ā ē ī ō ū Ā Ē Ī Ō Ū vowels with macron or “long” mark
ě ĭ ǫ vowels with breve or “short” mark (very rare)

If any of these characters do not display properly—in particular, if the diacritic does not appear directly above the letter—or if the apostrophes and quotation marks in this paragraph appear as garbage, you may have an incompatible browser or unavailable fonts. First, make sure that the browser’s “character set” or “file encoding” is set to Unicode (UTF-8). You may also need to change your browser’s default font.

As explained in the editor’s Introductory Note, readings are given in two forms. For this e-text, line breaks and numbers were retained in the simplified version for use with the Notes. In the unchanged version, each chapter is a single paragraph.

PREFACE.

THE recent discovery of a work of Aristotle has interested and delighted the whole learned world; but one may venture to say that if, instead, a book had been found written in the best period of the Latin language for the amusement or instruction of youth, by some Roman De Foe, or Goldsmith, or Lamb, or Burnett, there would be ten times the reason for rejoicing. Unhappily there is no likelihood that we shall ever congratulate ourselves on such a “find,” for probably no such work ever existed. What a misfortune that it did not occur to Cicero to divert himself in some leisure hour by writing a story for Roman youth! Millions of boys and girls in these later ages would have had good reason to bless his name. Cæsar could have done it; but to him, too, the gods denied such an inspiration, and we must suffer for it. Seeing that he had composed a treatise on Latin Grammar, one almost wonders that a mind so original and fertile should not have conceived the idea of adapting his Gallic War, or some part of it, to the powers and comprehension of youth. What measureless gratitude would he not have won from unborn generations of schoolmasters, who have now to struggle desperately and often unavailingly to make clear to their pupils the meaning of his intricate periods, and untwist the strands of his knotty syntax!

Cæsar is a difficult author. Some parts of his Gallic War are as hard, or nearly as hard, as any prose Latin that has come down to us. Yet it has somehow strangely enough become the fashion to read that work first in a Latin course. My own conviction is that for young learners a year’s reading in easier Latin is not too much before taking up the less difficult books of the Gallic War. Even then the transition to Cæsar comes with something of a shock; for the learner is soon and often brought face to face with sentences that seem to him of most bewildering intricacy, however they may, as commentators sometimes remark, beautifully illustrate most important principles of Latin order and construction. There is a sentence in the second book, by no means the most difficult one to be found, that extends through eighteen lines,—that is, something more than half a page,—containing twenty-one distinct ideas, and having the verb separated from its subject by ninety-four words.

I know no more disheartening task than that of undertaking to carry a class unprepared in age and knowledge of the language through Cæsar’s Gallic War. Yet it is precisely this disheartening task that thousands of teachers are set to do, or set themselves to do, every year. The results are often dismal enough. Teachers are blamed, they blame themselves, they blame their pupils. Pupils may sometimes be stupid, teachers may lack knowledge of the language and the subject, but the fault may also lie wholly with the author or with the Latin language itself; if with the latter, there is no help. Latin, it must be confessed, is an exceedingly difficult language to learn. All the more reason then why, in attacking it, every unnecessary obstacle should be removed. We should make our approaches with caution and skill; we should take it, if possible, aperto latere. We should not begin with a difficult work; or if, in the dearth of Latin suited to the juvenile mind, this is deemed unavoidable, common sense suggests the query, why not remove provisionally ¹ from the text those more intricate parts that discourage the learner and bar the way of progress?

Cæsar knew how to write his own language well; but he wrote for men, he wrote with compression and in haste, and there are passages in his works that are tough reading for a good Latin scholar. It is the fashion to praise Cæsar's lucidity; but brevity and haste are not conducive to lucidity.

“Ther nys no werkman, what so ever he be,
That may bothe werke wel, and hastily.
This wol be doon at leyser parfitly.”

For my part I confess that I sometimes find him obscure. Moreover, when I am in doubt as to his meaning and appeal to the commentators, I find that they generally disagree and sometimes quarrel about the sense. Therefore to put young learners to reading Cæsar as his text stands, bristling with difficulties, before they have acquired anything more than a meagre vocabulary and gained a modicum of insight by some practice in reading easier Latin, is to set them at a task harder than that which Pharaoh set the Israelites.

I am of the opinion that, even when a fair working vocabulary has been acquired through some previous reading, there is no book of the Gallic War that does not require a certain degree of simplification to bring it to the level of the powers of young boys and girls. It is this conviction born of long observation of the vexation of spirit, discouragement, and waste of time by pupils in wrestling with difficulties that inevitably floor them, that has prompted me to put my hand to this work, which, slight as it may seem, has cost me the leisure of many months. But I shall feel repaid tenfold, if, through this little book, boys and girls are enabled to read Cæsar with less waste of time, more easily, with fresher interest, and added sense of power; if, in other words, it proves in reality what it is in name, a Gate to Cæsar.

A few words will be sufficient to explain the principle on which I have simplified Cæsar's text, the amount of excision, and the degree of change. It would have been a comparatively easy task to simplify the text by the mere process of omission, never deviating from the ipsissima verba of the author by so much as the change of a mode or tense. One could do this and still string together the disjecta membra of the text into something like a connected narrative. But that would be to preserve the integrity of the words at the expense of everything else,—inner relation, structure, style, spirit. Or the simplification might be effected by a virtual rewriting of the text, by amplification rather than suppression, coupled with changes in the collocation of words, where the arrangement seemed to obscure the meaning and perplex the learner.

My purpose and plan differed essentially from both these methods. My aim has been, first, to keep the narrative intact; second, to retain as much of the text as was consistent with the effort to disburden it of its greater difficulties; third, to make the fewest practicable changes in what was retained, save the modification of some verb forms, and the occasional rendering of indirect into direct discourse; fourth, very rarely to change the position of a word; finally, never to insert a word, except now and then to supply a form plainly understood, or to introduce some connective, like et, tum, itaque, autem, ergo, postremo.

As to the amount of excision, I find that I have omitted almost exactly one-fifth of Cæsar's text.

If the beginner in Cæsar reads the simplified text and concurrently turns the Exercises into Latin, laying firm hold of the grammatical principles selected for illustration, I believe he will find the remaining difficulties of the original text not beyond his scope. I should even hope that he would then read with something of the joy of conscious power. If the reading of the texts and the writing of the Exercises should require more time than is usually spent on the second book of Cæsar, which, however, I doubt, I believe subsequent progress would still be rapid and satisfactory enough to amount to a net gain and saving of time.

It has seemed best to mark long vowels, except the vowels of final syllables and of monosyllables, the rules for which can be readily learned. I have, however, marked a few monosyllables, as a constant reminder to teachers who find their old pronunciation clinging to certain words. We used to say hĩs, sĩc, nĩn, quĩn, hĩc. These words, therefore, I have marked. On the other hand, one is in no danger of saying dě, hĩ, sĩ, prĩ, for old habit would not mislead.

I take pleasure in acknowledging my obligations to Mr. Alfred G. Rolfe for several useful criticisms, and to Miss Caroline Ober Stone for valuable corrections and for carefully reading the proof-sheets as far as the vocabularies. To Mr. Clarence W. Gleason I am specially indebted. But for his timely and generous aid in preparing both vocabularies, the publication of this book must have been very considerably delayed.

NOTE ON THE USE OF THE BOOK.

The Simplified Text and the Exercises based upon it are of the first importance. The viva voce translation of the Exercises, followed by the writing of them, will illustrate and help to implant in the memory the most important principles of syntax met with in the text. Let the teacher insist upon thorough work here, and he may safely omit other syntactical instruction.

But little power of reading Latin can be gained without making the acquisition of a working vocabulary a distinct object. The Latin synonyms and the Etymological Vocabulary may be made useful agents to that end. If the words added to each chapter are read aloud, reviewed, and compared where backward references are made, the learner will acquire a useful stock of synonyms easily, naturally, and with small expenditure of time.

It is often easier to retain in mind a number of words, grouped according to some principle of similarity or contrast, than a single word with nothing to hook it to the memory. For this reason it is recommended that the Etymological Vocabulary be often pressed into the service. Suppose, for example, the word conspectus occurs in the lesson. If the teacher will turn to page 138 and have the ten words read out under the root SPEC, he will multiply several times the chances that this particular word will be remembered on its next occurrence. He will have done much more. He will have increased the chances that nine other words will be lodged in the memory; and to each one a fresh interest will be added by its being seen in relation, not as an isolated, and therefore barren, fact.

The first vocabulary may be used for comparing in the text the different meanings and uses of the same word. It is through such comparisons that one gets at the heart and spirit of the language, while cultivating at the same time a mental habit of great value.

Having read the Simplified Text, the learner should be well equipped for wrestling with the difficulties that remain in the unchanged text, for he is already familiar with the thought and the language. Comparison of the two texts by the teacher, so far as time permits, may now be made to illustrate important principles, as of indirect discourse, which are here and there discussed in the notes.

In the Simplified and Complete texts, each chapter number is a link to the corresponding chapter of the other version.

The Bellovacī also submit at Cæsar's approach.

C. IULI CAESARIS
DE BELLO GALLICO

LIBER SECUNDUS.

B.C. 57; A.U.C. 697.

THE BELGIAN LEAGUE DEFEATED.

Words underlined in gray are cited in the Notes for other chapters. They are not active links.

1. Cum esset Caesar in citeriore Gallia in hibernis, ita uti supra demonstravimus, crebri ad eum rumores adferebantur, litterisque item Labieni certior fiebat omnes Belgas, quam tertiam esse Galliae partem dixeramus, contra populum Romanum coniurare obsidesque inter se dare. Coniurandi has esse causas: primum quod vererentur ne omni pacata Gallia ad eos exercitus noster adduceretur; deinde quod ab nonnullis Gallis sollicitarentur,—partim qui, ut Germanos diutius in Gallia versari noluerant, ita populi Romani exercitum hiemare atque inveterascere in Gallia moleste ferebant; partim qui mobilitate et levitate animi novis imperiis studebant; ab nonnullis etiam, quod in Gallia a potentioribus atque iis qui ad conducendos homines facultates habebant, vulgo regna occupabantur, qui minus facile eam rem imperio nostro consequi poterant. Notes to Chapter 1 (complete)

2. His nuntiis litterisque commotus Caesar duas legiones in citeriore Gallia novas conscripsit, et inita aestate in interiorem Galliam qui deduceret Q. Pedium legatum misit. Ipse, cum primum pabuli copia esse inciperet, ad exercitum venit. Dat negotium Senonibus reliquisque Gallis, qui finitimi Belgis erant, uti ea quae apud eos gerantur cognoscant seque de his rebus certiores faciant. Hi constanter omnes nuntiaverunt manus cogi, exercitum in unum locum conduci. Tum vero dubitandum non existimavit quin ad eos proficisceretur. Re frumentaria comparata castra movet diebusque circiter quindecim ad fines Belgarum pervenit. Notes to Chapter 2 (complete)

3. Eo cum de improvviso celeriusque omni opinione venisset, Remi, qui proximi Galliae ex Belgis sunt, ad eum legatos Iccium et Andocumborium primos civitatis miserunt qui dicerent: ‘Se suaque omnia in fidem atque in potestatem populi Romani permittere, neque se cum Belgis reliquis consensisse neque contra populum Romanum coniurasse, paratosque esse et obsides dare et imperata facere et oppidis recipere et frumento ceterisque rebus iuvare; reliquos omnes Belgas in armis esse, Germanosque qui cis Rhenum incolant sese cum his coniunxisse, tantumque esse eorum omnium furorem ut ne Suessiones quidem, fratres consanguineosque suos, qui eodem iure et isdem legibus utantur, unum imperium unumque magistratum cum ipsis habeant, deterrere potuerint quin cum his consentirent.’

Notes to Chapter 3 (complete)

4. Cum ab his quaereret quae civitates quantaque in armis essent et quid in bello possent, sic reperiebat: plerosque Belgas esse ortos ab Germanis Rhenumque antiquitus traductos propter loci fertilitatem ibi consedis Gallosque qui ea loca incolerent expulisse, solosque esse qui patrum nostrorum memoria, omni Gallia vexata, Teutonos Cimbrosque intra fines suos ingredi prohibuerint; qua ex re fieri uti earum rerum memoria magnam sibi auctoritatem magnosque spiritus in re militari sumerent. De numero eorum omni se habere explorata Remi dicebant, propterea quod propinquitatibus adfinitatibusque coniuncti, quantam quisque multitudinem in communi Belgarum concilio ad id bellum pollicitus sit cognoverint. Plurimuni inter eos Bellovacos et virtute et auctoritate et hominum numero valere: hos posse conficere armata milia centum, pollicitos ex eo numero electa sexaginta, totiusque belli imperium sibi postulare. Suessiones suos esse finitimos: latissimos feracissimosque agros possidere. Apud eos fuisse regem nostra etiam memoria Divitiacum, totius Galliae potentissimum, qui cum magnae partis harum regionum tum etiam Britanniae imperium obtinuerit: nunc esse regem Galbam; ad hunc propter iustitiam prudentiamque suam totius belli summam omnium voluntate deferri: oppida habere numero XII, polliceri milia armata quinquaginta; totidem Nervios, qui maxime feri inter ipsos habeantur, longissimeque absint; quindecim milia Atrebates, Ambianos decem milia, Moriuos XXV milia, Menapios VII milia; Caletos X milia; Velocasses et Veromandos totidem; Aduatucos decem et novem milia; Condrusos, Eburones, Caeruos, Paemanos, qui uno nomine Germani appellantur, arbitrari ad XL milia.

Notes to Chapter 4 (complete)

5. Caesar Remos cohortatus liberaliterque oratione prosecutus omnem senatum ad se convenire principumque liberos obsides ad se adduci iussit. Quae omnia ab his diligenter ad diem facta sunt. Ipse Divitiacum Aeduum magno opere cohortatus docet quanto opere rei publicae communisque salutis intersit man us hostium distineri, ne cum tanta multitudine uno tempore confligendum sit. Id fieri posse, si suas copias Aedui in fines Bellovacorum introduxerint et eorum agros populari coeperint. His mandatis eum ab se dimittit. Postquam omnes Belgarum copias in unum locum coactas ad se venire vidit neque iam longe abesse ab iis quos miserat exploratoribus et ab Remis cognovit, flumen Axonam, quod est in extremis Remorum finibus, exercitum traducere maturavit atque ibi castra posuit. Quae res et latus unum castrorum ripis fluminis muniebat et post eum quae essent tuta ab hostibus reddebat, et commeatus ab Remis reliquisque civitatibus ut sine periculo ad eum portari posset efficiebat. In eo flumine pons erat. Ibi praesidium ponit et in altera parte fluminis Q. Titurium Sabinum legatum cum sex cohortibus relinquit. Castra in altitudinem pedum XII vallo fossaque duodeviginti pedum munire iubet.

