sing with a viola; calçar aos pés, to wear on the feet. (See note § 8. 2.)

l. Measure, price, tax: medir a metros, to measure in meters; comprar ás arrobas, to buy by the arroba; vender a peso, to sell by weight; juros a cinco per cento, interest at five per cent.

m. Quantity: aos centos, by the hundreds; chover a bom chover, to pour down rain.

n. Manner of action (with infinitives): andar a saltar, to go jumping; ouvir passaros a cantar, to hear the birds a-singing.

o. Conformity: ao parecer, as it seems, a vontade, as much as one likes.

p. Object of reference: prompto a responder, ready to respond; apertar a mão a alguém, to press one's hand.

q. Hypothesis: a ser assim, so to be.

r. A and para, to, besides other relations, both express movement toward, but with this noteworthy difference: a contains the idea of returning, while para contains the idea of remaining. Vou a Europa and vou para Europa both mean I am going to Europe, and are both correct Portuguese, but the former means that I go to return, while the latter means I go to remain there.

In such expressions as está para chegar and está a chegar, he is about to arrive, both refer to future action, but para expresses a more remote and a a more immediate action.

142. In verse and colloquially com, with, sometimes drops the m when followed by the definite article: co'os teus or c'os teus, with thy, in place of com os teus.

On the preposition per see § 15d.

143. Pelo que is an idiomatic expression: pelo que dizem, from what they say; pelo que me toca, in so far as it concerns (touches) me.

distinto
famoso
illustre
notavel
responsavel

Examples of participles used as adjectives and requiring por:

banhado
cercado^[61]
conhecido
disperso
habitado^[61]
perseguido
povoado^[61]

144. The following are idiomatic prepositional expressions:

abaixo de, beneath acima de, on top of afim de, to the end that alem de, beyond ao redor de, around aquem de, this side of a roda de, about cerca de, about diantes de, before

de vez em quando, from time to time
junto de, near longe de, far from perto de, near por baixo de, below
por cima de, above

For prepositions required by certain verbs see § 122.

145. Conjunctions are either single as e,^[62] and, porem, but, que, than, or they are conjunctive phrases. Following are the more idiomatic of the conjunctive phrases:

ainda que, although, in spite of the fact that a não ser que, unless antes que, rather than, before apesar de, in spite of apesar de que, in spite of the fact that comtando que, so that, provided de maneira que, so that, in such a way that de modo que, so that, in such a way that depois que, after that de tal modo que, in such fashion that de tal sorte que, in such fashion that emquanto que, while, although entretanto que, whilst no caso que, in case that para que, in order that se bem que, although sem que, unless visto que, in view of the fact that

a. Than is usually que, but it is also expressed by de, de que, do que, da que: mais agua que café, more water than coffee; mais que vinte, more than twenty; mais do que é necessario, more than is necessary; mais de uma vez, more than once.

b. Either ... or are expressed by ou ... ou: ou pode ou não pode, either you can or you cannot.

c. Neither ... nor are expressed by não ... nem or by nem ... nem: não quero, nem posso, I neither wish nor can I; não tenho nem ouro nem prata, I have neither gold nor silver.

INTERJECTIONS

146. Interjections are single words as Oh, oxalá, would to God, or they are interjectional phrases as valha-me Deus! ai de mim! alas me! quem me dera, would that; tomára que elle venha, I wish he would come.

Interjectional phrases containing de such as ai de mim, infeliz de ti, pobre delle, are said to be elliptical; the complete expression would be something like: Ai (tem compaixão) de mim! infeliz (tenho compaixão) de ti! pobre (tenho compaixão) delle! (§ 139e) coitado! coitadinha!

ABBREVIATIONS USED IN WRITING

147. There are several abbreviations of Latin origin that are the same as those in English, such as A. D. for anno domini, etc. for et cetera, P. S. for post scriptum, and the like. In addition there are many abbreviations for Portuguese words, the most common of which are given in the following list. These are used extensively in correspondence, and in the official documents.

SIMILARITY OF WORDS IN THE TWO LANGUAGES

One of the difficulties sometimes encountered by a beginner of Portuguese comes from a misleading similarity of certain words in the two languages. A few such words are here brought together to illustrate and emphasize this feature of the language, but the list is not complete.

It is noticeable that words of this kind are chiefly from the Latin, and that they have descended to the English language with one of their meanings emphasized, and to the Portuguese with another. It should be noted, however, that the meanings given are the common rather than the only ones.

FOOTNOTES:

[59] Logo is an unusually elastic adverb meaning all the way from right now to never.

[60] Nova Gramatica Portuguesa de Bento José de Oliveira, 26a ed. Coimbra, 1904, p. 98.

[61] Cercado, habitado, and povoado also admit of de, as cercado de amigos, surrounded by friends.

[62] The conjunction e, and, is sounded almost as if it were i, and when written is distinguished from é, is, by the latter always having the acute accent.

[63] São, Santo and Santa, Saint. São is a short form of Santo, and is used before names beginning with a consonant, as São José, São Tomaz. Santo is used before words beginning with a vowel, as Santo Antonio, Santo Ignacio. Santa is the feminine form and is used before feminine nouns; the final a is dropped when the name begins with a vowel, as Sant' Anna.

1. A secca: «Quem, pela primeira vez, percorre o sertão nessa quadra, depois de longa sêcca, sente confranger-se-lhe a alma até os ultimos refólhos em face dessa inanição da vida, desse imenso holocausto da terra.

É mais funebre de que um cemitério. Na cidade dos mortos as lousas estão cercadas por uma vegetação, que viça e floresce; mas aqui a vida abandona a terra, e toda essa região, que se estende por centenas de leguas, não é mais do que o vasto jazigo de uma natureza extincta e o sepulchro da propria criação.

