REPORT.

THE Committee of the Horncastle Tee-total Society have great pleasure in bringing before the public their first printed Report, and are grateful to acknowledge the success which has attended their labours, in connexion with other friends of the Temperance cause; and notwithstanding the opposition they have had to contend with, the cause is still progressing in numbers, and exercising a mighty influence on the social and domestic habits of the community at large.

The first public meeting to explain the principles of total abstinence in Horncastle, was held in the British School Room, in November, 1836, on which occasion Mr. Biscombe Agent of the British Association for the suppression of intemperance, delivered a lecture, when fifteen signed the pledge. On the first of June, John Hocking, the Birmingham Blacksmith, delivered a second lecture in the old Methodist Chapel, which produced a powerful impression on the minds of the hearers, a great number gave in their names, and the society became regularly organized; and thus six years ago the foundation of this society was laid, and by the laborious exertions, and untiring zeal of a few individuals, who with little influence, and still less money, but with feelings of sympathy for suffering humanity, applied themselves with ardour and perseverance to propagate its principles, to improve and ameliorate the condition of those, who, through the use of strong drink, were sunk into the lowest depths of poverty and degradation, to which it was possible for human nature to arrive, and also to raise an impassable barrier, to the progress of what undoubtedly is the greatest curse that ever afflicted this or any other country. And it is owing to the valuable services of those persons, who, in the face of the most determined opposition, and the indifference of others from whom was expected better things, that this society under the approbation of providence now holds its present position and influence in the town and vicinity.

The committee have still cause to regret, that notwithstanding the flood of light, and truth, and knowledge, which has issued from the press and found its way into almost every nook and corner of our land, and the testimonies of living witnesses in every direction, around us, there still exists a great amount of ignorance, prejudice, and secret opposition to the onward progress of this glorious and god-like institution, proving too plainly that man is still a slave to interest and appetite, but being fully persuaded that the principles of the temperance cause are based on truth, which cannot be successfully controverted, and having within its bosom, a great many of the most eminent Ministers both in and out of the establishment, and medical gentlemen of the highest authority; and also having outlived the violence of many a storm and now being firmly established, they look forward to the period when this society will not have to expend its money and its energies in reclaiming the drunkard, but in preserving the rising generation as they attain to years of discretion, from ever becoming such.

The Horncastle Tee-Total Society numbers at present 530 Members, of which 300 are adults, and 230 juveniles, including a great many reclaimed drunkards who have been raised from destitution and want, to a state of happiness and enjoyment.

In laying before the public the claims of the temperance cause, in order to secure a greater amount of their attention and support, the committee scarcely know what farther motives to urge most likely to exert a practical influence on their minds, which have not already been brought forward both at public meetings, and by the circulation of tracts, sermons, &c. by thousands, (the talent and production of eminent men) called into existence by the temperance cause. The experience of millions in the United Kingdom prove to a demonstration that the use of alcoholic drinks are unnecessary for the health and comfort of man; there are sixty thousand of our fellow creatures, in this country alone every year falling a prey, to the influence of this spirit upon their system, and be it remembered their numbers are made up from those who boast of their temperance, and would shudder at the thought of ever becoming drunkards; see also the vast amount of poverty, disease, and destitution which the prevalence of this evil entails upon millions of our fellow countrymen which is not confined to the drunkard alone; there are also fifty millions sterling annually spent without a murmur, producing crime beyond calculation, when not the fiftieth part of that sum is raised by all the benevolent and religious institutions together, for the lessening of human woe, the circulation of the scriptures, and the evangelization of the world: let us reverse the picture, and in this town we see homes transformed from the abodes of wretchedness and misery to scenes of comfort and happiness; we could name fifty who were victims of inebriety in its worst forms, persons in every sphere of life once in the most dreadful state of ignorance and brutality, now become sober, clothed, fed, and in their right minds, attending places of worship instead of the public house or taproom; these are reasons, which ought to weigh powerfully on the minds of those who wish well to their fellow men, in effectually bringing about a mighty co-operation, for the speedy accomplishment of those happy results, which this society has in view.

Here is an object worthy the attention and employment of every one, and in securing which, all distinctions and differences may be set aside, here neither religious nor political sentiments need intervene to prevent that union of effort which is required ere our principles are fully secured, but every one may cast in their portion of assistance and influence until the effort thus made, shall entirely sweep away from our country, the chief, if not the greatest curse, that ever came upon it.

The Society (as will be seen by the cash account) is in arrears with the Treasurer; an appeal will therefore be made to the public to enable the committee to liquidate the same and meet the current expenses of the society, as much greater effort requires to be made to put down drunkenness which still abounds to a great extent.

Annexed are the Testimonies of a few individuals (in this town, and well known to many) who once classed amongst the most degraded and debased,—they are now trophies of our cause, and are commanding respect and esteem in their respective localities many more might be named if required.