Notes to Chapter 5 (complete)

6. Ab his castris oppidum Remorum nomine Bibrax aberat milia passuum octo. Id ex itinere magno impetu Belgae oppugnare coeperunt. Aegre eo die sustentatum est. Gallorum eadem atque Belgarum oppugnatio est haec. Ubi circumiecta multitudine hominum totis moenibus undique in murum lapides iaci coepti sunt, murusque defensoribus nudatus est, testudine facta portas succedunt murumque subruunt. Quod tum facile fiebat. Nam cum tanta multitudo lapides ac tela conicerent, in muro consistendi potestas erat nulli. Cum finem oppugnandi nox fecisset, Iccius Remus, summa nobilitate et gratia inter suos, qui tum oppido praefuerat, unus ex iis qui legati de pace ad Caesarem venerant, nuntium ad eum mittit: nisi subsidium sibi submittatur, sese diutius sustinere non posse. Notes to Chapter 6 (complete)

7. Eo de media nocte Caesar isdem ducibus usus qui nuntii ab Iccio venerant, Numidas et Cretas sagittarios et funditores Baleares subsidio oppidanis mittit; quorum adventu et Remis cum spe defensionis studium propugnandi accessit, et hostibus eadem de causa spes potiundi oppidi discessit. Itaque paulisper apud oppidum morati agrosque Remorum depopulati, omnibus vicis aedificiisque quos adire potuerant incensis, ad castra Caesaris omnibus copiis contenderunt et ab milibus passuum minus duobus castra posuerunt; quae castra, ut fumo atque ignibus significabatur, amplius milibus passuum octo in latitudinem patebant.

Notes to Chapter 7 (complete)

8. Caesar primo et propter multitudinem hostium et propter eximiam opinionem virtutis proelio supersedere statuit; cotidie tamen equestribus proeliis quid hostis virtute posset et quid nostri auderent periclitabatur. Ubi nostros non esse inferiores intellexit, loco pro castris ad aciem instruendam natura opportuno atque idoneo—quod is collis, ubi castra posita erant, paululum ex planitie editus tantum adversus in latitudinem patebat quantum loci acies instructa occupare poterat, atque ex utraque parte lateris deiectus habebat et in frontem leniter fastigatus paulatim ad planitiem redibat—ab utroque latere eius collis transversam fossam obduxit circiter passuum quadringentorum et ad extremas fossas castella constituit ibique tormenta conlocavit, ne, cum aciem instruxisset, hostes, quod tantum multitudine poterant, ab lateribus pugnares suos circumvenire possent. Hoc facto duabus legionibus quas proxime conscripserat in castris relictis, ut, si quo opus esset, subsidio duci possent, reliquas sex legiones pro castris in acie constituit. Hostes item suas copias ex castris eductas instruxerant.

Notes to Chapter 8 (complete)

9. Palus erat non magna inter nostrum atque hostium exercitum. Hanc si nostri transirent hostes expectabant; nostri autem, si ab illis initium transeundi fieret, ut impeditos adgrederentur, parati in armis erant. Interim proelio equestri inter duas acies contendebatur. Ubi neutri transeundi initium faciunt, secundiore equitum proelio nostris Caesar suos in castra reduxit. Hostes protinus ex eo loco ad flumen Axonam contenderunt, quod esse post nostra castra demonstratum est. Ibi vadis repertis partem suarum copiarum traducere conati sunt eo consilio, ut, si possent, castellum cui praeerat Q. Titurius legatus expugnarent pontemque interscinderent; si minus potuissent, agros Remorum popularentur, qui magno nobis usui ad bellum gerendum erant, commeatuque nostros prohiberent.

Notes to Chapter 9 (complete)

10. Caesar certior factus ab Titurio omnem equitatum et levis armaturae Numidas, funditores sagittariosque pontem traducit atque ad eos contendit. Acriter in eo loco pugnatum est. Hostes impeditos nostri in flumine adgressi magnum eorum numerum occiderunt: per eorum corpora reliquos audacissime transire conantes multitudine telorum reppulerunt; primos qui transierant equitatu circumventos interfecerunt. Hostes, ubi et de expugnando oppido et de flumine transeundo spem se fefellisse intellexerunt neque nostros in locum iniquiorem progredi pugnandi causa viderunt, atque ipsos res frumentaria deficere coepit, concilio convocato constituerunt optimum esse domum suam quemque reverti, et, quorum in fines primum Romani exercitum introduxissent, ad eos defendendos undique convenirent, ut potius in suis quam in alienis finibus decertarent et domesticis copiis rei frumentariae uterentur. Ad eam sententiam cum reliquis causis haec quoque ratio eos deduxit, quod Divitiacum atque Aeduos finibus Bellovacorum adpropinquare cognoverant. His persuaderi ut diutis morarentur neque suis auxilium ferrent non poterat.

Notes to Chapter 10 (complete)

11. Ea re constituta, secunda vigilia magno cum strepitu ac tumultu castris egressi, nullo certo ordine neque imperio, cum sibi quisque primum itineris locum peteret et domum pervenire properaret, fecerunt ut consimilis fugae profectio videretur. Hac re statim Caesar per speculatores cognita insidias veritus, quod qua de causa discederent nondum perspexerat, exercitum equitatumque castris continuit. Prima luce confirmata re ab exploratoribus omnem equitatum qui novissimum agmen moraretur praemisit. His Q. Pedium et L. Aurunculeium Cottam legatos praefecit; T. Labienum legatum cum legionibus tribus subsequi iussit. Hi novissimos adorti et multa milia passuum prosecuti magnam multitudinem eorum fugientium conciderunt, cum ab extremo agmine ad quos ventum erat consisterent fortiterque impetum nostrorum militum sustinerent; priores, quod abesse a periculo viderentur neque ulla necessitate neque imperio containerentur, exaudito clamore perturbatis ordinibus omnes in fuga sibi praesidium ponerent. Ita sine ullo periculo tantam eorum multitudinem nostri interfecerunt quantum fuit diei spatium, sub occasumque solis destiterunt, seque in castra, ut erat imperatum, receperunt.

Notes to Chapter 11 (complete)

12. Postridie eius diei Caesar, priusquam se hostes ex terrore ac fuga reciperent, in fines Suessionum, qui proximi Remis erant, exercitum duxit et magno itinere confecto ad oppidum Noviodunum contendit. Id ex itinere oppugnare conatus, quod vacuum ab defensoribus esse audiebat, propter latitudinem fossae murique altitudinem paucis defendentibus expugnare non potuit. Castris munitis vineas agere quaeque ad oppugnandum usui erant comparare coepit. Interim omnis ex fuga Suessionum multitudo in oppidum proxima nocte convenit. Celeriter vineis ad oppidum actis, aggere iacto turribusque constitutis, magnitudine operum, quae neque viderant ante Galli neque audierant, et celeritate Romanorum permoti, legatos ad Caesarem de deditione mittunt et petentibus Remis ut conservarentur impetrant.

Notes to Chapter 12 (complete)

13. Caesar obsidibus acceptis primis civitatis atque ipsius Galbae regis duobus filiis, armisque omnibus ex oppido traditis, in deditionem Suessiones accepit exercitumque in Bellovacos ducit. Qui cum se suaque omnia in oppidum Bratuspantium contulissent, atque ab eo oppido Caesar cum exercitu circiter milia passuum quinque abesset, omnes maiores natu ex oppido egressi manus ad Caesarem tendere et voce significare coeperunt sese in eius fidem ac potestatem venire neque contra populum Romanum armis contendere. Item, cum ad oppidum accessisset castraque ibi poneret, pueri mulieresque ex muro passis manibus suo more pacem ab Romanis petierunt.

Notes to Chapter 13 (complete)

14. Pro his Divitiacus—nam post discessum Belgarum dimissis Aeduorum copiis ad eum revererat—facit verba: Bellovacos omni tempore in fide atque amicitia civitatis Aeduae fuisse: impulsos a suis principibus, qui dicerent Aeduos ab Caesare in servitutem redactos omnes indignitates contumeliasque perferre, et ab Aeduis defecisse et populo Romano bellum intulisse. Qui eius consili principes fuissent, quod intellexerent quantam calamitatem civitati intulissent, in Britanniam profugisse. Petere non solum Bellovacos sed etiam pro his Aeduos ut sua clementia ac mansuetudine in eos utatur. Quod si fecerit, Aeduorum auctoritatem apud omnes Belgas amplificaturum, quorum auxiliis atque opibus, si qua bella inciderint, sustentare consuerint.

Notes to Chapter 14 (complete)

15. Caesar honoris Divitiaci atque Aeduorum causa sese eos in fidem recepturum et conservaturum dixit; quod erat civitas magna inter Belgas auctoritate atque hominum multitudine praestabat, sexcentos obsides poposcit. His traditis omnibusque armis ex oppido conlatis, ab eo loco in fines Ambianorum pervenit, qui se suaque omnia sine mora dediderunt. Eorum fines Nervii attingebant; quorum de natura moribusque Caesar cum quaereret, sic reperiēbat: Nullum aditum esse ad eos mercatoribus; nihil pati vini reliquarumque rerum inferri, quod iis rebus relanguescere animos eorum et remitti virtutem existimarent: esse homines feros magnaēque virtutis; increpitare atque incusare reliquos Belgas qui se populo Romano dedidissent patriamque virtutem proiecissent; confirmare sese neque legatos missuros neque ullam condicionem pacis accepturos.

Notes to Chapter 15 (complete)

16. Cum per eorum fines triduum iter fecisset, inveniebat ex captivis Sabim flumen ab castris suis non amplius milia passuum x abesse: trans id flumen omnes Nervios consedissee adventumque ibi Romanorum exspectare una cum Atrebatis et Veromanduis finitimis suis, nam his utrisque persuaserant uti eandem belli fortunam experirentur; exspectari etiam ab his Aduatucorum copias atque esse in itinere; mulieres quique per aetatem ad pugnam inutiles viderentur in eum locum coniecisse, quo propter paludes exercitui aditus non esset.

Notes to Chapter 16 (complete)

17. His rebus cognitis exploratores centurionesque praemittit qui locum idoneum castris deligant. Cum ex dediticiis Belgis reliquisque Gallis complures Caesarem secuti una iter facerent, quidam ex his, ut postea ex captivis cognitum est, eorum dierum consuetudine itineris nostri exercitus perspecta, nocte ad Nervios pervenerunt atque his demonstrarunt inter singulas legiones impedimentorum magnum numerum intercedere, neque esse quicquam negoti, cum prima legio in castra venisset, reliquaeque legiones magnum spatium abessent, hanc sub sarcinis adoriri; qua pulsa impedimentisque direptis futurum ut reliquae contra consistere non auderent. Adiuvabat etiam eorum consilium qui rem deferebant, quod Nervii antiquitus, cum equitatu nihil possent (neque enim ad hoc tempus ei rei student, sed quicquid possunt, pedestribus valent copiis) quo facilius finitimorum equitatum, si praedandi causa ad eos venissent, impedirent, teneris arboribus incisis atque inflexis, crebrisque in latitudinem ramis enatis, et rubis sentibusque interiectis, effecerant ut instar muri hae saepes munimenta praeberent, quo non modo non intrari sed ne perspicere quidem posset. His rebus cum iter agminis nostri impediretur, non omittendum sibi consilium Nervii existimaverunt.

Notes to Chapter 17 (complete)

18. Loci natura erat haec, quem locum nostri castris delegerant. Collis ab summo aequaliter declivis ad flumen Sabim, quod supra nominavimus, vergebat. Ab eo flumine pari adclivitate collis nascebatur adversus huic et contrarius, passus circiter ducentos infimus apertus, ab superiore parte silvestris ut non facile introrsus perspicere posset. Intra eas silvas hostes in occulto sese continebant; in aperto loco secundum flumen paucae stationes equitum videbantur. Fluminis erat altitudo pedum circiter trium.

Notes to Chapter 18 (complete)

19. Caesar equitatu praemisso subsequebatur omnibus copiis; sed ratio ordoque agminis aliter se habebat ac Belgae ad Nervios detulerant. Nam quod ad hostes adpropinquabat, consuetudine sua Caesar sex legiones expeditas ducebat; post eas totius exercitus impedimenta conlocarat; inde duae legiones quae proxime conscriptae erant totum agmen claudebant praesidioque impedimentis erant. Equites nostri, cum funditoribus sagittariisque flumen transgressi, cum hostium equitatu proelium commiserunt. Cum se illi identidem in silvas ad suos reciperent ac rursus ex silva in nostros impetum facerent, neque nostri longius quam quem ad finem porrecta loca aperta pertinebant cedentes insequi auderent, interim legiones sex, quae primae venerant, opere dimenso castra munire coeperunt. Ubi prima impedimenta nostri exercitus ab iis qui in silvis abditi latebant visa sunt, quod tempus inter eos committendi proeli convenerat, ut intra silvas aciem ordinesque constituerant atque ipsi sese confirmaverant, subito omnibus copiis provolaverunt impetumque in nostros equites fecerunt. His facile pulsus ac proturbatis, incredibili celeritate ad flumen decucurrerunt, ut paene uno tempore et ad silvas et in flumine et iam in manibus nostris hostes viderentur. Eadem autem celeritate adverso colle ad nostra castra atque eos qui in opere occupati erant contenderunt.

Notes to Chapter 19 (complete)

20. Caesari omnia uno tempore erant agenda: vexillum proponendum, quod erat insigne cum ad arma concurrere oporteret, signum tuba dandum, ab opere revocandi milites, qui paulo longius aggeris petendi causa processerant arcessendi, acies instruenda, milites cohortandi, signum dandum. Quarum rerum magnam partem temporis brevitates et successus hostium impediabant. His difficultatibus duae res erant subsidio—scientia atque usus militum, quod superioribus proeliis exercitati, quid fieri oporteret non minus commode ipsi sibi praescribere quam ab aliis doceri poterant; et quod ab opere singulisque legionibus singulos legatos Caesar discedere nisi munitis castris vetuerat. Hi propter propinquitatem et celeritatem hostium nihil iam Caesaris imperium expectabant, sed per se quae videbantur administrabant.

Notes to Chapter 20 (complete)

21. Caesar necessariis rebus imperatis ad cohortandos milites quam in partem fors obtulit decurrit et ad legionem decimam devenit. Milites non longiore oratione cohortatus quam uti suae pristinae virtutis memoriam retinerent neque perturbarentur animo hostiumque impetum fortiter sustinerent, quod non longius hostes aberant quam quo telum adici posset, proeli committendi signum dedit. Atque in alteram partem item cohortandi causa profectus pugnantibus occurrit. Temporis tanta fuit exiguitas hostiumque tam paratus ad dimicandum animus, ut non modo ad insignia adcommodanda, sed etiam ad galeas induendas scutisque tegimenta detrudenda tempus defuerit. Quam quisque ab opere in partem casu devenit quaeque prima signa conspexit, ad haec constitit, ne in quaerendis suis pugnandi tempus dimitteret.