Das torrentes caudáes restam apenas os leitos estanques, onde não se percebe mais nem vestigios da agua que os assoberbava. Sábe-se que alli houve um rio pela depressão, as vezes imperceptivel, do terreno e pela areia alva e fina, que o enxurro lavou.»—JOSÉ DE ALENCAR.

EXAMPLES OF STYLE

The following are examples of the styles of several of the best writers of Portuguese.

The literary form of the Portuguese of the Bible differs in some essential respects from the language used in every-day life just as it does in English. The following from a late translation of the New Testament will serve as an example.

THE NEW TESTAMENT

«Os Santos Evangelhos e o livro dos actos dos Apostolos, Versão fiel do original Grego» [Rio de Janeiro, 1907] S. Matheus, vi. 1-23. Matthew, vi. 1-23.

«Guardae-vos de fazer as vossas boas obras diante dos homens, para serdes vistos por elles; de outra sorte não tendes recompensa junto de vosso Pae que está nos céos.

Quando, pois, deres esmola, não faças tocar a trombeta diante de ti, como fazem os hypocritas nas synagogas e nas ruas, para serem honrados dos homens; em verdade vos digo que já receberam a sua recompensa. Tu porém, quando deres esmolas, não saiba a tua mão esquerda o que faz a tua direita, para que a tua esmola fique em secreto; e teu Pae que vê em secreto, te retribuirá.

Quando orardes, não sejaes como os hypocritas; porque elles gostam de orar em pé nas synagogas e nos cantos das ruas, para serem vistos dos homens; em verdade vos digo que já receberam a sua recompensa. Tu, porém, quando orares, entra no teu quarto e, fechada a porta, ora a teu Pae que está em secreto; e teu Pae que vê em secreto, te retribuirá. Quando orares, não useis de repetições desnecessarias como os Gentios; porque pensam que pelo seu muito falar serão ouvidos. Não sejaes, pois, como elles;

Pae nosso que estás nos céos;
sanctificado seja o teu nome;
venha o teu reino;
seja feita a tua vontade, assim na terra como no céu.
O pão nosso de cada dia nos dá hoje;
e perdoa-nos as nossas dividas, assim como nós
tambem perdoamos aos nossos devedores;
e não nos deixes cair em tentação, mas livra-nos do mal.

Porque se perdoardes aos homens as suas offensas, tembem vosso Pae celestial vos perdoará; mas se não perdoardes aos homens, tão pouco vosso Pae perdoará, as vossas offensas.

Quando jejuardes, não tomeis um ar triste como os hypocritas; porque elles desfiguram os seus rostos para fazer ver aos homens que elles estão jejuando; em verdade vos digo que já receberam a sua recompensa. Tu, porém, quando jejuares, unge a cabeça e lava o rosto para não mostrar aos homens que jejuas, mas sómente a teu Pae que está em secreto; e teu Pae que vê em secreto, te retribuirá.

Não ajunteis para vós thesouros na terra, onde a traça e a ferrugem os consomem, e onde os ladrões penetram e roubam; mas ajuntae para vós thesouros no céu, onde nem a traça nem a ferrugem os consomem, e onde os ladrões não penetram nem roubam; porque onde estiver o teu thesouro, ahi estará tambem o teu coração. Os olhos são a luz do corpo. Se elles, pois forem simples, todo o corpo será luminoso; mas se forem maus, todo o teu corpo ficará ás escuras. Se, portanto, a luz que ha em ti, são trevas; quão densas são as trevas!»

Alexandre Herculano (1810-1877) is a distinguished Portuguese poet, historian, and novelist. The first edition of his classic “Historia de Portugal” was published in 1846. The following extracts are from the 6th edition of that work printed at Lisbon in 1901.

(The First Crusade. Vol. I, p. 199.)

«Um grande acontecimento, cujas consequencias foram immensas para o progresso da civilisação, preocupava por esse tempo os animos em toda a Europa e em grande parte da Asia. A primeira cruzada, promovida pelo eremita Pedro e pelas eloquentes palavras de Urbano II no concilio de Clermont, tinha arrojado para a Syria cem mil homens d’armas seguidos de uma turba innumeravel de individuos de todas as condições e de ambos os sexos. Depois de longa viagem, em que a miseria, os vicios, as doenças e a guerra reduziram a bem pequeno numero essa multidão desordenada, Jerusalem caíra nas mãos dos cruzados, e os guerreiros que não se tinham armado para a conquista dos lugares sanctos puderam ir ainda, após os mais fervorosos, ajudar a defender a monarchia christã^[67] fundada na Palestina e ganhar ahi a gloria e a opulencia ou a remissão de passados crimes, remissão que a igreja concedia com mão larga aos que, pondo sobre o hombro esquerdo a cruz vermelha, se votavam á trabalhosa e arriscada peregrinação do ultramar. Seis annos depois da primeira invasão, em 1101, uma segunda cruzada partiu para o oriente, cujos successos desastrados não impediram que novos peregrinos se fossem precipitar naquelle vasto sorvedouro de quantos homens de fé viva tinha a Europa e tambem de quantas fézes de corrupção, cubiça e ferocidade havia nella. Para as almas crentes ou devoradas de remorsos a Syria era a piscina da rehabilitação moral: para os ambiciosos e devassos fonte inexgotavel de fortuna e de deleites. As paixões boas e más ligavam-se num pensamento unico—o demandar o oriente; porque tanto a vida como a morte offereciam ao que partia uma perspectiva de felicidade.»

(The Moors of Spain and Portugal in the twelfth century. Vol. I, 349-350.)