No. 1. Robert Baildham, Sen., became a drunkard at 18 years of age, owing to the example of an intemperate master, and continued a drunkard for 33 years, so that himself and family were at times reduced to the greatest distress and poverty, wanting the common necessities of life,—has been a Teetotaller nearly 7 years: he has now food and raiment, a comfortable home, gained credit, and become a respectable member.

No. 2. John Wright, never tasted ale until 34 years of age, afterwards became a drunkard and continued so 18 years, having expended about £500, depriving himself and family of the common necessities of life, causing them to suffer many deprivations,—has been a Teetotaller 3 years, and is now possessing every enjoyment a working man can desire.

No. 3. William Markwell, commenced a seafaring life at the age of 18 years, learnt to drink, and became a drunkard, which course he followed more or less until he was 60 years old, during that long period he set all at defiance, his character is too well known to need further description, suffice it to say he has been a Teetotaller upwards of 6 years, he is content and comfortable in his circumstances, and enjoys better health than he did for 20 years previous.

No. 4. James Taylor, for a length of time given to drink has been a Teetotaller 4 years, consequently has become a respectable man.

No. 5. William Jordan, Thomas, Jordan, William Turner, Thomas Heath, James Barker, Christopher Hunter, and John Towell, Brick-makers, in Mr. Harrison's Yard, were all drunkards, some of them to a great extent, spending their time and money in public houses, to the injury of their families and the annoyance of their employer,—have now been Teetotallers 6 years, and not a gill of ale has been in the yard since. Themselves and families are comfortable, enjoying good health; and following a most laborious employment.

Section 2. Information about the Mission of Project Gutenberg

Project Gutenberg is synonymous with the free distribution of electronic works in formats readable by the widest variety of computers including obsolete, old, middle-aged and new computers. It exists because of the efforts of hundreds of volunteers and donations from people in all walks of life.

Volunteers and financial support to provide volunteers with the assistance they need are critical to reaching Project Gutenberg's goals and ensuring that the Project Gutenberg collection will remain freely available for generations to come. In 2001, the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation was created to provide a secure and permanent future for Project Gutenberg and future generations. To learn more about the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation and how your efforts and donations can help, see Sections 3 and 4 and the Foundation information page at www.gutenberg.org.

Section 3. Information about the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

The Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation is a non-profit 501(c)(3) educational corporation organized under the laws of the state of Mississippi and granted tax exempt status by the Internal Revenue Service. The Foundation's EIN or federal tax identification number is 64-6221541. Contributions to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation are tax deductible to the full extent permitted by U.S. federal laws and your state's laws.

The Foundation's business office is located at 41 Watchung Plaza #516, Montclair NJ 07042, USA, +1 (862) 621-9288. Email contact links and up to date contact information can be found at the Foundation's website and official page at www.gutenberg.org/contact

Section 4. Information about Donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

Project Gutenberg™ depends upon and cannot survive without widespread public support and donations to carry out its mission of increasing the number of public domain and licensed works that can be freely distributed in machine-readable form accessible by the widest array of equipment including outdated equipment. Many small donations ($1 to $5,000) are particularly important to maintaining tax exempt status with the IRS.

The Foundation is committed to complying with the laws regulating charities and charitable donations in all 50 states of the United States. Compliance requirements are not uniform and it takes a considerable effort, much paperwork and many fees to meet and keep up with these requirements. We do not solicit donations in locations where we have not received written confirmation of compliance. To SEND DONATIONS or determine the status of compliance for any particular state visit www.gutenberg.org/donate.

While we cannot and do not solicit contributions from states where we have not met the solicitation requirements, we know of no prohibition against accepting unsolicited donations from donors in such states who approach us with offers to donate.

International donations are gratefully accepted, but we cannot make any statements concerning tax treatment of donations received from outside the United States. U.S. laws alone swamp our small staff.

Please check the Project Gutenberg web pages for current donation methods and addresses. Donations are accepted in a number of other ways including checks, online payments and credit card donations. To donate, please visit: www.gutenberg.org/donate.

Section 5. General Information About Project Gutenberg electronic works

Professor Michael S. Hart was the originator of the Project Gutenberg concept of a library of electronic works that could be freely shared with anyone. For forty years, he produced and distributed Project Gutenberg eBooks with only a loose network of volunteer support.

Project Gutenberg eBooks are often created from several printed editions, all of which are confirmed as not protected by copyright in the U.S. unless a copyright notice is included. Thus, we do not necessarily keep eBooks in compliance with any particular paper edition.

Most people start at our website which has the main PG search facility:
www.gutenberg.org.

This website includes information about Project Gutenberg, including how to make donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation, how to help produce our new eBooks, and how to subscribe to our email newsletter to hear about new eBooks.