Notes to Chapter 21 (complete)

22. Instructo exercitu magis ut loci natura deiectusque collis et necessitas temporis quam ut rei militaris ratio atque ordo postulabat, cum diversis legionibus aliae alia in parte hostibus resisterent, saepibusque densissimis, ut ante demonstravimus, interiectis prospectus impediretur, neque certa subsidia conlocari, neque quid in quaque parte opus esset provideri, neque ab uno omnia imperia administrari poterant. Itaque in tanta rerum iniquitate, fortunae quoque eventus varii sequebantur. Notes to Chapter 22 (complete)

23. Legionis nonae et decimae milites, ut in sinistra parte acie constiterant, pilis emissis, cursu ac lassitudine exanimatos vulneribusque confectos Atrebates—nam his ea pars obvenerat—celeriter ex loco superiore in flumen compulerunt et transire conantes insecuti gladiis magnam partem eorum impeditam interfecerunt. Ipsi transire flumen non dubitaverunt, et in locum iniquum progressi, rursus resistentes hostes redintegrato proelio in fugam coniecerunt. Item alia in parte diversae duae legiones, undecima et octava, profligatis Veromanduis, quibuscum erant congressi, ex loco superiore in ipsis fluminis ripis proeliabantur. At totis fere a fronte et ab sinistra parte nudatis castris, cum in dextro cornu legio duodecima et non magno ab ea intervallo septima constitisset, omnes Nervii confertissimo agmine duce Boduognato qui summam imperi tenebat, ad eum locum contenderunt; quorum pars aperto latere legiones circumvenire, pars summum castrorum locum petere coepit. Notes to Chapter 23 (complete)

24. Eodem tempore equites nostri levisque armaturae pedites, qui cum iis una fuerant, quos primo hostium impetu pulsos dixeram, cum se in castra reciperent, adversis hostibus occurrebant ac rursus aliam in partem fugam petebant; et calones, qui ab decumana porta ac summo iugo collis nostros victores flumen transisse conspexerant, praedandi causa egressi, cum respexissent et hostes in nostris castris versari vidissent, praecipites fugae sese mandabant. Simul eorum qui cum impedimentis veniebant clamor fremitusque oriebatur, aliique aliam in partem perterriti ferebantur. Quibus omnibus rebus permoti equites Treveri, quorum inter Gallos virtutis opinio est singularis, qui auxilii causa ab civitate ad Caesarem missi venerant, cum multitudine hostium castra compleri, legiones premi et paene circumventas teneri, calones, equites, funditores, Numidas, diversos dissipatosque in omnes partes fugere vidissent, desperatis nostris rebus domum contenderunt; Romanos pulsos superatosque, castris impedimentisque eorum hostes potitos civitati renuntiaverunt. Notes to Chapter 24 (complete)

25. Caesar ab decimae legionis cohortatione ad dextrum cornu profectus, ubi suos urgeri signisque in unum locum conlatis duodecimae legionis confertos milites sibi ipsos ad pugnam esse impedimento vidit—quartae cohortis omnibus centurionibus occisis signiferoque interfecto, signo amisso, reliquarum cohortium omnibus fere centurionibus aut vulneratis aut occisis, in his primipilo P. Sextio Baculo, fortissimo viro, multis

gravibusque vulneribus confecto ut iam se sustinere non posset, reliquos esse tardiores, et nonnullos ab novissimis deserto proelio excedere ac tela vitare, hostes neque a fronte ex inferiore loco subeuntes intermittere et ab utroque latere instare, et rem esse in angusto vidit, neque ullum esse subsidium quod submitti posset—scuto ab novissimis uni militi detracto, quod ipse eo sine scuto venerat, in primam aciem processit centurionibusque nominatim appellatis reliquos cohortatus milites signa inferre et manipulos laxare iussit, quo facilius gladiis uti possent. Cuius adventu spe inlata militibus ac redintegrato animo, cum pro se quisque in conspectu imperatoris etiam in extremis suis rebus operam navare cuperet, paulum hostium impetus tardatus est. Notes to Chapter 25 (complete)

26. Caesar cum septimam legionem, quae iuxta constiterat, item urgeri ab hoste vidisset, tribunes militum monuit ut paulatim sese legiones coniungerent et conversa signa in hostes inferrent. Quo facto, cum alius alii subsidium ferret, neque timerent ne aversi ab hoste circumvenirentur, audacius resistere ac fortius pugnare coeperunt. Interim milites legionum duarum, quae in novissimo agmine praesidio impedimentis fuerant, proelio nuntiato cursu incitato in summo colle ab hostibus conspiciebantur; et T. Labienus castris hostium potitus et ex loco superiore quae res in nostris castris gererentur conspiciens decimam legionem subsidio nostris misit. Qui cum ex equitum et calorum fuga, quo in loco res esset, quantoque in periculo et castra et legiones et imperator versaretur, cognovissent, nihil ad celeritatem sibi reliqui fecerunt. Notes to Chapter 26 (complete)

27. Horum adventu tanta rerum commutatio est facta ut nostri, etiam qui vulneribus confecti procubuissent, scutis innixi proelium redintegrarent; tum calones perterritos hostes conspicati etiam inermes armatis occurrerent; equites vero, ut turpitudinem fugae virtute delerent, omnibus in locis pugnae se legionariis militibus praeferrent. At hostes etiam in extrema spe salutis tantam virtutem praestiterunt ut, cum primi eorum cecidissent, proximi iacentibus insisterent atque ex eorum corporibus pugnarent; his deiectis et coacervatis cadaveribus, qui superessent ut ex tumultu tela in nostros conicerent et pila intercepta remitterent: ut non nequiquam tantae virtutis homines indicari deberet ausos esse transire latissimum flumen, ascendere altissimas ripas, subire iniquissimum locum; quae facilia ex difficillimis animi magnitudo redegerat. Notes to Chapter 27 (complete)

28. Hoc proelio facto et prope ad internecionem gente ac nomine Nerviorum redacto maiores natu, quos una cum pueris mulieribusque in aestuaria ac paludes coniectos dixeramus, hac pugna nuntiata, cum victoribus nihil impeditum, victis nihil tutum arbitrarentur, omnium qui supererant consensu legatos ad Caesarem miserunt seque ei dediderunt; et in commemoranda civitatis calamitate ex sexcentis ad tres senatores, ex hominum milibus LX vix ad quingentos qui arma ferre possent sese redactos esse dixerunt. Quos Caesar, ut in miseros ac supplices usus misericordia videretur, diligentissime conservavit suisque finibus atque oppidis uti iussit, et finitimis imperavit ut ab iniuria et maleficio se suosque prohiberent.

29. Aduatuci, de quibus supra scripsimus, cum omnibus copiis auxilio Nervii venirent, hac pugna nuntiata ex itinere domum reverterunt; cunctis oppidis castellisque desertis sua omnia in unum oppidum egregie natura munitum contulerunt. Quod cum ex omnibus in circuitu partibus altissimas rapas despectusque haberet, una ex parte leniter adclivis aditus in latitudinem non amplius ducentorum pedum relinquebatur; quem locum duplici altissimo muro munierant, tum magni ponderis saxa et praeacutas trabes in muro conlocabant. Ipsi erant ex Cimbris Teutonisque prognati, qui, cum iter in provinciam nostram atque Italiam facerent, iis impedimentis, quae secum agere ac portare non poterant, citra flumen Rhenum depositis custodiam ex suis ac praesidium sex milia hominum una reliquerunt. Hi post eorum obitum multos annos a finitimis exagitati, cum alias bellum inferrent, alias inlatum defenderent, consensu eorum omnium pace facta hunc sibi domicilio locum delegerunt.

30. Ac primo adventu exercitus nostri crebras ex oppido excursiones faciebant parvulisque proeliis cum nostris contendebant; postea vallo pedum XII in circuitu XV milium crebrisque castellis circummuniti oppido sese continebant. Ubi vineis actis aggere exstructo turrim procul constitui viderunt, primum inridere ex muro atque increpitare vocibus, quod tanta machinatio ab tanto spatio instrueretur: quibusnam manibus aut quibus viribus praesertim homines tantulae staturae—nam plerumque hominibus Gallis prae magnitudine corporum suorum brevitudo nostra contemptui est—tanti oneris turrim in muro sese conlocare confiderent?

31. Ubi vero moveri et adpropinquare moenibus viderunt, nova atque inusitata specie commoti legates ad Caesarem de pace miserunt, qui ad hunc modum locuti: ‘Non existimare Romanos sine ope divina bellum gerere, qui tantae altitudinis machinationes tanta celeritate promovere possent; se suaque omnia eorum potestati permittere’ dixerunt. ‘Unum petere ac deprecari: si forte pro sua clementia ac mansuetudine, quam ipsi ab aliis audirent, statuisset Aduatucos esse conservandos, ne se armis despoliaret. Sibi omnes fere finitimos esse inimicos ac suae virtuti invidere; a quibus se defendere traditis armis non possent. Sibi praestare, si in eum casum deducerentur, quamvis fortunam a populo Romano pati, quam ab his per cruciatum interfici, inter quos dominari consuessent.’

Notes to Chapter 31 (complete)

32. Ad haec Caesar respondit: ‘Se magis consuetudine sua quam merito eorum civitatem conservaturum, si prius quam murum aries attigisset se dedidissent; sed deditionis nullam esse condicionem nisi armis traditis. Se id quod in Nerviis fecisset facturum finitimisque imperaturum, ne quam dediticiis populi Romani iniuriam inferrent.’ Re nuntiata ad suos, quae imperarentur facere dixerunt. Armorum magna multitudine de muro in fossam quae erat ante oppidum iacta sic ut prope summam muri aggerisque altitudinem acervi armorum adaequarent, et tamen circiter parte tertia, ut postea perspectum est, celata atque in oppido retenta, portis patefactis eo die pace sunt usi.

33. Sub vesperum Caesar portas claudi militesque ex oppido exire iussit, ne quam noctu oppidani ab militibus iniuriam acciperent. Illi ante inito, ut intellectum est, consilio, quod deditione facta nostros praesidia deducturos aut denique indiligentius servaturos crediderant—partim cum iis quae retinuerant et celaverant armis, partim scutis ex cortice factis aut viminibus intextis, quae subito, ut temporis exiguitas postulabat, pellibus induxerant—tertia vigilia, qua minime arduus ad nostras munitiones ascensus videbatur, omnibus copiis repentino ex oppido eruptionem fecerunt. Celeriter, ut ante Caesar imperarat, ignibus significatione facta ex proximis castellis eo concursum est, pugnatumque ab hostibus ita acriter est ut a viris fortibus in extrema spe salutis iniquo loco contra eos qui ex vallo turribusque tela iacerent pugnari debuit, cum in una virtute omnis spes salutis consisteret. Occisis ad hominum milibus quattuor reliqui in oppidum reiecti sunt.

Postridie eius diei refractis portis, cum iam defenderet nemo, atque intromissis militibus nostris sectionem eius oppidi universam Caesar vendidit. Ab iis qui emerant capitum numerus ad eum relatus est milium quinquaginta trium.

34. Eodem tempore a P. Crasso, quem cum legione una miserat ad Venetos, Unellos, Osismos, Curiosolitas, Esvios, Aulercos, Redones, quae sunt maritimae civitates Oceanumque attingunt, certior factus est omnes eas civitates in dicionem potestatemque populi Romani esse redactas.

35. His rebus gestis omni Gallia pacata, tanta huius belli ad barbaros opinio perlata est uti ab iis nationibus, quae trans Rhenum incolerent mitterentur legati ad Caesarem, qui se obsides daturas, imperata facturas pollicerentur. Quas legationes Caesar, quod in Italiam Illyricumque properabat, inita proxima aestate ad se reverti iussit. Ipse in Carnutes, Andes Turonesque, quae civitates propinquae his locis erant ubi bellum gesserat, legionibus in hibernacula deductis, in Italiam profectus est. Ob easque res ex litteris Caesaris dies quindecim supplicatio decreta est, quod ante id tempus accidit nulli.

NOTES.

INTRODUCTORY NOTE.—To translate Latin into English is to express the meaning of the Latin in English words and in English idiom. But the meaning must be discovered before it can be expressed. Discovering the sense is, therefore, a process preparatory to translation, but yet measurably distinct from it. For discovering the meaning, the golden rule is, Take words and clauses in the order in which they stand. If the first chapter of this book were rendered into English words exactly in the Latin order, the thought would be readily apprehended by any one quite unacquainted with Latin. Such a word for word rendering, mental or oral, is for the beginner a necessary preliminary to translation, but, I repeat, must not be confounded with translation. For that, the golden rule is, Express the thought in pure English, without admixture of Latin idiom.

Notes under the heading CHAP. refer to the simplified text; those that follow, under the heading PAGE, supplement the former and refer to the unchanged text. The grammatical references are to the Latin Grammars of Allen & Greenough and Harkness.

In the printed text, the word "line" recurs at the beginning of each page. For this e-text, it is repeated at the beginning of each chapter instead. Cross-references to other chapters of the complete text lead to the exact word or phrase cited; other links lead to the beginning of the chapter ("Simplified" text) or Note section.

CHAP. 1,

line 2. certior fīēbat: he was made more certain = he was informed.

fīēbat: the passive of facio. Review the forms. 142; H. 294.

4. Coniūrandi: pronounce the i of the second syllable like y.

5. verēbantur: the subject is Belgae, understood; supply the same subject for sollicitābantur.

ad se: refers to the subject of verēbantur.

6. Germānos: subject-accusative of versāri; that the Germans should remain.

8. exercitum: subject-accusative of hiemāre and inveterāscere.

inveterāscere: get a foothold; but what is its primary meaning from its derivation?

10. imperiis: 227 e, 3; H. 385.

11. iis: supply mentally ab before it.

13. qui: and these, referring to potentiōres, etc.

eam rem: read again the preceding sentence, and you will see to what eam rem refers.

imperio nostro: under our (i.e. Roman) rule. The ablative implies condition, and the meaning is, if we should get the sovereignty. 255, d, 4; H. 431, 2, (3).

PAGE 23,

1. ita uti: as.
3. Labiēni: Cæsar's lieutenant was now in the country of the Sequani. See a map of Gallia.
4. quam: whose country. We might expect quos referring to Belgas, but the relative is made to agree with the predicate noun partem.
6. has esse causas: depending on rūmōres adferēbantur, like Belgas ... coniūrāre and obsides ... dare. 272; H.
7. omni ... Gallia: all except their country.
pācāta: the Romans, with cruel humor, called a country "pacified" when they had enslaved it.
8. partim qui: some of whom.
9. ut ... ita: as ... so.
11. partim qui: others of whom.
12. ab nōnnūllis etiam: these, then, are the third class by whom it is said, Belgae sollicitābantur: first, the conservative and patriotic; second, the restless and dissatisfied; third, the selfish and ambitious.