(The death of Affonso I of Portugal. Vol. I, 463-464.)

«No longo crepusculo de velhice aborrida e enferma, o coração do valente Affonso I ainda pôde dilatar-se pela ultima vez nos contentamentos de uma grande victoria. A sua boa espada repousava havia muito na bainha juncto do seu leito de dôr; mas consolá-lo-hia a certeza de que deixava um filho digno delle no esforço, e uma nação cheia de energia e de esperanza, a qual lhe devia quasi inteiramente a sua vida politica. A resistencia invencivel que as forças de terra e de mar do imperio mussulmano tinham encontrado em Portugal provava-lhe que o povo educado por elle passara em curtos annos de debil infancia a juventude robusta. O edeficio da independencia nacional, desenhado pelo conde Henrique, cimentado por D. Theresa e realizado de todo o ponto por elle, achava-se, enfim, concluido com a segurança necessaria para resistir á destruidora acção dos séculos . . .

O ultimo anno da vida de Affonso I passou sem que a historia tivesse nada que mencionar acerca deste principe. O guerreiro como que já dormitava no somno da morte, que em breve devia cerrar-lhe perpetuamente as pálpebras. Apenas alguns documentos dessa época nos mostram que nos seus derradeiros dias não abandonou de todo o leme do estado, ao passo que se mostrava ainda liberal para a igreja, com quem sempre repartira largamente os fructos das suas conquistas. Veio, enfim, a fallecer a 6 de dezembro de 1185 depois de governar este pais com os titulos d'infante e de principe doze annos e com o de rei quarenta e cinco. Ordenara elle que o enterrassem no mosteiro de Sancta Cruz de Coimbra, onde jaziam tambem as cinzas de sua esposa D. Mafalda. Ahi, de feito, descansou finalmente aquelle corpo gasto de tantas lidas em sepultura modesta, conforme permittia a rudeza dos tempos, até que elrei D. Manuel lhe alevantou o rico mausoléo em que ainda hoje se guardam os ossos do fundador da monarchia.»

Almeida Garrett (João Baptista da Silva Leitão, Visconde d' Almeida, 1799-1854) the most popular poet of Portugal published some twenty-seven volumes of poems, plays, history, etc.

The following extract is from a poem entitled "Camões," canto V, stanza XI. The first edition of this poem appeared in 1825.

CINTRA

«Oh Cintra! oh saudosissimo retiro,
Onde se esquecem mágoas, onde folga
De se olvidar no seio á natureza
Pensamentos que imbala adormecido
O sussurro das folhas, c'o murmurio
Das despenhadas lymphas misturado!
Quem, descansando á fresca sombra tua,

Sonhou senão venturas? Quem, sentado
No musgo de tuas rocas escarpadas,
Espairecendo os olhos satisfeitos
Por céos, por mares, por montanhas, prados,
Por quanto ha hi^[68] mais bello no universo,
Não sentiu arrobar-se-lhe a existencia,
Poisar-lhe o coração suavemente
Sobre esquecidas penas, amarguras,
Ancias, labor da vida?—Oh grutas frias,
Oh gemedoras fontes, oh suspiros
De namoradas selvas, brandas veigas,
Verdes outeiros, gigantescas serras!
Não vos verei eu mais, delicias d'alma?
Troncos onde eu cortei queridos nomes
D'amisade e de amor, não hei de um dia
Perguntar-vos por elles? Soletrando
Não irei pelas arvores crescidas
Os caracteres que, em tenrinhas plantas,
Pelas verdes cortiças lh'entalhára!
Oh! se inda^[69] eu vos verei! . . .»

Joaquim Nabuco (born in the province of Pernambuco, Brazil, in 1847; died at Washington January 17, 1910) was one of the ablest and best-known of Brazilian statesmen, diplomats, and writers.

The following extract from “Minha Formação,” Paris, 1900, pages 223-225, is a good example of his writing, and at the same time throws light upon his character and upon his career as the leader of the antislavery movement in Brazil.

tudo quasi que restava da opulenta fabrica, como se chamava o quadro da escravatura . . . Em baixo, na planície, brilhavam como outr'ora as manchas verdes dos grandes cannaviaes, mas a usina agora fumegava e assobiava com um vapor agudo, annunciando uma vida nova. A almanjarra^[70] desaparecera no passado. O trabalho livre tinha tomado o lugar em grande parte do trabalho escravo. O engenho apresentava do lado do «porto» o aspecto de uma colonia; da casa velha não ficára vestigio . . . O sacrificio dos pobres negros que haviam incorporado as suas vidas ao futuro d'aquella propriedade, não existia mais talvez senão na minha lembrança . . . Debaixo dos meus pés estava tudo o que restava d'elles, defronte dos columbaria onde dormiam na estreita capella aquelles que elles haviam amado e livremente servido. Sosinho alli, invoquei todas as minhas reminiscencias, chamei-os a muitos pelos nomes, aspirei no ar carregado de aromas agrestes, que entretém a vegetação sobre suas covas, o sopro que lhes dilatava o coração e lhes inspirava a sua alegria perpetua. Foi assim que o problema moral da escravidão se desenhou pela primeira vez aos meus olhos em sua nitidez perfeita e com sua solução obrigatoria. Não só esses escravos não se tinham queixado de sua senhora, como a tinham até o fim abençoado . . . A gratidão estava do lado de quem dava. Elles morreram acreditando-se os devedores . . . seu carinho não teria deixado germinar a mais leve suspeita de que o senhor pudesse ter uma obrigação para com elles, que lhe pertenciam . . . Deus conservára alli o coração do escravo, como o do animal fiel, longe do contacto com tudo que o pudesse revoltar contra a sua dedicação. Esse perdão espontaneo da divida do senhor pelos escravos figurou-se-me a amnistia para os paizes que cresceram pela escravidão, o meio de escaparem a um dos piores taliões da historia . . . Oh! os Santos pretos! seriam elles os intercessores pela nossa infeliz terra, que regaram com seu sangue, mas abençoaram com seu amor! Eram essas as idéas que me vinham entre aquelles tumulos, para mim, todos elles, sagrados, e então alli mesmo, aos vinte annos, formei a resolução de votar a minha vida, si assim me fosse dado, ao serviço da raça generosa entre todas que a desigualdade da sua condição enternecia em vez de azedar e que por sua doçura no soffrimento emprestava até mesmo á oppressão de que era victima um reflexo de bondade . . .»