CHAP. 2,

- line 2. interiōrem Galliam: the interior of Gaul; that is, Gaul beyond the Alps. Refer constantly to a map.
3. qui ... dēdūceret: qui refers to Q. Pedium, and the clause qui ... dēdūceret denotes purpose, to lead.
 4. Ipsē: supply Caesar.
 6. Ea = eas res, as shown by rēbus following.
 8. manus cōgi: that parties of men were gathering. The construction is the same as Belgas ... coniūrāre, in chap. 1.
 9. condūci: was mustering; a very different meaning in chap. 1.
quīn ... proficīscerētur: to march. What literally?

PAGE 23,

18. inita aestāte: when summer had begun = at the beginning of summer; marks the time of dēdūceret, not of mīsīt.

PAGE 24,

1. Dat negōtium: he charges. What literally?
2. uti (same as ut) ... cōgnōscant: to find out; the clause depends on dat negōtium.
3. se: refers to Caesar.
certiōrem faciant: compare the passive form in chap. 1.
5. dubitandum: in full the sentence would be, Caesar dubitandum esse sibi nōn exīstimāvit; and the word for word rendering, Cæsar did not think an-obligation-of-hesitating to be to himself. Translate, he ought to hesitate.

CHAP. 3,

- line 1. Eo: that is, ad fines Belgārum. See the end of chap. 2.
3. se ... permittere: here se is the subject-accusative of permittere.
in fidem: to the protection.
 6. Caesaris imperāta facere: to do what Cæsar required. Literally what?
 7. oppidis recipere: in meaning = in oppida recipere.
cēteris: not other, but all other. Their submission is abject.
 9. sēse: not different from se.
 10. Suessiōnes: the object of dēterrēre.
 12. iūre: constitution.
īsdem: oftener written iisdem, 101, c.

PAGE 24,

9. omni opīniōne: than any one could expect. 247, b; H. 417.
10. ex Belgis = Belgārum, or inter Belgas.
12. qui dīcerent: compare qui dēdūceret, p. 23, l. 19, and note on simplified text.
se: the object (with sua omnia = their all) of permittere. Another se must be mentally supplied as the subject of permittere.
18. incolant: why not incolunt, for it must be translated as if it were incolunt? Because the clause qui ... incolant depends on the clause Germānos ... coniūnxisse. It is therefore a dependent clause of indirect discourse, and as such must have the subjunctive. Thoroughly master this, the most important principle of Latin syntax. Mark how the descriptive clause, qui ... incolant, is framed into the main clause.

line 19. furōrem: the politic or cowardly Remi considered the love of liberty and independence of their brother Belgæ blind passion.

20. qui ... ūtantur: though they ... enjoyed. qui, then, must sometimes be rendered though he, though they, etc., but only when the subjunctive follows.

21. ūtantur: supply immediately following atque.

22. ipsis: refers to Rēmi.

23. quīn ... cōsentīrent: from ... uniting. Compare quīn ... proficīscerētur, p. 24, l. 6, and note on simplified text.

CHAP. 4,

line 1. quantae: refers to extent of country and population.

in armis essent: connect with quae cīvitatēs: what states were in arms, and how powerful they were.

2. quid in bello possent: a literal translation, what they could (do) in war, does not convey the meaning. Render, what force they could bring into the field.

4. ibi: cis Rhēnum.

6. ex re: equivalent to ex causa.

7. fiēbat: it was coming about. The Remi said, in direct discourse, fit; and below, sūmant.

spīritus: means in the singular air, and is here used just as we use “airs,” in the phrase “to put on airs.”

8. omnia ... explōrāta: full information.

9. Quantam quisque: notice the order. Quisque likes to stand after quantus, quotus, se, and suus; here it means each nation.

11. Plūrimum ... valēbant: about equivalent to plūrimum poterant, had the most power.

18. cum ... tum: not only ... but also.

19. Britanniae: “the first mention of Britain by a Roman author.”

27. propter fertilitātem: to be connected with cōnsēdisse.
 28. incolerent: why not incolēbant? See note on p. 24, l. 18, qui ... incolant.
 29. memoria: within the memory; but two lines below, because of the memory.

PAGE 25,

10. nostra etiam memoria: compare patrum nostrōrum memoria, p. 24, l. 29.
 13. obtinuerit: held, not obtained, which is usually expressed by adsecūtus est, cōsecūtus est, or adeptus est.
 15. omnium voluntāte: with the assent of all.
 23. arbitrāri: that is, Rēmos arbitrāri.

CHAP. 5,

- line 2. obsides: as hostages, in apposition with liberos. What would have been the fate of these, if the chieftains had broken their pledges?
4. Rēi pūblīcae interest: it concerns the (Roman) republic. The real subject of interest, represented in English by it, is manus hostium distinēri.
manus: the subject-accusative of distinēri, to be kept from uniting.
6. ne ... cōflīgendum sit: that it may not be necessary to fight.
 7. intrōdūxerint: the Roman way of speaking is: this can be done, if that shall be done, or shall have been done; hence the future perfect. But mark that such a future or future perfect is often best rendered by a present.
9. coāctas ... venīre: having been assembled ... to be coming = had assembled ... and were coming.
10. vīdit = intellēxit.
neque iam = et iam nōn.
iis: take with explōrātōribus.
13. quae res: that is, his crossing the river and fixing his camp there.

14. post eum quae essent = ea quae post eum essent, his rear. What should you expect in place of eum?
tūta: goes with the whole expression, post eum quae essent.
16. portāri: to be brought down the river to him.
19. in altitūdinem: to the height.
20. duodēvīginti pedum: that is, in lātītūdinem, in width.

PAGE 25,

24. liberāliterque ōrātiōne prōsecūtus: liberāliter means in a generous or kindly manner; ōrātiōne indicates in what sense prōsecūtus is to be taken, accompanying with words; finally, prōsequor has its common meaning of accompany, but with the meaning unusually applied: Cæsar had encouraged the Remi, and he accompanies the encouragement with kind words. Translate, Cæsar encouraging the Remi and adding kind words.
29. commūnis salūtis: by the common interests Cæsar means those of the Ædui and the Romans.
30. cōnflīgendum sit: compare dubitandum (esse) p. 24, l. 5, and read the note. Here, as there, sibi, referring to Cæsar and the Ædui, must be mentally supplied, showing for whom the duty or necessity of action (hesitating, fighting) exists.
31. Id fieri posse: depends upon docet. To what does id refer?

PAGE 26,

1. Postquam ... vīdit ... cōgnōvit, ... mātūrāvit: when he saw ... and found out, (then) ... he hastened.
3. neque ... cōgnōvit: and from those scouts, etc., found out that they (the Belgæ) were now not far distant.
8. et connects reddēbat and efficiēbat, which have the same subject, quae res. The order makes this sentence difficult. Cæsar might have written: et efficiēbat ut commeātus ab Rēmis reliquīsque cīvitatibus sine perīculo ad eum portāri posset. The order is so perplexed and perplexing because Cæsar wrote in haste, and because he began with the word which was uppermost in his mind, commeātus.

CHAP. 6,

line 2. ex itinere: immediately after their march.

3. sustentātum est: the Remi held out. What literally?

4. Gallōrum ... oppūgnātio: the mode of attacking towns common to the Gauls and Belgæ.

5. tōtis moenibus: dative, though by some thought to be an ablative, all around the walls. 228; H. 386, 2.

7. testūdine facta: forming a testudo. What the soldiers did was to lap their shields over their heads.

8. cum: since. What mode follows cum in this sense?

11. nūntium ... mittit: one of the expressions that are followed by the accusative and infinitive; here, sēse ... posse. Compare in chapter 1, certior fiēbat, followed by Belgas ... coniūrāre; in chap. 4, reperiēbat, followed by Belgas ortos esse, in complete text.

Iccius Rēmus: Iccius, a Remian.

13. sēse: subject-accusative of posse.

PAGE 26,

19. moenibus ... mūrum ... mūrus ... mūrum: Cæsar's haste in writing is often manifest.

20. coepti sunt: it may seem strange that the passive should be used instead of the active, coepērunt; but see 143, a; H. 297, 1.

22. Quod: how is a relative after a period often best rendered? For an example, see note on qui, chap. 1, l. 13, simplified text.

24. nūlli: mark the emphasis from the position. Many similar cases occur, notwithstanding A. & G., p. 389, Rem.

oppūgnandi = oppūgnātiōnis.

25. summa nōbilitāte et grātia: a descriptive ablative; a man of the highest rank and popularity.

26. praefuerat: render as if an imperfect. The meaning is, he had been placed in command and was then in command.

ex iis: the same as eōrum.

27. lēgāti: as envoys. Compare the use of obsides as an appositive, p. 25, l. 26.

28. submittātur: can you make out the force of the sub?

CHAP. 7,

line 2. subsidio oppidānis: to aid the people in the town. But what literally? For the construction, see 233, a; H. 390.

3. quōrum adventu: in consequence of their coming.

5. contendērunt: the subject is hostes, suggested by hostibus in the preceding sentence.

6. ab: distant, off, away; so used chiefly with numerals.

ab mīlibus passuum minus duōbus: a word for word rendering would be, distant thousands of paces less than two; that is, less than two miles distant.

PAGE 26,

3. neque ... cōgnōvit: and learned from those scouts whom he had sent and from the Remi that they were now not far distant.

30. īsdem ducibus: the same persons as guides. Compare qui lēgāti, p. 26, l. 27, and note on simplified text.

3. apud oppidum: ad is more usual.

4. agros ... dēpopulāti—vīcis aedificiīsque ... incēnsis: literally, having laid waste the fields—the villages and buildings having been burned. Mark how the construction changes for want of a deponent verb in place of incendo.

9. in lātitudinem: compare in altitudinem, p. 26, l. 13.

CHAP. 8,

line 2. eximiam ... virtūtis: their eminent reputation for valor.

3. quid virtūte posset: what their real eminence in valor was.

Compare quid in bello possent, chap. 4, l. 2.

7. tantum ... patēbat quantum loci: render as if loci depended on tantum instead of quantum, extended over as much space as.
adversus: facing the enemy; adversus an adjective, agreeing with collis.
in lātitudinem: laterally. Compare chap. 7, l. 8.
8. ex utrāque parte lateris = ex utrōque latere: on, not from, both sides; so ab, below, l. 10.
10. ad plānitiam redībat: gradually resumed (impf.) a level. Cæsar describes a hill over against the enemy, having steep sides, and a front only broad enough for his army when arranged for battle. In front the hill rose with a gentle ascent, and at the top blended with the plain. It is possible that lēniter fastīgātus means, as the dictionaries define this passage and as many editors say, gently sloping down; in which case, ad plānitiam redībat would mean sank down gradually to the level at its base. This attributes an improbable meaning to fastīgātus.
12. extrēmas fossas: at the ends of the trenches; compare in chap. 2, l. 2, interiōrem Galliam, the interior of Gaul.
castella: there were, then, four.
17. ēductas īnstrūxerant: to make good English, render as if ēductas were a verb followed by et; so, very often, when a perfect participle and verb are closely connected.

PAGE 27,

10. et ... et: we do not say both ... and so frequently as we find et ... et in Latin; accordingly it will generally be found better to omit in translation the first et, and render the second and also.
11. proelio ... proeliis: a decisive battle ... skirmishes.
14. loco: ablative absolute, as there was a place.
21. obdūxit: Cæsar elsewhere commonly uses perdūco of running a wall or trench. Why obdūco here? Because the fossae were dug against the enemy, or to cover his position.
24. cum ... īnstrūxisset: Cæsar's thought was, according to Latin idiom, when I shall have drawn up, īnstrūxero; but such a future perfect of direct speech becomes pluperfect subjunctive in narration, after a past tense in the principal clause.

24. quod ... poterant: because they were so strong in numbers. Find two other similar uses of possum.
27. si quo opus esset: if there should be need of them anywhere; not, if there should be need of any thing.
28. subsidio: in meaning and construction like subsidio, p. 26, l. 32.

CHAP. 9,

line 2. si ... trānsīrent: to see if our men would cross this (hanc).

3. contendēbātur: there was fighting. Compare chap. 6, l. 3, sustentātum est.
4. neutri: neither of the two armies.
5. secundiōre ... nostris: as the cavalry skirmish proved rather favorable to our men.
9. castellum: read over again the last half of chap. 5. Cæsar makes no mention there of a castellum.
10. potuissent: the thought was, according to the Latin idiom, “if we shall not have been able” (potuerimus); but such a future perfect of direct speech becomes a pluperfect subjunctive in narration after a past tense.

PAGE 28,

1. nostrī autem, etc.: a difficult sentence; but treat it as directed in the Introductory Note, p. 43, only observing that si has its usual meaning of if, and impeditos, when they should get stuck fast, agrees with hostes understood.
2. ut ... adgrederentur: expresses the purpose of parāti in armis erant.
9. eo cōnsilio: with this design; explained by ut castellum ... expūgnārent.
possent: they said to themselves, if we shall be able, poterimus; but if we shall not have succeeded, si minus potuerimus; hence potuissent, when related. See note on īnstrūxisset, p. 27, l. 24.

12. nōbis ūsui: compare subsidio oppidānis, p. 26, l. 32.

CHAP. 10,

line 3. pūgnātum est: contains its own subject, there was fierce fighting.

See contendebātur, chap. 9, l. 3, and note.

4. impeditos: while they were struggling.

6. circumventos interfecerunt: they surrounded and killed. Read again the note on ēductas instruxerant, chap. 8, l. 17.

7. spem: subject-accusative of fefellisse; but translate, that they were disappointed in the hope.

neque: take the negative part with prōgredi.

8. ipsos: that is, se ipsos, namely, hostes.

10. quemque: subject-accusative of reverti. See also note on chap. 4, l. 9.

11. quōrum ... ad eos: you will very often find the relative clause preceding the antecedent. In almost all such cases the English way of speaking requires us to render the antecedent clause first.

13. Quod: this, referring to the last two sentences.

eo cōnsilio: with this design, explained by the following clause.

16. Hīs persuādēri: depends on nōn poterat. Why did not Cæsar write, Hi persuādēri ... nōn poterant, since he means, these could not be persuaded? 230; H. 301, 1.

19. reliquos ... cōnantes: the rest ... while they were trying.

21. Hostes: subject of cōstituērunt, l. 25, while a pronoun referring to hostes may be mentally supplied as subject of intellēxērunt and vīdērunt. This sentence illustrates an important principle of Latin order, attention to which will be of great aid in translation. When the verb of the principal clause and that of the dependent clause have the same subject, it is commonly expressed in the principal, and left out in the dependent, clause. In English we do the opposite. We often begin with the dependent clause; the Latin frames it into the principal clause.

21. ubi: repeat mentally with vīdērunt and coepit.
28. ad eos dēfendendos: illustrates a very common way of expressing a purpose.

CHAP. 11,

- line 1. ea re: that is, to disperse to their homes; chap. 10, l. 10.
2. ēgressi: the subject is Belgae, understood.
3. cōnsimilis: altogether like. What is the force of con?
4. Caesar: as the subject of veritus and continuit, Caesar seems strangely placed in the grip of the ablative absolute; but the position shows by whom the knowledge was got. Caesar getting wind of this movement immediately through his spies.
5. veritus: try always to render a participle so as to show its logical relation to the main verb, whether of time, cause, contrast, or what not; here, because he feared.
castris: substantially equivalent to in castris.
6. qui ... morārētur: compare qui dēdūceret, chap. 2, l. 3, and note.
10. ventum erat: they had come. Compare sustentātum est, chap. 6, l. 3; contendēbātur, chap. 9, l. 3.
11. priōres: those in advance.
15. sub: towards. The idea of place being transferred to that of time.

PAGE 29,

5. quisque: see p. 25, l. 3, and note on simplified text.
prīmum itineris locum: the first place on the road.
8. qua ... discēderent: following quod ... perspēxerat.
16. cum ... cōnsisterent: since the enemy, at the very extremity of the rear, kept making a stand.
18. priōres: et understood; while those in advance.
quod: carry on also into the next clause; and because they were not held together (continērentur).
21. sine ūllo perīculo: two ways of expressing “without any” in this chapter; for above we have nūllo certo ōrdine, without any definite order.

23. quantum ... spatium: how great a space of time (diēi) there was; that is (they killed as great a number) as the length of the time allowed.
24. sēque in castra ... recēpērunt: and they and their pitiless commander probably slept well that night.

CHAP. 12,

line 3. ex itinere: see chap. 6, l. 2, and note.

oppugnāre: means here carry by assault.

5. omnis ... multitūdo: notice that an adjective and a noun are often separated by words depending on the noun. Here ex fuga from the position is almost equivalent to fugientium.

6. vīneis: wooden frames with sloping roof and covered with hides, to protect a number of besiegers.

7. āctis: from ago, brought up; the vīneae were often moved on wheels.

aggere iacto: when earth had been thrown up for a mound. This was done so that wooden towers could be brought up near the walls.

10. ut cōservārentur: mark how often a dependent clause precedes the one on which it depends. Attention to this will often help in unravelling a long sentence. Now see qui ... dēdūceret, chap. 2, l. 3; quid ... posset et ... audērent, chap. 8, ll. 3, 4; qui ... morārētur, chap. 11, l. 6.

PAGE 29,

32. paucis dēfendentibus: though the defenders were few.

PAGE 30,

1. Castris mūnītis: after making a fortified camp. The first and most important thing, after selecting the site of a camp, was to intrench it. That may be all that is meant in this instance.

vīneas agere: depends on coepit.

quaeque ... comparāre: and to get ready whatever.

2. ūsui: compare subsidio, p. 26, l. 32.

5. quae: the like of which.

CHAP. 13,

line 1. obsidibus acceptis: after receiving hostages.

armis ... trāditis: it was Cæsar's practice to disarm his conquered enemies.

3. Qui cum: the relative is in the right place in Latin, but we cannot translate in this order. The natural place for both words is at the beginning of a clause; but when they come together, the relative takes precedence.

5. circiter ... quīnque: only about five miles.

6. abesset: governed by cum.

māiōres nātu: elders; seniōres would not do.

7. sēse ... venīre: they surrendered to him unconditionally.

9. pueri: children, as homines often means men and women.

PAGE 30,

9. atque: and besides, or and in particular.

17. neque ... contendere: and that they were not in arms.

20. passis manibus: pitiful!

CHAP. 14,

line 1. facit verba: intercedes.

2. in fide ... fuērunt: have been faithful and friendly.

4. perferre: were enduring. For the tense, see 336, A.

5. ēius cōnsili prīncipes: the prime movers in this plan: prīncipes = auctōres, authors.

6. in Britanniam profūgērunt: as lately Boulanger and others have done.

8. clēmēntia: said of one who has power to exercise the opposite, sevēritas, crūdēlitas.

mānsuētūdine: said of one who is humane and gentle, opposed to feritas.

9. fēceris ... amplificābis: we say, 'if you do this, you will add to'; in Latin, 'if you shall have done this, you will add to.'

10. qua: 105, d.; H. 190, 1.

si qua bella, etc.: by whose aid and resources they (the Ædui) are accustomed to bear the burden of whatever wars befall them.

26. perferre ... dēfēcisse: were enduring ... had revolted.

28. quod intellegent: seeing.

31. sua: emphatic; his own, that is, his well-known.

32. quod si fēcerit: if he should do this; the subjunctive of the future perfect, for which there is no separate form; hence the form of the perfect subjunctive is borrowed. If the tense is named by its form, it will be called perfect subjunctive; if by its meaning, future perfect subjunctive.

PAGE 31,

1. amplificātūrum (esse): the subject must be inferred from the subject of fēcerit.

CHAP. 15,

line 1. honōris ... causa: out of regard to Divitiacus.

3. māgna ... auctōritāte: one of great influence; a predicate ablative of description; such an ablative must always have a modifier, as here, māgna. The genitive may be used in the same way, as below, māgnae virtūtis. On the order, see note, chap. 12, l. 5.

6. quōrum, etc.: translate closely in the order of the Latin; about their character and customs, Cæsar, on inquiry; so, generally, do your best to keep close to the Latin order. Read again the Introductory Note, p. 43.

12. qui ... dēdissent: for having surrendered; what would be the meaning of qui ... dēdiderant?

6. hominum ... praestābat: was the most populous; what is it literally?

12. pati: that they permitted. Supply eos, referring to Nervii, as the subject of pati, esse, increpitāre, and cōfirmāre.
13. quod ... exīstimārent: observe in the simplified text quod ... exīstimābant; why the difference?
16. qui ... dēdissent ... prōiēcissent: for having surrendered and renounced; literally, since they had surrendered.
17. sēse: subject-accusative of mīssūros.

CHAP. 16,

- line 1. trīduum: for three days, accusative of duration.
2. Sabim: now called the Sambre.
6. quīque: equivalent to et eos qui, and all such as.
per aetātem: by reason of their age; that is, whether too old or too young.
7. in eum locum ... quo: into a place to which. The idea of the Latin fully expressed would be, into a place of such a character (eum) that to it (quo) there would be no access for an army. 319, 2 and note; H. 500, I. Compare qui ... vidērentur, immediately preceding.
8. exercitui: for an army, not necessarily, for Cæsar's army.

19. Cum ... fēcisset: a temporal cum clause is not always best rendered by when, etc.: after marching for three days.
24. hīs ... persuāserant: observe on p. 29, l. 1, an example of the impersonal construction of persuādeo in the passive: hīs persuādēri ... nōn poterat, it was not possible for these to be persuaded.
27. cōniēcisse: the verb implies hurried action, and so differs from dēpōno, which Cæsar uses in Book IV., 19, of putting women and children in a place of safety.

CHAP. 17,

- line 2. qui ... dēligant: compare qui dēdūceret, chap. 2, l. 3, and note; qui ... morārētur, chap. 11, l. 6.

Cum: since. See note on chap. 6, l. 8.

5. dēmōnstrārunt: shortened from dēmōnstrāvērunt, 128, a, 1; H. 235.

inter singulas: between each two; the same mistake, “between each,” is common in English.

6. neque ... negōti: and it was a matter of no difficulty at all.
7. cum ... vēnisset: when the first legion should reach the camping ground. In the direct form, vēnerit, shall have reached; then regularly such a future perfect is changed to the pluperfect subjunctive in indirect discourse after a past tense. See note on chap 9, l. 10.

8. sarcinis: “Besides his arms, the Roman soldier carried stakes (vālli), used for the palisades of the camp, food and utensils, a saw, a spade, a chain for his prisoners, and other things. He was loaded like a mule.” —LONG.

qua pulsa: if this legion were beaten.

futūrum (esse): depends on dēmōnstrārunt; the result would be.

9. Nervii autem: now the Nervii. Nervii is the subject of effēcerant. This long sentence is not so difficult as it at first seems. Follow closely the Latin order to discover the sense, render quo in order that, effēcerant had caused, and īnstar like.

11. teneris ... ēnātis: by lopping the trees when young, and intertwining the branches which grew out thick in a lateral direction; ēnātis from ēnāscor.

12. interiectis: it does not appear possible to take this word in the sense given to it in the dictionaries, thrown or stuffed in. So Moberly translates, “by throwing in brambles and thorns for the present occasion.” But is it to be supposed that this was done everywhere? If not, how would the Nervii know where to do it? Moreover, what they had done was done antīquitus, from of old. Translate, therefore, by planting among them.

14. quo nōn modo nōn ... sed ne ... quidem: this formula, or (without second nōn) nōn modo ... sed ne ... quidem, is usually awkwardly rendered, not only not, but not even. Instead, translate as if the first member were complete in itself (suppressing modo), followed by nay, nor even, thus: which it was not possible to pass through, nay, nor even see through.

15. Hīs rēbus: by these obstacles.

16. nōn ... cōnsilium: they ought not to disregard the advice.

4. impedimentōrum: here, baggage animals; impedimentis, below, baggage.

9. Adiuvābat: the subject is the long sentence following, Nervii ... effēcerant. Translate, this circumstance favored the advice of those who reported the intelligence, that (quod).

10. nihil ... possent: compare quid in bello possent, p. 24, l. 25; quid virtūte posset, p. 27, l. 12.

11. neque enim: and in fact ... not. Observe that enim here does not mean for.

12. pedestribus valent cōpiis: compare virtūte ... valēre, p. 25, l. 5. The ablative is ablative of means.

13. ad eos: that is, the Nervii.

CHAP. 18,

line 1. quem locum: I mean the place which.

3. Ab eo flūmine: that is, on the other side.

4. pari adclivitate collis: a hill of similar upward slope; a descriptive ablative.

ab superioriōre parte: in the upper part. Ab not seldom means on, in, at, by, because the idea of removal (from) implies previous contact or nearness, and the latent idea is sometimes the most important.

5. ut: may be considered as referring to an ita suppressed with silvestris; so thickly wooded that.

nōn ... posset: one could not easily see within. Impersonal expressions, like perspici potest, are common in Latin. Mark the mode of translation.

7. secundum: along, properly following, from sequor.

24. adversus huic et contrārius: corresponding to this and right opposite.
25. passus ... apertus: clear of woods for about two hundred paces up from its base.
- īnfimus: ab īnferiōre parte.

CHAP. 19,

- line 1. omnibus cōpiis: Cæsar often uses cum omnibus cōpiis.
2. cōsuētūdine: according to custom; just as frequently ex cōsuētūdine.
4. conlocārat: for conlocāverat. See dēmōnstrārunt, chap. 17, l. 5, and note.
6. praesidiōque impedīmentis: compare subsidio oppidānis, chap. 7, l. 2, and note.
11. opere dīmēnso: after laying out the work; the expression refers to marking off the ground preparatory to trenching, making a rampart, etc.
- castra mūnīre: to make a camp.
17. in manibus nostris: close upon us.
18. ad: towards; repeat it mentally before eos.
- adverso colle: straight up the hill; literally, with the hill before them; so perhaps strictly neither an ablative absolute nor an ablative of the “way by which.”

32. ratio ōrdōque āgminis: the plan and the order of marching.
- aliter ... āc: otherwise than, different from what; this strange idiom looks like an abridged, colloquial expression; probably it was, fully expressed, aliter āc aliter, one way and another way. The order of march was one way and the Belgæ had reported it another way. So I have heard a child say, “This is different and that is different,” meaning “this is different from that.”

PAGE 33,

8. cum: while; to be repeated mentally with facient.
10. neque ... cēdentes īnsequi audērent: and while our men were hesitating to pursue them when they retreated.
quem ad finem: translate as if it were ad finem ad quem, to the line to which the level, clear ground extended.
15. ut ... cōfirmāverant: as they had arranged their order of battle and ranks within the woods, and as they had encouraged each other to do.

CHAP. 20,

- line 2. sīgnum tuba dandum (erat): in order to call the men to take their places in the ranks. Some might not see the flag.
3. sīgnum dandum: this time the signal is for the charge, or perhaps to get ready for a charge.
 5. subsidio: dative of end or service, but render as if a nominative, which might have been used, a help.
 7. commode: modifies praescrībere.
ipsi sibi praescrībere ... poterant: they could direct themselves without any orders (ipsi).
 11. nihil: not ... at all; stronger than nōn.
 12. per se: on their own responsibility.
quae vidēbantur: whatever seemed best.

PAGE 33,

27. qui: does not refer to mīlites, but to ii understood.
aggeris petendi causa: for the purpose of seeking materials for a rampart. Mark the position of causa, always following the genitive depending on it.
30. hīs difficultātibus: in this strait; but the words are in the dative with subsidio. Find two other instances of this construction of two datives.
32. quid fieri oportēret: the object of praescrībere.

CHAP. 21,

line 1. necessāriis rēbus imperātis: when you meet with res, ask yourself exactly what it means, and then find a proper rendering. Translate, after giving the necessary orders.

4. prīstinae: this word is often used of what was formerly and still continues.

neu ... animo: and not lose presence of mind.

6. quod ... aberant: gives the reason of the following, not the preceding, clause.

8. pūgnantibus occurrit: he finds them fighting.

8. Temporis: mark how the important word comes first. Take this sentence in thought almost without change in the order of the words, then translate.

tanta ... exiguitas: so great was the littleness = such was the shortness. Translate, so short was the time.

10. īnsignia: “the crests, feathers red and black, and other decorations which the soldiers had.... On the march the helmet was not carried on the head. The shields had leather coverings when they were not in use.” —LONG.

12. Quam ... dēvēnit: to whatever part of the army each one happened to come.

ab opere: that is, making the camp; see chap. 19, l. 11.

13. quaeque ... cōspēxit: and whatever standards he caught sight of first.

PAGE 34,

13. quo ... posset: whither a javelin could be hurled = a javelin throw.

19. Quam ... in partem: compare the second line of the chapter. quisque seems oddly placed, but it is crowded out of the first place, where it would like to stand, by quam.

CHAP. 22,

line 2. rei militāris ... ōrdo: military science and arrangement.

3. fiēbat: the result was.

aliae ... parte: in this idiom the second part only of the thought is expressed. ‘Other legions were fighting in another part’ implies ‘some were fighting in one part of the field.’ So claudus altero pede, lame in the other foot, implies one foot sound.

5. interiectis: to be taken with saepibus.
6. ut: so that. conlocāri: depends on possent.
7. in: of reason, because of or owing to.
8. inīquitāte: usually translated unfavorable condition, or by some similar phrase, and such is the common meaning of inīquitas; but the context shows that the meaning here is closer to the original sense, that of unevenness; hence we may translate, owing to such inequality in the condition of things.

PAGE 34,

25. cum: since, governs impedīrētur as well as resisterent.
dīversis legiōnibus: dīversus means turned different ways, not with united line; hence here, disjoined. Translate, since, owing to the legions being separated.
28. neque certa subsidia: here begins the statement of the result;
certa subsidia: subject of poterant.
neque quid, etc.: nor was it possible to foresee what was needed everywhere. After prōvidēri supply mentally poterat, of which the whole preceding clause is the grammatical subject.