Julia Lopes d' Almeida, native of the province of S. Paulo, Brazil, is the authoress of many romances and other writings. She has a charming straightforwardness and simplicity of style. She is the one writer who has had the artistic insight to appreciate, and the courage to set down in its true form, the language of the caipiras and of the old slaves. The following brief example taken from “A Familia Medeiros” 2a ed. S. Paulo 1894, 261-265, will give an idea of the character of the patois of the interior of S. Paulo. The correct words inserted in brackets do not, of course, appear in the original.

«Eram seis horas da manhã quando Octavio, accordando, ouviu dois caipiras dialogarem sob a janella do seu quarto. Dizia um:

—Seu [Senhor] Romão já disse qui o mais fólte di nois tudo [forte de nos todos] é o Braz . . .

—Tché!^[Z1] na terra! o mais fólte di nois tudo [forte de nos todos] sou eu!

—Seu Zé [Senhor José] Riba mandou chamá [chamar] um capanga di [de] fora, um tá Furctuoso! [tal Fructuoso]

—Eh! sae cinza!

—Os [o] coitado . . .

—Quê [probably for quem é] coitado?

—Da gente do dotô . . . [doutor]

—Foi nho [Senhor] Triguero que mandou chamá [chamar] mecê [vossa mercê]?

—Não foi não; eu vim trazê [trazer] um recado de nhô [Senhor] Juca, pro [para] móde [modo] elle í [ir] lá combiná [combinar] as [a] coisa; o diabo é que fica talde [tarde] e eu perciso [preciso] i mi [ir me] embora.

—Mecê [vossa mercê] foi convidado pra [para a] festa?

—Fui.

—Quem foi que convidou mecê? [vossa mercê]

—Nhô [Senhor] Carro [Carlos] de Lima, mais [mas] não vou não!

—Uê! Isso é o mesmo que pinchá [pinchar] dinheiro fóra!

—É . . . mais [mas] não vou. Eu quando vejo sangue fico tão patife [for covarde] que até chego a sê [ser] vil!

Ouvindo o nome de Fructuoso ligado áquellas palavras mysteriosas, Octavio ergueu-se e abriu a janella, mas já os dois caipiras se tinham afastado; um d’elles conversava com o Trigueirinhos, que o ouvia de rosto carregado; o outro desaparecia na porta do pateo com um feixe de palmitos ao hombro.

Estavam assim, quando ouviram o rodar de um trolly;^[72] chegavam os Francos. Noemia estremeceu e approximou-se instinctivamente da mãe, como a pedir-lhe misericordia e apoio.

Momentos depois, entravam na sala o coronel Cerqueira Franco e o filho.

O coronel era um velho robusto, alto, corpulento, de barba farta a encobrir-lhe todo o peito, andar pesado e grandes mãos cabelludas. O filho, egualmente alto e forte, tinha o aspecto agradável, o olhar sereno, um sorriso bondoso e feliz de creança posto nos grossos labios de um homem.

O commendador apresentou-o a Noemia, dizendo-lhe:

—Esta é que é vossa noiva!

Elle corou; ella, sem levantar os olhos, estendeu-lhe a mão, gelada e tremula.

Houve um instante de silencio, que o coronel Cerqueira Franco se apressou em cortar fallando num tom alto, com certa intimidade e alegria.

Voltando-se para o filho exclamou:

—Você tem uma noiva muito bonita; carece agora de tratá-la bem, ouviu? bonita e . . . commodá! porque é tão delicada que ha de ser por força muito leviana! [leve] cabe num canto do bolso de Julio!

Pouco depois, uma mucama chamou para o almoço.

Enchendo o seu prato de quiréra [milho pizado] e lombo de porco, o coronel Franco proseguia:

—D. Nicota, a senhora desculpe [desculpe] a franqueza! mas quando eu passei na cachoeira de Pirassununga, hontem de talde [tarde], tavam [estavam] caçando peixe [pescando], então apeguei de trazê [trazer] um dourado pra [para] sua ceia . . .» E dirigindo-se immediatamente ao Trigueirinhos:

—«Seu tio é bem bom . . . eu já pousei aqui na vizinhança uma noite, em casa do . . . de um chimbéva^[73] moreno. . . .»

—«O Prates?»

—«Isso! . . . não me lembrava [lembrava] o nome, era casado com uma moça da Limeira . . . oh! que mulher fogueta!»

Os outros riram-se; elle continuou:

—Estou ficando com os pés fria [frios]! acho que é porque a varanda é de tijolo! Trigueirinhos? vocês não aquecem fogo, não?

—Que sim, responderam. De vez em quando, no inverno, faziam fogo na sala de jantar, entre as redes; agora porem, em fevereiro, nem se lembravam d’isso!