CHAP. 23,

- line 1. ut: since. Would the mode of cōnstiterant have been the same, if cum had been used in place of ut?
2. acie: an old form of the genitive for aciēi.
Atrebates: object of compulērunt.
6. Ipsi: refers to the subject of interfēcērunt; that is, legiōnis nōnae et decimae mīlites.
8. dīversae = aliae; what should it mean from its derivation?
10. a frōnte: along the front. See chap. 18, l. 4, and note.
11. ab sinistra parte: on the left. Compare ā frōnte, preceding line, and ab superiōre parte, chap. 18, l. 4, and note.

- nūdātis castris: as the camp was left unguarded.
13. aperto latere: on their (the legions') exposed flank.
14. summum ... locum: the summit occupied by the camp;
castrorum is a possessive genitive.

PAGE 35,

3. exanimātos ... cōnfectos: breathless and exhausted by wounds.
hīs: the ninth and tenth legions.
4. ea pars: that is, ea pars hostium.
5. cōnantes: accusative, agreeing with Atrebates understood, or a pronoun referring to Atrebates.
8. resistentes hostes: object of cōniēcērunt.
16. summam imperi: chief command.

CHAP. 24,

- line 2. cum ... recipere: as they were returning.
5. cum respēxissent: on looking back. A cum clause is not always best translated by a full clause.
6. praecipites ... mandābant: ran away as fast as they could. What literally?
7. eōrum: depends on clāmor fremitusque.
8. ferēbantur: began to rush. Observe the imperfects followed by perfects. The imperfect paints, the perfect describes.
10. auxili causa: for the purpose of rendering aid = as auxiliaries.
11. cum: since. See note, chap. 6, l. 8. complēri: this and the following infinitives depend on vīdissent.
13. vīdissent: the subject is equites Trēveri.
14. rēbus: fortunes. How might a clause be substituted here in Latin for the ablative absolute?
15. pulsos superātōsque: supply esse.

PAGE 35,

21. pulsos: supply esse.
22. adversis hostibus occurrēbant: came straight against the enemy.
 What literally?

23. cālōnes ... āc summo iugo: the porta decumāna was the rear gate of the camp, opposite the porta praetōria. It appears from this passage that the place for the cālōnes was at the back of the camp, and that in this instance the camp was partly on sloping ground.
30. virtūtis opīnio: reputation for valor.

2. dīversos dissipātōsque: running in different directions and scattered.
5. hostes: subject-accusative of potītos (esse).

CHAP. 25,

- line 2. suos urgēri: that his men were hard pressed; the infinitive depends on vīdit.
3. cōnfertos mīlites: that the soldiers by being crowded together.
sibi ... impedimento: hindered one another.
8. ut ... posset: so that he could no longer stand.
9. Hīs rēbus: for these reasons.
tardiōres: were losing heart.
12. subeuntes intermittere: cease mounting the hill.
12. ab utrōque latere: on both flanks. Compare ab superiōre parte, chap. 18, l. 4.
13. rem ... angusto: that the situation was critical. What literally?
14. ūni: a peculiar use of ūnus, quite equivalent to a; not to be imitated in writing Latin.
17. sīgna ... iūssit: he ordered them to advance and at the same time to open out their ranks.

PAGE 36,

7. Caesar: subject of prōcessit, fifteen lines below. This first sentence extending through eighteen lines looks very formidable; but if it is taken in accordance with the Introductory Note, p. 43, the meaning will be evident. To translate the sentence is more difficult. In translating, repeat

“and saw” before the words quartae cohortis, and render the ablative absolutes by clauses, thus: and saw that all the captains of the fourth cohort were killed. Then, reliquos esse tardiōres, that the rest (in consequence) were losing heart.

8. sīgnisque ... conlātis: and since the standards were brought together. Try constantly to make out the relation in thought expressed by participles; that is, whether the idea is that of time, when, while, etc.; of cause, as, since; of concession, though, notwithstanding; or of condition, accompanying circumstances, etc., to be variously rendered.
16. ab novissimis: in the rear. So below, l. 21. Compare ab sinistra parte, p. 35, l. 13. In both places in this chapter it would be easy to make the mistake of taking ab in the sense of ex, as a substitute for the partitive genitive.
27. operam nāvāre cuperet: “wished to do his best.” What literally?

CHAP. 26,

line 3. ut ... coniungerent: for the legions gradually to draw together.

7. proelio nūntiāto: on the report of the battle.

cursu incitāto: quickenning their speed. The participle following is causal; they began to run because of the report of the battle.

10. qui: refers to decimam legiōnem. What is the grammatical irregularity, and how is it to be accounted for?

cum: to be taken with cōgnōvissent.

quo in loco res esset: what the situation was. What literally? Account for the subjunctive.

12. nihil ... fēcērunt: left nothing undone in the way of speed. What literally?

reliqui: neuter of reliquus. A partitive genitive depending on nihil. Find a similar construction in chap. 15.

PAGE 36,

31. conversa sīgna: the object of īnferrent, but most conveniently rendered as coördinate with it, to face about and charge. It is thought that by this movement the twelfth and the seventh legions formed a circle or a square.

PAGE 37,

1. neque timērent: repeat cum mentally from the preceding clause; and since they (no longer) feared.
- āversi: literally, being turned away; translate, from their rear being unguarded.

CHAP. 27,

line 2. vulneribus cōfecti: badly wounded. What literally?

prōcubuissent: from prōcumbo.

3. vēro: emphasizes equites, but is better left untranslated; say, while the cavalry.
4. se ... praeferrent: thrust themselves before; a result clause, dependent on tanta ... est facta.
5. in extrēma spe salūtis: “when all hope of saving themselves was at an end.” Here a literal translation would be meaningless or misleading.
7. proximi ... īnsistēbant: those nearest would stand upon their prostrate companions.
8. hīs deiēctis: when these (in turn) were thrown down.
10. intercepta remittēbant: would catch and hurl back. See ēductas īnstrūxerant, chap. 8, l. 17, and note.
11. ut, etc.: so that one ought to judge that it was not without cause that men of such valor. On iūdicāre dēbēret, compare perspici posset, chap. 18, l. 5, and note.
13. quae ... difficillimis: things which, most difficult in themselves.
facilia: a predicate adjective with redēgerat.

PAGE 37,

15. innīxi: from innītor, agrees with nostri.
perterritos: supply esse; the subject-accusative is hostes.
16. inermes: agrees with cālōnes, even though unarmed.
23. qui superessent: the survivors. Supply ii as antecedent of qui.

ut: as. So used p. 34, l. 23.

24. cōnicerent: dependent on tantam virtutem ... ut; (so that) those who survived (qui superessent) kept hurling.

CHAP. 28,

line 1. prope: modifies ad, not redācto.

2. redācto: see the last word of the preceding chapter.

māiōres nātu: see chap. 13, l. 6, and note.

3. pueris: see chap. 13, l. 9, and note.

4. cōnsēnsu ... supererant: with the consent of all the survivors.

7. vix ad: to barely; for ad vix, as some say.

8. in: towards; erga might have been used.

9. vidērētur: not that he might seem, but that he might be seen.

11. se ... prohibērent: refrain and keep their dependents from;
prohibēre is appropriate to suos, but hardly to se.

PAGE 37,

31. aestuāria: “the country lying to the north (the modern Zealand) is low and marshy, cut up with tidewater inlets and bays.” —
ALLEN & GREENOUGH.

32. cum victōribus, etc.: since they thought there was no obstacle for the victors, no safety for the vanquished.

PAGE 38,

4. mīlibus LX: they had promised fifty thousand; see chap. 4. It was natural that they should exaggerate their losses.

CHAP. 29,

line 1. auxilio Nerviis: compare subsidio oppidānis, chap. 7, l. 2, and note. Find other examples of this construction.

4. ūnum oppidum: supposed to be at the junction of the Sambre and Meuse.

5. ex omnibus in circuitu partibus: simply, all round.

9. conlocābant: there is a reading, conlocārant. If that is the true reading, tum in the preceding line would mean besides.

PAGE 38,

10. cum: while. Four lines below cum means though.
16. aditus ... pedum: an approach of two hundred feet in breadth, not more; pedum depends on aditus.
21. iis impedimentis: take with dēpositis, two lines below.
22. agere āc portāre: drive or carry.
24. ūna: with it; that is, the plunder.
25. cum alias, etc.: since they carried on now aggressive now defensive war. What literally?

CHAP. 30,

- line 1. prīmo adventu = cum prīmum advēnisset, as soon as our army had got there.
3. pedum XII.: that is, in altitūdinem, which is expressed, chap. 5, l. 19.
 4. oppido: might have been in oppido. Cf. castris, chap. 11, l. 5.
 5. vīneis āctis: āctis from ago; see chap. 12, l. 6, and note.
aggere exstrūcto: an embankment of timber, stones, and earth was begun at a distance from the walls of a town, wide enough to roll one or more towers upon, and was carried forward by soldiers working under the shelter of the vīneae up to the defensive works.
 6. cōstitui: being raised.
 7. ab tanto spatio: so far away. Compare ab milibus, chap. 7, l. 6, and note.
 8. quibusnam manibus: with what hands, pray; nam added for emphasis, to point their sarcasm.
 10. conlocāre: strangely used for conlocātūros (esse). The Aduatuci may have thought that the Romans intended to hoist the tower upon their wall, or they may have been joking. Which is more likely?

PAGE 39,

5. hominibus ... contemptui: another pair of datives. Find other examples. The Italians of the present time do not strike one as conspicuously shorter than the Germans.

māgnitūdine: being contrasted with brevitas, is used in the sense of altitūdine.

CHAP. 31,

line 1. movēri: moving. This word here has suggested a change of conlocāre, in the last line of the preceding chapter, to mōtūros, a very plausible conjecture, but it spoils the joke of the Aduatuci.

5. qui: since they. Compare qui ... dēdidissent, chap. 15, l. 12, and note.

8. pro sua clēmētia: according to his well-known clemency. See chap. 14, l. 8, and note. What did they think of his clemency when he sold 53,000 of them into slavery?

11. trāditis armis = si arma trādidissent, if they should surrender their arms.

13. per cruciātum interfici: to be tortured to death. What literally?

PAGE 39,

16. statuisset: not had decided, but should decide. No mistake is oftener made by beginners than in the rendering of a pluperfect subjunctive of indirect discourse representing a future perfect of direct discourse. Such a subjunctive is to be rendered by the auxiliary should, not had. To tell whether a pluperfect subjunctive represents a future perfect, think what form a speaker's words would take, remembering that the Romans commonly used the future or future perfect of things really future, while we very often use the present.

CHAP. 32,

line 1. cōsuētūdine: ablative of cause.

3. aries: "a long, strong beam of wood, furnished with an iron head in the form of a ram's head. It was suspended from a framework by a strong chain or ropes, and worked by men, who drove it against the wall." —LONG.

4. in Nerviiis: in the case of the Nervii; a common meaning of in with names of persons.
5. ne quam ... īferant: not to do any harm to those who had surrendered to the Roman people.
7. facere: one would expect the future with subject-accusative, se factūros (esse). Compare conlocāre, for conlocātūros esse, chap. 30, l. 10.
9. prope ... adaequārent: came up almost to the very top; summam with altitūdinem. What literally?
12. pāce sunt ūsi = conquiēvērunt, kept quiet.

CHAP. 33,

line 3. nostros: our commanders, subject-accusative of dēductūros and servātūros (esse).

praesidia: men stationed in the castella; see below.

4. dēductūros ... servātūros: observe how frequently esse is omitted with the future participle.
dēnique: at any rate. What is its usual meaning?
5. tertia vigilia: the Romans divided the night into four equal divisions, watches, of about three hours each.
9. eo concursum est: the soldiers hurried thither. What literally?
Find similar constructions in chaps. 6, 9, 10, 11.
10. in extrēma spe salūtis: compare chap. 27, l. 5, and note. The context shows, however, that the meaning is not quite the same here. Translate, as their last chance of saving themselves.
14. nēmo: observe the emphasis from its position. Compare in English, “Silver and gold have I none.” nēmo and nūllus are often so placed. Cf. nūlli, chap. 6, l. 10.
16. ab iis qui ēmerant = ab emptōribus: by the purchasers, who were the mercātōres, traders who followed the army as hungry sharks follow a ship.
capitum: we say “souls.” It depends on quīnquāginta trium.
17. quīnquāginta trium: 53,000 captives, probably chained in gangs and sent to be sold in the Province and in Italy; a source of great gain to the general.

PAGE 40,

4. mīlites ... mīlitibus: another evidence of haste. See p. 26, l. 19, and note.
5. ne quam ... iniūriam: see p. 39, l. 28, and note.
9. iis: with armis. Observe the order of the words.
10. vīminibus intextis: repeat mentally ex before these words. Some supply factis.
16. pūgnātumque, etc.: translate as if hostibus and viris were subjects.
17. ut ... dēbuit: as brave men ought to fight. What literally?
18. iacerent: the subjunctive shows that the remark is a general one. The indicative would have a limiting force. The difference can hardly be brought out in translation. In the former case we may render, against men who could throw; in the latter, against those who were throwing.
20. ad = circiter.

CHAP. 34,

line 2. mīserat: had sent, that is, before the defeat of the Aduatuci.

5. diciōnem: under the sway; in some texts, in dēditiōnem. If that reading is correct, the meaning would be, were brought to surrender.

CHAP. 35,

line 1. pācāta: see p. 23, l. 7, and note.

4. qui ... pollicērentur: compare p. 23, l. 19, qui ... dēdūceret; p. 29, l. 12, qui ... morārētur; p. 31, l. 30, qui ... dēligant.
6. inita proxima aestāte: see p. 23, l. 18, and note.
10. ex litteris: in consequence of the letters.
11. supplicatio: a public, religious festival of thanksgiving, decreed by the senate. "The fifteen days' rejoicing marks the constant fear of the Gauls which had haunted the Romans ever since the 'dies Alliensis.' Kraner remarks that the longest 'supplicatio' till this had been one of twelve days, for Pompeius' success against Mithridates." —MOBERLY.

nūlli: see p. 40, l. 22; also p. 26, l. 24, and note.

EXERCISES ON SIMPLIFIED TEXT.

The references are to the Grammars of Allen and Greenough, and Harkness.

The learner is expected, before writing the Exercises, to review the Latin text, and find therein and commit to memory illustrations of the grammatical principles selected.

CHAPTER I.

1. Indirect Discourse: 336, 1 and 2; H. 523 and I.
 2. Cum Temporal with Subjunctive: 325; H. 521, II. and 2.
 3. Subjunctive after Verbs of Fearing: 331, f.; H. 498, III.
1. Cæsar was in hither Gaul.
 2. Reports were brought into hither Gaul.
 3. While Labienus was in Gaul, the Belgæ made a league.¹
 4. A report is brought that² the Belgæ are conspiring.
 5. They are afraid that our army is coming³ against them.
 6. They are vexed⁴ that our army remains in Gaul.
 7. Cæsar feared that the Belgæ were conspiring.
 8. Letters kept coming,⁵ while they were conspiring.