O coronel Franco proseguiu fallando sempre, ora das suas propriedades em diversos locaes da provincia, ora do casamento do filho, etc. . . . Á sobremesa disse ter ouvido de dois passageiros, no trem, grandes injurias ás auctoridades de Casa Branca, e tambem que haveria nessa cidade uma revolução de escarvos! isso é que era o diabo! Deveria dar credito a semelhante boato? indagava elle, mastigando com a completa dentadura postiça o doce de abobora moranga, servido ás talhadas.

Antonio Gonçalves Dias (1824-1864) was a native of the province of Maranhão in Brazil, and was educated at the University of Coimbra in Portugal. He is the most popular of the Brazilian poets. Every Brazilian knows by heart his beautiful “canção do exilo” written at Coimbra in 1843.

CANÇÃO DO EXILO

Minha terra tem palmeiras,
Onde canta o Sabiá;^[74]
As aves, que aqui gorjeião,
Não gorjeião como lá.

Nosso céu tem mais estrellas,
Nossas varzeas tem mais flores,
Nossos bosques tem mais vida,
Nossa vida mais amores.

Em scismar, sósinho, á noite,
Mais prazer encontro eu lá;
Minha terra tem palmeiras,
Onde canta o Sabiá.

Minha terra tem primores,
Que taes não encontro eu cá;
Em scismar—sósinho, á noite—
Mais prazer encontro eu lá;
Minha terra tem palmeiras,
Onde canta o Sabiá.

Não permitta Deos que eu morra,
Sem que eu volte para lá;
Sem que desfructe os primores
Que não encontro por cá;
Sem qu'inda aviste as palmeiras,
Onde canta o Sabiá.

The Marquez de Maricá (1773-1848) one of the illustrious statesmen and litterateurs of Brazil was especially noted for his maxims, examples of which are given here.

MAXIMAS, PENSAMENTOS, E REFLEXÕES

Ninguém considera a sua ventura superior ao seu merito, mas todos se queixão das injustiças dos homens e da fortuna.

A modestia doura os talentos, a vaidade os deslustra.

Os abusos, como os dentes, nunca se arrancão sem dôres.

Quando o povo não acredita na probidade, a immoralidade é geral.

O moço devasso póde emendar-se, o velho vicioso he incurrigivel.

Os mais arrojados em fallar são ordinariamente os menos
profundos em saber.

A virtude resistindo se reforça.

A virtude he communicavel, mas o vicio contagioso.

Os governos fracos fazem fortes os ambiciosos e insurgentes.

Ninguém duvida tanto como aquelle que mais sabe.

A bravura é taciturna, mas a cobardia garrulenta.

Ninguém é grande homem em tudo e em todo o tempo.

Não é dado ao saber humano conhecer toda a extensão da sua ignorancia.

Os medicos accusão a natureza, os enfermos aos medicos.

Muita sciencia occasiona muita incerteza.

Nenhum governo é bom para os homens máos.

Soffrei privações na mocidade, e sereis regalados na velhice.

Queixamo-nos da fortuna para desculpar a nossa preguiça.

O odio e a guerra que declaramos aos outros nos gasta e consome a nós mesmos.

Velhos ha que bem merecem ser comparados aos volcões extinctos.

Os bons exemplos dos pais são as melhores lições e a melhor herança para os filhos.

A importunidade é algumas vezes mais feliz que o merecimento.

A liberdade é a que nos constitue entes moraes bons ou máos: é hum grande bem para quem tem juizo; e para quem o não tem, um mal gravissimo.

Não ha cousa mais facil que vencer os outros homens, nem mais difficil que vencer-nos a nós mesmos.

Entre as paixões humanas a ambição tem tanto de nobre como a avareza de ignobil.

Os nossos maiores inimigos existem dentro de nós mesmos: são os nossos erros, vicios e paixões.

Em algumas revoluções o jogo continúa como dantes, á excepção do barulho e jogadores que são novos.

As revoluções politicas, quando não melhorão, deteriorão, necessariamente a sorte das nações.

Não ha escravidão peor que a dos vicios e paixões.

Huma revolução feliz justifica os maiores crimes e os eleva á cathegoria de virtudes.

Deve-se usar da liberdade, como de vinho, com moderação e sobriedade.

A plena liberdade é como a pedra philosophal, procurada por muitos e por nenhum descoberta.

Ninguém é tão prudente em dispendir o seu dinheiro como aquelle que melhor conhece as difficuldades de o ganhar honradamente.

A força sem intelligencia é como o movimento sem direcção.

Não se apaga o fogo com resinas, nem a colera com más palavras.

Os ignorantes exagerão sempre mais que os intelligentes.

Os prazeres, como as rosas, estão bordados de espinhos; colhêlos sem ferir-se é o requinte da prudencia e habilidade humana.

Os pobres declamão contra a riqueza para se consolarem ou se justificarem de não serem ricos.

A melhor entidade da terra é huma boa mulher, a peor a que é má.

A desconfiança é o tormento dos velhos, receião-se de todos e de tudo.

A morte salda muitas contas que a vida não pode ajustar.

A melhor companhia acha-se em huma escolhida livraria.

Huma boa letra não annuncia vasta intelligencia, nem
huma eloquencia brilhante profunda sapiencia.

A ignorancia é mãe da superstição e fanatismo.

A gente moça não sabe apreciar os bens do que goza, nem
avaliar os males que não padece.

Os que sabem menos são ordinariamente os que fallão
mais.

Sem philosophia não ha sabedoria: quem não é philosopho não póde ser sabio.

Todos se accusão ou se queixão de pouco dinheiro,
nenhum de pouco juizo.

A litteratura ingleza deve servir de antidoto á franceza:
esta vicia, aquella moralisa os seus cultores.

A vaidade e um elemento muito importante da felicidade
humana.

Quem quizer saber-lhe da alma,
Nos seus livros a achará.

Luis de Camões (born at Lisbon in 1524, died in 1579) was the greatest literary genius ever produced by Portugal. His “Lusiádas” is the most celebrated poem in the Portuguese language. It is an epic, and treats of the discovery of India by the early Portuguese navigators.

The extracts that follow are from the first Canto of the “Lusiádas.” In verses VI to XVIII of the first Canto the poet addresses himself to Dom Sebastião who was king of Portugal from 1557 to 1578. At XIX the ships are under sail, and at xx Jupiter calls together the gods to decide the fate of the enterprise.

CANTO PRIMEIRO

VI

E vós, ó bem nascida segurança
Da Lusitana^[75] antiga liberdade,
E não menos certissima esperança
De augmento da pequena Christandade:
Vós, ó novo temor da Maura lança,
Maravilha fatal^[76] da nossa idade;
Dada ao mundo por Deos, que todo o mande,
Para do mundo a Deos dar parte grande:

Vós, tenro e novo ramo florecente
De huma arvore de Christo mais amada
Que nenhuma nascida no Occidente, Cesárea, ou Christianissima chamada:
Vêde-o no vosso escudo, que presente
Vos amostra a victoria já passada;
Na qual vos deo por armas, e deixou
As que elle para si na Cruz tomou:

VIII

Vós, poderoso Rei, cujo alto imperio
O Sol logo em nascendo vê primeiro;
Vê-o tambem no meio do hemispherio;
E quando desce, o deixa derradeiro:
Vós, que esperâmos jugo, e vituperio
Do torpe Ismaelita cavalleiro,
Do Turco oriental, e do Gentio
Que inda^[77] bebe o licor^[78] do sancto^[79] rio.

IX

Inclinai por hum pouco a magestade,
Que nesse tenro gesto vos contemplo;
Que já se mostra qual na inteira idade,
Quando subindo ireis ao eterno templo.
Os olhos da Real benignidade
Ponde no chão: vereis hum novo exemplo
De amor dos patrios feitos valerosos,
Em versos divulgado numerosos.

XIX

Já no largo Oceano navegavam,
As inquietas ondas apartando;
Os ventos brandamente respiravam,
Das náos as velas concavas inchando:
Da branca espuma os mares se mostravam
Cobertos, onde as proas vão cortando
As maritimas aguas consagradas, Que do gado de Proteo são cortadas.

xx

Quando os deoses^[80] no Olympto luminoso,
Onde o governo está da humana gente,
Se ajuntam em concilio glorioso
Sobre as cousas futuras do Oriente:
Pisando o crystallino céu formoso,
Vem pela via Lactea juntamente,
Convocados da parte do Tonante^[81]
Pelo neto gentil do velho Atlante.

Updated editions will replace the previous one—the old editions will be renamed.

Creating the works from print editions not protected by U.S. copyright law means that no one owns a United States copyright in these works, so the Foundation (and you!) can copy and distribute it in the United States without permission and without paying copyright royalties. Special rules, set forth in the General Terms of Use part of this license, apply to copying and distributing Project Gutenberg™ electronic works to protect the PROJECT GUTENBERG™ concept and trademark. Project Gutenberg is a registered trademark, and may not be used if you charge for an eBook, except by following the terms of the trademark license, including paying royalties for use of the Project Gutenberg trademark. If you do not charge anything for copies of this eBook, complying with the trademark license is very easy. You may use this eBook for nearly any purpose such as creation of derivative works, reports, performances and research. Project Gutenberg eBooks may be modified and printed and given away—you may do practically ANYTHING in the United States with eBooks not protected by U.S. copyright law. Redistribution is subject to the trademark license, especially commercial redistribution.

START: FULL LICENSE

THE FULL PROJECT GUTENBERG™ LICENSE

PLEASE READ THIS BEFORE YOU DISTRIBUTE OR USE THIS WORK

To protect the Project Gutenberg™ mission of promoting the free distribution of electronic works, by using or distributing this work (or any other work associated in any way with the phrase “Project Gutenberg”), you agree to comply with all the terms of the Full Project Gutenberg License available with this file or online at www.gutenberg.org/license.

Section 1. General Terms of Use and Redistributing Project Gutenberg electronic works

1.A. By reading or using any part of this Project Gutenberg electronic work, you indicate that you have read, understand, agree to and accept all the terms of this license and intellectual property (trademark/copyright) agreement. If you do not agree to abide by all the terms of this agreement, you must cease using and return or destroy all copies of Project Gutenberg electronic works in your possession. If you paid a fee for obtaining a copy of or access to a Project Gutenberg electronic work and you do not agree to be bound by the terms of this agreement, you may obtain a refund from the person or entity to whom you paid the fee as set forth in paragraph 1.E.8.

1.B. “Project Gutenberg” is a registered trademark. It may only be used on or associated in any way with an electronic work by people who agree to be bound by the terms of this agreement. There are a few things that you can do with most Project Gutenberg electronic works even without complying with the full terms of this agreement. See paragraph 1.C below. There are a lot of things you can do with Project Gutenberg electronic works if you follow the terms of this agreement and help preserve free future access to Project Gutenberg electronic works. See paragraph 1.E below.

1.C. The Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation (“the Foundation” or PGLAF), owns a compilation copyright in the collection of Project Gutenberg electronic works. Nearly all the individual works in the collection are in the public domain in the United States. If an individual work is unprotected by copyright law in the United States and you are located in the United States, we do not claim a right to prevent you from copying, distributing, performing, displaying or creating derivative works based on the work as long as all references to Project Gutenberg are removed. Of course, we hope that you will support the Project Gutenberg mission of promoting free access to electronic works by freely sharing Project Gutenberg works in compliance with the terms of this agreement for keeping the Project Gutenberg name associated with the work. You can easily comply with the terms of this agreement by keeping this work in the same format with its attached full Project Gutenberg License when you share it without charge with others.