NOTES.—¹ made a league: one word in Latin. ² Be careful about the that clause in this and the following sentence. Recall the text to memory and mentally apply the rules. ³ is coming: use venio. ⁴ are vexed: in Latin one of the expressions, like rūmōres adferēbantur, requiring the accusative and infinitive. ⁵ kept coming: one word in Latin.

CHAPTER II.

1. Relative Clauses of Purpose: 317, 2 and N.; H. 497, I.
2. Accus. and Infin. of Indirect Discourse: 336, 1 and 2; H. 523 and I.

1. In hither Gaul there¹ were two legions.
2. Two new legions Cæsar levies.
3. The two new legions are sent into the interior of Gaul.
4. Cæsar sends his lieutenant to lead² them.³
5. Pedius was sent to lead the new legions.
6. The Senones report that the Belgians are gathering.⁴
7. The Senones informed Cæsar about the Belgians.

NOTES.— ¹ there: omit. ² to lead; do not express a purpose in Latin by the infinitive. ³ them: eas. ⁴ are gathering: a passive form in Latin, because the sense is, are being collected together.

CHAPTER III.

1. Ablative of Means: 248, 8, c; H. 420.
2. Ablative with potior, ūtor, etc.: 249; H. 421, I.
3. Accus. and Infin. of Indirect Discourse: 336, 2; H. 523, I.
1. Cæsar came unexpectedly to the borders of the Remi.
2. The Remi said they had not combined¹ against the Roman people.
3. They said they were ready to give hostages.
4. All the rest of the Belgæ² had joined³ with the Germans.
5. They aided Cæsar with corn and other⁴ things.
6. The Remi and their⁵ kinsmen enjoy the same laws.

NOTES.— ¹ they had not combined: themselves not to have combined. ² of the Belgæ: not the genitive. ³ had joined: in Latin, had joined themselves, if you use coniungo. ⁴ aliis. ⁵ their: omit.

CHAPTER IV.

1. Indirect Questions: 334; H. 529, 1.
2. Substantive Clauses of Result: 332; H. 501.

1. Whence¹ did very many of the Belgæ² spring?
2. Cæsar asked whence very many of the Belgæ sprung.
3. What states are in arms?
4. Cæsar asked what states were in arms.
5. While Divitiacus was king, he was most powerful.
6. From Galba's foresight and justice it results that he is a powerful king.
7. From the valor of the Bellovaci it came about that they demanded the management³ of the war.

NOTES.— ¹ Whence: unde. ² of the Belgæ: not the genitive. ³ management: summa.

CHAPTER V.

1. Interest with Gen. of Person: 222; H. 406, III.
2. Infin. with Subject-Accus. as Subject: 270; H. 538.
3. Infin. with Subject-Accus. as Object: 272 and Rem.; H. 534.
1. The children of the leading men are brought to Cæsar as hostages.
2. He orders all the children to be brought to him.¹
3. It concerns Cæsar for² the senate to come to him.
4. It concerns Divitiacus to send the forces of the Ædui.
5. Cæsar sees that³ the forces of the Belgæ are hastening.
6. He learns that the Axona is not far away.
7. This river he crossed⁴ and protected his camp by means of its banks.

NOTES.— ¹ him: in Latin, himself. ² for: not to be expressed in Latin. ³ that: be careful about that-clauses. ⁴ he crossed: use trānseo.

CHAPTER VI.

1. Ablative of Separation: 243; H. 413.
2. Cum Causal with Subjunctive: 326; H. 517.
3. Ablative Absolute: 255 and Note on p. 262; H. 431.

1. The enemy formed a testudo and advanced close to¹ the wall.
2. The enemy having hurled stones² made a testudo.
3. Since there were so many,³ they undermined the wall.
4. They easily cleared the walls of soldiers.
5. The Belgæ having cleared the wall made an attack.⁴
6. Having made an attack⁵ they threw missiles against the wall.
7. Since the missiles were many, no one was able to stand on the wall.

NOTES.— ¹ advanced close to: one word in Latin. ² having hurled stones: say, stones having been hurled. Why? ³ so many: tot. ⁴ attack: use impetus. ⁵ having made an attack: not impetum facti.

CHAPTER VII.

1. Ablative of Cause: 245; H. 416.
 2. Perfect Participles of Deponents: 135, b.; H. 231, 2.
1. At midnight archers and slingers were sent by Cæsar to the town.
 2. On account of the assistance of the archers and slingers, the people in the town¹ had good hopes.
 3. The enemy had no hope of taking² the town, because of the coming of Cæsar's soldiers.
 4. Cæsar, delaying³ a little while, sent aid to Iccius.
 5. The enemy, after laying waste the fields, hastened against Cæsar's camp.

NOTES.— ¹ people in the town: one word in Latin. ² of taking: expūgnandi. ³ delaying: not present participle.

CHAPTER VIII.

1. Indirect Questions: 334; H. 529, I.
 2. Partitive Genitive: 216; H. 396, IV.
1. What can the enemy do by their valor?

2. Cæsar tries what the valor of the enemy is capable of.¹
3. How much do our men dare?
4. Cæsar makes trial of the daring² of his men.
5. How much space can Cæsar's army occupy?
6. Cæsar explains³ over how much space the hill extended in front.

NOTES.—¹ is capable of: can. ² the daring of, etc.: recast the sentence mentally before translating, thus: Cæsar makes trial what his men dare. ³ explains: docet.

CHAPTER IX.

1. Clauses of Purpose: 317 and 1; H. 497, II.
2. The Gerundive: 113, d, 2 and 296; H. 544, I.

1. He begins to¹ cross the river.
2. They began to lead their forces across.
3. They lead their forces over in order to take the redoubt.
4. Cæsar has shown that the river was behind him.²
5. They will cross so as to lay waste the lands of the Remi.

NOTES.—¹ He begins to: makes a beginning of. ² him: should it be eum or se?

CHAPTER X.

1. Passive of Intransitive Verbs: 230; H. 301, 1.
2. Accusative of Limit: 258, b and N. 1; H. 380, II. 2.
3. Substantive Clauses of Purpose: 331 and N. 1; H. 498.

1. Those of the Belgæ who were not killed returned home.
2. They resolve to fight in their own territories.
3. They decide that it is best¹ to lead over their army.
4. Divitiacus cannot be persuaded² to advance to an unfavorable place.
5. The Ædui were persuaded to return to their homes.

6. The enemy advancing into the river were surrounded.

NOTES.—¹ that it is best: it to be best. ² recast the clause, before trying to turn it into Latin.

CHAPTER XI.

1. Ablative of Time: 256; H. 429.

2. Perfect Participles: 290, d. 1 and 2; H. 550, N. 4.

1. On the departure of the enemy Cæsar sent ahead all his cavalry.
2. At sunset the three legions returned¹ into camp.
3. In the second watch they attacked the enemy's rear.
4. The Belgæ, fearing² an attack, set out at daybreak.
5. The spies, having seen³ the fugitives, bring back word.⁴
6. Cæsar, after keeping his soldiers in camp, ordered Labienus to set out.

NOTES.—¹ returned: two words in Latin. ² fearing: the participle veritus does not usually denote time prior to that of the main verb in the sentence, like most perfect participles, but the same time. ³ having seen: do not say vīsi. ⁴ bring back word: use renūntio.

CHAPTER XII.

1. Ablative of Cause, 245; H. 413.

2. Ablative Absolute: 255 and Note on p. 262; H. 431.

1. Cæsar could not take the town on account of the great number¹ of the Suessiones.
2. Owing to² the works of the Romans, their “vineæ” and towers, the Suessiones send envoys.³

4. The townsmen,⁵ making a surrender, got their request.⁶
5. Because of their surrender they got their request.
6. The surrender made, they were spared.

NOTES.—¹ great number: one word in Latin. ² Owing to: like “on account of,” not separately expressed in Latin. ³ envoys: use lĕgātus. ⁴ made a forced march and: a different turn in Latin. ⁵ townsmen: use oppidānus. ⁶ got their request: one word.

CHAPTER XIII.

1. Cum Temporal with Subjunctive: 325; H. 521, II. 2.
2. Constructions with peto: 239, c. N. 1; H. 374, 2, N. 4.

1. When the arms had been given up,¹ the elders came forth.
2. All the elders came out of Bratuspantium and begged Cæsar for peace.²
3. Cæsar, when he had received their submission, asked the men for their³ arms.
4. According to their⁴ custom they stretched out their hands and asked the Romans for peace.

NOTES.—¹ Render this clause in two ways: first by two words, then by a full clause. So each of the three following sentences contains a clause to be rendered in two ways.

² Cæsar for peace: quite otherwise in Latin. ³ their: omit. ⁴ their: is this to be expressed by eōrum?

CHAPTER XIV.

1. Ablative of Means: 248, 8, c; H. 420.
2. Ablative with ūtor, etc.: 249; H. 421, I.

5. Divitiacus says the chiefs had fled to² Britain.
6. If you show³ clemency, you will increase our influence.
7. Whatever⁴ war befalls, by means of their⁵ resources we shall be able to hold out.

NOTES.—¹ will show: not the future in Latin. ² to: not ad. ³ show: not well rendered by present indicative. ⁴ whatever: if any. ⁵ their: eōrum.

CHAPTER XV.

1. Partitive Genitive: 216; H. 396, IV.
2. Ablative of Quality: 251; H. 419, II.
3. Causal Relative Sentences: 320, e; H. 517.

1. The territories of the Nervii border on the Ambiani.
2. The Nervii blame the Ambiani for having surrendered.¹
3. The Nervii have² great influence among the Belgæ.
4. They use no wine, because it weakens³ character.
5. Those men think minds lose energy through wine.

NOTES.—¹ for having surrendered: turn by a relative clause. ² have: say are (men) of.
³ because it weakens: a relative clause with subjunctive, to indicate their view, as distinguished from a statement of fact.

CHAPTER XVI.

1. Comparative amplius, etc.: 247, c.; H. 417, N. 2.
2. Accusative of Time and Space: 256 and 257; H. 379.

1. The Nervii were distant a three days' march.

3. He learns from prisoners what the Nervii are doing.¹
4. They have taken a position more than five miles from the Sambre.
5. He learns from prisoners that he² is waited for by the Nervii.

NOTES.—¹ are doing: be careful about the mode. ² that he: himself.

CHAPTER XVII.

1. Use of quisquam: 202, c.; H. 457.
2. Relative Clauses of Purpose: 317; H. 497, I.
3. Substitutes for Partitive Gen.: 216, c.; H. 397, N. 3.

1. Certain of the Belgæ went by night to the camp of the Nervii.
2. Cæsar says that certain men went¹ to the Nervii.
3. Many of the prisoners found out about the legions.
4. They were sent to their friends to report² the matter.
5. To lop trees is a matter³ of no difficulty at all.
6. Men were sent ahead to select⁴ a suitable place.

NOTES.— ¹ went: to have gone. ² to report: not the infinitive. ³ matter, etc.: recast, before trying to turn into Latin. ⁴ to select: try two ways.

CHAPTER XVIII.

1. Descriptive Ablative: 251; H. 419, II.
 2. Clauses of Result: 319; H. 500, I. and II.
1. Along the river Sambre were trees¹ of great height.²
 2. Among these trees the Nervii keep themselves hidden.
 3. So³ close together⁴ were these trees that the Romans could not see through.
 4. The river is of such depth that men can cross.
 5. On the open ground are pickets of great courage.

NOTES.— ¹ trees: arbor, fem. ² height: the same word that means depth. ³ So: ita.
⁴ close together: crēber.

CHAPTER XIX.

1. Dative of Service: 233 a; H. 390.
 2. Imperfect of Repeated Action: 277; H. 469, II.
 3. Ablative of Manner: 248 and Rem.; H. 419, III.
1. The cavalry of the enemy kept making attacks.
 2. They would attack our horsemen with great courage.

3. These horsemen had been sent ahead by Cæsar as a protection to the camp.

5. The slingers and archers helped¹ the horsemen.
6. With great speed they would run as far as² the woods.
7. With wonderful bravery they engage in battle with the Nervii.

NOTES.—¹ helped: two words in Latin. ² as far as: ad, or usque ad.

CHAPTER XX.

1. The Gerundive: 113, d.; H. 234.
 2. Dative of Apparent Agent: 232; H. 388.
 3. Ablative of Agent with ā or ab: 246; H. 415, I.
1. The soldiers are directed¹ by Cæsar.
 2. The soldiers must be directed by Cæsar.
 3. The flag was displayed by the soldiers.
 4. The flag had to be displayed by the soldiers.
 5. Experience is often helpful² to soldiers.
 6. The work is hindered by³ the near approach⁴ of the enemy.

NOTES.—¹ are directed: use doceo. ² helpful: turn by a noun. ³ by the near approach: why not ā or ab? ⁴ near approach: one word.

CHAPTER XXI.

1. Ablative of Gerundive with Prepositions: 301; H. 544, 2.
 2. Gerundive Construction instead of Gerund: 296; H. 544, 1.
 3. Purpose expressed by Gerundive: 318 and b; H. 544, 2, N. 2.

1. So dense was the hedge that it obstructed the view.
2. The result was that no legion could execute orders.
3. One legion opposes the foe in one part, another in another.

CHAPTER XXIII.

1. Place to which: 258; H. 380, I.
2. Place from which: 258; H. 412, I.
3. Place in which: 258, 4, and 260, b.; H. 425, 1.

1. The Roman soldiers drive the enemy, exhausted by wounds, into an unfavorable place.
2. They followed them up from the left part of the line.
3. As they attempted¹ to cross the river, a great part of them were put to the sword.
4. In another part many of the Belgians were killed.
5. On the front the Belgæ pushed for the camp.
6. But at last they were put to flight.

NOTE.— ¹ attempted: recast the sentence and express as they attempted by a participle referring to a great part.

CHAPTER XXIV.

1. Position of causa with genitive: 245, c.
2. Temporal Clauses with cum: 325; H. 521, II. 2.

VOCABULARY.

If the learner, as often as he refers to this vocabulary for the meaning of a word, will glance over the group of words given in the Etymological Vocabulary under the same root, he will find his knowledge of the relations and meaning of words, and consequently his power to read Latin, rapidly increase.

To reduce visual distraction, links in the Vocabulary are unmarked except when you mouse over them. This feature may be overridden by your own browser settings. All chapter references and roots are linked.

The numbers at the end of most entries refer to chapters 1-35 in the “simplified” text.

Roots in the form [APA-] or [2 DA-] are listed in the Etymological Vocabulary. Brackets [] are in the original.

ETYMOLOGICAL VOCABULARY.