1.D. The copyright laws of the place where you are located also govern what you can do with this work. Copyright laws in most countries are in a constant state of change. If you are outside the United States, check the laws of your country in addition to the terms of this agreement before downloading, copying, displaying, performing, distributing or creating derivative works based on this work or any other Project Gutenberg work. The Foundation makes no representations concerning the copyright status of any work in any country other than the United States.

1.E. Unless you have removed all references to Project Gutenberg:

1.E.1. The following sentence, with active links to, or other immediate access to, the full Project Gutenberg License must appear prominently whenever any copy of a Project Gutenberg work (any work on which the phrase “Project Gutenberg” appears, or with which the phrase “Project Gutenberg” is associated) is accessed, displayed, performed, viewed, copied or distributed:

This eBook is for the use of anyone anywhere in the United States and most other parts of the world at no cost and with almost no restrictions whatsoever. You may copy it, give it away or re-use it under the terms of the Project Gutenberg™ License included with this eBook or online at www.gutenberg.org. If you are not located in the United States, you will have to check the laws of the country where you are located before using this eBook.

1.E.2. If an individual Project Gutenberg electronic work is derived from texts not protected by U.S. copyright law (does not contain a notice indicating that it is posted with permission of the copyright holder), the work can be copied and distributed to anyone in the United States without paying any fees or charges. If you are redistributing or providing access to a work with the phrase “Project Gutenberg” associated with or appearing on the work, you must comply either with the requirements of paragraphs 1.E.1 through 1.E.7 or obtain permission for the use of the work and the Project Gutenberg trademark as set forth in paragraphs 1.E.8 or 1.E.9.

1.E.3. If an individual Project Gutenberg electronic work is posted with the permission of the copyright holder, your use and distribution must comply with both paragraphs 1.E.1 through 1.E.7 and any additional terms imposed by the copyright holder. Additional terms will be linked to the Project Gutenberg License for all works posted with the permission of the copyright holder found at the beginning of this work.

1.E.4. Do not unlink or detach or remove the full Project Gutenberg License terms from this work, or any files containing a part of this work or any other work associated with Project Gutenberg.

1.E.5. Do not copy, display, perform, distribute or redistribute this electronic work, or any part of this electronic work, without prominently displaying the sentence set forth in paragraph 1.E.1 with active links or immediate access to the full terms of the Project Gutenberg License.

1.E.6. You may convert to and distribute this work in any binary, compressed, marked up, nonproprietary or proprietary form, including any word processing or hypertext form. However, if you provide access to or distribute copies of a Project Gutenberg work in a format other than “Plain Vanilla ASCII” or other format used in the official version posted on the official Project Gutenberg website (www.gutenberg.org), you must, at no additional cost, fee or expense to the user, provide a copy, a means of exporting a copy, or a means of obtaining a copy upon request, of the work in its original “Plain Vanilla ASCII” or other form. Any alternate format must include the full Project Gutenberg License as specified in paragraph 1.E.1.

1.E.7. Do not charge a fee for access to, viewing, displaying, performing, copying or distributing any Project Gutenberg works unless you comply with paragraph 1.E.8 or 1.E.9.

1.E.8. You may charge a reasonable fee for copies of or providing access to or distributing Project Gutenberg electronic works provided that:

- You pay a royalty fee of 20% of the gross profits you derive from the use of Project Gutenberg works calculated using the method you already use to calculate your applicable taxes. The fee is owed to the owner of the Project Gutenberg trademark, but he has agreed to donate royalties under this paragraph to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation. Royalty payments must be paid within 60 days following each date on which you prepare (or are legally required to prepare) your periodic tax returns. Royalty payments should be clearly marked as such and sent to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation at the address specified in Section 4, “Information about donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation.”
- You provide a full refund of any money paid by a user who notifies you in writing (or by e-mail) within 30 days of receipt that s/he does not agree to the terms of the full Project Gutenberg™ License. You must require such a user to return or destroy all copies of the works possessed in a physical medium and discontinue all use of and all access to other copies of Project Gutenberg™ works.

- You provide, in accordance with paragraph 1.F.3, a full refund of any money paid for a work or a replacement copy, if a defect in the electronic work is discovered and reported to you within 90 days of receipt of the work.
- You comply with all other terms of this agreement for free distribution of Project Gutenberg™ works.

1.E.9. If you wish to charge a fee or distribute a Project Gutenberg™ electronic work or group of works on different terms than are set forth in this agreement, you must obtain permission in writing from the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation, the manager of the Project Gutenberg™ trademark. Contact the Foundation as set forth in Section 3 below.

1.F.

1.F.1. Project Gutenberg volunteers and employees expend considerable effort to identify, do copyright research on, transcribe and proofread works not protected by U.S. copyright law in creating the Project Gutenberg™ collection. Despite these efforts, Project Gutenberg™ electronic works, and the medium on which they may be stored, may contain “Defects,” such as, but not limited to, incomplete, inaccurate or corrupt data, transcription errors, a copyright or other intellectual property infringement, a defective or damaged disk or other medium, a computer virus, or computer codes that damage or cannot be read by your equipment.