The relation in meaning of some words in certain groups to the root is sometimes obscure or even impossible to be traced with absolute certainty. Sometimes the relation is obscured by the omission in this vocabulary of an interlinking word, because it does not occur in the text. Let us take an example close at hand, the root AID- and the noun aestuārium. The notion “inlet” seems very remote from the notion “burn.” But aestuārium is formed from aestus (for aedtus), the first meaning of which is the raging of fire, waves or billows of heat. As we might expect, a secondary meaning is, the raging of water, waves, billows, in the proper sense. From the force of the suffix -ārium, aestuārium should mean a sea-marsh, or a tract overflowed at high tide; and from this the notion “inlet,” the place through which the tide rushes, comes naturally enough.

The following roots, with their meanings, have been mostly taken from the excellent Elementary Latin Dictionary of Dr. Charlton T. Lewis.

 END OF THE PROJECT GUTENBERG EBOOK THE GATE TO CÆSAR ***

Updated editions will replace the previous one—the old editions will be renamed.

Creating the works from print editions not protected by U.S. copyright law means that no one owns a United States copyright in these works, so the Foundation (and you!) can copy and distribute it in the United States without permission and without paying copyright royalties. Special rules, set forth in the General Terms of Use part of this license, apply to copying and distributing Project Gutenberg™ electronic works to protect the PROJECT GUTENBERG™ concept and trademark. Project Gutenberg is a registered trademark, and may not be used if you charge for an eBook, except by following the terms of the trademark license, including paying royalties for use of the Project Gutenberg trademark. If you do not charge anything for copies of this eBook, complying with the trademark license is very easy. You may use this eBook for nearly any purpose such as creation of derivative works, reports, performances and research. Project Gutenberg eBooks may be modified and printed and given away—you may do practically ANYTHING in the United States with eBooks not protected by U.S. copyright law. Redistribution is subject to the trademark license, especially commercial redistribution.

START: FULL LICENSE

THE FULL PROJECT GUTENBERG™ LICENSE

PLEASE READ THIS BEFORE YOU DISTRIBUTE OR USE THIS WORK

To protect the Project Gutenberg™ mission of promoting the free distribution of electronic works, by using or distributing this work (or any other work associated in any way with the phrase “Project Gutenberg”), you agree to comply with all the terms of the Full Project Gutenberg License available with this file or online at www.gutenberg.org/license.

Section 1. General Terms of Use and Redistributing Project Gutenberg electronic works

1.A. By reading or using any part of this Project Gutenberg electronic work, you indicate that you have read, understand, agree to and accept all the terms of this license and intellectual property (trademark/copyright) agreement. If you do not agree to abide by all the terms of this agreement, you must cease using and return or destroy all copies of Project Gutenberg electronic works in your possession. If you paid a fee for obtaining a copy of or access to a Project Gutenberg electronic work and you do not agree to be bound by the terms of this agreement, you may obtain a refund from the person or entity to whom you paid the fee as set forth in paragraph 1.E.8.

1.B. “Project Gutenberg” is a registered trademark. It may only be used on or associated in any way with an electronic work by people who agree to be bound by the terms of this agreement. There are a few things that you can do with most Project Gutenberg electronic works even without complying with the full terms of this agreement. See paragraph 1.C below. There are a lot of things you can do with Project Gutenberg electronic works if you follow the terms of this agreement and help preserve free future access to Project Gutenberg electronic works. See paragraph 1.E below.

1.C. The Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation (“the Foundation” or PGLAF), owns a compilation copyright in the collection of Project Gutenberg electronic works. Nearly all the individual works in the collection are in the public domain in the United States. If an individual work is unprotected by copyright law in the United States and you are located in the United States, we do not claim a right to prevent you from copying, distributing, performing, displaying or creating derivative works based on the work as long as all references to Project Gutenberg are removed. Of course, we hope that you will support the Project Gutenberg mission of promoting free access to electronic works by freely sharing Project Gutenberg works in compliance with the terms of this agreement for keeping the Project Gutenberg name associated with the work. You can easily comply with the terms of this agreement by keeping this work in the same format with its attached full Project Gutenberg License when you share it without charge with others.

1.D. The copyright laws of the place where you are located also govern what you can do with this work. Copyright laws in most countries are in a constant state of change. If you are outside the United States, check the laws of your country in addition to the terms of this agreement before downloading, copying, displaying, performing, distributing or creating derivative works based on this work or any other Project Gutenberg work. The Foundation makes no representations concerning the copyright status of any work in any country other than the United States.

1.E. Unless you have removed all references to Project Gutenberg:

1.E.1. The following sentence, with active links to, or other immediate access to, the full Project Gutenberg License must appear prominently whenever any copy of a Project Gutenberg work (any work on which the phrase “Project Gutenberg” appears, or with which the phrase “Project Gutenberg” is associated) is accessed, displayed, performed, viewed, copied or distributed:

This eBook is for the use of anyone anywhere in the United States and most other parts of the world at no cost and with almost no restrictions whatsoever. You may copy it, give it away or re-use it under the terms of the Project Gutenberg™ License included with this eBook or online at www.gutenberg.org. If you are not located in the United States, you will have to check the laws of the country where you are located before using this eBook.

1.E.2. If an individual Project Gutenberg electronic work is derived from texts not protected by U.S. copyright law (does not contain a notice indicating that it is posted with permission of the copyright holder), the work can be copied and distributed to anyone in the United States without paying any fees or charges. If you are redistributing or providing access to a work with the phrase “Project Gutenberg” associated with or appearing on the work, you must comply either with the requirements of paragraphs 1.E.1 through 1.E.7 or obtain permission for the use of the work and the Project Gutenberg trademark as set forth in paragraphs 1.E.8 or 1.E.9.

1.E.3. If an individual Project Gutenberg electronic work is posted with the permission of the copyright holder, your use and distribution must comply with both paragraphs 1.E.1 through 1.E.7 and any additional terms imposed by the copyright holder. Additional terms will be linked to the Project Gutenberg License for all works posted with the permission of the copyright holder found at the beginning of this work.

1.E.4. Do not unlink or detach or remove the full Project Gutenberg License terms from this work, or any files containing a part of this work or any other work associated with Project Gutenberg.

1.E.5. Do not copy, display, perform, distribute or redistribute this electronic work, or any part of this electronic work, without prominently displaying the sentence set forth in paragraph 1.E.1 with active links or immediate access to the full terms of the Project Gutenberg License.

1.E.6. You may convert to and distribute this work in any binary, compressed, marked up, nonproprietary or proprietary form, including any word processing or hypertext form. However, if you provide access to or distribute copies of a Project Gutenberg work in a format other than “Plain Vanilla ASCII” or other format used in the official version posted on the official Project Gutenberg website (www.gutenberg.org), you must, at no additional cost, fee or expense to the user, provide a copy, a means of exporting a copy, or a means of obtaining a copy upon request, of the work in its original “Plain Vanilla ASCII” or other form. Any alternate format must include the full Project Gutenberg License as specified in paragraph 1.E.1.

1.E.7. Do not charge a fee for access to, viewing, displaying, performing, copying or distributing any Project Gutenberg works unless you comply with paragraph 1.E.8 or 1.E.9.

1.E.8. You may charge a reasonable fee for copies of or providing access to or distributing Project Gutenberg electronic works provided that:

- You pay a royalty fee of 20% of the gross profits you derive from the use of Project Gutenberg works calculated using the method you already use to calculate your applicable taxes. The fee is owed to the owner of the Project Gutenberg trademark, but he has agreed to donate royalties under this paragraph to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation. Royalty payments must be paid within 60 days following each date on which you prepare (or are legally required to prepare) your periodic tax returns. Royalty payments should be clearly marked as such and sent to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation at the address specified in Section 4, “Information about donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation.”
- You provide a full refund of any money paid by a user who notifies you in writing (or by e-mail) within 30 days of receipt that s/he does not agree to the terms of the full Project Gutenberg™ License. You must require such a user to return or destroy all copies of the works possessed in a physical medium and discontinue all use of and all access to other copies of Project Gutenberg™ works.
- You provide, in accordance with paragraph 1.F.3, a full refund of any money paid for a work or a replacement copy, if a defect in the electronic work is discovered and reported to you within 90 days of receipt of the work.

- You comply with all other terms of this agreement for free distribution of Project Gutenberg™ works.

1.E.9. If you wish to charge a fee or distribute a Project Gutenberg™ electronic work or group of works on different terms than are set forth in this agreement, you must obtain permission in writing from the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation, the manager of the Project Gutenberg™ trademark. Contact the Foundation as set forth in Section 3 below.

1.F.

1.F.1. Project Gutenberg volunteers and employees expend considerable effort to identify, do copyright research on, transcribe and proofread works not protected by U.S. copyright law in creating the Project Gutenberg™ collection. Despite these efforts, Project Gutenberg™ electronic works, and the medium on which they may be stored, may contain “Defects,” such as, but not limited to, incomplete, inaccurate or corrupt data, transcription errors, a copyright or other intellectual property infringement, a defective or damaged disk or other medium, a computer virus, or computer codes that damage or cannot be read by your equipment.

1.F.2. LIMITED WARRANTY, DISCLAIMER OF DAMAGES - Except for the “Right of Replacement or Refund” described in paragraph 1.F.3, the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation, the owner of the Project Gutenberg™ trademark, and any other party distributing a Project Gutenberg™ electronic work under this agreement, disclaim all liability to you for damages, costs and expenses, including legal fees. YOU AGREE THAT YOU HAVE NO REMEDIES FOR NEGLIGENCE, STRICT LIABILITY, BREACH OF WARRANTY OR BREACH OF CONTRACT EXCEPT THOSE PROVIDED IN PARAGRAPH 1.F.3. YOU AGREE THAT THE FOUNDATION, THE TRADEMARK OWNER, AND ANY DISTRIBUTOR UNDER THIS AGREEMENT WILL NOT BE LIABLE TO YOU FOR ACTUAL, DIRECT, INDIRECT, CONSEQUENTIAL, PUNITIVE OR INCIDENTAL DAMAGES

EVEN IF YOU GIVE NOTICE OF THE POSSIBILITY OF SUCH DAMAGE.

1.F.3. LIMITED RIGHT OF REPLACEMENT OR REFUND - If you discover a defect in this electronic work within 90 days of receiving it, you can receive a refund of the money (if any) you paid for it by sending a written explanation to the person you received the work from. If you received the work on a physical medium, you must return the medium with your written explanation. The person or entity that provided you with the defective work may elect to provide a replacement copy in lieu of a refund. If you received the work electronically, the person or entity providing it to you may choose to give you a second opportunity to receive the work electronically in lieu of a refund. If the second copy is also defective, you may demand a refund in writing without further opportunities to fix the problem.

1.F.4. Except for the limited right of replacement or refund set forth in paragraph 1.F.3, this work is provided to you 'AS-IS', WITH NO OTHER WARRANTIES OF ANY KIND, EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY OR FITNESS FOR ANY PURPOSE.

1.F.5. Some states do not allow disclaimers of certain implied warranties or the exclusion or limitation of certain types of damages. If any disclaimer or limitation set forth in this agreement violates the law of the state applicable to this agreement, the agreement shall be interpreted to make the maximum disclaimer or limitation permitted by the applicable state law. The invalidity or unenforceability of any provision of this agreement shall not void the remaining provisions.

1.F.6. INDEMNITY - You agree to indemnify and hold the Foundation, the trademark owner, any agent or employee of the Foundation, anyone providing copies of Project Gutenberg™ electronic works in accordance with this agreement, and any volunteers associated with the production, promotion and distribution of Project Gutenberg™ electronic works, harmless from all liability, costs and expenses, including legal fees, that arise directly or indirectly from any of the following which you do or cause to occur: (a) distribution of this or any Project Gutenberg work, (b) alteration, modification, or additions or deletions to any Project Gutenberg work, and (c) any Defect you cause.

Section 2. Information about the Mission of Project Gutenberg

Project Gutenberg is synonymous with the free distribution of electronic works in formats readable by the widest variety of computers including obsolete, old, middle-aged and new computers. It exists because of the efforts of hundreds of volunteers and donations from people in all walks of life.

Volunteers and financial support to provide volunteers with the assistance they need are critical to reaching Project Gutenberg's goals and ensuring that the Project Gutenberg collection will remain freely available for generations to come. In 2001, the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation was created to provide a secure and permanent future for Project Gutenberg and future generations. To learn more about the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation and how your efforts and donations can help, see Sections 3 and 4 and the Foundation information page at www.gutenberg.org.

Section 3. Information about the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

The Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation is a non-profit 501(c)(3) educational corporation organized under the laws of the state of Mississippi and granted tax exempt status by the Internal Revenue Service. The Foundation's EIN or federal tax identification number is 64-6221541. Contributions to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation are tax deductible to the full extent permitted by U.S. federal laws and your state's laws.

The Foundation's business office is located at 41 Watchung Plaza #516, Montclair NJ 07042, USA, +1 (862) 621-9288. Email contact links and up to date contact information can be found at the Foundation's website and official page at www.gutenberg.org/contact

Section 4. Information about Donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

Project Gutenberg™ depends upon and cannot survive without widespread public support and donations to carry out its mission of increasing the number of public domain and licensed works that can be freely distributed in machine-readable form accessible by the widest array of equipment including outdated equipment. Many small donations ($1 to $5,000) are particularly important to maintaining tax exempt status with the IRS.

The Foundation is committed to complying with the laws regulating charities and charitable donations in all 50 states of the United States. Compliance requirements are not uniform and it takes a considerable effort, much paperwork and many fees to meet and keep up with these requirements. We do not solicit donations in locations where we have not received written confirmation of compliance. To SEND DONATIONS or determine the status of compliance for any particular state visit www.gutenberg.org/donate.

While we cannot and do not solicit contributions from states where we have not met the solicitation requirements, we know of no prohibition against accepting unsolicited donations from donors in such states who approach us with offers to donate.

International donations are gratefully accepted, but we cannot make any statements concerning tax treatment of donations received from outside the United States. U.S. laws alone swamp our small staff.

Please check the Project Gutenberg web pages for current donation methods and addresses. Donations are accepted in a number of other ways including checks, online payments and credit card donations. To donate, please visit: www.gutenberg.org/donate.

Section 5. General Information About Project Gutenberg electronic works

Professor Michael S. Hart was the originator of the Project Gutenberg concept of a library of electronic works that could be freely shared with anyone. For forty years, he produced and distributed Project Gutenberg eBooks with only a loose network of volunteer support.

Project Gutenberg eBooks are often created from several printed editions, all of which are confirmed as not protected by copyright in the U.S. unless a copyright notice is included. Thus, we do not necessarily keep eBooks in compliance with any particular paper edition.

Most people start at our website which has the main PG search facility: www.gutenberg.org.

This website includes information about Project Gutenberg, including how to make donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation, how to help produce our new eBooks, and how to subscribe to our email newsletter to hear about new eBooks.