1.F.2. LIMITED WARRANTY, DISCLAIMER OF DAMAGES - Except for the “Right of Replacement or Refund” described in paragraph 1.F.3, the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation, the owner of the Project Gutenberg™ trademark, and any other party distributing a Project Gutenberg™ electronic work under this agreement, disclaim all liability to you for damages, costs and expenses, including legal fees. YOU AGREE THAT YOU HAVE NO REMEDIES FOR NEGLIGENCE, STRICT LIABILITY, BREACH OF WARRANTY OR BREACH OF CONTRACT EXCEPT THOSE PROVIDED IN PARAGRAPH 1.F.3. YOU AGREE THAT THE FOUNDATION, THE TRADEMARK OWNER, AND ANY DISTRIBUTOR UNDER THIS AGREEMENT WILL NOT BE LIABLE TO YOU FOR ACTUAL, DIRECT, INDIRECT, CONSEQUENTIAL, PUNITIVE OR INCIDENTAL DAMAGES EVEN IF YOU GIVE NOTICE OF THE POSSIBILITY OF SUCH DAMAGE.

1.F.3. LIMITED RIGHT OF REPLACEMENT OR REFUND - If you discover a defect in this electronic work within 90 days of receiving it, you can receive a refund of the money (if any) you paid for it by sending a written explanation to the person you received the work from. If you received the work on a physical medium, you must return the medium with your written explanation. The person or entity that provided you with the defective work may elect to provide a replacement copy in lieu of a refund. If you received the work electronically, the person or entity providing it to you may choose to give you a second opportunity to receive the work electronically in lieu of a refund. If the second copy is also defective, you may demand a refund in writing without further opportunities to fix the problem.

1.F.4. Except for the limited right of replacement or refund set forth in paragraph 1.F.3, this work is provided to you 'AS-IS', WITH NO OTHER WARRANTIES OF ANY KIND, EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY OR FITNESS FOR ANY PURPOSE.

1.F.5. Some states do not allow disclaimers of certain implied warranties or the exclusion or limitation of certain types of damages. If any disclaimer or limitation set forth in this agreement violates the law of the state applicable to this agreement, the agreement shall be interpreted to make the maximum disclaimer or limitation permitted by the applicable state law. The invalidity or unenforceability of any provision of this agreement shall not void the remaining provisions.

1.F.6. INDEMNITY - You agree to indemnify and hold the Foundation, the trademark owner, any agent or employee of the Foundation, anyone providing copies of Project Gutenberg™ electronic works in accordance with this agreement, and any volunteers associated with the production, promotion and distribution of Project Gutenberg™ electronic works, harmless from all liability, costs and expenses, including legal fees, that arise directly or indirectly from any of the following which you do or cause to occur: (a) distribution of this or any Project Gutenberg work, (b) alteration, modification, or additions or deletions to any Project Gutenberg work, and (c) any Defect you cause.

Section 2. Information about the Mission of Project Gutenberg

Project Gutenberg is synonymous with the free distribution of electronic works in formats readable by the widest variety of computers including obsolete, old, middle-aged and new computers. It exists because of the efforts of hundreds of volunteers and donations from people in all walks of life.

Volunteers and financial support to provide volunteers with the assistance they need are critical to reaching Project Gutenberg's goals and ensuring that the Project Gutenberg collection will remain freely available for generations to come. In 2001, the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation was created to provide a secure and permanent future for Project Gutenberg and future generations. To learn more about the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation and how your efforts and donations can help, see Sections 3 and 4 and the Foundation information page at www.gutenberg.org.

Section 3. Information about the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

The Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation is a non-profit 501(c)(3) educational corporation organized under the laws of the state of Mississippi and granted tax exempt status by the Internal Revenue Service. The Foundation's EIN or federal tax identification number is 64-6221541. Contributions to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation are tax deductible to the full extent permitted by U.S. federal laws and your state's laws.

The Foundation's business office is located at 41 Watchung Plaza #516, Montclair NJ 07042, USA, +1 (862) 621-9288. Email contact links and up to date contact information can be found at the Foundation's website and official page at www.gutenberg.org/contact

Section 4. Information about Donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

Project Gutenberg™ depends upon and cannot survive without widespread public support and donations to carry out its mission of increasing the number of public domain and licensed works that can be freely distributed in machine-readable form accessible by the widest array of equipment including outdated equipment. Many small donations ($1 to $5,000) are particularly important to maintaining tax exempt status with the IRS.

The Foundation is committed to complying with the laws regulating charities and charitable donations in all 50 states of the United States. Compliance requirements are not uniform and it takes a considerable effort, much paperwork and many fees to meet and keep up with these requirements. We do not solicit donations in locations where we have not received written confirmation of compliance. To SEND DONATIONS or determine the status of compliance for any particular state visit www.gutenberg.org/donate.

While we cannot and do not solicit contributions from states where we have not met the solicitation requirements, we know of no prohibition against accepting unsolicited donations from donors in such states who approach us with offers to donate.

International donations are gratefully accepted, but we cannot make any statements concerning tax treatment of donations received from outside the United States. U.S. laws alone swamp our small staff.

Please check the Project Gutenberg web pages for current donation methods and addresses. Donations are accepted in a number of other ways including checks, online payments and credit card donations. To donate, please visit: www.gutenberg.org/donate.

Section 5. General Information About Project Gutenberg electronic works

Professor Michael S. Hart was the originator of the Project Gutenberg concept of a library of electronic works that could be freely shared with anyone. For forty years, he produced and distributed Project Gutenberg eBooks with only a loose network of volunteer support.

Project Gutenberg eBooks are often created from several printed editions, all of which are confirmed as not protected by copyright in the U.S. unless a copyright notice is included. Thus, we do not necessarily keep eBooks in compliance with any particular paper edition.

Most people start at our website which has the main PG search facility: www.gutenberg.org.

This website includes information about Project Gutenberg, including how to make donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation, how to help produce our new eBooks, and how to subscribe to our email newsletter to hear about new eBooks.
